Food Stamp Program; Certifying Residents of Shelters for Battered Women and Children

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

7 CFR Parts 271, 272, 273, 274 and 278

[Amdt. No. 205]

Food Stamp Program; Certifying Residents of Shelters for Battered Women and Children

AGENCY: Food and Nutrition Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This final rule exempts shelters for battered women and children which provide meals to their residents from being considered institutions and permits shelter residents, who are otherwise eligible for Program participation, to receive food stamps. The rulemaking is necessary to establish some special procedures for permitting shelter residents to use food stamps to purchase meals prepared by shelters in accordance with Public Law 96–249, the 1980 Amendments to the Food Stamp Act of 1977.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This rule is effective January 7, 1982, and shall be fully implemented no later than April 1, 1982.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Thomas O'Connor, Supervisor, Policy and Regulations Section, Program Standards Branch, Program Development Division, Family Nutrition Programs, Food and Nutrition Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Telephone (202) 447–9075.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final action has been reviewed in relation to the requirements of Executive Order 12291, and it has been determined that the action is not a major rule as defined by that Order. It will not result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more. Although the Department anticipates that the annual increased cost to the Food Stamp Program of this rule will be approximately $2 million, the rule is not likely to result in a major increase in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, other Federal, State, or local government agencies, or geographic regions. Because the rule will not directly affect the business community, it will not result in significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

This final action has also been reviewed in relation to the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (Public Law 96–354, 94 Stat. 1164, September 19, 1980). The Administrator, Food and Nutrition Service, has certified that this action does not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The action will implement Section 101 of the 1980 Amendments to the Food Stamp Act of 1977, by permitting residents of shelters for battered women and children to use food stamps to purchase meals prepared by shelters. It affects only residents of shelters which provide meals to their residents and there are not a large number of such shelters. The effect on these shelters will be to increase the shelters' resources since the rule permits residents to use food stamps to purchase meals prepared for them.

Note.—The reporting and recordkeeping requirements contained in this regulation are subject to review by OMB under the Paperwork Reduction Act and are not effective until approved by OMB.

Background

The Department, on January 16, 1981, at 46 FR 4642, issued proposed regulations relative to certifying residents of shelters for battered women and children as a part of its proposed rulemaking to implement certain segments of the 1980 Amendments to the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (Public Law 96–249, 94 Stat. 357, May 26, 1980). Due to the number of comments received concerning the shelter provisions, as well as the range of issues involved, a determination was made to treat this matter separately from the other amendments contained in the January 16 proposal. Therefore, this final action addresses only those provisions in the January 16 proposed rulemaking which relate to shelters for battered women and children.

The other segments of the 1980 Amendments to the Food Stamp Act for which the Department proposed regulations in the January 16 proposal and which are not dealt with in this final action, include: referring illegal aliens to the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS); prorating income and counting resources of ineligible aliens; making administrative fraud determination hearings optional; and eliminating depreciation as a cost of doing business for self-employed households. In addition, that action proposed to incorporate into regulations a series of policy interpretations and technical amendments to clarify provisions published on October 17, 1978 (43 FR 47846). The Department is currently taking action to issue final regulations on these other matters.

A total of 68 letters containing comments on the provisions extending eligibility to residents of shelters for battered women and children were received as a part of the comment process on the January 16 proposed regulations. Comments on the shelter provisions were received from one member of Congress, 18 State welfare agencies, two local welfare agencies, six Regional Offices and one internal division of the Food and Nutrition Service, 26 shelters for battered women and children, 11 public interest groups, and three members of the general public. All of the comments received relating to the shelter provisions were reviewed and considered during the development of the final provisions contained in this action.

In order to avoid confusion, the reader is advised to keep certain distinctions in mind regarding the various types of shelters discussed in this final rule. The 1980 Amendments to the Food Stamp Act of 1977 extended eligiblity to residents of shelters for battered women and children which provide meals to their residents. This extension was necessary in order for residents of shelters that provide meals to become eligible because the 1977 Act limits participation in the Program to individuals and groups of individuals constituting households and excludes from eligibility those people who reside in an institution. Residents of shelters for battered women and children which do not provide meals, however, may already participate (if otherwise eligible) because under program regulations at 7 CFR 273.1(e) they are not considered as residing in institutions. Also, under Program regulations at 7 CFR 273.1(a) such shelter residents are either considered as individual household units or as part of a household unit comprised of a group of individuals, depending on whether they customarily purchase and prepare food separately or together, respectively. While these shelter residents who are eligible under existing regulations will continue to be eligible to participate, the facility will need to meet the definition of shelter for battered women and children contained in this final rule in order for its residents to be eligible for most of the special procedures established by this rulemaking. (Shelters with residents that are already permitted to participate need not take any specific measures in order for their residents to continue to be eligible. If, however, such a shelter wishes for its residents to be eligible for the special procedures established by this rulemaking or decides to provide meals to its residents, the shelter may need to take measures to meet the definition of shelter for battered women and children contained in this final rule. It should then contact the local project area office so a determination can be made as to whether it qualifies under the new definition. This will facilitate the prompt certification of eligible residents under these final rules.) The definition of shelter for battered women and children contained in this final rule specifies that it must be a public or private nonprofit residential facility. If such a facility serves persons other than battered women and their children, it must have a wing or rooms set aside on a long-term basis to shelter victims of abuse.

Definitions

a. "Eligible foods"—The Department received only one comment on the proposed change to this definition, and that comment was an expression of support. Since the intended result is mandated by the statute and commenters did not raise any objections to the proposed wording, the provision has been adopted, unchanged, in this final action. The definition, therefore, includes meals prepared by and served by a shelter for battered women and children to its residents as eligible foods that can be purchased by residents with their food stamp coupons. (See 7 CFR 271.2.)

b. "Retail food store"—The proposed rule revised the definition of retail food store contained in current Program regulations to include shelters for battered women and children. The Department did not receive any comments on the change to this definition and has, therefore, adopted the proposed wording in this final rule (See 7 CFR 271.2.)

c. "Shelter for battered women and children"—The proposed rule introduced an additional definition to clarify what is meant by the term "shelter for battered women and children", and to establish some criteria for identifying such shelters. According to the proposed definition, a shelter means a public or private nonprofit residential facility that serves battered women and their children. The proposal also specified that if such a facility serves other individuals, a portion of the facility must be set aside on a long-term basis to serve only battered women and children. This definition limits the criteria for determining those facilities whose residents would be eligible for the special procedures established by these final rules to the criteria in the statute and the legislative history (Public Law 96–249, Section 101; H.R. Rep. No. 96–788, 96th Cong., 2nd Sess. (1980), pp. 148–149).

Fourteen commenters expressed support for the proposed definition, numerous other commenters raised concerns regarding various aspects of the definition which need clarification, and one commenter opposed the definition because it creates a separate set of participants that must be given special consideration. The Department does not concur with the latter comment, but rather believes that special treatment of persons residing in shelters is especially warranted due to the serious physical and mental abuse to which they have been subjected. In addition, the statute contemplates special rules to apply to residents of these shelters and provides a basis to distinguish these cases from other participants.

Most of the concerns raised by commenters centered around the need to clarify exactly which facilities would qualify under the definition. Six commenters requested that the definition be expanded to include any place of refuge to which a battered family flees when leaving the abusive household. These commenters argued that the important consideration in such cases should be that the battered persons were forced to leave their prior residence, and not where the persons go when fleeing an abusive situation, particularly in those situations where abused persons must find alternative dwellings until space is available in a shelter. While the Department is sympathetic to these arguments, it does not believe that the special procedures established by these final rules should be made available to nonshelter residents for two reasons. First, the legislation which mandated this change in Program eligibility specifically limited its scope of applicability to residents of shelters for battered women and children. And second, there is nothing in current Program rules to prevent battered persons who temporarily reside with family or friends from applying for benefits under the Program.

One commenter asked that nonprofit be clarified to mean having Internal Revenue Service (IRS) tax-exempt status. The Department, however, prefers to leave determinations of nonprofit status to the discretion of State agencies and does not want to hamper their efforts in this regard by imposing any unnecessary requirements. While tax-exempt status under the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 may be appropriate for shelters which possess certification of such status, other methods of demonstrating nonprofit status may be available to them, such as State tax-exempt status. In addition, the Department is reluctant to regulate any one method of determining nonprofit status because doing so could unnecessarily impose additional requirements, not required by statute, on facilities (i.e., shelters) which do not directly receive assistance under the Program.

Similarly, several commenters raised concerns about the criterion of the definition which specified that, if a facility serves other individuals, a portion of the facility must be set aside on a long-term basis to serve only battered women and children. These commenters either opposed allowing facilities which serve other individuals to qualify under these provisions, or sought to have further clarified the purpose of the phrase "set aside." As mentioned earlier, the proposed criteria for determining those shelters whose otherwise eligible residents may participate in the Program were developed by reference to the statute and legislative history. Committee Report No. 96–788 indicates that Congress intended "* * * only shelters that function exclusively to serve battered women with or without their children * * " to qualify as exempted institutions. The report further states that " * * any place of abode that takes care of such women from time to time in addition to serving as a regular residence for others * * * unless a portion of such place were reserved and set aside on a long-term basis to shelter such women * * *" should not be included under this exemption. (H.R. Report No. 96–788, p. 149.) Therefore, the Department believes that if a facility, such as a YWCA, serves persons other than battered women and their children, its otherwise eligible residents who are victims of abuse can participate if the facility has a wing or rooms set aside on a long-term basis to shelter them. Based on the information currently available, this approach does not seem to present any major problems. However, should problems arise in the future the Department is prepared to reassess its position regarding facilities which serve other persons in addition to battered women and children

The other concerns raised by commenters centered around the need to clarify exactly who is eligible to be served under the definition. Two commenters requested that the definition be clarified to include any persons (i.e., male or female) who are forced to leave their primary residence, another commenter asked that it include women seeking shelter when the children have been abused but the wives have not, another suggested including any group of individuals admitted to a shelter without reference to their relationship to one another, and another commenter asked simply that clarification be provided as to who is being served. Since the statute and legislative history refer specifically to battered women and children, the Department is unable to extend eligibility for the special procedures established in this final action to battered men. However, the Department believes that the relationship between the women and children admitted to the shelter and whether the children have been abused but the women have not are irrelevant to Program eligibility. Therefore, the sole consideration for determining eligibility of otherwise eligible household units for the special procedures established by these final rules is that the women and children seek refuge in a facility which meets the Program's definition of a shelter for battered women and children. (See 7 CFR 271.2.)

No Aid Reduction

The proposed rule contained provisions which would prohibit the reduction of assistance to food stamp recipients by any participating State or political subdivision because of the receipt of food stamp benefits and specified the types of governmental action which would be considered reductions in aid. As a part of this larger prohibition against decreasing the established benefit level of any food stamp recipient, the proposed rule specifically prohibited the reduction of assistance to shelter residents, and exempted funding provided to the shelter itself from this prohibition. Since the discussion of the aid reduction prohibition was inadvertently omitted from the preamble to the proposed rule, however, nearly all the comments received on these provisions were in terms of their effect on shelters and shelter residents alone. The Department has determined that it would be unwise to issue final rules in this regard without first having brought the matter to the public's attention through a proposed explanatory preamble and, thereby, affording interested parties the opportunity to submit comment. Therefore, the provision of the proposed rule which prohibited reductions of assistance to shelter residents because of receipt of food stamps does not appear in this final rule. The Department intends to assess its position on this issue and, if a change is determined to still be necessary, the provision will be reproposed at a later date.

In the absence of any change, the Department would like to point out that its current policy still applies. The prohibition against reduction of assistance to food stamp recipients because of the receipt of food stamps under current Program regulations at 7 CFR 272.1(b) will continue to be applied to the individual's benefits and not to the operation of the facility itself. Any funding given to individual shelter residents or to the shelter which is earmarked for an individual's expenses, such as per diem payments, cannot be reduced due to receipt of food stamps.

Individual Household Units

The Department proposed that residents of shelters be certified as individual household units. A single woman or a woman with her children, for example, would be considered an individual household unit rather than part of a household unit comprised of a group of shelter residents. This provision was proposed in response to the Conference Report on the 1980 Amendments which states that residents of shelters for battered women and children shall "* * * be considered for eligibility as individual (parent/child) units, rather than considered as part of a single household consisting of all shelter residents." (See H.R. Rep. No. 96–957, 96th Cong., 2nd Sess., (1980), p. 11.)

Twenty-four comments were received in support of this provision, and only one commenter opposed it. The Department believes that the proposal is both consistent with Congressional intent, as revealed in the legislative history, and should help ease the transition for residents from the shelter to new places of residence. In addition, the short stay of most residents makes it advantageous to certify the women/children as a household, and makes on-going certification simpler. Upon leaving the shelter the women/children will have ready access to their coupon allotment, and will not need to divide the allotment between those remaining in the shelter and those leaving. Therefore, the provision has been retained in this final rulemaking. (See 7 CFR 273.1(e)(4)).

Expedited Service

The proposed rule provided that the shorter 2 or 3 day standard for expedited service would apply to shelter residents who are otherwise entitled to expedited service. This shorter standard is already provided by Program regulations for zero net income and destitute households. The regulations also provide a 7 day service standard which is used for residents of treatment centers and group living arrangements who are otherwise eligible for expedited service. (See 7 CFR 273.2(i)). Twenty-three comments were received in favor of this provision. Three commenters suggested that the 7 day service standard would be more appropriate.

The Department believes that the 7 day limit in effect for residents of other facilities would not adequately meet the needs of shelter residents because of the short periods of time such residents normally stay in a shelter. Making coupons available to them as soon as possible will provide for their immediate needs. In addition, relatively few shelters provide meals without charge as do treatment centers or group living arrangements. Therefore, the final rule retains the proposed provision for the shorter 2 or 3 day standard for expedited service to shelter residents who are otherwise entitled to expedited service. This provision may apply to residents of any shelter for battered women and children, regardless of whether the facility meets the definition of a shelter for battered women and children contained in this final rule. For instance, residents of shelters not meeting the Program's definition may participate as individual household units or as part of a group of individuals if their shelters do not provide meals. Those residents of such shelters who participate as individual household units and who are otherwise entitled to expedited service will be processed using this provision. Residents of such shelters who participate as part of a group of individuals already participating, however, will be processed as a reported household change. (See 7 CFR 273.2(i)(3)(v)).

Residency

The proposed rule would exempt residents of shelters for battered women and children from the current regulatory prohibition against participation in more than one project area, in any month. This provision would apply only to women and children leaving the household containing the person who had subjected them to abuse. The Department proposed this provision because the limited number of these facilities results in shelter residents often having to locate in a different project area from where they formerly participated in the Program. Also, the Department intends that the eligibility of such shelter residents be determined based on their current circumstances as a separate household, regardless of past participation. A more detailed discussion of this issue is provided below, under the subject heading "Separate Households". Only one comment was received on this provision, and that comment was a suggestion to allow the new project area time to notify the shelter resident's former project area prior to certifying the applicant to participate in the Program. The Department believes that such a provision could result in unnecessary delays in the delivery of Program benefits to shelter residents and further complicate the administrative responsibilities of State agencies. Therefore, the Department has not adopted the commenter's suggestion and the proposed provision is retained in the final rule. This provision applies only to residents of facilities that meet the definition of shelters for battered women and children contained in this final rule. Residents of facilities that do not meet this definition will continue to be prohibited from participating in more than one project area, in any month. (See 7 CFR 273.3).

Resources

The Department proposed that any resources jointly owned by shelter residents and members of their former household be automatically considered inaccessible to the shelter residents. This proposal was made in order to be responsive to the abused person's possible need for protection and to speed-up processing of the case as the inaccessibility of resources would not have to be determined. Although eighteen comments were received in favor of this proposal, four other comments were received from State agencies raising various concerns about jointly held resources which are not, in fact, totally inaccessible to shelter residents and urging that determinations of inaccessibility be made on a case-by-case basis. The Department agrees with the point that not all jointly held resources may be inaccessible to shelter residents, and realizes that as a result determinations on a case-by-case basis are necessary.

The proposal was intended to protect abused persons from the possible danger which could result from revealing their whereabouts, and to ensure that resources which are in practicality inaccessible to them due to joint ownership are not considered when determining their resources. For example, an abused person would be forced to leave the shelter in order to obtain her share of a passbook savings account at a bank, and access to the funds in such an account sometimes requires the signatures of all joint owners. However, access to the funds in jointly held draft accounts at banks (i.e., checking accounts) can be obtained by issuing drafts to third parties, thereby precluding the need for the shelter resident to leave the shelter. Resources may also be jointly held with a non-abusing member of the former household who has fled with the battered person and these resources would not be inaccessible. Therefore, the Department has decided to further stipulate that in order to consider resources jointly held with members of the former household of shelter residents inaccessible to such residents, access to the value of the resources must be dependent on the agreement of a person who still resides in the former household. This provision applies only to residents of facilities that meet the Program's definition of shelters for battered women and children contained in this final rule. (See 7 CFR 273.8(d)).

Shelter Status

In the proposed rulemaking, the Department required State agencies to verify that a facility meets the Program's definition of "shelter for battered women and children" and outlined the procedure for shelters to obtain a determination of shelter status through their local project area office. The proposal exempted, from the verification requirement, shelters which have Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) authorization to redeem coupons through wholesalers. The comments received on these provisions indicated confusion about the intended purpose, and signaled the need to both revise the subject provisions and provide further clarification in this explanatory preamble.

One commenter requested that we clarify what verification would be required and suggested that State agencies determine rather than verify that a facility meets the Program's definition. The Department agrees with this suggestion and has, therefore, revised the provision to require a State agency determination of shelter status. In addition, the final rule stipulates that State agencies must document the basis of this determination. Use of the term "verification" unavoidably implies efforts on the part of State agencies, such as their verification responsibilities for certification of households, which were unintended. The Department only requires that State agencies apply the criteria established in the Program's definition of a shelter for battered women and children in order to arrive at their determinations, and that the relevant facts are documented for future reference.

Another commenter objected to requiring shelters to contact their local project area office to determine that they meet the Program's definition. Although the proposed rule contained a suggestion that shelters should contact their local office for such a determination in order to expedite certification of eligible residents, the Department understands that such a suggestion placed within the body of a regulation could imply a requirement. Therefore, this suggestion has been deleted from the final rule. The Department would like to point out, however, that shelters may want to contact their local project area office in order to initiate the State agency's determination process.

Two other commenters suggested elimination of the requirement that local project area offices maintain a list of shelters meeting this definition. The Department agrees with these commenters but would like to provide State agencies with the authority to utilize such a list in order to facilitate prompt certification of eligible shelter residents. Therefore, the provision of the proposed rule requiring local project area offices to maintain a list of shelters meeting the definition has been revised for this final rule to provide State agencies the option of requiring their local project area offices to maintain such a list. The final rule also retains the exemption of shelters having FNS authorization to redeem coupons through wholesalers from the requirement that State agencies determine whether these shelters meet the Program's definition. Shelters wishing to obtain such FNS authorization should contact the FNS Regional Office in their area; this authorization substitutes for a State agency determination. The FNS Regional Office will provide the names of any shelters it authorizes to the State agency for dissemination to the local project areas. (See 7 CFR 273.11(g)(1)).

Separate Households

The proposed rule would allow shelter residents who are included in other certified households to participate in the Program as separate households if the household which includes them contains the person who subjected them to abuse. It further stipulated that shelter residents who are included in other certified households may receive an additional allotment as a separate household only once a month. Although twenty-one commenters supported these provisions, two commenters opposed them on the grounds that they were contrary to the intent of Congress and/or they would discriminate against other households. The Department, however, believes that the legislation contemplates special rules for only residents of these shelters, and not for other persons who leave a participating household during a certification period.

Numerous other commenters suggested ways to expand these provisions to include either those victims staying with family or friends, or those victims who were included in certified households that did not include the persons who subjected them to abuse. The Department rejected the first recommendation because it believes Congress intended special rules to apply to only residents of shelters for battered women and children, and because Congress itself created this distinction by passing legislation which specifically extended eligibility to residents of such shelters. The second recommendation was not accepted because the Department believes that individuals leaving a certified household not containing the person who subjected them to abuse are capable of retaining their share of the household's coupon allotment for the month in which they were included in the certified household. Therefore, the final rule limits use of these provisions to those shelter residents who were actually forced to leave their prior place of residence.

Several other commenters were either concerned about the once a month limitation or felt that shelter residents should not be allowed to participate twice in the same month. The Department, however, does not view allowing shelter residents who have left the household containing the person who had abused them as dual participation because it assumes that such persons would not normally retain access to their current coupon allotment. The once a month limitation has been retained in the final rule to prevent the duplication of benefits to shelter residents who return to the former household and are forced to take refuge in a shelter for the second time in one month. This provision applies only to residents of facilities that meet the Program's definition of shelters for battered women and children contained in this final rule. (See 7 CFR 273.11(g) (1) and (2)).

Action on Changes to Former Households

In the proposed rulemaking, the Department required State agencies to provide the former household of shelter residents a notice of expiration in accordance with § 273.14(b) and Policy Interpretation 79–108. Current Program regulations at 7 CFR 273.14(b) specify the timeframes and contents of notices of expiration. Policy Interpretation Response Number 79–108 interpreted the Program's regulations to allow State agencies to shorten the certification period of a nonassistance household based on a reported change.

Two commenters suggested requiring the use of a notice of adverse action rather than a notice of expiration, unless the certification period ends the month in which the household divides. Two other commenters suggested providing State agencies with the flexibility to use either a notice of adverse action or notice of expiration. And, one of these commenters requested that the procedure for terminating or reducing the benefits of the former household be clarified without reference to Policy Interpretation Response Number 79–108. The Department recognizes the validity of each of these comments and has decided, therefore, to revise the proposed provision to allow State agencies either to use a notice of adverse action to reduce benefits or to shorten the certification period through a notice of expiration. This provides State agencies with the maximum amount of administrative flexibility. It also clarifies that the intended result is to reduce the benefits of the former household to reflect the change in its composition and not, necessarily, to terminate the former household, unless the change itself makes the former household ineligible. The Department believes that State agencies will ensure that the former household's benefits are promptly reduced by whichever method they deem appropriate in view of the household's circumstances. (See 7 CFR 273.11(g)(5)).

Coupon Issuance

Current Program regulations at 7 CFR 278.2(c) prohibit retailers from accepting loose $5 or $10 coupons without coupon books. Since residents often stay in a shelter for a short period of time and the shelter only provides them with a few meals, many shelters would be forced to accept loose $5 or $10 coupons which they could not redeem at retailers without the coupon books. A possible recourse would be to obtain FNS authorization to redeem through wholesalers, even though many shelters are small operations for which volume purchases are impractical. Alternatively, shelters could attempt to spend the coupon allotments of individual residents at retailers with the residents' coupon books, which would necessitate prorating an appropriate amount of coupons according to each individual resident's share of the particular purchases so that any unused coupons could be returned to departing residents.

The preamble to the proposed rule solicited comments on how to resolve this issue and suggested as a possible option allowing shelters wishing to redeem loose $5 and $10 coupons at retailers to do so through the use of a specially annotated identification card. Thirteen comments were received in favor of this possible option, and three other commenters expressed support for allowing shelters to redeem loose coupons at retailers but opposed the use of special identification cards. Seven commenters opposed the inclusion of such a procedure and several other commenters suggested alternative approaches to avoid the problem of loose $5 and $10 coupons. The Department has determined that allowing only shelters to redeem loose coupons could be viewed as discriminating against other group living arrangements and treatment centers whose short term residents could also benefit from such a policy. The likelihood also exists that retailers would become confused over who may and may not redeem loose coupons, and this confusion could weaken the current regulatory ban on redeeming loose coupons at retailers.

The Department has decided, therefore, to allow residents of shelters which are not authorized by FNS to redeem coupons through wholesalers to request that they receive all or part of their coupon allotment in one dollar denomination coupons. Current Program regulations at 7 CFR 274.2(h) already allow a similar request to be made by blind and visually handicapped participants who can receive their allotment in coupons of all one denomination. This approach avoids all of the already mentioned problems associated with special procedures allowing shelters to redeem loose $5 and $10 coupons. In addition, since one dollar denomination coupons are exempted from the regulatory ban on redeeming loose coupons at retailers under current Program regulations at 7 CFR 278.2(c), the ban designed to discourage the use of illegally obtained coupons will not be weakened. State agencies should explain the availability of this alternative to shelters which do not have FNS authorization to redeem through wholesalers and to residents of such shelters who are certified to participate in the Program. State agencies should also ensure that such shelters are aware of the need for their participating households to designate the shelter as an authorized representative for coupon use so that the shelter can purchase food in authorized retail food stores. (See 7 CFR 274.2(h)).

V 46 / 235 DEC 8 81 UMI

Meals in Shelters

The proposed rule allowed residents of shelters to use their coupons to purchase meals prepared especially for them at the shelter. Only one comment was received on this proposal, which expressed concern that use of the word "especially" prohibited the use of coupons for purchasing meals by residents of facilities which serve persons other than battered women and children. The Department views the provision as applying to any facility which meets the Program's definition of a shelter for battered women and children. Therefore, the provision has been retained without change in this final rule. (See 7 CFR 274.10(d)).

Authorization for Shelters to Redeem Through Wholesalers

The proposed rule provided for FNS authorization of shelters as retail food stores in accordance with normal Program rules governing such authorization at 7 CFR 278.1(a) and (b), thereby enabling these shelters to redeem coupons directly through wholesalers. The availability of this authorization was limited to those facilities which meet the Program's definition of a shelter for battered women and children, and which serve meals or provide food to their residents. Thirteen comments were received in favor of this provision. One commenter suggested revising the language of the first sentence because it implies that all shelters will be authorized by FNS as retail food stores. The Department agrees with this commenter and has, therefore, revised the first sentence to clarify that FNS shall authorize as retail food stores those shelters wishing to redeem coupons directly through wholesalers. The remainder of the provision has been adopted without change. (See 7 CFR 278.1(g)).

Shelters as Authorized Representatives for Purchasing Food and Bank Redemption Prohibition

The proposed rule allows a shelter to purchase food in authorized retail food stores as the authorized representative of its participating households. It also prohibits shelters from presenting coupons directly to a bank for redemption. The Department received very few comments on these proposals, and those received generally supported them. Therefore the provisions have been adopted without change in this final rule. (See 7 CFR 278.2(g)).

Other Comments

The Department would like to address the following additional comments:

A. One commenter suggested revising the first sentence of 7 CFR 278.2(g) to clarify that retail food concerns may exchange coupons through wholesalers which are authorized to accept coupons from that retailer. The Department agrees with this comment and has revised that subject provision accordingly. (See 7 CFR 278.2(g)).

B. One commenter suggested allowing shelter residents the option of making food stamp application on their own behalf or naming the shelter as an authorized representative. The Department does not, however, believe that shelters should be acting as the authorized representative of their participating households for making applications for participation in the Program. Unlike the procedures provided under current Program regulations at 7 CFR 273.1(f) regarding addict/alcoholic treatment centers and some group living arrangements, the Department intends for shelter residents to apply on their own behalf. Drug addict and alcoholic treatment centers automatically act as the authorized representative of their residents for application and certification under the Program, and group living arrangements determine if any of their residents may apply and be certified on his/her own behalf. Where these facilities act as authorized representatives for their residents through a designated employee, they exercise control over the use of the residents' coupon allotments. The Department believes that residents of shelters for battered women and children should control the use of their own coupon allotments.
Shelter residents are, however, free to name a shelter staff member or volunteer as an authorized representative for application and certification purposes. This procedure may be necessary in cases where shelter residents would be endangered if they left the shelter and they are unable to appoint another authorized representative of their choice.

C. And, one commenter suggested the Department require State agencies to provide the alternative of phone interviews for shelter residents. The Department does not believe that such a requirement is necessary because current Program regulations at 7 CFR 273.2(e) already provide for the waiving of office interviews on a case-by-case basis. However, when making the determination of hardship conditions for waiving office interviews, State agencies are encouraged to consider the possibility that shelter residents could be endangered should they leave the shelter.

Implementation

The preamble to the Januray 16 proposed rule provided for implementation of the provisions extending eligibility to residents of shelters for battered women and children, along with all the other provisions of that proposed rulemaking, by State agencies on the first day of the month 120 days after publication as a final rule. The Department received five comments on the proposed implementation schedule which made specific reference to the shelter provisions. One commenter suggested that we allow 180 days for implementation, while another commenter asked that we require implementation within 60 days of publication. Three other commenters expressed the hope that these provisions would be implemented as soon as possible or without further delay. Also, several State agencies have requested on a number of occasions that the Department provide for implementation of regulations on the first day of yearly quarters, whenever possible, in order to facilitate making changes to their administrative procedures. The Department has decided to provide for implementation of the shelter provisions contained in this final rule no later than April 1, 1982, so that State agencies may implement them as soon as it is practicable or to take advantage of quarterly implementation should they choose to do so. (See 7 CFR 272.1(g)(37)).

Accordingly, 7 CFR Parts 271, 272, 273, 274, and 278 are amended as follows:

PART 271—GENERAL INFORMATION AND DEFINITIONS

1. In § 271.2, the definitions of "eligible foods" and "retail food store" are revised, and a definition of "shelter for battered women and children" is added in alphabetical order, to read as follows:

5. Section 273.3 is revised to read as follows:

§ 273.3 Residency.

Households must be living in the project areas in which they file applications for participation unless the State agency has made arrangements, in accordance with the provisions of § 272.5, to allow particular households to file applications for participation in nearby specified project areas. No individual may participate as a member of more than one household or in more than one project area, in any month, unless an individual is a resident of a shelter for battered women and children as defined in § 271.2 and was a member of a household containing the person who had abused him or her. Residents of shelters for battered women and children shall be handled in accordance with § 273.11(g). The State agency shall not impose any durational residency requirements. A fixed residence is not required; for example, migrant campsites satisfy the residency requirement. Nor shall residency require an intent to reside permanently in the State of project area. Persons in a project area solely for vacation purposes shall not be considered residents.

6. In § 273.8, a new sentence is added to the end of paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 273.8 Resource eligibility standards.

* * * * *

(d) * * * Resources shall be considered inaccessible to persons residing in shelters for battered women and children, as defined in § 271.2, if (1) the resources are jointly owned by such persons and by members of their former household; and (2) the shelter resident's access to the value of the resources is dependent on the agreement of a joint owner who still resides in the former household.

* * * * *

7. In § 273.11, paragraph (g) is redesignated as (h) and a new paragraph (g) is added to read as follows:

§ 273.11 Action on households with special circumstances.

(g) Shelters for Battered Women and Children. (1) Prior to certifying its residents under this paragraph, the State agency shall determine that the shelter for battered women and children meets the definition in § 271.2 and document the basis of this determination. Shelters having FNS authorization to redeem at wholesalers shall be considered as meeting the definition and the State agency is not required to make any further determination. The State agency may choose to require local project area offices to maintain a list of shelters meeting the definition to facilitate prompt certification of eligible residents following the special procedures outlined below.

(2) Many shelter residents have recently left a household containing the person who has abused them. Their former household may be certified for participation in the Program, and its certification may be based on a household size that includes the women and children who have just left. Shelter residents who are included in such certified households may nevertheless apply for and (if otherwise eligible) participate in the Program as separate households if such certified household which includes them is the household containing the person who subjected them to abuse. Shelter residents who are included in such certified households may receive an additional allotment as a separate household only once a month.

(3) Shelter residents who apply as separate households shall be certified solely on the basis of their income and resources and the expenses for which they are responsible. They shall be certified without regard to the income, resources, and expenses of their former household. Jointly held resources shall be considered inaccessible in accordance with § 273.8. Room payments to the shelter shall be considered as shelter expenses.

(4) Any shelter residents eligible for expedited service shall be handled in accordance with § 273.2(i).

(5) State agencies shall take prompt action to ensure that the former household's eligibility or allotment reflects the change in the household's composition. Such action shall include either shortening the certification period by issuing a notice of expiration in accordance with § 273.14(b) to the former household of shelter residents or acting on the reported change in accordance with § 273.12 by issuing a notice of adverse action in accordance with § 273.13.

PART 274—ISSUANCE AND USE OF FOOD COUPONS

8. In § 274.2, a new sentence is added to the end of paragraph (h) to read as follows:

§ 274.2 Issuance systems.

. . . . .

(h) * * * (4) Residents of shelters for battered women and children, as such shelters are defined in § 271.2 and which are not authorized by FNS to redeem through wholesalers, may request that all or part of their coupons be of the 1-dollar denomination and State agencies are authorized to grant this request, where feasible.

9. In § 274.10, a new sentence is added to the end of paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 274.10 Use or redemption of coupons by eligible households.

. . . . .

(d) * * * Residents of shelters for battered women and children as defined in § 271.2 may also use their coupons to purchase meals prepared especially for them at a shelter which is authorized by FNS in accordance with § 278.1 to redeem at wholesalers, or which redeems at retailers as the authorized representative of participating households in accordance with § 278.2(g).

PART 278—PARTICIPATION OF RETAIL FOOD STORES, WHOLESALE FOOD CONCERNS AND BANKS

10. In § 278.1, paragraphs (g) through (m) are redesignated as (h) through (n) and a new paragraph (g) is added to read as follows:

§ 278.1 Approval of retail food stores and wholesale food concerns.

. . . . .

(g) Shelters for battered women and children. FNS shall authorize as retail food stores those shelters for battered women and children wishing to redeem coupons directly through wholesalers. The shelter must be public or private nonprofit, as defined in paragraph (d)(1) of this section, and meet the requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section. Shelters which also serve other groups of individuals must have a portion of the facility set aside on a long-term basis to shelter battered women and children. Also required is that the shelter be a residence which serves meals or provides food to its residents.

11. In § 278.2, paragraph (g) is revised to read as follows:

§ 278.2 Participation of retail food stores.

. . . . .

(g) Redeeming coupons. Authorized retail food stores may exchange coupons in accordance with this part for face value upon presentation through the banking system or through a wholesale food concern authorized to accept coupons from that retailer. Authorized drug addict or alcoholic treatment and rehabilitation programs, group living arrangements, and shelters for battered women and children may present coupons for redemption through authorized wholesale food concerns. A drug addict or alcoholic treatment center, group living arrangement, or shelter for battered women and children may purchase food in authorized retail food stores as the authorized representative of its participating households. Authorized drug addict and alcholic treatment and rehabilitation programs, group living arrangements, and shelters for battered women and children shall not present coupons directly to a bank for redemption.

Department of Agriculture

Agricultural Marketing Service

Florida Oranges, Grapefruit, Tangerines, and Tangelos; Imported Grapefruit; Grade and Size Requirements

V 46 / 235 DEC 8 81 UMI

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

7 CFR Parts 905 and 944

[Florida Orange, Grapefruit, Tangerine and Tangelo Reg. 6; Grapefruit Import Reg. 6]

Florida Oranges, Grapefruit, Tangerines, and Tangelos; Imported Grapefruit; Grade and Size Requirements

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This regulation sets minimum grade and size requirements for Florida oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos and imported grapefruit. Such action is necessary to assure shipment of ample supplies of fruit of acceptable grades and sizes in the interest of growers and consumers. This rule also makes minor revisions in the instructions for obtaining inspection and certification of imported avocados, grapefruit, limes and oranges. This action reflects reorganization of inspection services and changes in addresses of inspection offices.

DATES: Effective December 7, 1981, and continued in effect until modified, suspended, or terminated.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William J. Doyle, Acting Chief, Fruit Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250, telephone (202) 447–5975.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule has been reviewed under Secretary's Memorandum 1512–1 and Executive Order 12291 and has been designated a "non-major" rule. William T. Manley, Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because it would not measurably affect costs for the directly regulated handlers.

An interim rule was published in the Federal Register on October 13, 1981 (46 FR 50359) which specified minimum grade and size requirements applicable to shipments of Florida oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, and tangelos and imported grapefruit through December 6, 1981. That rule provided an opportunity to file comments through November 12, 1981. No comments were received. During and subsequent to the comment period four actions were recommended by the Citrus Administrative Committee. Based on those recommendations and available information the Department issued four amendments to the interim rule. Amendment 1 provided that during the period November 9 through November 15, 1981, handlers were allowed to ship Florida Dancy tangerines with a minimum diameter of 2⁴⁄₁₆ inches. Amendment 2 provided that during the period November 16 through November 22, 1981, handlers were allowed to ship a quantity of smaller size Dancy variety tangerines (2⁴⁄₁₆ inches in diameter), equal to 35 percent of total shipments during a specified prior period. Amendment 3 continued the provisions of Amendment 2 for the period November 23 through November 29, 1981. Amendment 4 provided that during the period November 30 through December 6, 1981, handlers were allowed to ship a quantity of smaller size Dancy tangerines (2⁴⁄₁₆ inches in diameter), equal to 30 percent of total shipments during a specified prior period.

The Florida orange, grapefruit, tangerine and tangelo regulation is issued under the marketing agreement and Order No. 905, both as amended (7 CFR Part 905), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos grown in Florida. The agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The grapefruit import regulation is issued under § 8e (7 U.S.C. 608e–1) of this act. The grade and size requirements applicable to Florida oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos were recommended by the Citrus Administrative Committee which locally administers the program.

The grade and size requirements for domestic and export shipments are necessary to prevent shipment of Florida oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos of a lower grade or smaller size than specified and to assure that the various varieties of Florida citrus will be of suitable quality and maturity so they provide consumer satisfaction, which is essential for the successful marketing of the crop.

It is estimated that the 1981–82 season crop of Florida round oranges will be 166 million boxes, 4 percent less than last season. Grapefruit production is estimated at 55 million boxes, nine percent higher than the 1980–81 season production, and an 11 percent increase in Florida specialty citrus fruit is expected.

The committee reports that grove conditions are generally improving from the effects of the January 1981 freeze. The new crop should be of good quality. The shape and size of the fruit is considered to be generally average.

The committee's appraisal indicates fresh market demand at 17,000 carlots of round oranges, 3,000 carlots of Temple oranges, 10 carlots of seeded grapefruit, 33,000 carlots of seedless grapefruit, 3,500 carlots of tangelos, and 4,800 carlots of tangerines. Hence, considering the available supply and the reported size and quality of the fruit, more than ample quantities of each of the specified fruit meeting the grade and size requirements will be available to supply such demands.

The minimum grade and size requirements for imported grapefruit are consistent with Section 8e of the act. This section requires that whenever specified commodities, including grapefruit, are regulated under a Federal marketing order, imports of that commodity must meet the same or comparable grade, size, quality or maturity requirements as those in effect for the domestically produced commodity.

It was proposed that the regulations contained in the interim rule would be effective for the period October 19, 1981, through December 6, 1981, and then continue in effect from marketing season to marketing season indefinitely unless modified, suspended, or terminated by the Secretary upon recommendation and information submitted by the committee or other information available to the Secretary. Heretofore, regulations issued under the marketing order were made effective for a single marketing season. Issuance of regulations which would continue in effect from marketing season to marketing season reflects the fact that regulations change infrequently from season to season and it is believed unnecessary to issue them only for a single season. In addition, the action could result in a reduction in operational costs to the committee and the government. Although this final regulation is effective for an indefinite period the committee will continue to meet prior to and during each season to consider recommendations for modification, suspension, or termination of the regulation. Prior to making any such recommendations, the committee will submit to the Secretary a marketing policy for the season including an analysis of supply and demand factors having a bearing on the marketing of the crop. Committee meetings are open to the public and interested persons may express their views at these meetings. The Department will review committee recommendations and information submitted by the committee, and other available information, and determine whether modification, suspension, or termination of the regulations on shipment of Florida oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

It is found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to postpone the effective date of this final rule until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register (5 U.S.C. 553), and good cause exists for making these regulatory provisions effective as specified in that (1) the current interim Florida orange, grapefruit, tangerine, and tangelo and grapefruit import regulation (46 FR 50359) provided a 30-day comment period and no comments were received: (2) shipment of the current crop of Florida citrus is in progress: (3) the Florida citrus regulation was recommended by the committee following discussion at a public meeting on September 15, 1981; (4) Florida citrus handlers have been apprised of these requirements for Florida oranges, grapegruit, tangerines and tangelos and the effective date; (5) the grapefruit import requirements are mandatory under section 8e of the act, and they become effective at the same time as the domestic requirements; (6) the import regulation imposes the same grade and size requirements as are being made applicable to the shipment of grapefruit grown in Florida under Florida Orange, Grapefruit, Tangerine and Tangelo Regulation 6; and (7) three days notice, the minimum prescribed by section 8e, is provided with respect to this import regulation.

Information collection requirements (reporting or recordkeeping) under this part are subject to clearance by the Office of Management and Budget and are in the process of review. These information collection requirements shall not become effective until such time as clearance by OMB has been obtained.

Therefore, new §§ 905.306 and 944.106 are added and § 944.400 is revised to read as follows:

PART 905—ORANGE, GRAPEFRUIT, TANGERINES, AND TANGELOS GROWN IN FLORIDA

§ 905.306 Orange, Grapefruit, Tangerine and Tangelo Regulation 6.

(a) During the period specified in Column (2) of Table I, no handler shall ship between the production area and any point outside thereof, in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico, and variety of fruit listed in Column (1) of such table unless such variety meets the applicable minimum grade and size (with tolerances for size as specified in paragraph (c) of this section specified for such variety in Columns (3) and (4) of such table.

(d) Terms used in the marketing order, including Improved No. 2 grade for grapefruit, when used herein, mean the same as is given to the terms in the order: Florida No. 1 grade for Honey tangerines means the same as provided in Rule No. 20–35.03 of the Regulations of the Florida Department of Citrus, and terms relating to grade, except Improved No. 2 grade for grapefruit, and diameter shall mean the same as is given to the terms in the U.S. Standards for Grades of Florida Oranges and Tangelos (7 CFR 2851.1140–2851.1180), the U.S. Standards for Grades of Florida Tangerines (7 CFR 2851.1810–2851.1835), or the U.S. Standards for Grades of Florida Grapefruit (7 CFR 2851.750–2851 784).

PART 944—FRUITS; IMPORT REGULATIONS

§ 944.106 Grapefruit Regulation 6.

(a) Applicability to imports. Pursuant to Section 8e of the Act and Part 944—Fruits; Import Regulations, on and after December 11, 1981, the importation into the United States of any variety of grapefruit listed in Column (1) of said table is prohibited unless such variety meets the applicable minimum grade and size specified for such variety in Columns (3) and (4) of said table. In the determination of minimum size as prescribed in Table I, a tolerance is permitted as specified in paragraph (c) of § 905.306 of this chapter.

(b) The Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, United States Department of Agriculture, is designated as the governmental inspection service for certifying the grade, size, quality, and maturity of grapefruit that are imported into the United States. Inspection by the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service with evidence thereof in the form of an official inspection certificate, issued by the respective service, applicable to the particular shipment of grapefruit, is required on all imports. The inspection and certification services will be available upon application in accordance with the rules and regulations governing inspection and certification of fresh fruits, vegetables, and other products (7 CFR Part 2851) and in accordance with the Procedure for Requesting Inspection and Designating the Agencies to Perform Required Inspection and Certification (7 CFR 944.400).

(c) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation, any importation of grapefruit which, in the aggregate, does not exceed ten standard packed cartons, equivalent to four-fifths (⅘) of a United States bushel of grapefruit, each, or equivalent quantity, may be imported without regard to the requirements specified herein.

(d) No provisions of this section shall supersede the restrictions or prohibitions on grapefruit under the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912.

(e) Any lot or portion thereof which fails to meet the import requirements prior to or after reconditioning may be exported or disposed of under the supervision of the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service with the costs of certifying the disposal of said lot borne by the importer.

(f) It is determined that imports of grapefruits, during the effective time of this regulation, are in most direct competition with grapefruit grown in the State of Florida. The requirements of this section are the same as those being made effective for grapefruit grown in Florida.

(g) Terms used herein relating to grade, except Improved No. 2 grade, and diameter shall have the same meaning as in the United States Standards for Grades of Florida Grapefruit (7 CFR 2851.750–2851.784). Improved No. 2 shall mean the same as in the marketing agreement and Order No. 905, both as amended (7 CFR Part 905). Importation means release from custody of the United States Customs Service.

§ 944.400 Designated inspection services and procedure for obtaining inspection and certification of imported avocados, grapefruit, limes, and oranges regulated under section 8e of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended.

(a) The Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service, Fruit and Vegetable Division, AMS, United States Department of Agriculture, is hereby designated as the governmental inspection service for the purpose of certifying the grade, size, quality, and maturity of avocados, grapefruit, limes and oranges that are imported into the United States. Inspection by the Federal or Federal-State Inspection Service with appropriate evidence thereof in the form of an official inspection certificate, issued by the respective service, applicable to the particular shipment of the specified fruit, is required on all imports. Such inspection and certification services will be available upon application in accordance with the rules and regulations governing inspection and certification of fresh fruits, vegetables, and other products (7 CFR Part 2851) but, since inspectors are not located in the immediate vicinity of some of the small ports of entry, such as those in southern California, importers of avocados, grapefruit, limes, and oranges should make arrangements for inspection, through the applicable one of the following offices, at least the specified number of days prior to the time when the fruit will be imported:

Title 3—

The President

Proclamation 4885 of December 4, 1981

Bill of Rights Day

Human Rights Day and Week, 1981

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

On December 15, 1791, our Founding Fathers rejoiced in the ratification of the first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States—a Bill of Rights which has helped guarantee all Americans the liberty which we so cherish.

One hundred and fifty-seven years later, on December 10, 1948, the United Nations adopted the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, an effort aimed at securing basic human rights for the people of all nations.

Each of these great documents was born after the bloodshed of a bitter war. We remember the great sacrifices Americans have made for 200 years, from the Revolutionary War, in which our ancestors pledged "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honor," to the wars of this century, in which hundreds of thousands of young Americans and millions of others gave their lives on the battlefields of Europe, Asia, and Africa in the struggle for freedom. And, yet, even today, as we celebrate Bill of Rights Day and Human Rights Day, we all are only too well aware that the individual rights declared in these documents are not yet respected in many nations.

We have learned that the lesson our Founding Fathers taught is as true today as it was two centuries ago—liberty depends not upon the state but upon the people. Liberty thrives in the free association of citizens in free institutions: families, churches, universities, trade unions, and a free press.

Mankind's best defense against tyranny and want is limited government—a government which empowers its people, not itself, and which respects the wit and bravery, the initiative, and the generosity of the people. For, above all, human rights are rights of individuals: rights of conscience, rights of choice, rights of association, rights of emigration, rights of self-directed action, and the right to own property. The concept of a nation of free men and women linked together voluntarily is the genius of the system our Founding Fathers established.

We will continue to strive to respect these rights fully in our own country and to promote their observance abroad. We could have no greater wish for mankind than that all people come to enjoy these rights.

This year, after nearly 20 years of effort, the United Nations Human Rights Commission and the UN General Assembly have approved a declaration on the elimination of all forms of discrimination based on religion. It begins with words Americans will find familiar, "Everyone will have the right to freedom of thought, conscience and religion." It declares that parents must have the right to teach their children to worship God and that all religions must have the right to teach their faith, to train their clergy, and to observe their customs and holidays.

We in America are blessed with rights secured for us by the sacrifices of our forefathers, but we yearn for the day when all mankind can share in these blessings. Never is there any excuse for the violation of the fundamental rights of man—not at any time or in any place, not in rich countries or poor, not under any social, economic or political system.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RONALD REAGAN, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim December 10, 1981 as Human Rights Day and December 15, 1981 as Bill of Rights Day, and call on all Americans to observe the week beginning December 10, 1981 as Human Rights Week. During this week, let each of us give special thought to the blessings we enjoy as a free people and let us dedicate our efforts to making the promise of our Bill of Rights a living reality for all Americans and, whenever possible, for all mankind.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 4th day of December, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighty-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and sixth.

Tomatoes Grown in Florida; Minimum Grade, Size, Pack, Container, and Marking Requirements

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This regulation requires fresh market shipment of tomatoes grown in certain counties in Florida to be inspected and meet minimum grade, size, pack, container and marking requirements. This will promote orderly marketing of such tomatoes and keep less desirable sizes and qualities from being shipped to consumers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 1, 1982.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Charles W. Porter, Chief, Vegetable Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250 (202) 447–2615. The final impact analysis relating to this rule is available on request from Mr. Porter.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule has been reviewed under Secretary's Memorandum 1512–1 and Executive Order 12291 and has been designated a "nonmajor" rule. William T. Manley, Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because it would not measurably affect costs for the directly regulated handlers.

An interim rule was published in the October 9, 1981, issue of the Federal Register (46 FR 50046), specifying grade, size, pack, container, marking and inspection requirements applicable to shipments of Florida tomatoes during the period October 11 through December 31, 1981. The action was taken pursuant to authority contained in Marketing Agreement No. 125 and Order No. 966, both as amended (7 CFR 966), regulating the handling of tomatoes grown in designated counties of Florida. The order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The interim rule, based on recommendations made by the Florida Tomato Committee at a public meeting held September 11, 1981, proposed that the same requirements, except for container net weights, be made effective for the period January 1 through June 12, 1982. During that period, tomatoes would be required to be packed in 20, 25, or 40 pound containers instead of in containers of 20, 30, or 40 pounds as specified in the interim rule. This adjustment was recommended by the committee at a second meeting held October 5.

Written comments on the proposed final regulation were solicited until November 9, 1981. Thirty-two comments were received from tomato receivers and repackers and organizations representing them. All comments opposed the change in container net weights and will be discussed as they pertain to the subject matter.

The grade and size requirements specified herein are necessary to prevent tomatoes of lower quality and undesirable size from being distributed in fresh market channels, and will not affect the total volume of fresh tomatoes on the U.S. markets. Tomatoes which fail to meet the minimum grade of U.S. No. 3 have serious defects or physical damage and are not salable. Tomatoes less than $2\frac{3}{32}$ inches in diameter are generally passed over during harvest and left on the vine to grow to the minimum size.

Under Section 8e of the act, the same grade and size requirements will be applicable to fresh tomato imports, which are almost entirely from Mexico. Exports from Mexico are subject to grade and size requirements which are generally more strict than U.S. regulations. Therefore, requiring imported tomatoes to meet the same minimum quality standards as are applied to domestic shipments will not restrict imports.

The requirements for containers, container net weights, and size classifications are intended to standardize shipping practices and enhance marketing efficiency. They will have no effect on the quantity of tomatoes shipped from Florida.

The regulation requires tomatoes to be packed in containers with net weights of 20, 25, or 40 pounds, instead of in 20, 30, or 40 pound containers as is currently required. The 20 and 40 pound cartons are used only to a limited extent.

The replacement of the 30 pound container with one of 25 pounds was recommended by the committee at a public meeting held October 5. The new carton will have the same length and width dimensions as the carton currently in use, but will be reduced in height by one inch. This reduction will yield a stronger carton.

Fewer tomatoes packed in each container will result in a higher quality product. In the ripening rooms, a lower mass per carton will improve ethylene circulation, resulting in more uniform ripening. Bruising and other physical damage that occur during the handling and transportation of tomatoes would be reduced, due to the stronger carton and the reduction in weight per container. Consumers will benefit by the higher quality product and the accompanying reduction in waste at the receiving end.

Comments were received from tomato receivers and repackers who opposed this change on the grounds that an increase in consumer prices will result. They contend that tomato prices will rise because the 25-pound carton will sell for the same amount as the 30-pound carton, and because certain handling costs will increase.

Tomatoes are sold on a per pound rather than a per container basis. A switch to a smaller container therefore will not directly affect the price of tomatoes.

Handling costs expected to rise include those for transportation, brokerage, and ripening. The use of a smaller carton will allow more containers to be loaded on a truck, although the total weight of tomatoes per truck will be less. This will yield a higher transportation cost on a per pound basis. Brokerage fees and ripening charges are normally established on a per carton basis. Therefore, these costs will also rise when computed on a per pound basis.

Although it appears that some handling costs will rise as a result of switching to a smaller container, these costs are expected to be more than offset by better arrival conditions and reductions in waste. The industry should benefit by providing the consumer with a higher quality product.

Exceptions are provided to certain of these requirements to recognize special situations in which such requirements would be inappropriate or unreasonable. Shipments may be allowed to certain special purpose outlets without regard to minimum grade, size, container or inspection requirements provided that safeguards are used to prevent such tomatoes from reaching unauthorized outlets. Tomatoes for canning are exempt under the legislative authority for this part. Since no purpose would be served by regulating tomatoes used for relief, experimental or charity purposes such shipments are also exempt. Because export requirements differ materially, on occasion, from domestic market requirements such shipments are exempt.

The following types of tomatoes are exempt from these regulations: elongated types commonly referred to as pear shaped or paste tomatoes, cerasiform type tomatoes commonly referred to as cherry tomatoes, hydroponic tomatoes and greenhouse tomatoes. Such types are generally of good quality, readily identifiable either by their destinctive shapes or container markings and usually comprise a very small part of the total crop. Only tomatoes shipped outside the regulated area are being regulated because of an increase in the U-pick type of harvest in Florida production areas close to urban areas and resulting difficulty in obtaining compliance with regulations. The minimum quantity exemption permits persons to handle up to 60 pounds of tomatoes per day without regard to the requirements of this part. This reduces the problem of enforcement on small shipments of essentially noncommercial nature. The requirements concerning special pack shipments are intended to help handlers in the production area compete on an equal basis with those outside the area by not requiring reinspection of previously inspected and certified tomatoes when repacked in consumer size packages.

Occassionally individual fruit of several new varieties, including Flora-Dade, may be elognated in shape. This characteristic may be exaggerated by adverse growing conditions. It is anticipated that handlers packing these varieties usually will be able to comply with all provisions of the regulation. However, if situations arise in which the incidence of tomatoes not of the normal globular shape makes sizing in accordance with present grade standards infeasible, the affected varieties may be exempted from the size requirements of the regulation.

Findings

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including the Florida Tomato Committee recommendations, comments received, and other available information, it is hereby found and determined that this handling regulation, as hereinafter set forth, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

It is further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register (5 U.S.C. 553), in that (1) shipments of the 1981–82 crop tomatoes grown in the production area have begun and the regulation should become effective on the effective date herein to maximize benefits to producers; (2) the regulation was recommended by the committee following discussion at open meetings; (3) information regarding these requirements and the effective date has been disseminated among growers and handlers of tomatoes in the production area; (4) the requirements are esentially the same as those in effect during past seasons; and (5) compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of handlers subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective date.

Information collection requirements (reporting or recordkeeping) under this part are subject to clearance by the Office of Management and Budget and are in the process of review. These information requirements shall not become effective until such time as clearance by the OMB has been obtained.

Section 966.320 (46 FR 50046, October 9, 1981) is hereby removed and a new § 966.321 is added as follows:

§ 966.321 Handling regulation.

During the period January 1, 1982, through June 12, 1982, no person shall handle any lot of tomatoes for shipment outside the regulated area unless they meet the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section or are exempted by paragraphs (b) or (d), of this section.

(a) Grade, size, container and inspection requirements.—(1) Grade. Tomatoes shall be graded and meet the requirements specified for U.S. No. 1, U.S. Combination, U.S. No. 2, or U.S. No. 3, of the U.S. Standards for Grades of Fresh Tomatoes (7 CFR 2851.1855–2851.1558). When not more than 15 percent of tomatoes in any lot fail to meet the requirements of U.S. No. 1 grade and not more than one-third of this 15 percent (or 5 percent) are comprised of defects causing very serious damage including not more than one percent of tomatoes which are soft or affected by decay, such tomatoes may be shipped and designated as at least 85 percent U.S. No. 1 grade.

(2) Size. (i) Tomatoes shall be at least 2$^{3}/_{32}$ inches in diameter and be sized in one or more of the following ranges of diameters. Measurement of diameters shall be in accordance with the methods prescribed in § 2851.1859 of the U.S. Standards for Grades of Fresh Tomatoes.

Size Classification	Inches
	Minimum diameter	Maximum diameter
7×7	$2^{3}/_{32}$	$2^{5}/_{32}$
6×7	$2^{7}/_{32}$	$2^{17}/_{32}$
6×6	$2^{15}/_{32}$	$2^{25}/_{32}$
5×6 and larger	$2^{25}/_{32}$

(ii) Tomatoes of designated sizes may not be commingled unless they are over $2^{15}/_{32}$ inches in diameter and each container shall be marked to indicate the designated size.

(iii) Only numerical terms may be used to indicate the above listed size designations on containers of tomatoes, except when tomatoes are commingled the containers can be marked 6x6 & Lgr. or 5x6 & Lgr.

(iv) To allow for variations incident to proper sizing, not more than a total of ten (10) percent, by count, of the tomatoes in any lot may be smaller than the specified minimum diameter or larger than the maximum diameter.

(3) Containers. (i) Tomatoes shall be packed in containers of 20, 25, or 40 pounds designated net weights and comply with the requirements of § 2851.1863 of the U.S. Standards for Grades of Fresh Tomatoes.

(ii) Each container shall be marked to indicate the designated net weight and must show the name and address of the shipper in letters at least one-fourth (¼) inch high.

(iii) If the container in which the tomatoes are packed is not clean and bright in appearance without marks, stains, or other evidence of previous use, the lid of such container shall be marked in a principal display area at least 2½ inches high and 4½ inches long with the words "Used Box" in letters not less than 1¼ inches high and the name of the shipper and point of origin in letters not less than ⅜ inch high.

V 46 / 236 DEC 9 81 UMI

(4) Inspection. Tomatoes shall be inspected and certified pursuant to the provisions of § 966.60. Each handler who applies for inspection shall register with the committee pursuant to § 966.113. Handlers shall pay assessments as provided in § 966.42. Evidence of inspection must accompany truck shipments.

(b) Special purpose shipments. The requirements of paragraph (a) of this section shall not be applicable to shipments of tomatoes for canning, experimental purposes, relief, charity or export if the handler thereof complies with the safeguard requirements of paragraph (c) of this section. Shipments for canning are also exempt from the assessment requirements of this part.

(c) Safeguards. Each handler making shipments of tomatoes for canning, experimental purposes, relief, charity or export in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section shall:

(1) Apply to the committee and obtain a Certificate of Privilege to make such shipments.

(2) Prepare on forms furnished by the committee a report in quadruplicate on such shipments authorized in paragraph (b) of this section.

(3) Bill or consign each shipment directly to the designated applicable receiver.

(4) Forward one copy of such report to the committee office and two copies to the receiver for signing and returning one copy to the committee office. Failure of the handler or receiver to report such shipments by signing and returning the applicable report to the committee office within ten days after shipment may be cause for cancellation of such handler's certificate and/or receiver's eligibility to receive further shipments pursuant to such certificate. Upon cancellation of any such certificate, the handler may appeal to the committee for reconsideration.

(d) Exemption.—(1) For types. The following types of tomatoes are exempt from these regulations: Elongated types commonly referred to as pear shaped or paste tomatoes and including but not limited to San Marzano, Red Top and Roma varieties; cerasiform type tomatoes commonly referred to as cherry tomatoes; hydroponic tomatoes; and greenhouse tomatoes.

(2) For minimum quantity. For purposes of this regulation each person subject thereto may handle up to but not to exceed 60 pounds of tomatoes per day without regard to the requirements of this regulation but this exemption shall not apply to any shipment or any portion thereof of over 60 pounds of tomatoes.

(3) For special packed tomatoes. Tomatoes which met the inspection requirements of paragraph (a)(4) of this section which are resorted, regraded and repacked by a handler who has been designated as a "Certified Tomato Repacker" by the committee are exempt from (i) the tomato grade classifications of paragraph (a)(1) of this section, (ii) the size classifications of paragraph (a)(2) of this section except that the tomatoes shall be at least 2$^{23}/_{32}$ inches in diameter and (iii) the container weight requirements of paragraph (a)(3) of this section.

(4) For varieties. Upon recommendation of the committee, varieties of tomatoes that are elongated or otherwise misshapen due to adverse growing conditions may be exempted by the Secretary from the provisions of paragraph (a)(2) of this section.

(e) Definitions. "Hydroponic tomatoes" means tomatoes grown in solution without soil; "greenhouse tomatoes" means tomatoes grown indoors. A "Certified Tomato Repacker" is a repacker of tomatoes in the regulated area who has the facilities for handling, regrading, resorting and repacking tomatoes into consumer size packages and has been certified as such by the committee. "U.S. tomato standards" means the revised United States Standards for Grades of Fresh Tomatoes (7 CFR 2851.1855–2851.1877), effective December 1, 1973, as amended, or variations thereof specified in this section. Other terms in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 125, as amended, and this part, and the U.S. tomato standards.

(f) Applicability to imports. Under section 8e of the act and § 980.212 "Import regulations" (7 CFR 980.212) tomatoes imported during the effective period of this section shall be at least U.S. No. 3 grade and at least 2$^{23}/_{32}$ inches in diameter. Not more than 10 percent, by count, in any lot may be smaller than the minimum specified diameter.

BILLING CODE 3410-02-M

7 CFR Part 991

Hops of Domestic Production; Revision of Salable Quantity and Allotment Percentage for the 1981–82 Marketing Year; Amendment of Administrative Rules and Regulations

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Emergency final rule.

SUMMARY: This emergency final rule: (1) Increases the quantity of hops that may be marketed freely from the 1981 crop; and (2) changes from November 1, to December 14, 1981, the date certain hops from the 1981 production become reserve hops and from November 15 to December 15, 1981, the date such hops must be identified as reserve hops. This action is taken under the marketing order for domestic hops to bring the volume regulation and related provisions in line with current supply and demand conditions. The changes are expected to allow all of the 1981 crop to be marketed freely.

EFFECTIVE DATES: August 1, 1981, through July 31, 1982.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: J. S. Miller, Chief, Specialty Crops Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, (202) 447–5697.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final rule has been reviewed under USDA guidelines implementing Executive Order 12291 and Secretary's Memorandum No. 1512–1 and has been classified a "non-major" rule.

William T. Manley, Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because it would result in only minimal costs being incurred by the regulated nine handlers.

It is found that an emergency situation exists which warrants publication without opportunity for a public comment period on this emergency final action. This action would increase the salable quantity and allotment percentage for the 1981–82 marketing year, which began August 1, 1981. It also relieves restrictions on handlers with respect to delivering hops to the reserve pool. Since handlers currently are receiving hops from producers in volume, this action must be taken promptly so that handlers know what regulations will be in effect for the current marketing year and be able to plan accordingly.

Further, pursuant to the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is further found upon good cause that notice and other public procedures with respect to this emergency final action are impracticable and contrary to the public interest; and good cause is found for making this emergency final action effective less than 30 days after publication of this document in the Federal Register.

Information collection (reporting and recordkeeping) under this part are subject to clearance by the Office of Management and Budget and are in the process of review. These information requirements shall not become effective until such time as clearance by the OMB has been obtained.

Notice of a proposal to establish a salable quantity of 78,279,375 pounds and an allotment percentage of 130 percent for the 1981–82 marketing year was published in the January 15, 1981, issue of the Federal Register (46 FR 3541). That action was based on the recommendation of the Hop Administrative Committee in accordance with provisions of Marketing Order No. 991, as amended (7 CFR 991), regulating the handling of hops of domestic production. The order is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The final rule on that matter was published in the April 7, 1981, issue of the Federal Register (46 FR 20667).

On October 14, 1981, the Committee met and reviewed the salable quantity and allotment percentage previously established for the 1981–82 marketing year and the estimates from which the salable quantity and allotment percentage were derived. Based on current supply and demand conditions, the Committee recommended an upward revision that is expected to allow all of the 1981 crop to be marketed freely. The current supply and demand estimates used by the Committee in making its recommendations together with the earlier estimates (in parentheses) are listed below:

(1) Total domestic consumption of 47,000,000 (47,500,000) pounds of hops;

(2) Minus imports of 16,308,465 (16,500,000) pounds of hops to result in domestic consumption of U.S. hops of 30,691,535 (31,000,000) pounds;

(3) Plus total exports of 42,000,000 (41,000,000) pounds of hops to equal 72,691,535 (72,000,000) pounds total usage of U.S. hops;

(4) Plus 1,500,000 (1,500,000) pounds to adjust for weight loss of hops processed into pellets and extract;

(5) Plus 5,570,000 (3,000,000) pounds as an inventory adjustment; and

(6) Plus and adjustment of 0 (1,779,375) pounds to provide for adequate supplies should some producers' allotments not be fully produced;

(7) This results in a salable quantity of 79,761,535 (78,279,375) pounds.

The salable percentage is computed by subtracting from this salable quantity 1,228,535 pounds for additional allotment bases for hops of the Fuggle variety established pursuant to §§ 991.38(b) and 991.138(c) and dividing the remainder by 59,270,000 pounds, the total of all allotment bases less the 1,228,535 pounds of additional allotment bases for Fuggle variety hops, to result in a salable percentage of 132.5 percent.

Section 991.36 provides in part that prior to August 1 of each year, the Committee shall review its marketing policy and, if conditions warrant, recommend to the Secretary an appropriate increase in the salable quantity and allotment percentage for the ensuing crop as may be warranted. That section, however, does not prohibit any subsequent Committee review and recommendations. Further, that section provides for notice of the marketing policy recommendations for a marketing year and prompt submission of any later changes to the Secretary and all producers and handlers. The Committee complied with the procedures of that section.

Section 991.37 provides, in part, that the salable quantity shall be prorated among producers by applying an allotment percentage to each producer's allotment base. Thus, even when the salable quantity exceeds total production, hops may be delivered to the reserve pool if a producer produces in excess of the allotment percentage. However, the Committee expects that its recommendation would make all 1981 crop hops available for market. This is based on its revisions of several estimates of the previously approved marketing policy. Most notably the inventory adjustment has been increased sharply because carry-in supplies of 1980 hops were several million pounds less than previously estimated. In addition, the estimated net use of 1981 U.S. hops has been increased by almost 700,000 pounds, primarily due to expected increased export sales.

Thus, the revised allotment percentage and salable quantity for the 1981–82 marketing year result directly from the revision of the Committee's earlier marketing policy estimates, and as revised reflect the current supply and demand conditions. The upward revision is not intended to, nor should it have the effect of, undermining the producers' ability to sell hops. On the contrary, it is expected to allow producers to sell all of the 1981 crop hops they produce.

Section 991.39 provides, in part, that hops baled, packaged, processed, or otherwise prepared for market that are in excess of an effective individual producer annual allotment or total of such allotments to members of a cooperative marketing association and are held by any producer-handler or association on November 1, or such other date as the Committee may prescribe, shall be reserve hops. Section 991.32 prescribes inspection and identification requirements for hops received for reserve handling and provides, in part, that inspection and identification shall be completed prior to November 15 or other date established pursuant to § 991.39.

On October 14, the Committee also recommended that the date on which excess hops from the 1981 production become reserve hops be extended beyond November 1, 1981, and that identification of those reserve hops be completed at a date later than November 15, 1981. The purpose of the date changes for the 1981 crop is the same as those for the 1980 crop. It enables producers who produced less than their annual allotments to fill any deficit as authorized in § 991.38(e), by acquiring hops from other producers who produced in excess of their annual allotments before the excess hops become reserve hops pursuant to § 991.39. The 1981 crop was a record production, and as a result, it is anticipated that growers will experience delays in completing the filling of deficiencies. Finally, the changes in dates are necessary to prevent the unnecessary delivery of excess hops to the reserve pool. As previously indicated, the revision of the salable quantity and salable percentage are intended to allow all of the 1981 crop to be freely marketed.

Therefore, § 991.139 is revised to provide that, for the 1981–82 marketing year, excess hops become reserve hops on December 14, 1981. In addition, the introduction and paragraph (a) of § 991.132 are revised by inserting a proviso that, for the 1981–82 marketing year, reserve hops should be identified, as prescribed in that section, prior to December 15, 1981.

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including the information and recommendation submitted by the Committee, and other information, it is further found that amendment of Subpart—Administrative Rules and Regulations (7 CFR 991.130–991.160), and the upward revision of the salable quantity and allotment percentage for the 1981–82 marketing year, would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

PART 991—HOPS OF DOMESTIC PRODUCTION

The changes read as follows:

1. Section 991.132 is amended by revising the introductory text and paragraph (a) to read as follows:

§ 991.132 Identification of reserve hops.

As provided in §§ 991.32 and 991.39, identification of reserve hops shall be completed prior to November 15 or such other date established pursuant to § 991.39: Provided, That for the 1981–82 marketing year, identification of reserve hops shall be completed prior to December 15, 1981. Also, prescribed reports are required with respect to reserve hops held and not delivered by the closing date for pooling.

(a) Any hops which become reserve hops pursuant to § 991.39 shall, prior to November 15 of the year of production or such other date as may be established pursuant to § 991.39, be identified by such devices and in such manner as the Committee finds necessary to maintain surveillance over such hops to assure disposition thereof in accordance with this part and to prevent their unauthorized use in outlets for salable hops: Provided, That for the 1981–82 marketing year, such identification shall be completed prior to December 15, 1981. Such identification of bales of reserve hops held by a producer-handler or cooperative marketing association, as provided in § 991.39, shall be by Committee-approved seals or stencils, or such other means as the Committee may approve in writing, applied to the individual bales. Each such producer-handler or association holding reserve hops shall be responsible for having the Committee-approved seals, stencils, or other identification applied to such hops; and representatives of the Committee and the Secretary shall have access to all premises on which such producer-handler and associations hold reserve hops.

2. Section 991.139 is revised to read as follows:

§ 991.139 Reserve hops.

Pursuant to § 991.39, hops baled, packaged, processed or otherwise prepared for market that are in excess of an effective individual producer annual allotment, or the total of such allotment to members of a cooperative marketing association and are held by any producer-handler or association on November 1, shall be reserve hops: Provided, That for the 1981–82 marketing year this date shall be December 14, 1981.

3. Section 991.219 is revised to read as follows:

§ 991.219 Allotment percentage and salable quantity for hops during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1981.

The allotment percentage during the marketing year beginning August 1, 1981, shall be 132.5 percent, and the salable quantity shall be 79,761,535 pounds.

Borrower Supervision, Servicing, and Collection of Single Family Housing Loan Accounts

AGENCY: Farmers Home Administration, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) amends, consolidates, and redesignates its regulations regarding Borrower Supervision, Servicing, and Collection of Single Family Housing Loan Accounts. This redesignation, revision, and consolidation will place in one regulation the requirement for borrower supervision, servicing, and collection of single family housing loan accounts, provide counseling and supervisory guidelines for field staff to meet the indicated needs of borrowers, and provide specific steps in the servicing and collection of delinquent accounts. The action enables the FmHA to provide single family housing borrowers better counseling and supervisory assistance and field staff to take specific actions to assist borrowers to remove and reduce delinquencies.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Phil Girard, Program Specialist, Farmers Home Administration, USDA, Room 5309, South Agriculture Building, 14th and Independence Avenues, SW., Washington, D.C. 20250, Telephone 202–382–1452.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final action has been reviewed under USDA procedures established in Secretary's Memorandum 1512–1 which implements Executive Order 12291, and has been determined nonmajor. This determination is based on the fact that there will be little, if any, increase in the cost to the government or to the borrowers affected by this instruction. There will be some increase in cost in assisting borrowers, however these costs will be offset by the reduction in the number and amount of delinquencies, which will decrease the loss to the government resulting from the liquidation of borrowers accounts. Three alternative actions were considered.

A. Status quo—retain current procedure. Under this option the borrower supervision, and servicing and collection of borrower accounts would continue to remain in several different FmHA Instructions. Under this method we recognize that the current procedures do not provide specific steps for field staff to take to assure that all single family housing borrowers will be informed and granted the assistance for which they might be entitled, nor does it provide for specific steps to be taken in the servicing of delinquent accounts in order to reduce the number and amount of borrower delinquencies thereby reducing the instance of borrower failure.

B. Modify existing regulations to include additional guidelines for borrower supervision and the servicing of single family housing borrower accounts. Under this option the revised regulation would not take into consideration the need for placing all procedures pertaining to borrower supervision, and servicing and collection into one instruction.

C. Publish new instructions (regulations) that will place borrower supervision, and servicing and collection of single family housing accounts into one instruction. Also, through more definitive and specific language provide detailed requirements for assisting borrowers and servicing and collection of delinquent accounts.

Under this option, the requirement for borrower supervision and the servicing and collection of single family housing loan accounts will be placed into one instruction. An integral part of this option is outlining of specific requirements for assisting borrowers and the servicing of delinquent accounts. By placing those requirements in one instruction and providing specific details for assisting borrowers and servicing accounts the field staff would be more efficient in accomplishing their goals of providing additional borrower supervision and reducing delinquency. This will enable the field staff through better supervision and collection technique to assist those borrowers most in need.

The FmHA programs and projects which are affected by this instruction are subject to state and local clearinghouse review in the manner delineated in Subpart H of Part 1901 of this Chapter. The reference in the Catalog of Federal Domestic assistance is 10.410 Low- to Moderate-Income Housing loans. On December 18, 1980, the Farmers Home Administration published in the Federal Register a Proposed Rule to establish under Chapter XVIII, Title 7, Subchapter H, in the Code of Federal Regulations Part 1951, Servicing and Collections, a new Subpart G, "Borrower Supervision, Servicing, and Collection of Single Family Housing Loan Accounts." This new Subpart G of Part 1951 also replaces Part 1951, Subpart A, §§ 1951.17 and 1951.20; Part 1924, Subpart B, is amended and no longer pertains to Single Family Housing Borrowers.

The final rule contains revisions to the proposed rule which reflect FmHA's consideration of the comments received as well as other information available to FmHA. The following is a discussion of the comments received:

§ 1951.301. Two comments were received concerning the exclusion of 502 borrowers from this instruction who also have Farmer Program type loans. We believe there is merit in having a separate servicing instruction for 502 borrowers, however, we agree that Farmer Program borrowers who also have a 502 loan should not be excluded from the interest credit and moratorium provisions of this instruction. The paragraph will be reworded to clarify this change.

§ 1951.307(b)(2). It was suggested that the decision to offer or accept counseling agency services be left to the borrower or the counseling agency/TSA grantee. This change will not be made since FmHA, to fully exercise its servicing responsibilities, must maintain control over its loan servicing activities.

§ 1951.307(b)(4). It was suggested that this paragraph, in effect, postpones liquidation for up to 6 months without any guarantee that a realistic agreement will be reached with the borrower. Without such an agreement a borrower will become 6 months delinquent at which point it would be extremely difficult to recover. The regulation has been changed to require FmHA not to take any liquidation action for one month to allow a repayment agreement acceptable to FmHA to be worked out with the Counselor.

§ 1951.307(b). Comments were received regarding the privacy rights of borrowers. A statement has been added that information released as described in (b)(2) of this section is allowable and proper under the provisions of the Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts.

§ 1951.308. One comment suggested that seasonally employed borrowers be permitted to convert to annual payment plan even if they did not originally have an annual note. This will not be implemented because rescheduled payment agreements can be used to assist those borrowers.

§ 1951.308(b). One comment suggested that procedure be expanded to include an explanation of how the payment due date is determined for subsequent loans. This change is implemented.

§ 1951.309(a). One comment suggested that the phrase "whichever is later" be added to the end of the first sentence. A change will be made requiring that payment cards will be held for the first three payments in all cases.

§ 1951.310. One comment requested that taxes not be restricted to a one year reamortization period if paid by FmHA. Another comment suggested that FmHA notify the borrower of a decision to advance recoverable costs to allow for an appeal. No changes were made because it would not be practical for FmHA to pay taxes on an account each year. The agency's appeal procedure does not provide for appeals of this type. The FmHA mortgage requires payment of taxes and insurance. If unpaid, the borrower is in default and expenses are vouchered to protect the agency's security interest.

§ 1951.311(a). One comment suggested that Form FmHA 451–35, "Past Due Notice" contain moratorium notice. This change will not be implemented because a Past Due Notice is generated from the Finance Office. Borrower receives moratorium notice in collection letters issued from the County Office as specified in § 1951.312(e).

Another comment suggested that accounts subject to moratorium or receiving counseling pursuant to § 1951.307(b)(4) not receive past due notice. A borrower that has been granted a moratorium will not receive a Past Due Notice nor will a borrower that is receiving counseling, has executed a Form FmHA 451–37, and is paying as agreed.

§ 1951.311(b). One comment suggested that County Supervisors provide a copy of the monthly report to counseling agencies. This will not be changed because this report is on all delinquent borrowers. The County Supervisor will advise counseling agencies on the progress of borrowers receiving their services. Another comment requested that the Finance Office refrain from listing as delinquent those borrowers who have transactions pending in the Finance Office. Many similar suggestions for improving Finance Office operations are being considered and will be implemented after current assessment is completed.

§ 1951.311(f)(2). One comment suggested that the quarterly district report be replaced with monthly County Office reports. This subsection has been removed as this report is no longer required.

§ 1951.312. One comment recommended that refinancing be included, with the other authorities under this section. No change will be made because information has not been submitted to show that borrowers would be better off if this discretionary authority was used.

§ 1951.312(d)(1). One comment suggested that Form 451–37 be prohibited and Form 440–9 be used if delinquency can be eliminated within 4 months. This change will be made.

§ 1951.312(d)(2). One comment suggested that the $10 minimum for Additional Partial Payment Agreements (APPA) should be eliminated. No change will be made because it would be impractical to allot personnel and computer time to process APPA of such small value. The purpose of APPA is to repay a delinquency or advance and it is doubtful that a $1 a month reduction, for example, would be the difference between foreclosure and a borrower keeping his or her home.

Another comment suggested that APPA be revised to allow for gradually increased payments rather than a level payment schedule. No change will be made at present, however, this idea plus many other servicing methods are continually being evaluated as to their potential usefulness and also the projected impact on our Finance Office. However, at present the computer has only limited capacity for new programming, such as would be required in this case and it was felt necessary to issue this instruction before such a revision as that suggested could be implemented.

Another comment requested clarification regarding use of APPA to repay an advance. A voucher is used to notify the Finance Office and the APPA is used to document the borrower's agreement to repay. The APPA can be used to repay a recoverable cost if for 2 or more years taxes or for a nonrecurring cost.

§ 1951.312(e)(1). Comments were received suggesting that: Subsections (i). (ii) and (iii) be combined; the County Supervisor be required to mention all servicing options to the borrower on each contact; subsections (ii) and (iii) include notice of counseling, APPA, interest credit reamortization and moratorium; borrower attitude should not be a factor when considering foreclosure; a new subsection be added to specify that foreclosure not be recommended until all servicing options have been exhausted; guide letters be in plain English; the instruction is in conflict with existing regulations because the District Director is excluded from the decision process regarding voluntary foreclosure; the personal visit requirement be eliminated because of mileage cutbacks; effort is duplicated by notifying borrowers about interest credit and moratorium more than once; clarification is needed on servicing actions required when a borrower remains one, two, or three months delinquent for several months; the time limit prior to liquidation is excessive. This subsection establishes a systematic servicing plan for housing borrowers. Many comments pertain only to small parts of the plan but impact on the entire plan. Many changes were made in this subsection but specific comment on each suggestion is difficult because many of the comments were incorporated in part or in a form somewhat different than presented. Specifically, the systematic servicing plan has been completely revised. Borrower attitude, as suggested, has been deleted as a foreclosure consideration and replaced with willingness to pay and wording has been added that will clarify servicing actions regarding borrowers that remain one, two and three months delinquent. Part 1955, Subpart A gives the County Supervisor approval authority for voluntary conveyances up to $100,000; therefore, the instruction is not in conflict with other agency regulations as suggested, by excluding the District Director from the voluntary conveyance decision process.

§ 1951.313(a)(2)(i). Two comments suggested that the requirement that a moratorium not be granted if principal, interest, taxes and insurance are less than 30 percent of adjusted income, be deleted. This was changed to 35 percent to more accurately reflect the portion of income most families pay for housing.

§ 1951.313(a)(2)(i)(E). Two comments suggested that the 6 month separation requirement without filing of legal papers, is unrealistic because a moratorium can only be retroactive for up to 90 days and, therefore, it could force commencement of divorce or separation proceedings. No change will be made because a time period needs to be established to prevent misuse of the moratorium provisions under the conditions set forth in this subsection. Six months was determined to be a reasonable time frame.

§ 1951.313(b)(2)(ii)(B). As suggested this subsection is changed to simplify the wording.

§ 1951.313(b)(2). One comment suggested that a separate subsection be added to assure that an account in liquidation would not be denied a moratorium if improperly serviced. Another comment suggested that, as written, it would appear that upon termination of liquidation action the County Supervisor would be required to grant a moratorium. As suggested this subsection has been clarified.

§ 1951.313(b)(4). One comment suggested that the limit of 90 day retroactive moratorium relief be eliminated. No change will be made because a borrower is notified of the moratorium provision when one month delinquent and therefore, has plenty of time to apply for moratorium relief.

§ 1951.313(b)(5). One comment suggested that there is no basis for requiring State Director review when a request for moratorium is within five years of a previous moratorium or for liquidation if hardship continues after three years of moratorium relief.

No change will be made. Experience does not indicate any reason to delete State Director review. One of the conditions in granting a moratorium is the expectation that the borrower will be able to make payments after the moratorium period. The purpose of the moratorium provision of the law is to grant temporary relief; it is reasonable that some time limit be placed on this relief and three years was determined as an appropriate time frame.

§ 1951.313(c) One comment suggested that borrowers be advised of the circumstances for which moratorium relief may be granted. The agency does not want to be in the position of leading the borrower in his/her request. The agency advises the borrower regarding the possibility of moratorium relief and the borrower's reply should accurately represent the circumstance(s) causing the payment problems. No change will be made.

§ 1951.314(a). A suggestion that all delinquent borrowers be eligible for reamortization will not be implemented because the servicing authorizations in § 1951.312 satisfactorily handle conditions not presented in this subsection.

§ 1951.314(b) (2) and (3). It was suggested that the section limits reamortization of assumptions to those made at new terms. This is not the case and the wording will be changed to clarify.

Therefore, Chapter XVIII is amended as follows:

Subpart G—Borrower Supervision, Servicing and Collection of Single Family Housing Loan Accounts

This Subpart sets forth policies and procedures of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) to ensure that in borrower supervision, servicing and collections of Single Family Housing Loan Accounts, all authorities are considered and used to assist borrowers to become successful homeowners, thereby reducing the number and amount of borrower delinquencies and borrower failures resulting in liquidation of the account. This Subpart pertains to all Section 502 and 504 Single Family Rural Housing (RH) borrowers including those who are also indebted for an active Farmer Program type loan. Farmer Program loans will also be serviced in accordance with Subpart B of Part 1924 of this Chapter. In executing the authorities provided in this Subpart, a borrower's race, color, religion, sex, martial status, age, or handicap will not be considered in a discriminatory manner.

§ 1951.302 Authorities and responsibilities.

County Supervisors are responsible for borrower supervision and servicing and collecting all Single Family Housing loans as prescribed by this Subpart under the general guidance and supervision of District Directors and State Office personnel.

Supervision and counseling will be provided to give borrowers an opportunity to become successful homeowners, thereby accomplishing the purpose and objective of the loan.

(a) Supervising and counseling borrowers. The County Supervisor, and supervisory and counseling agencies where a Cooperative Agreement is in effect, will counsel borrowers on property care and maintenance, reducing energy consumption in the home, preventing and reducing delinquencies and/or other problems, in order to reduce defaults and the need for initiating liquidation actions. County Supervisors and counselors employed by supervisory and counseling agencies will:

(1) Counsel borrowers on adequate care for and maintenance of their dwellings and sites.

(2) Develop plans to assist and encourage borrowers in the reduction of energy consumption and cost by:

(i) Becoming aware of the various types of energy conservation practices available and being able to estimate relative costs and benefits to the borrower of such practices.

(ii) Inspecting borrowers' dwellings for energy waste and explaining the advantages of taking the necessary action to lessen energy use. The borrower should be made aware that utility companies and other private suppliers have technicians available to assist homeowners with energy audits.

(iii) Encouraging borrowers not to heat thier homes above 68°, or to cool them below 78° if the dwelling has air conditioning.

(iv) Encouraging borrowers to weatherize their dwellings, when cost effective, by using:

(A) Borrower funds.

(B) Loan funds from FmHA or other sources.

(C) Funds available from other Federal or State agencies.

(v) Encouraging borrowers to participate in "even payment" plans or similar services offered by most utility companies.

(3) Provide Credit Counseling.

(i) Counsel borrowers as to the general use and cost of credit.

(ii) Assist borrowers in planning for the wise use of credit, including advice on debt levels, credit purchases and consumer and cost awareness.

(iii) Counsel borrowers that credit should only be used if they can reasonably expect to repay such credit when payments become due.

(4) Counsel borrowers about the FmHA's graduation requirements as prescribed in Part 1865 of this chapter (FmHA Instruction 451.6).

(5) Advise borrowers that FmHA may grant interest credits and/or a moratorium on loan payments in some cases to assist them when they have had a loss or reduction of income or are facing other difficulties which unduly impair their standard of living.

(6) Assist borrowers in resolving their construction complaints in accordance with Subpart F of Part 1924 of this Chapter.

(7) Encourage borrowers on an informal basis to obtain assistance from other sources such as the local Agricultural Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, utility companies, etc.

(b) Use of Housing Counselors from other sources. There are several agencies and organizations, including the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), ACTION, and public and private nonprofit organizations, and State and local organizations that have programs to provide supervision and counseling or approve or certify nonprofit corporations and public bodies to perform supervision and counseling services for low- and moderate-income families. These agencies, non-profit corporations and public bodies have employees with the background and experience to perform the needed counseling. Prior to participating in a counseling program with these agencies and organizations, the FmHA must enter into a Cooperative Agreement with the agencies or organizations providing the counseling services as outlined in Exhibit A.

(1) County Supervisors are authorized to enter into Cooperative Agreements with nonprofit corporations and public bodies which employ qualified housing counselors. The Counseling Agency will provide free counseling to the FmHA borrower and neither the Counseling Agency nor the Counselor will receive payment from the borrower or the FmHA. In all cases, the Cooperative Agreement will be in the form of Exhibit A unless an exception is authorized by the National Office.

(2) In counties where a Cooperative Agreement is in effect and the Counseling Agency will be counseling delinquent borrowers, the County Supervisor will send a letter to each borrower who the County Supervisor determines needs assistance in order to overcome the delinquency problem and to become a successful borrower. (See Guide Letter 1951–G–1) This letter is to introduce the counseling program to the delinquent borrower and encourage their participation. When the borrower has agreed to participate by signing and returning the letter, the counselor will be notified and provided the information in the borrower's case file which is needed for effective counseling. Release of this information is allowable and proper under the provisions of the Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts. (See Guide Letter 1951–G–1)

(3) The County Supervisor, with assistance from the District Director and State Office staff, will provide necessary training in FmHA loan policies and servicing policies to the counselors. This will include, as a minimum, training concerning:

(i) Interest credits
(ii) Moratorium
(iii) Rescheduled payment agreements
(iv) Reamortization
(v) FmHA budget forms
(vi) The borrowers' obligation under the promissory note and security instrument
(vii) Home Energy Management
(viii) Graduation
(ix) Construction complaints and defects.

(4) When a borrower is referred to a counselor, the County Supervisor will take no liquidation action for one month to allow a repayment agreement, acceptable to FmHA, to be worked out with the counselor. An account is considered referred after Guide Letter 1951–G–1 is executed by the borrower and the counselor notified.

(c) Technical and Supervisory Assistance (TSA) grants. In those counties or areas in which TSA grants have been funded and implemented, the County Supervisor will refer those FmHA low-income borrowers who are in need of counseling and supervisory assistance as defined in Subpart K of Part 1944 of this Chapter, and recommend their participation in this program.

§ 1951.308 Payment cards and changes in payment plan.

(a) Issuing payment cards. A packet of 12 payment cards and preaddressed envelopes is provided initially for each borrower. The payment cards will be mailed to the County Supervisor or the borrower depending on the information provided on Form FmHA 1940–1, "Request for Obligation of Funds." The County Supervisor will use Form 451–34 "Direct Payment Plan Change," to change the place for mailing payment cards and to request new cards. A new packet of 12 cards and envelopes will be provided when:

(1) The tenth card in the packet is processed in the Finance Office; or

(2) The Finance Office is notified by use of Form 451–34 that the borrower needs additional cards; or

(3) The required monthly payment is changed for one of the following reasons:

(i) Recoverable cost is charged to the borrower's account.

(ii) Form FmHA 451–37, "Additional Partial Payment Agreement," is processed.

(iii) A subsequent loan is closed.

(iv) The final payment of an advance is paid.

(v) An account rescheduled by use of Form 451–37 becomes current.

(vi) An Interest Credit Agreement is placed in effect.

(vii) An Interest Credit Agreement is canceled or renewed for a different amount.

(viii) The account is reamortized.

(b) Changes in payment plan.—(1) From annual payment to monthly payment. If borrowers agree they may be converted from annual payments to the monthly payment plan at any time by using Form FmHA 451–34, completed in accordance with the Forms Manual Insert (FMI). The County Office must be careful not to create a delinquency when making this conversion. When the form is processed in the Finance Office, the required monthly payments will be established as 1/12th of the annual installment. Cents will be rounded to the next higher dollar.

(2) From monthly payments to annual payment. Borrowers with annual payment notes who voluntarily converted to the monthly payment plan may be removed from the monthly payment plan upon request. The change will be accomplished by completing Form FmHA 451–34.

(c) Subsequent loan payments. Initial and subsequent loans of the same loan type must be on the same payment plan and payments must be due on the same date.

(1) Monthly installment required. If the initial loan was closed with a monthly payment note or the borrower has assumed a loan to be repaid with monthly installments, the subsequent loan must be closed with a monthly payment note. At the time the subsequent loan is closed, the Finance Office will prepare a new payment card packet and forward it to the County Office. The monthly payment due date shown on the cards will be that required by the initial loan. The first installment on the subsequent loan will be due on the date of the first installment on the initial loan after closing.

(2) Annual installment required. If the initial loan was closed with an annual installment note, the subsequent loans must be closed with an annual installment note. When the subsequent loan is closed, the Finance Office will automatically place it on the payment plan in effect for the initial loan and issue payment cards which reflect the combined payments on both loans.

§ 1951.309 Receiving and application of payments.

(a) Payments on accounts.—(1) Payments to Finance Office. Normally, borrowers should mail their payments directly to the Finance Office in the self-addressed envelope provided with the card packets. However, for all new loans, the payment cards will be held in the County Office for the first three payments. The County Supervisor may continue to hold the cards for a longer period of time until it is determined that the borrowers understand their responsibilities and will make payments in a timely manner.

(2) Payments to County Office. Direct payments may be accepted in the County Office or in the field by employees listed in Exhibit B of Subpart B of FmHA Instruction 1951–B. (Available in any FmHA office.)

(i) A regular payment paid by check or money order and made payable to the "Farmers Home Administration" should be placed in a direct payment envelope with the appropriate payment card, sealed, and transmitted to the Finance Office in the manner outlined in Section 1951.60(a)(2). The check or money order and the appropriate payment card should not be stapled, clipped, or attached in any manner.

(ii) Payments received in currency or coin and payments without direct payment cards will be listed on Form

FmHA 451-2 "Schedule of Remittances," and remitted in accordance with Subpart B of Part 1951 of this Chapter. The payment card will not be transmitted with Form FmHA 451-2.

(iii) Extra payments and refunds as defined in Section 1951.8 of Subpart A of Part 1951 of this Chapter will be listed on Form FmHA 451-2 and remitted in accordance with Subpart B of Part 1951 of this chapter.

(b) Application of payment. The definitions of regular payments, extra payments, and refunds in Subpart A of Part 1951 of this Chapter apply to this Subpart.

(1) Regular payments. Regular payments will be applied by the Finance Office in the following order of priority.

(i) Advances for recoverable cost in the amount necessary to keep the advance accounts current. Payments on amortized advances can only be applied to the amortized advances in full monthly increments. Partial payments are not applied to the amortized advance, but are applied to the borrower's loan account.

(ii) Unamortized advances.

(iii) Accrued interest on the note account.

(iv) Principal on the note account.

(2) Payments insufficient to pay amount due. When a borrower makes a payment in an amount insufficient to pay the amount then due and such borrower has more than one loan of the same type, the payment shall be applied on a prorata basis to each loan according to the amount then due. For delinquency reporting purposes, a borrower with more than one loan of the same type will be considered delinquent if the payments received are less than the combined amounts due on all loans of the same type.

(3) Extra payments and refunds. Extra payments and refunds will be credited to the borrower's note account(s) as of the date of the Form FmHA 451-2 and will be applied as prescribed in paragraph (b)(1) of this section. Extra payments and refunds will not relieve borrowers from making their next scheduled payment.

§ 1951.310 Amortization of recoverable cost.

When an advance is made by FmHA to pay recoverable costs, the Finance Office will automatically increase the payments during the amortization period by the amount necessary to repay the advance, with interest computed at the note rate.

(a) Monthly payment borrowers. Recoverable costs will be automatically amortized for 12 months when charged to monthly payment accounts unless the County Supervisor determines that based on the borrower's repayment ability that a longer period is needed and specifies so on the voucher. An amortization period of more than 12 months will be used only when the recoverable cost charged is (1) two or more years' taxes or (2) a non-recurring cost. If there is an outstanding balance from a previous advance when a new advance is made, the two amounts will be combined and reamortized. If the new installment is less than the previous installment, the larger of the two will be used, thus causing the balance to be paid in less than 12 payments.

(b) Other than monthly payment borrower. Recoverable costs will be automatically due and payable for all other than monthly payment borrowers on the next payment due date, unless the County Supervisor determines, based on the borrower's repayment ability, that a longer period is needed and so specifies on the voucher. The advance can be prorated for more than one annual payment under the conditions specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Scheduling adjusted loan payments. A copy of Form FmHA 451-26, "Transaction Record," will be sent to the County Office when a recoverable cost is charged to an account. The first increased payment will be due on the first regular monthly due date occurring 30 or more days after the effective date of the charge.

§ 1951.311 Reports, statements and notices.

(a)(1) Past due notices. The Finance Office will prepare a Form FmHA 451-35, "Past Due Notice," on any account behind schedule after all payments received by the fifteenth day after the due date have been processed. The Past Due Notice will be mailed directly to the borrower. The borrower will receive a notice each month until (1) the account becomes current or ahead of schedule, (2) a Form FmHA 451-37, is processed by the Finance Office, (3) the account is more than three payments behind schedule, (4) the Finance Office is notified that bankruptcy, other court action, or foreclosure is pending, (5) a Form FmHA 451-34 is processed changing the borrower's place of payment to the County Office, or (6) accounts are flagged because of unprocessed transactions.

(2) A Past Due Notice will also be sent to borrowers who become delinquent on Form FmHA 451-37. When the County Supervisor believes that payments have not been correctly applied to the borrower's account, the Finance Office should be notified and furnished all pertinent information, including a copy of both sides of the canceled check, if possible, to assist in correcting the error.

(b) Monthly status report. The Finance Office will provide each County Office with a monthly report showing the unpaid balance of interest and principal, daily interest accrual, date of last payment, and schedule status of each borrower. Separate reports will be prepared for monthly payment borrowers and annual payment borrowers. The Finance Office will provide each State Office with a monthly report showing the number of delinquent monthly and annual payment borrowers in each County Office.

(c) Annual statement. At the end of each calendar year, the Finance Office will send each borrower a statement showing the unpaid loan balance and the total amount of principal and interest paid during the year. If the borrower received subsidy that is subject to recapture, the annual statement will also show the annual and total subsidy granted on the loans. The annual statement will invite the borrower to write, call, or meet with the County Supervisor if the borrower does not understand or is in disagreement with the information contained in the annual statement.

The County Supervisor will use all the authorities available to give borrowers an opportunity to become successful homeowners. Every effort should be made to reduce the number and amount of borrower delinquencies and failures resulting in liquidation of the account. To assure that effective use is made of those authorities, followup and monitoring procedures must be established. The County Office will develop a monitoring system for borrowers sending payments to the County Office and a followup system to show the status of servicing actions and to trigger needed followup activity (see Exhibit B). A delinquent review will be held at least monthly for borrowers making payments to the Finance Office and weekly for borrowers scheduled to make payments to the County Office to determine if appropriate servicing actions are being accomplished and desired results are being attained. The District Director will assist in the review each month if practicable and in all cases at least once each quarter. All actions taken, agreements reached and recommendations made in the servicing of a borrower account are to be documented. Account servicing includes the following:

V 46 / 236 DEC 9 81 UMI

(a) Hold payment cards. The County Supervisor will hold payment cards for all borrowers who have signed a rescheduled payment agreement until the delinquency is removed or the problem corrected.

(b) Interest credit. When servicing loan accounts, County Supervisors should make sure that borrowers are receiving all of the interest credit assistance for which they are eligible as provided for in Exhibit E of Subpart A of Part 1822 of this Chapter. (FmHA Instruction 444.1).

(c) Moratorium. Borrowers who due to circumstances beyond their control, are unable to continue with the scheduled payments on their loan without unduly impairing their standard of living should be considered for a moratorium in accordance with Section 1951.314.

(d) Rescheduled payment agreements. Delinquent borrowers will be expected to bring their accounts current as soon as possible, based on their ability to repay as determined by a completed Form FmHA 431–3, "Family Budget." Borrowers who are unable to pay the delinquent amount in a single payment will pay a larger than scheduled regular payment until the account is current.

(1) If the account can be brought current in four payments or less a Form FmHA 440–9, "Supplementary Payment Agreement," will be executed. This form will not be sent to the Finance Office.

(2) Borrowers who need more than four months to repay a delinquency will execute Form FmHA 451–37 which will be sent to the Finance Office. The amount of the additional partial payment must be at least $10 per month. The County Supervisor may enter into only one agreement with any one borrower in any two-year period. Prior authorization from the District Director is required for a second agreement and from the State Director for a third agreement during this two-year period.

(e) Systematic method to service accounts of delinquent borrowers. The following system is to be followed as a minimum in servicing each delinquent housing account. Guide Letters 1951–G–2, 3, and 4 will be used in all servicing systems to assure that all borrowers receive proper notification of the possible availability of interest credits and the granting of a moratorium.

(1) Initial delinquency contact. All borrowers must be contacted as soon as the County Office becomes aware of the delinquency. This should be when the borrower first misses a payment, however, an existing delinquent borrower that has not previously been contacted will be serviced in accordance with this paragraph (e). In most cases this initial contact will determine the success or failure of future servicing efforts. To be effective, the contact must be timely, the County Supervisor's approach firm, the resolution realistic and the follow-up persistent.

(i) Borrowers scheduled to make payments in the County Office should be contacted by phone or personal visit the day following the due date of a missed payment.

(ii) A borrower delinquent for the first time, or an existing delinquent borrower being contacted for the first time who is scheduled to send payments to the Finance Office will be contacted by phone or personal visit immediately after the County Supervisor becomes aware of the missed payment.

(iii) The borrower, when contacted in accordance with paragraphs (e)(1) (i) and (ii) of this section will be informed that:

(A) The account is delinquent and payment should be remitted immediately;

(B) Payments are expected to be received on or before the due date;

(C) The borrower must notify the County Office if a payment will be late;

(D) Interest credits or a moratorium are available to borrowers who qualify.

(iv) If the contact cannot be made by telephone or personal visit, the County Supervisor will advise the borrowers of the points prescribed in paragraph (e)(1)(iii) of this section by letter. (See Guide Letter 1951–G–2)

(2) No response to the initial delinquency contact. If, within ten days, no response has been received to the initial delinquency contact, the County Supervisor will write a letter notifying the borrower that the required payment has not been received. A delinquent borrower who previously has been contacted but has not been scheduled for an appointment or has not entered into a payment agreement will also receive this letter. The letter will notify the borrower of interest credit and moratorium provisions and schedule an appointment for a County Office visit. Family Budget Form 431–3 will be attached. The borrower will be requested to bring to the FmHA Office the Payment Cards and the completed Family Budget. (See Guide Letter 1951–G–3.) During the borrower's visit at least one of the following actions will be initiated or taken:

(i) Review the Family Budget, Form FmHA 431–3, counseling the borrower as appropriate in the wise use of income and credit.

(ii) Develop a repayment plan to remove the delinquency by either entering into a Supplementary Payment Agreement, Form FmHA 440–9, or an Additional Partial Payment Agreement, Form FmHA 451–37.

(iii) Develop an Interest Credit Agreement.

(iv) Process a moratorium on principal and interest payments.

(v) Confirm in writing the date and amount of payments to be made.

(vi) If the borrower is not eligible for moratorium and does not have income to be successful even with interest credit assistance, the County Supervisor will explain to the borrower that the FmHA has no other choice but to take action to liquidate the account. The County Supervisor will explain to the borrower all the options available through the voluntary liquidation process as outlined in paragraph (e)(3)(ii) of this section.

(3) Borrower does not visit the County Office. If the borrower does not respond to the County Supervisor's letter or fails to keep scheduled appointments, the County Supervisor will immediately notify the borrower of a planned visit to the property to counsel the borrower, to make a security check and to make an evaluation of the property. (See Guide Letter 1951–G–4)

(i) When the County Supervisor visits the borrower at the property, the following items are to be discussed:

(A) Is the borrower willing and able to make additional payments in excess of the scheduled payment to bring the account current?

(B) Is the borrower entitled to interest credit assistance or additional interest credits?

(C) Does the borrower qualify for a moratorium?

(ii) If the borrower does not qualify for a moratorium or additional interest credit and cannot or is not willing to make a firm commitment to make additional payments to bring the account current, the County Supervisor will discuss voluntary liquidation of the account. The following points will be covered with the borrower:

(A) When there is equity, inform the borrower of the approximate amount of equity in the property and the advantage of placing the dwelling on the market for sale. It should be made clear to the borrower that this is an estimation and could differ from actual equity realized. The borrower should be given a reasonable time to complete the sale, including a possible assumption of the indebtedness by an FmHA applicant.

(B) If there is no equity, explain that the Government will process an assumption or may accept a voluntary conveyance instead of taking the necessary action to foreclose. Outline to the borrower the advantages of voluntarily liquidating the loan.

(C) Foreclosure action will be initiated if the borrower does not voluntarily liquidate the account by sale, transfer, voluntary conveyance or payment of the account in full.

(4) Borrower fails to keep appointments or defaults on payment agreements. If the borrower has failed to keep appointments or make payments according to previous agreements (including the promissory note), the County Supervisor will prepare and send a completed Form FmHA 465–7, "Report on Real Estate Problem Case," to the State Director with a recommendation for foreclosure of the loan. The County Supervisor may seek the advice of the District Director, as needed, on a case-by-case basis. The State Director will review the file and decide if appropriate action has been taken by the County Supervisor to adequately service the account in an effort to give the borrower an opportunity to become a successful homeowner. If the State Director determines that appropriate action has been taken in servicing the account and that further servicing efforts will not result in the borrower meeting loan obligations, foreclosure action will be initiated. If the State Director determines that additional servicing efforts are appropriate the County Supervisor will be instructed regarding actions to be taken. (Guide Letter 1951–G–5 may be used if the State Director chooses to write the borrower). If the County Supervisor cannot work out an agreement with the borrower, the file will be returned to the State Director for initiation of foreclosure action.

(5) Mortgage defaults other than payments. If the borrower abandons or does not properly maintain the property, fails to pay taxes or defaults on any other mortgage covenant, the borrower, when possible, will be contacted. If the County Supervisor cannot reach an agreement with the borrower and foreclosure is recommented the account will be serviced as in paragraph (e)(4) of this section.

§ 1951.313 Moratoriums.

A moratorium on principal and interest payments shall be granted on Sections 502 and 504 RH loans, as authorized under section 505 of the Housing Act of 1949, upon a determination that, due to circumstances beyond the borrower's control, the borrower is unable to continue making scheduled payments without unduly impairing his or her standard of living. Cancellation of interest accrued during the moratorium period is also authorized in cases of extreme hardship.

(a) Definitions. As used in this section:

(1) "Scheduled payments" means the amount of the monthly or annual installment on an RH loan promissory note as modified by any Interest Credit Agreement, Supplementary Payment Agreement, Additional Partial Payment Agreement, or other written agreements between FmHA and the borrower.

(2) "Unduly impaired standard of living" means a condition whereby the borrower, due to circumstances beyond the borrower's control, is unable to pay normal living expenses and scheduled payments as provided by the loan documents. The borrower must present evidence that the inability to repay the loan will probably last for a period of 6 months or more and that income will be available to resume payments after the moratorium period. The circumstances include but are not limited to the following:

(i) A substantial reduction of income which will cause the total payments on the RH loan and the taxes and insurance on the dwelling to exceed the borrower's ability to pay after all interest credits authorized have been granted. A moratorium based on loss or reduction of income will not be granted if the sum of the principal, interest, real estate taxes and insurance is less than 35 percent of the borrower's adjusted income based on the next 12 months' projected income. The fact that such payments would exceed 35 percent of the borrower's projected annual income does not by itself mean that the borrower is eligible for moratorium. Such reduction may result from:

(A) Unemployment or underemployment caused by circumstances beyond the borrower's control, or

(B) Loss or reduction in benefits which constituted a substantial part of the annual income as defined in § 1822.3(n) of Subpart A of Part 1822 of this Chapter. (FmHA Instruction 444.1), or

(C) Illness, injury, or death of the borrower or other adult who contributed to the annual income, or

(D) A situation in which a spouse is living apart from the borrower's family and away from the RH financed dwelling and legal action has been started in the appropriate court to commence divorce or legal separation proceedings provided: the remaining spouse is occupying the dwelling, owns a legal interest in the property, is liable for the debt, and the loan account is put in the remaining spouse's name only, or

(E) A situation in which a spouse has lived apart from the borrower's family and away from the RH financed dwelling for 6 months or longer because of broken marriage or separation and not because of work assignment or military order and legal papers have not been filed to commence divorce proceedings, provided the conditions of paragraph (a)(2)(i) of this section are met by the borrower who is living in the dwelling. (For purposes of the retroactive provisions of paragraph (b)(4) of this section, the moratorium may be effective 90 days prior to the end of the 6-months' period or to the filing of a request for moratorium, whichever is later.)

(ii) The need to pay certain essential family expenses which have resulted or may result in a lien being placed on the borrower's dwelling, and which if not paid are likely to result in loss of the dwelling. Such expenses may result from:

(A) Accident, illness, or injury to the borrower or dependent member of the borrower's family, or

(B) Death of a member of the borrower's family, or

(C) Cost of repairs for uninsured damage to the security if the loss occurred because adequate insurance coverage was not available.

(b) Granting a moratorium. (1) Applicants and borrowers will be advised of the moratorium provisions as follows:

(i) In the interview required by § 1822.11(c) of this Chapter, (FmHA Instruction 444.1), the interviewer will inform the applicant(s) of moratorium provisions under this Subpart.

(ii) In addition to the requirements for notification of moratorium provisions as set forth in § 1951.312, the County Supervisor will also advise the borrower in writing of the possible availability of a moratorium when the County Supervisor becomes aware of a change in the borrower's circumstances which would likely justify the granting of a moratorium.

(iii) A notice of acceleration and demand for payment (Exhibit C to Subpart A of Part 1955 of this Chapter) is sent to a borrower whose loan has been approved for forced liquidation because of monetary default. A paragraph will be inserted to read as follows: "However, you have the opportunity to have a hearing before this foreclosure takes place. If you wish to make use of this opportunity because you believe the United States is in error in accelerating your account(s) and proceeding with the foreclosure, or because you have not been advised of your rights to request a moratorium on payments on your rural housing loan account, you should within 30 days contact the Designated Hearing Officer of the Farmers Home Administration in writing at the following address: ."

(2) Moratorium on principal and interest payments on an RH loan account will be granted when:

(i) The borrower has requested a moratorium on payments in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section and appropriately documents the conditions causing the unduly impaired standard of living and;

(ii) The County Supervisor:

(A) Has verified the accuracy of the information received with the request for a moratorium on payments from the borrower, and

(B) Has determined, after using all other alternatives such as granting all authorized interest credits, that a moratorium on payments is necessary and the borrower is eligible for such moratorium on payments.

(3) The County Supervisor is authorized to approve or disapprove a request for a moratorium and extension thereof. The borrower will be notified of the action taken within 15 days after request has been received in the County Office. The decision relative to a moratorium is recorded on Form FmHA 451–23, "Moratorium on Payment: (Section 502–504 RH Loans)." The reasons and justification for approval or disapproval will be noted or attached as additional information. An original and two copies will be prepared and distributed as indicated on the FMI. If the moratorium is denied, the borrower will be notified in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of Part 1900 of this Chapter. The letter will include a statement of the action taken, a recitation of the facts upon which the decision is based, and the specific reason(s) for the decision denying the moratorium or extension.

(4) A moratorium may only be granted for an initial period of 6 months and successive extensions may be granted in accordance with paragraph (b)(5) of this section. The initial moratorium may be retroactive for up to, but not more than, 90 days prior to the date the request for a moratorium was received in the County Office if the circumstances for which the moratorium is to be granted existed during that time.

(5) Immediately before the end of each 6-month period, or sooner if the County Supervisor becomes aware of the facts that substantially change the borrower's repayment ability, the justification for a moratorium will be reviewed by the County Supervisor and the moratorium terminated or extended for another 6-month period if the facts so warrant. The extension will be processed in accordance with paragraph (b)(3) of this section prior to the expiration date of the current moratorium. No moratorium plus extensions may exceed three years. Five years from the end of the moratorium plus extensions must elapse before another moratorium may be granted unless prior approval is received from the State Director. If the situation creating a hardship continues after three consecutive years of moratorium and the borrower is still unable to make scheduled payments even if the account were reamortized, and all authorized interest credits were granted and interest accrued during the moratorium were canceled, the account must be liquidated in accordance with Supbart A of Part 1955 of this Chapter. If, at the end of the moratorium period and any extension(s) thereof, it is determined that the account will be continued (as modified by any interest credit or interest cancellation assistance), it will then be handled in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section.

(6) Interest will accrue during the moratorium at the rate shown on the promissory note as modified by an Interest Credit Agreement. Interest credits will be granted and renewed throughout the period a moratorium is in effect for all borrowers eligible for interest credits under Exhibit E of Subpart A of Part 1822 of this Chapter (FmHA Instruction 444.1).

(7) Cancellations of part or all of the interest accrued during the moratorium plus any extensions thereof will be granted only in cases of extreme hardship. This would be when the debt has been reamortized over the maximum authorized period and cancellation is needed to reduce payments to within the borrower's repayment ability. Cancellations will be done in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section.

(c) Request for moratorium. The County Supervisor will provide borrowers who wish to apply for a moratorium with two copies of Form FmHA 451–22, "Request for Moratorium on Payments (Sections 502–504 RH Loans)." The borrower, who may be assisted by County Office personnel, will complete the applicable spaces on the form, and sign and return the original to the County Supervisor. The County Supervisor will process the application and retain the original in the borrower's case folder.

(d) Borrower's appeal of adverse action. The borrower may appeal an adverse action on the request for moratorium, extension, or cancellation of interest accrued during the moratorium. The appeal will be handled in accordance with Subpart B of Part 1900 of this Chapter.

(e) Action at the expiration of the final moratorium period. (1) At the end of the moratorium period, the County Supervisor will verify the borrower's annual income and obtain a current financial statement to determine the borrower's ability to repay the unpaid balance of the RH indebtedness. Interest cancellation, reamortization of the account, and repayment schedules will be determined in accordance with the following provisions:

(i) Borrowers who can repay, within 2 years, any principal and interest which was deferred during the moratorium period, in addition to the regular scheduled installments, will execute Form FmHA 451–37 to establish a new repayment schedule.

(ii) For borrowers who cannot meet the repayment requirements of paragraph (e)(1)(i) of this section, the unpaid principal and interest balance of the loan will be reamortized within the remaining term of the loan.

(iii) For borrowers who cannot meet the repayment requirements of paragraph (e)(1)(ii) of this section, the loan account will be reamortized for the remaining term of the loan plus a period not to exceed the time the moratorium was in effect. If the loan was not originally scheduled for the maximum legal term, then the loan can be reamortized for the maximum legal term of the loan plus a period not to exceed the time the moratorium was in effect, less the number of years the loan has been outstanding. State supplements establishing policies and procedures will be issued for extending the term of the loan or advice will be obtained from the Office of General Counsel (OGC) on a case-by-case basis. The borrower must pay for title clearance and legal services needed to assure that the Government's lien priority is retained.

(iv) If the determination is made that the borrower cannot make scheduled payments on the balance owed under the terms of paragraph (e)(1)(iii) of this section without cancellation of part or all of the interest which accrued during the moratorium, the County Supervisor will determine how much interest must be canceled to enable the borrower to repay the loan during the time authorized in paragraph (e)(1)(iii) of this section. The County Supervisor will complete Section II of Form FmHA 451–23 indicating the amount of interest canceled. Such amount will be deducted from the balance owed in determining a new repayment schedule.

(v) The borrower will be advised by letter of the action taken, the reasons for the action, the new repayment schedule, and that, if the borrower does not agree with the action taken, the borrower may appeal the action as provided in Subpart B of Part 1900 of this Chapter.

(2) The County Supervisor, after a determination concerning the cancellation of interest has been made, will complete Form FmHA 452–2, "Reamortization and/or Deferral Agreement," if the account is to be reamortized or Form FmHA 451–37 if reamortization is not planned. If Form FmHA 451–37 is submitted, the County Supervisor will appropriately change County Office records to reflect the amount of the new installments.

Reamortizing Section 502 and 504 RH loans extends loan payments to the maximum authorized repayment period, or rearranges the payments within the remaining years of the original repayment period.

(a) Conditions. RH loan accounts may be reamortized:

(1) When the borrower has made extra payments or refunds totaling 10 percent or more of the loan being reamortized and the County Supervisor determines that the borrower cannot reasonably be expected to meet the obligation unless the account is reamortized to substantially reduce the annual or monthly installments, or

(2) At the expiration of the final moratorium period in accordance with § 1951.313(e) of this Subpart, or

(3) When an individual FP loan for real estate purposes, or a Section 502 or 504 RH loan is being made to a presently indebted Section 502 or 504 RH borrower, and the loan approval official determines that the borrower cannot reasonably be expected to meet installments due unless the account is reamortized.

(4) When the loan was not originally scheduled for the maximum legal term and the security life of the property is such that the term can be extended, then the loan can be reamortized for the maximum legal term less the number of years the loan has been outstanding provided the County Supervisior determines that the borrower's financial condition has changed and the borrower cannot reasonably be expected to meet the obligation unless the account is reamortized.

(b) Required actions. The following actions will be taken:

(1) Form FmHA 452–2 will be completed in accordance with the FMI.

(2) If the note or assumption agreement being reamortized is not held in the County Office, the County Supervisor will obtain the promissory note and any assumption agreement from the Finance Office before processing the reamortization.

(3) On the back of the original note or assumption agreement, below all signatures and endorsements, the County Supervisor will insert the following: "A Reamortization and/or Deferral Agreement dated , 19 , in the principal sum of $, has been given to modify the payment schedule of this note."

(4) The end of the amortization period will be the final due date of the note being reamortized unless the due date is extended in accordance with Section 1951.313(e)(1)(iii) or Section 1951.314(a)(4).

(5) Interest rate for the loan will be unchanged. If the borrower is to receive interest credit benefits following reamortization of the account a new Form FmHA 444–6, "Interest Credit Agreement (Section 502 RH Loans)," is to be attached to Form FmHA 452–2 and submitted to the Finance Office.

How does it work?

1. Prepare a monitoring card—basic information on individual's card: telephone, address, payment amount and extra payments report, due date of payment and record of payments.

2. Cards are filed according to payment due date (on promissory note).

3. Direct payment cards will be kept in the County Office management or monitoring file Borrowers are instructed to send payments to County Office.

4. For agreements to pay on a different day from regular due date, prepare card for each due date.

Example: Regular due date—15th; Agreement to pay 2 times—15 and 25; Place card in each section of box, i.e. 15 and 25.

6. As payments are received, the date and amount will be entered on the individual monitoring card. Payments are mailed to the Finance Office according to § 1951.60(a)(2).

7. Monitoring cards will be destroyed when the County Supervisor returns the direct payment cards to the borrower and instructs that payments are to be made directly to the Finance Office. This will be done when the borrower has established a record of paying on time and the County Supervisor determines that the borrower will continue to pay as agreed. In all other cases, the monitoring card will be kept in the monitoring file while the account is active and placed in the borrower's County Office case folder if the account is recommended for foreclosure.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

12 CFR Part 201

Extensions of Credit by Federal Reserve Banks; Changes in Discount Rates

AGENCY: Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Board of Governors has amended its Regulation A, "Extensions of Credit by Federal Reserve Banks," for the purpose of removing the discount rate surcharge that applies to large, frequent borrowers at the discount window. No change was made in the basic discount rate of 13 per cent. The Board considers the surcharge unnecessary in the current circumstances in the light of the level of short-term interest rates prevailing in the market and the reduced level of adjustment borrowing.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The changes were effective on November 17, 1981 at the Federal Reserve Banks of Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Dallas, and San Francisco; on November 18, 1981 at the Federal Reserve Banks of Boston and New York; and on November 20, 1981, at the Federal Reserve Banks of Kansas City and Philadelphia.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

James McAfee, Assistant Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washinton, D.C. 20551 (202/452–3259).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to the authority of 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(3)(B) and (d)(3), this amendment is being published without prior general notice of proposed rulemaking, public participation, or deferred effective date. The Board has for good cause found that current economic and financial consideration required that this amendment must be adopted immediately.

PART 201—EXTENSIONS OF CREDIT BY FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

Pursuant to section 14(d) of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. 357) Part 201 is amended as set forth below:

Bureau of Economic Analysis

15 CFR Part 806

Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in U.S. Fish and Seafood Processing Industries

AGENCY: Bureau of Economic Analysis, Commerce.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action amends 15 CFR Part 806 to provide for the BE–21—Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in U.S. Business Enterprises Engaged in the Processing, Packaging, or Wholesale Distribution of Fish or Seafoods. The purpose of the survey is to secure information on foreign direct investment in U.S. fish and seafood processing firms in order to analyze the market shares and impact of their operations on the domestic fish and seafood processing and wholesaling industries, and ultimately, the U.S. fishing industry.

There has been a continuing Congressional interest in foreign involvement in the U.S. fishing industry and the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act (Pub. L. 94–265) requires a phaseout of foreign involvement within our territorial seas as U.S. capacity develops. Barriers in the processing and marketing area may impede development of U.S. fishing capacity.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This rule is effective December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: George R. Kruer, Chief, International Investment Division, Bureau of Economic Analysis, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230, (202) 523–0657.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In the July 6, 1981 Federal Register, Volume 46, No. 128, (46 FR 34812) BEA published a notice of proposed rulemaking to amend 15 CFR Part 806 to provide for this survey. In the July 15, 1981 Federal Register, Volume 46, No. 135, (46 FR 36715) the due date for comments was extended to August 6, 1981. Comments received in resonse to the notice of proposed rulemaking were considered in making this final rule, but did not result in any changes in the planned rules and survey form. No substantive changes have been made; some clarifying wording has been added.

The survey will consist of three forms:

(1) Form BE–21P, "Identification Questionnaire," which is to be completed in advance of the other two forms and will be used to prepare a mailing list for the two statistical reports, Forms BE–21A and BE–21B.

(2) Form BE–21A, "Report for a U.S. Business Enterprise that is a U.S. Affiliate of a Foreign Person," which is to be completed by the U.S. affiliate, i.e., the U.S. business enterprise that is owned to the extent of 10 percent or more, directly or indirectly, by one foreign person, and that engaged in the processing, packaging, or wholesale distribution of fish or seafoods. The form is to cover the fully consolidated U.S. business enterprise, including all subsidiaries that are more than 50-percent owned.

(3) Form BE–21B, "Report for each Establishment of a U.S. Business Enterprise that is a U.S. Affiliate of a Foreign Person," which is to be completed for each establishment, of the U.S. affiliate, that engaged in the processing, packaging, or wholesale distribution of fish or seafoods.

Form BE–21P has been cleared by OMB. Forms BE–21A and B will not be prepared for comment until after the information reported on the BE–21P has been processed.

OMB publishes a notice in the FR of report forms received for clearance, which includes information on securing copies of the submission and to whom comments on the forms should be submitted. When Forms BE–21A and BE–21B have been prepared, they will be submitted to OMB for approval and the public may comment on them during OMB's regular clearance process. BEA itself will not issue any further notices as concerns Forms BE–21A and BE–21B. Forms BE–21A and BE–21B will not become effective until they have been approved by OMB under 44 U.S.C., Chapter 35, as amended.

All legal authorities, provisions, definitions, and requirements contained in 15 CFR 806.1 through 806.13 and 806.15 (a), (b), (c), (e), and (f) are also applicable to this survey.

The Bureau of Economic Analysis has determined that this rule is not "major" under Executive Order 12291. The public use burden will be undertaken within the Department of Commerce allocated FY 1982 Information Collection Budget ceiling.

Regulatory Flexibility Act—The provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act relating to a final rule are not applicable to this final rule, because it will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. As indicated in the material submitted to OMB requesting clearance of the form and the proposed rule, only 4,000 entities are expected to be subject to the reporting requirements of the identification questionnaire, Form BE–21P. Not all of these are small entities and the average completion time will not exceed one-half hour. For those who have to complete the full questionnaire, the burden should not exceed one hour. The number of enterprises estimated to be required to complete the statistical reports—Forms BE–21A and B—is only 60. Most of those will be large firms.

Copies of these forms may be obtained from the Bureau of Economics.

Accordingly, it is hereby certified under provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act [5 U.S.C. 605(b)], that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on the substantial number of small entities.

Part 806 is therefore modified as set forth below.

Sherman E. Unger,

General Counsel.

(5) BE–21—Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in U.S. Business Enterprises Engaged in the Processing, Packaging, or Wholesale Distribution of Fish or Seafoods. Reporting consists of:

(i) Form BE–21P—Identification Questionnaire. SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

17 CFR Part 200

[Release No. IC-12072]

Delegation of Authority to Director of Division of Investment Management

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Final rule amendment.

SUMMARY: The Commission is amending its rules relating to general organization to delegate to the Director of the Division of Investment Management authority to issue notices and orders in connection with certain applications for orders of exemption or approval by the Commission under the Investment Company Act of 1940. Such authority is limited to applications which, upon examination, do not appear to the Director to present issues not previously settled by the Commission or to raise questions of fact or policy indicating that the public interest or the interest of investors requires that a hearing be held. The change will enable the Commission and its staff to process such requests for exemption or approval more expeditiously, resulting in savings of time for the Commission and the public.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 3, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Barbara G. Fraser, (202) 272-3017 or Mary A. Cole, (202) 272-3023, Division of Investment Management, Securities and Exchange Commission, 500 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20549.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On October 21, 1980, amendments (the "1980 Amendments") to the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "1940 Act") (15 U.S.C. 80a-1 et seq.), Title I of the Small Business Investment Incentive Act of 1980 (Pub. Law. No. 96-477), which establish a regulatory system for certain domestic, closed-end investment companies, defined as "business development companies," became effective. Approval by order of the Commission of certain transactions between business development companies and certain related persons is required as part of that regulatory scheme. Specifically, pursuant to the terms of section 57(c) of the 1940 Act (15 U.S.C. 80a-56(c)), certain persons[1] may not knowingly purchase property or borrow money from or sell property to a business development company or a company controlled by such a company unless the Commission has issued any such person an order of exemption. Pursuant to the terms of section 57(j) of the 1940 Act (15 U.S.C. 80a-56(j)), a director of a business development company who is not also an officer or employee or general partner in the company may not obtain a loan from the company unless the Commission has approved the loan by order. Pursuant to section 57(k) of the 1940 Act (15 U.S.C. 80a-56(k)), certain persons[2] acting as brokers may not receive commissions exceeding that described in the Act unless the Commission has granted an order permitting such larger commissions. Pursuant to the terms of section 57(n) of the 1940 Act (15 U.S.C. 80a-56(n)), a business development company may establish a profit-sharing plan for directors who are not also officers or employees of or general partners in the company only if such plan is approved by order of the Commission. Finally, pursuant to the terms of section 61(a)(3) (15 U.S.C. 80a-60(a)(3)), such a company may issue warrants, options and rights to subscribe or convert to voting securities to directors who are not also officers or employees of or general partners in the company only if the proposal to issue such securities has been approved by order of the Commission.

Since the authority of the Commission to issue notices and orders under the above sections of the 1940 Act is contained in those sections, at the present time the Division does not have delegated authority to issue notices and orders on applications filed under those sections. So that applications for orders pursuant to the above five sections may be processed as expeditiously as possible, the Commission is hereby amending rule 30-5 (17 CFR 200.30-5) of its rules relating to general organization to delegate to the Director of the Division of Investment Management authority to issue notices and orders on applications filed pursuant to sections 57(c), 57(j), 57(k), 57(n) and 61(a)(3) of the 1940 Act (15 U.S.C. 80a-56(c), 56(j), 56(k), 56(n) and 60(a)(3)) where, upon examination, the matter does not appear to present issues not previously settled by the Commission or to raise questions of fact or policy indicating that the public interest or interest of investors requires that a hearing be held.

PART 200—ORGANIZATION; CONDUCT AND ETHICS; AND INFORMATION AND REQUESTS

Accordingly, Part 200 of Chapter II of Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended by adding paragraphs (a)(1)(xxvi), (xxvii), (xxviii), (xxix) and (xxx) to § 200.30-5 to read as follows:

§ 200.30-5 Delegation of authority to Director of Division of Investment Management.

(xxvi) Section 57(c), 15 U.S.C. 80a-56(c).

(xxviii) Section 57(k), 15 U.S.C. 80a-56(k).

(xxix) Section 57(n), 15 U.S.C. 80a-56(n).

(xxx) Section 61(a)(3), 15 U.S.C. 80a-60(a)(3).

* * * * *

The Commission finds, in accordance with sections 553(b) and 553(d) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553(b) and 553(d)), that the foregoing action relates solely to agency organization, procedure or practice; and that section 553(b) of such Act (5 U.S.C. 553(b)) makes unnecessary the notice and prior publication required by section 553 of such Act (5 U.S.C. 553). In view of the foregoing, good cause exists for dispensing with the normal 30-day delay in effectiveness. Accordingly, the amendments to Rule 30-5 are effective immediately.

Requirements for Broker-Dealer Filing and Reporting

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Commission is eliminating the requirement imposed on broker-dealers to file Schedules II and III of Form X-17A-5, the Financial and Operational Combined Uniform Single ("FOCUS") Report. The two Schedules were designed to capture certain financial data which the Commission will be able to obtain, in less detail, from sources other than the Schedules. Broker-dealers' reporting requirements will therefore be reduced. However, Schedule I which contains operational information needed for regulatory purposes will be retained in its present form.

DATE: December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William J. Atkinson, Directorate of Economic and Policy Analysis, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549 (202) 523-5493; or James G. Moody, Division of Market Regulation, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549 (202) 272-2370.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Rule 17a-10 (17 CFR 240.17a-10) requires broker-dealers to file Schedules I, II and III of Form X-17A-5.[1]

1. Schedule I of Form X-17A-5 is a calendar year unconsolidated report, designed to measure certain financial and operational characteristics of a registered broker-dealer, which must be filed by all registrants as a supplement to the regular fourth quarter Part II or IIA[2] of Form X-17A-5 within seventeen business days after the end of the quarter. Schedule I will continue to be required in its present form.

2. Schedule II of Form X-17A-5 requires the listing of annual revenue, expense and net income items (reflecting the aggregate of all such items during the calendar year) and certain balance sheet items (as of the end of the calendar year) and must be filed by all registrants except those exempt from the filing requirements of paragraphs (a)(i), (ii) and (iii) with the fourth quarter Part II or IIA within seventeen business days after the end of the fourth calendar quarter. Schedule II is eliminated with the publication or this Release.

3. Schedule III of Form X-17A-5 requires detailed information pertaining to realized gains (losses) in securities trading accounts, profit (loss) from underwriting and selling groups, income from other selected securities activities and short and long positions in firm securities, commodities, joint and capital accounts, and must be filed on a calendar year basis as a supplement to the fourth quarter Part II within sixty calendar days of the end of the fourth calendar quarter by any broker-dealer which files Part II of Form X-17A-5 and has annual gross revenue related to the securities business of $10 million or more for the calendar year. Schedule III is eliminated with the publication of this Release.

Statutory Basis and Competitive Considerations

Pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and particularly sections 15(c)(3), 17 and 23 thereof, 15 U.S.C. 78*o*(c)(3), 78q and 78w, the Commission is amending § 240.17a-10 of Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations as set forth below. There are no burdens imposed on competition by the amendments. Pursuant to section 4(b)(B) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B)), the Commission finds that notice and opportunity for comment are unnecessary because the amendments provide relief to broker-dealers without impairing any protections to investors. Pursuant to section 4(c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553(d)), the Commission has determined to make the amendments effective immediately upon publication in the Federal Register since they relieve restrictions that are currently imposed by the provisions hereby being amended.

Regulatory Flexibility Act Consideration

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), imposes new procedural steps applicable to agency rulemaking which has "a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities." The Act, however, is not applicable to rules for which the agency does not publish a general notice of proposed rulemaking, and therefore does not apply to this rule.

Amendment

In accordance with the foregoing, 17 CFR Part 240 is amended as follows:

PART 240—GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS, SECURITIES EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934

1. By removing paragraphs (a)(3) and (e) of § 240.17a-10 and revising paragraphs (a)(1) and (a)(2) to read as follows:

§ 240.17a-10 Report on revenue and expenses.

(a)(1) Every broker or dealer exempted from the filing requirements of paragraph (a) of § 240.17a-5 shall, not later than 17 business days after the close of each calendar year, file the Facing Page, a Statement of Income (Loss) and balance sheet from Part IIA of Form X-17A-5 (§ 249.617 of this chapter) and Schedule I of Form X-17A-5 (§ 249.617 of this chapter) for such calendar year.

(2) Every broker or dealer subject to the filing requirements of paragraph (a) of § 240.17a-5 shall submit Schedule I of Form X-17A-5 (§ 249.617 of this chapter) with its Form X-17A-5 (§ 249.617 of this chapter) for the calendar quarter ending December 31 of each year.

[Docket No. RM79-76 (New Mexico—6); Order No. 195]

High-Cost Gas Produced From Tight Formations; New Mexico

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, DOE.

ACTION: Final rule.

Issued: December 3, 1981.

SUMMARY: The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission is authorized by section 107(c)(5) of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 to designate certain types of natural gas as high-cost gas where the Commission determines that the gas is produced under conditions which present extraordinary risks or costs. Under section 107(c)(5), the Commission issued a final regulation designating natural gas produced from tight formations as high-cost gas which may receive an incentive price (18 CFR 271.703). This rule established procedures for jurisdictional agencies to submit to the Commission recommendations of areas for designation as tight formations. This final order adopts the recommendation of the State of New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission that the Dakota Formation be designated as a tight formation under § 271.703(d).

EFFECTIVE DATE: This rule is effective December 3, 1981.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Commission hereby amends § 271.703(d) of its regulations to include the Dakota Formation in New Mexico as a designated tight formation eligible for incentive pricing under § 271.703. The amendment was proposed in a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking by the Director, OPPR, issued September 22, 1981 (46 FR 49466, September 28, 1981)[1] based on a recommendation by the New Mexico Oil Conservation Commission (New Mexico) in accordance with § 271.703(c) that the Dakota Formation be designated as a tight formation.

Evidence submitted by New Mexico supports the assertion that the Dakota Formation meets the guidelines contained in § 271.703(c)(2). One comment was received in response to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking from Southern California Company (SoCal). SoCal noted that by Order No. R–1670–V, New Mexico authorized infill drilling in the Basin Dakota Gas Pool. Order No. R–1670–C, issued November 4, 1960, consolidated all Dakota gas production in San Juan and Rio Arriba Counties, created the Basin Dakota Gas Pool, and established 320-acres gas proration units. Order No. R–1670–V, issued May 22, 1979, retained the original 320-acre unit spacing, but allowed the drilling of an additional well on each unit. Citing to Commission Order No. 137–A, in Docket No. RM79–76,[2] wherein the Commission excluded from a tight formation designation certain fields in a formation which had been subject to an infill drilling order and had been substantially developed at the time the infill drilling order was issued, SoCal indicated that a similar situtation, requiring exclusion of the infill area, may exist for the recommended Dakota Formation.

The Commission has reviewed SoCal's comments and for the following reasons does not believe that an exclusion of infill areas is required in this case. There are 422 drilling units in the Dakota formation recommended by New Mexico for tight formation designation. Wells have been drilled in 35 of these units, representing 8.3 percent of the available drilling sites. Of the 35 wells drilled, 22 have been abandoned, leaving 13 wells currently producing. All of these Dakota wells are the only wells in their drilling units. There has been been no infill drilling in the area proposed for tight formation designation, and the Commission finds that the area has not been substantially developed, as was the area excluded in Order No. 137. For the reasons stated above, the Commission adopts the New Mexico recommendation.

This amendment shall become effective immediately. The Commission has found that the public interest dictates that new natural gas supplies be developed on an expedited basis, and, therefore, incentive prices should be made available a soon as possible. The need to make incentive prices immediately available establishes good cause to waive the thirty-day publication period.

32 CFR Part 504

[AR 190–06]

Obtaining Information From Financial Institutions

AGENCY: Department of the Army, DOD.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule establishes policy and procedures governing access to and disclosure of financial records maintained by financial institutions during the conduct of Army investigations or inquiries. It delineates procedures that must be followed by Army law enforcement elements, which are authorized to request such information. Adherance to this rule will ensure that Army law enforcement elements comply with the Right to Financial Privacy Act of 1978.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: MAJ Thomas W. Anderson, 202–756–1896.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Right to Financial Privacy Act of 1978 restricted the government's authority to have access to, or obtain copies of, the information contained in the financial records of any customer from a financial institution unless the financial records are reasonably described and—

(1)The customer authorizes disclosure;

(2) The financial records are disclosed in response to an administrative subpoena or summons;

(3) The financial records are disclosed in response to a search warrant;

(4) The financial records are disclosed in response to a judicial subpoena; or

(5) The records are disclosed in response to a formal written request.

Department of Defense Directive 5400.12, Obtaining Information from Financial Institutions, provided guidance and procedures for Department of Defense components to implement this Act. This rule further implements the Act for the Department of the Army. It specifies that it is Department of the Army policy to seek consent of the customer in order to obtain a customer's financial records from a financial institution unless doing so would compromise or harmfully delay a legitimate law enforcement inquiry. If obtaining consent is not possible or if the customer declines to grant access, this rule details alternate means by which Army investigative elements may seek such access under the law.

Proposed rulemaking was published on page 11672–11678 of the Federal Register of February 10, 1981, and invited comments for 30 days ending March 12, 1981. No substantive comments were received.

No substantive changes have been made to the rule. Numerous editorial adjustments have been made in the interest of clarity and the Department of the Army regulation format requirements. The "AR 190–XX" designation has been changed to "AR 190–6".

The Department of the Army has determined that the relevant provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 do not apply to this rule.

(12 U.S.C. 3401 et seq., Pub. L. 95–630)

Accordingly, 32 CFR is amended by adding a new Part 504 as set forth below:

Dated: December 1, 1981.

John O. Roach II,

Army Liaison Officer With the Federal Register.

The following Part 504 is added as follows:

§ 504.2(g)(2)(3) provides for emergency access in such cases of imminent danger. (No other procedures in this regulation apply to such emergency access.)

To support this certification, the transferring office may require that the requesting agency submit adequate justification for its request. File a copy of this certification with a copy of the released records.

(ii) Unless a delay of customer notice has been obtained (§ 504.2(i)), the transferring law enforcement office will, within 14 days, personally serve or mail the following to the customer at his or her last known address—

(i) § 504.2(d)(1), the law enforcement office obtaining financial records will mail to the customer a copy of the search warrant and the following notice.

Statement of Customer Rights Under the Right to Financial Privacy Act of 1978

Federal law protects the privacy of your financial records. Before banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, credit card issuers, or other financial institutions may give financial information about you to a Federal agency, certain procedures must be followed.

Consent to Financial Records

You may be asked to consent to the financial institution making your financial records available to the Government. You may withhold your consent, and your consent is not required as a condition of doing business with any financial institution. If you give your consent, it can be revoked in writing at any time before your records are disclosed. Futhermore, any consent you give is effective for only 3 months and your financial institution must keep a record of the instances in which it discloses your financial information.

Without Your Consent

Without your consent, a Federal agency that wants to see your financial records may do so ordinarily only by means of a lawful subpoena, summons, formal written request, or search warrant for that purpose. Generally, the Federal agency must give you advance notice of its request for your records explaining why the information is being sought and telling you how to object in court. The Federal agency must also send you copies of court documents to be prepared by you with instructions for filling them out. While these procedures will be kept as simple as possible, you may want to consult an attorney before making a challenge to a Federal agency's request.

Exceptions

In some circumstances, a Federal agency may obtain financial information about you without advance notice or your consent. In most of these cases, the Federal agency will be required to go to court for permission to obtain your records without giving you notice beforehand. In these instances, the court will make the Government show that its investigation and request for your records are proper. When the reason for the delay of notice no longer exists, you will usually be notified that your records were obtained.

Transfer of Information

Generally, a Federal agency that obtains your financial records is prohibited from transferring them to another Federal agency unless it certifies in writing the transfer is proper and sends a notice to you that your records have been sent to another agency.

Penalties

If the Federal agency or financial institution violates the Right to Financial Privacy Act, you may sue for damages or seek compliance with the law. If you win, you may be repaid your attorney's fee and costs.

Additional Information

If you have any questions about your rights under this law, or about how to consent to release your financial records, please call the official whose name and telephone number appears below:

POSTAL SERVICE

39 CFR Part 111

Attached Mail

AGENCY: Postal Service.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: By separate notice published in the daily edition for December 8, 1981, the Postal Service announced changes in the mail classification schedule provisions for attached mail, under the authority of 39 U.S.C. 3625. The changes, recommended by the Postal Rate Commission and approved by the Governors of the Postal Service, became effective at 12:01 a.m. on December 6, 1981.

The changes provide that incidental pieces of First-Class Mail may be attached to or enclosed with second-class mail, third-class merchandise (including books but excluding merchandise samples), and fourth-class mail, with postage paid on the combined piece at the applicable rate of the host piece.

In order to reflect these mail classification schedule changes, the Postal Service adopts revisions to part 136 of the Domestic Mail Manual, with minor conforming changes in other sections.

EFFECTIVE DATE: 12:01 a.m., December 6, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ernest J. Collins, (202) 245–4749.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under current regulations, although an incidental piece of First-Class Mail attached to or enclosed with second-, third-, or fourth-class mail travels as part of the host piece, the mailer pays not only the rate applicable for the host piece, but also the applicable First-Class rate on the attachment or enclosure, as if it had been mailed separately. Under the changes adopted by the Governors of the Postal Service, postage will be paid on the combined piece at the applicable rate of the host piece (the second-, third-, or fourth-class piece containing the incidental First-Class attachment or enclosure).

Post offices have been notified of the regulation changes by telecommunication, so that the new provisions can be used as of the effective date of the classification changes (December 6, 1981). The Domestic Mail Manual is amended as provided below effective on December 6, 1981.

A new section 136.4 has been added to describe the eligibility requirements and postage payment provisions for incidental attachments. Former sections 136.4 and 136.5 are renumbered as 136.5 and 136.6, respectively. Section 136.321b has been deleted, and section references have been added to sections 136.1, 136.23, 136.52, 136.53, 425.6, 625, and 721.2 to conform to the addition of new section 136.4.

In view of the considerations discussed above, the Postal Service hereby adopts the following revisions to the Domestic Mail Manual, which is incorporated by reference in the Federal Register. See 39 CFR 111.1.

Part 136—Mixed Classes of Mail

136.1 [Amended]

1. In 136.1, delete the words "in 136.2 and 136.3" and insert in lieu thereof "in 136.2, 136.3, and 136.4."

136.23 [Amended]

2. In 136.23, strike out the period at the end thereof and add the following: "except as noted in 136.4."

136.321b [Deleted]

136.4 [Redesignated as 136.5]

The attached or enclosed incidental matter may be mailed at the applicable postage rate of the host piece with which it is attached or enclosed.

.42 Eligibility Requirements.

.421 An incidental attachment or enclosure must be closely associated with or related to the piece to which it is attached or in which it is enclosed, it must be secondary to that piece, and it must not encumber postal processing.

.43 Payment of Postage. Incidental First-Class attachments or enclosures may be mailed with second-class matter, third-class merchandise (including books but excluding merchandise samples) and fourth-class mail. Postage is based on the combined weight of the incidental attachment or enclosure and the host piece with which it is attached or enclosed, and is to be paid at the rate applicable to the host piece. Note: for incidental attachments or enclosures with second-class matter, if the second-class piece consists entirely of nonadvertising matter, the attachment or enclosure is also considered nonadvertising matter; in all other instances the attachment or enclosure is considered part of the advertising portion of the second-class piece.

.44 Markings. There are no marking requirements for incidental First-Class attachments or enclosures mailed under the provisions of this section.

136.52 [Amended]

Express Mail, Forwarding and Address Correction Service; Implementing Regulations

AGENCY: Postal Service.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: By separate notice published in the daily edition for December 8, 1981, the Postal Service announced changes in the mail classification schedule provisions for the forwarding of Express Mail and the establishment of address correction service for Express Mail under the authority of 39 U.S.C. 3625. The changes approved by the Governors of the Postal Service became effective at 12:01 a.m. on December 6, 1981.

The changes allow the nationwide forwarding of Express Mail, at no additional charge, and the purchase of address correction service for Express Mail.

In order to reflect these mail classification schedule changes, the Postal Service adopts revisions to parts 159, 215, 222, 230, 291 and 292 of the Domestic Mail Manual.

EFFECTIVE DATE: 12:01 A.M., December 6, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Arthur I. Porwick (202) 245-4315.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This document changes Express Mail regulations to remove the limitation that undeliverable-as-addressed Express Mail can be forwarded only to an address within the delivery area of the destination post office. In the past if an addressee had moved outside the delivery area of the destination post office, the piece of Express Mail would have been returned to the sender. The revisions will allow the nonlocal forwarding of undeliverable-as-addressed Express Mail, at no additional charge. The revisions also will allow an Express Mail user, for the first time, to purchase address correction service for a fee of 25 cents for each address correction or notification of reason for nondelivery.

Post offices have been notified of the regulation changes by telecommunication, so that the new provisions can be used as of the effective date of the classification changes (December 6, 1981). The Domestic Mail Manual is amended as provided below effective December 6, 1981.

Sections 159.221e, 159.224a, 159.224b, 159.225, 159.242h, and 291 of the Domestic Mail Manual are revised to indicate that Express Mail can be forwarded nationwide, at no additional charge. Express Mail pieces that are forwarded nonlocally will be handled and transported as Express Mail. These revisions eliminate the limitation that Express Mail can only be forwarded locally. Sections 159.311, 159.313, 215, and 292 are revised to indicate that an Express Mail user may purchase address correction service for a fee of 25 cents for each address correction or notification of reason for nondelivery. Sections 222.2, 223.3, and 224.4 and part 230 are revised to indicate that no refund of Express Mail postage will be made to an Express Mail user if the item is available for claim or delivery attempted within the times specified and the item is then delayed because it has to be forwarded or returned.

Exhibit 159.151, a chart showing the treatment of undeliverable-as-addressed mail, is currently under review and will be revised shortly. At that time, the treatment of Express Mail will be included in the chart.

Part 159—Undeliverable Mail

1. In 159.22, add new .221e as follows:

Chapter 2—Express Mail

5. Add new 215 as follows:

The fee for address correction service is 25 cents per notice issued.

6. In 222.2 add new d. as follows:

222.2 Refund of Postage.

* * * * *

d. provision of forwarding or return service after the item is available for claim at the time specified in accordance with 222.1.

223.3 [Amended]

7. In 223.3 change the period to a comma at the end of the present text and add the following: "if the item was made available for claim or delivery was attempted within 24 hours after tender or by the time specified in the service agreement, and then the item was delayed because forwarding or return service had to be provided."

8. Revise 224.4 to read as follows:

224.4 Service Guarantee.

The Postal Service will refund postage under provisions in 295 for an item not available for claim, or for which delivery was not attempted (See 230), in accordance with 224.4, unless the item was delayed by strike or work stoppage, or if the item was available for claim or delivery was attempted within the times specified in 224.2, and then the item was delayed because forwarding or return service was provided.

230 [Amended]

9. At the end of 230 add the following: "Postage will be refunded if an item is delayed because forward or return service was provided after the item was made available for claim or delivery was attempted within the times specified in 221.1, 223.2 (and see service agreement) or 224.2. Otherwise no postage refund will be made. Note: Attempted delivery occurs when delivery is physically attempted, but cannot be made; or the delivery employee discovers that the item is undeliverable-as-addressed prior to leaving on the delivery route."

10. Revise 291 to read as follows:

291 Forwarding.

Express Mail pieces are forwarded when the new address is known. Pieces being forwarded will be handled and transported as Express Mail. No additional postage is collected for forwarding.

11. Revise 292 to read as follows:

292 Return and Address Correction.

292.1 Return. Express Mail pieces which are undeliverable or unclaimed after five working days are returned to the sender at no additional postage. Pieces being returned to the sender will be handled and transported as Express Mail. The mailer can direct return after less than five working days by placing instructions to that effect under the return address.

292.2 Address Correction Service. When an Express Mail piece bearing the endorsement "Address Correction Requested" is forwarded to a new address, the sender is notified on Form 3547, Notice to Mailer of Correction in Address, of the new address. See 215 for the address correction service fee.

A transmittal letter making these changes in the pages of the Domestic Mail Manual will be published and will be transmitted to subscribers automatically. Notice of these changes will be published in the Federal Register as provided in 39 CFR 111.3.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

40 CFR Part 52

[A-9-FRL-1953-7]

California State Implementation Plan Revision; San Joaquin Valley

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Final rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) takes final action to approve changes to the Fresno, Kern, Kings, Madera, Merced, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, and Tulare County Air Pollution Control Districts' (APCDs) portions of the California State Implementation Plan (SIP) submitted by the Govenor's designee. The intended effect of this action is to update rules and regulations and to correct certain deficiencies in the SIP as required by the Clean Air Act.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 8, 1982.

ADDRESS: A copy of the revisions is located at: The Office of the Federal Register, 1100 "L" Street, N.W., Room 8401, Washington, D.C. 20005.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Louise P. Giersch, Director, Air and Hazardous Materials Division, Environmental Protection Agency, Region 9, 215 Fremont Street, San Francisco, CA 94105, Attn: Douglas Grano, Chief, SIP Section; (415) 974-8201.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On May 7, 1981 (46 FR 25483) EPA published a notice of proposed rulemaking for revisions to the Fresno, Kern, Kings, Madera, Merced, San Joaquin, Stanislaus, and Tulare County APCDs' rules and regulations. These revisions were submitted to EPA on May 23 and October 15, 1979 and April 2, July 25, October 5, November 7, and December 15, 1980 by the California Air Resources Board for inclusion in the California SIP.

As discussed in the May 7, 1981 notice, all the revisions were evaluated and found to be in conformance with the requirements of 40 CFR Part 51 and EPA policy, with certain exceptions. The notice of proposed rulemaking provided for a 60-day public comment period. There were no comments received on revisions being acted upon in this notice.

This notice approves all the rule revisions listed in the May 7 notice and incorporates them into the California SIP, with the exception of the rules discussed below:

EPA is deferring action on Rule 519, Emergency Variance, for the Kings, Madera, Merced, Stanislaus, and Tulare County APCDs and Rule 521, Emergency Variance, for the San Joaquin County APCD. Similarly, action is being deferred on Rules 111(c), 109(c), 110(c) and 111(c) of Kings, Merced, Stanislaus, San Joaquin, and Tulare County APCDs, respectively, since these rules rely on Rule 519. As is the case of the aforementioned rules, Madera County Rule 402(f) concerns emergency variances resulting from equipment breakdowns and EPA is also deferring action on this rule.

EPA is taking no action on Rule 417.1, Agricultural Burning, for Madera and Tulare Counties and Rule 301, Permit Fee, for Stanislaus County. These rules have been superseded by later submittals which will be addressed in a future notice. Further, no action is being taken on Madera County Rules 419, Nuisance, and 420, Exception, and Stanislaus County Rule 209.3, National Ambient Air Quality Standards, because they are not specifically directed at the attainment and maintenance of the national standards.

Rule 412.1(a), Transfer of Gasoline into Vehicle Fuel Tanks, for Kern County was submitted on April 2, 1980 and proposed for approval by EPA. However, this rule was superseded by a revised submittal on March 23, 1981. Since the revised submittal of Rule 412.1(a) does not substantively alter the April 2, 1980 submittal of Rule 412.1(a), EPA finds that good cause exists to approve the March 23, 1981 revision without prior proposal (see the Administrative Procedure Act, Section 553(B)). Therefore the revised submittal is approved by today's notice.

As discussed in the proposal notice, EPA is rescinding 40 CFR 52.256, "Control of Evaporative Losses from the Filling of Vehicular Tanks," for Fresno, Kern, Madera, Merced, San Joaquin, Stanislaus and Tulare County APCDs. Rules submitted for these counties addressing Stage II vapor recovery adequately control those sources addressed in 40 CFR 52.256.

The Air Resources Board has certified that the public hearing requirements of 40 CFR 51.4 have been met.

Under Executive Order 12291, EPA must judge whether a regulation is "Major" and therefore subject to the requirement of a Regulatory Impact Analysis. The miscellaneous SIP approvals announced today are not major because they approve state actions. They impose no new regulatory requirements. Pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 605(B), I hereby certify that the rules approved in this notice will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

This regulation was submitted to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) for review as required by Executive Order 12291. Any comments from OMB to EPA and any EPA response to these comments are available for public inspection at EPA Region 9, Air and Hazardous Materials Division, 215 Fremont Street, San Francisco, California, 94105.

Note.—Incorporation by reference of the State Implementation Plan for the State of California was approved by the Director of the Federal Register on July 1, 1981.

(Sections 110 and 301(a), Clean Air Act as amended (42 U.S.C. 7410 and 7601(a)))

Dated: December 2, 1981.

Anne M. Gorsuch,

Administrator.

Approval and Promulgation of Implementation Plans; Rhode Island Revisions—Receipt of Compliance Schedules

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice of receipt of submittal to satisfy condition of plan approval: Rhode Island.

SUMMARY: This notice is to announce the receipt of State Implementation Plan (SIP) revisions for Rhode Island. The revisions were submitted on August 4, 1981 to satisfy a condition of EPA's approval of Rhode Island's Attainment Plan SIP revisions, which were required under Part D of the Clean Air Act. The state submittal consists of compliance schedules for eight volatile organic compound (VOC) sources covered under its Regulation 19.

DATES: See Supplementary Information.

ADDRESSES: Copies of the Rhode Island submittal are available for public inspection during normal business hours at the Environmental Protection Agency, Region I, Room 1903, JFK Federal Building, Boston, Massachusetts 02203; Public Information Reference Unit, Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, SW., Washington, D.C. 20460; and the Division of Air Pollution Control, Room 204, 75 Davis Street, Providence, R.I. 02908.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Alan Dion, Air Branch, Region I, Room 1903, JFK Building, Boston, Massachusetts 02203, (617) 223–5630.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: EPA published a Final Rulemaking Notice (FRN) in the Federal Register on May 7, 1981, (46 FR 25446), conditionally approving Rhode Island's Attainment Plan SIP revisions submitted on May 14, June 11 and August 13, 1979. The revision was submitted to comply with the requirements of Part D of the Clean Air Act by implementing new measures for controlling air pollution which are designed to achieve attainment of the primary and secondary National Ambient Air Quality Standards by December 31, 1982. One of the conditions in the FRN specified that the state submit, by July 1, 1981, compliance schedules for sources covered under Regulation 19 and include a justification for extensions for any sources beyond the December 31, 1982 compliance date.

Rhode Island has submitted SIP revisions amending Regulation 19 on August 4, 1981. EPA is presently reviewing the state's compliance schedule submittal to determine compliance with Clean Air Act requirements, and intends to publish a final rulemaking notice in the Federal Register. The conditional approval of Rhode Island's attainment plan is continued pending EPA's final action on the compliance schedule submittal.

Dated: November 6, 1981.

41 CFR Part 101–11

[FPMR Amendment B–48]

Disposition of Federal Records

AGENCY: National Archives and Records Service, GSA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule clarifies the procedures used to develop comprehensive records disposition schedules, supersede previously approved schedules, transfer records between agencies, and retire records to a Federal records center. In addition, it changes the age at which records may be transferred to the National Archives.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Raymond Mosley, Director, Records Disposition Division (202–724–1625).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The General Services Administration has determined that this rule is not a major rule for the purposes of Executive Order 12291 of February 17, 1981, because it is not likely to result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; a major increase in costs to consumers or others; or significant adverse effects. The General Services Administration has based all administrative decisions underlying this rule on adequate information concerning the need for, and consequence of, this rule; has determined that the potential benefits to society from this rule outweigh the potential costs and has maximized the net benefits, and has chosen the alternative approach involving the least net cost to society.

PART 101–11—RECORDS MANAGEMENT

1. Section 101–11.404–1 is amended by revising paragraphs (a)(3), (a)(4), (a)(5), and (e) and by adding paragraphs (a)(6), (f), and (g) to read as follows:

§ 101–11.404–1 Comprehensive agency records disposition schedules.

* * * * *

(a) * * *

(3) If any items on a proposed schedule have been previously scheduled, the procedures contained in § 101–11.406–7 must be followed.

(4) All schedules shall take into account the existing filing system so that destruction or transfer can be handled in blocks.

(5) The disposition of nonrecord materials should be controlled by instructions in the comprehensive schedule. Nonrecord materials, such as extra copies of documents preserved solely for reference, stocks of proposed documents, preliminary worksheets, and similar papers, shall be maintained separately from official agency files to aid in records disposition.

(6) Schedules shall be reviewed and, if necessary, updated annually. Agencies shall schedule the records of new programs within 1 year of their implementation. Certification of this review shall be included on Standard Form 136, Annual Summary of Records Holdings, in accordance with § 101–11.102–7.

* * * * *

(e) Withdrawn items. Agencies may request that items listed on SF 115 be withdrawn in order to aid in the processing (appraisal) of the remaining items on the schedule.

(1) If, during the course of the appraisal process, NARS determines that records series described by an item(s) on the proposed schedule do not exist or are not arranged as stated on the schedule, NARS may request the agency to withdraw the item(s) from consideration, if the agency is unable to offer sufficient clarification.

(2) If NARS and the agency cannot readily agree on the retention period for an item(s), the item(s) may be withdrawn at the request of the agency. In these cases, the agency will submit an SF 115 with a revised proposal for disposition within 6 months of the date of approval of the original SF 115.

(f) Applicability. Records described by items marked "disposition not approved" or "withdrawn" may not be destroyed until a specific disposition has been approved by NARS.

(g) Application of comprehensive schedules. The head of each Federal agency shall direct the application of records schedules to ensure maximum economy of space, equipment, and personnel. Three copies of each directive or other issuance affecting an agency's records disposition program at the bureau or higher organization level shall be sent to the General Services Administration (NCD).

2. Section 101–11.406–7 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101–11.406–7 Request to change disposal authority.

Agencies desiring to change the approval disposition of a series of records should submit a Standard Form 115. Disposal authorizations contained in approved disposal schedules automatically are superseded by approval of a later schedule applicable to the same records unless the later schedule specifically provides that both the earlier and later schedules shall be applicable at the agency's discretion. Agencies submitting records and schedules must indicate in entry 9 of the Standard Form 115 the relevant schedule and item to be superseded, the citation to the current printed records disposition schedule, if any, and/or the General Records Schedule item which covers the records.

3. Section 101–11.408–1(a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 101–11.408–1 Responsibilities.

(a) The Administrator of General Services and the heads of Federal agencies are responsible for preventing unauthorized disposition of records, including all forms of mutilation and alienation of records. Unauthorized disposition is the removal from Federal custody or destruction of records without regard to the provisions of agency disposition lists and schedules that have been approved by NARS or the General Records Schedules issued by NARS (44 U.S.C. 2905, 3106, and 3303a).

* * * * *

4. Section 101–11.408–3(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 101–11.408–3 Reporting.

* * * * *

(b) This report has been cleared in accordance with FPMR 101–11.11 and assigned Interagency Report Control Number 0285–GSA–AR.

* * * * *

5. Section 101–11.409–9 is amended by revising paragraph (c) and adding paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ 101–11.409–9 Exceptions.

* * * * *

(c) The transfer of records or functions or both is required by statute, Executive Order, Presidential reorganization plan, or Treaty, or by specific determinations made thereunder.

(d) Records accessioned by the National Archives, later found to be of insufficient value for continued retention by the National Archives are governed exclusively for further disposition in accordance with § 101–11.411–12.

6. Section 101–11.410–2(e) is revised to read as follows:

§ 101–11.410–2 Procedures for transfer to Federal records centers.

* * * * *

(e) Transfers to Federal records centers shall be preceded by the submission of Standard Form 135, Records Transmittal and Receipt. A separate accession number is required for each series of records listed on the Standard Form 135. An accession consists of records in one series that have the same disposal authority and disposal date and that will be shelved in contiguous space in the records center. Agencies shall prepare an original and three copies of the Standard Form 135, retain one copy for filing purposes, and send the original and two copies to the Federal records center to arrive at least 2 weeks (10 workdays) before the desired date of the records shipment. The records center will review the Standard Form 135 for completeness to determine the appropriateness of the transfer. If the transfer is approved, the records center may annotate block 65 of the Standard Form 135 with Federal records center shelf location where each accession will be stored. The Federal records center returns two copies of the Standard Form 135 to the agency indicating that the records may be transferred. One of these copies shall be placed in the first carton of the shipment when the records are shipped to the center.

* * * * *

7. Section 101–11.411–2 is amended by revising paragraphs (a)(2) and (b) to read as follows:

§ 101–11.411–2 Authority.

(a) * * *

(2) Direct and effect the transfer to the National Archives of the United States of Federal agency records that have been in existence for more than 30 years and that have been determined by the Archivist of the United States to have sufficient historical or other value to warrant their continued preservation by the U.S. Government, unless the head of the agency which has custody of the records certifies in writing to the Administrator that the records must be retained in his or her custody for use in the conduct of the current business of the agency.

(b) Custody of records transferred. Under 44 U.S.C. 2104, the Administrator of General Services is responsible for the custody, use, and withdrawal of records transferred to him. When records, the use of which is subject to statutory limitations and restrictions, are so transferred, permissive and restrictive statutory provisions concerning the examination and use of records applicable to the head of the agency from which the records were transferred or to employees of that agency are applicable to the Administrator, the Archivist of the United States, and the employees of the General Services Administration. When the head of an agency states in writing restrictions that appear to him or her to be necessary or desirable in the public interest on the use or examination of records being considered for transfer from his or her custody to the Administrator, the Administrator will impose the restrictions on the records so transferred. The Administrator will not remove or relax these restrictions without the concurrence in writing of the head of the agency from which the material was transferred or of his or her successor, if any. Heads of agencies must, however, justify and cite the statute or Freedom of Information Act exemption (5 U.S.C. 552(b)) that authorizes placing restrictions on the use or examination of records being considered for transfer. Statutory and other restrictions referred to in this section shall remain in force until the records have been in existence for 30 years unless the Administrator determines for specific bodies of records that the restrictions shall remain in force for a longer period. Restrictions on the use or examination of records deposited with the National Archives of the United States imposed by section 3 of the National Archives Act, approved June 19, 1934, shall continue in force regardless of the expiration of the tenure of office of the official who imposed them but may be removed or relaxed by the Administrator with the concurrence in writing of the head of the agency from which material was transferred or of his or her successor, if any.

* * * * *

8. Section 101–11.411–3 is amended by revising paragraph (a)(1) to read as follows:

§ 101–11.411–3 Types of records to be transferred.

(a) * * *

(1) They are 30 years old; or

BILLING CODE 6820–26–M

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

44 CFR Part 67

National Flood Insurance Program; Final Flood Elevation Determinations; Illinois and Oregon

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Final base (100-year) flood elevations are listed below for selected locations in the nation.

These base (100-year) flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required either to adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

EFFECTIVE DATE: The date of issuance of the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), showing base (100-year) flood elevations, for the community.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Robert G. Chappell, National Flood Insurance Program, (202) 287–0230, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Washington, D.C. 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the final determination of flood elevation for each community listed.

This final rule is issued in accordance with section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90–448), 42 U.S.C. 4001–4128, and 44 CFR Part 67). An opportunity for the community or individuals to appeal this determination to or through the community for a period of ninety (90) days has been provided, and the Agency has resolved the appeals presented by the community.

The Agency has developed criteria for flood plain management in flood-prone areas in accordance with 44 CFR Part 60. Pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Associate Director, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the (final) flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the flood plain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts flood plain ordinances in accord with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the flood plain and do not proscribe development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact.

The final base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations are:

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) published a list of communities for which maps identifying Special Flood Hazard Areas have been published. This list included the City of Las Cruces, New Mexico. It has been determined by the Associate Director, State and Local Programs and Support, after acquiring additional flood information and after further technical review of the Flood Insurance Rate Map for the City of Las Cruces, New Mexico, that certain property is not within the Special Flood Hazard Area.

This map amendment, by establishing that the subject property is not within the Special Flood Hazard Area, removes the requirement to purchase flood insurance for that property as a condition of Federal or federally-related financial assistance for construction or acquisition purposes.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Robert G. Chappell, P.E., Chief, Engineering Branch, Office of State and Local Programs and Support, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Washington, D.C. 20472, (202) 287-0270.

BILLING CODE 6718-03-M

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

49 CFR Part 1310

[Ex Parte No. 261 (Sub-1)]

In the Matter of Tariffs Containing Joint Rates and Through Routes; Freight Forwarders and Nonvessel Operating Common Carriers by Water (NVO)

AGENCY: Interstate Commerce Commission.

ACTION: Final rules.

SUMMARY: On July 9, 1981 (46 FR 35516), the Commission published in the Federal Register the Notice of Final Rules adopted in this proceeding, regarding tariffs containing joint rates and through routes between rail, motor, and water carriers subject to ICC jurisdiction and nonvessel operating common carriers (NVO's) subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Maritime Commission. Due to inadvertence, a proposed change in 49 CFR 1310 was not included in the notice of proposed rulemaking, served December 24, 1980, (45 FR 86738, December 31, 1980). In the July notice we delayed implementation of the final rules for 60 days so that comments could be received pertaining to the proposed modification of 49 CFR 1310. The comments have been considered and the adopted final rules became effective September 8, 1981.

EFFECTIVE DATE: September 8, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Jane F. Mackall, (202) 275–7693.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In our July 9, 1981 decision we modified existing rules to allow the filing of joint rates and through routes between rail, motor and water carriers subject to our jurisdiction and non-vessel operating common carriers (NVO) by water subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Maritime Commission (FMC). We delayed implementation of these final rules for 60 days to allow filing of comments concerning the modification of 49 CFR Part 1310. In our December 24, 1980 notice of proposed rulemaking we had inadvertently failed to include Part 1310 (motor). Numerous parties in this proceeding noted this inadvertence and the delay was to correct this oversight.

We have received comments from two parties, Overnite Transportation Company and Associated Latin American Freight Conferences (ALAFC). The former supports the Commission's decision to allow motor carriers to file joint rates and through routes with NVO's. It states that our decision will promote intermodal transportation and will result in more efficent and less costly service.

ALAFC is against the modifications. It reiterates the argument addressed in our previous decision that we should have filed this proposal with the FMC prior to any action on our part. Also, ALAFC asserts that the Commission is not in compliance with 49 U.S.C. 10703a(4)(E) which requires the Commission to promulgate regulations implementing the provisions of that paragraph within 180 days of July 1, 1980.

We find no merit in these assertions. The July notice did not purport to reopen these matters. It was merely to correct a technical oversight. In any case, as we said in our July decision, we do not see this action affecting shipping in the foreign trade (section 19 of the Merchant Marine Act of 1920, 49 U.S.C. 876). The FMC currently allows NVO's to join in through routes and joints rates with carriers subject to our jurisdiction. Also, the FMC had urged us to adopt these modifications in the past, and has not filed any objection with us in this proceeding. In addition, we believe that we have complied with 49 U.S.C. 10703a(4)(E) in that we issued our notice of proposed rules on December 24, 1980, well within the 180 day limit. The rules themselves including the proposal to which the comments and this decision are directed were effective September 8, 1981. They appeared in the July 9 Federal Register (46 FR 35516) and need not be repeated here.

This action will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment or conservation of energy resources.

This decision will not have a significant effect on a substantial number of small entities. It is directed merely to correcting a technical oversight in the CFR amendments. The rules themselves were adopted in a prior decision.

Dated: December 2, 1981.

Secretary.

National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration

50 CFR Part 611

Foreign Fishing Observer Fees

AGENCY: National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Commerce.

ACTION: Final rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) amends the foreign fishing regulations to require payment for U.S. observers aboard foreign fishing vessels within 90 days from the date of billing. Foreign countries participating in the Atlantic billfish and shark fishery also will be required to pay observer fees in advance of harvesting as required by the recently amended Atlantic Tunas Convention Act. This action is necessary because of a change in the law.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Gary Wood, (202) 634-7265.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 8, 1982.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On July 9, 1981, the proposed change to the foreign fishing regulations governing payment of U.S. observer fees was published in the Federal Register (46 FR 35535). The proposed change would amend the foreign fishing regulations to require payment for U.S. observers aboard foreign fishing vessels within 90 days from the date of billing. Foreign countries participating in the Atlantic billfish and shark fishery also would be required to pay observer fees in advance of harvesting as required by the recently amended Atlantic Tunas Convention Act. Public comments were accepted until August 10, 1981.

There were comments from three parties on the proposed rulemaking. No changes were made to the proposed rules in response to the comments. The comments, with the NOAA response, appear below:

1. The proposed rule required foreign countries participating in the Atlantic billfish and shark fishery to pay observer fees in advance. The proposed rule does not provide for refunds in the event funds are not expended.

One commenter requested that the proposed rule include a provision for the refund of any observer fees paid in advance that were not used during the fishing year. The commenter noted that the actual cost of placing an observer aboard a foreign fishing vessel could vary from year to year due to weather and sea conditions.

NOAA response: Section 2, paragraph (e) of the 1980 Amendments to the Atlantic Tunas Convention Act of 1975 establishes a revolving fund for the purpose of carrying out the Observer Program. That section states that all observer funds not currently needed to carry out the program be kept on deposit or invested in obligations of, or guaranteed by, the United States. Since refunds are not permitted under the current law, it would be inappropriate to include such a provision in the implementing regulations.

2. The proposed rule requires payment of observer fees within 90 days upon receipt of the bill. One commenter asked for more time to pay the observer fee after receipt of the bill so as to permit fishing operators to make comments and ask questions concerning their billings.

NOAA response: NOAA believes that 90 days between receipt of the bill and payment of the bill provides adequate time for fishing operators to raise questions concerning their bills. Since observer cost estimates are based upon the previous year's effort, these estimates are likely to be more accurate if prepared at the end of the year when program managers have the most recent data on foreign fishing effort. A longer period of time would require that bills be prepared much earlier and thereby increase the likelihood of errors in cost estimations.

Other Information

The Assistant Administrator for Fisheries, NOAA, has determined that the amendment to the foreign fishing regulations is necessary and appropriate to the conservation and management of United States fishery resources, that it is consistent with the national standards of the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act (Magnuson Act), other provisions of the Magnuson Act, other applicable law, and is consistent with the provisions of the Atlantic Tunas Convention Act. He also has determined that this amendment is not a major Federal action requiring the preparation of an environmental impact statement under the National Environmental Policy Act.

The Administrator, NOAA, has determined that the rule is not a "major rule" requiring a regulatory impact analysis under Executive Order 12291.

The Administrator certifies that the rule is not significant under the Regulatory Flexibility Act, and therefore does not require the preparation of a regulatory flexibility analysis. Finally, the Administrator has determined that the rule does not call for additional collection of information from the public under the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 3501).

Dated: December 2, 1981.

William H. Stevenson,

Deputy Assistant Administrator for Fisheries, National Marine Fisheries Service.

PART 611—FOREIGN FISHING

Proposed Rules

Federal Register
Vol. 46, No. 236
Wednesday, December 9, 1981

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains notices to the public of the proposed issuance of rules and regulations. The purpose of these notices is to give interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rule making prior to the adoption of the final rules.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Commodity Credit Corporation

7 CFR Part 1427

CCC Cotton Loan Program Regulations Governing 1980 and Subsequent Crops

AGENCY: Commodity Credit Corporation, USDA.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: This action proposes a change in the regulations governing the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) price support loan program for the 1980 and subsequent crops of cotton. The proposed amendment would be effective for 1982 and subsequent crops of cotton and would require that the packaging of cotton pledged as collateral for price support loan shall meet the specifications for bale packaging materials used in wrapping cotton as approved and published by the Joint Cotton Industry Bale Packaging Committee (JCIBPC). Currently, the specifications for bale packaging materials used in wrapping cotton are published by CCC in the Federal Register annually. Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on the proposed rule.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before February 8, 1982 in order to be assured of consideration.

ADDRESS: Send comments to Director, Cotton, Grain, and Rice Price Support Division, ASCS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Carolyn E. Cozart, Cotton, Grain, and Rice Price Support Division, ASCS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013 (202) 447-7987. The Draft Impact Analysis describing the options considered in developing this proposed rule and the impact of implementing each option is being prepared and will be available upon request from the above-named individual.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This proposed rule has been reviewed under USDA procedures established in accordance with provisions of Executive Order 12291 and Secretary's Memorandum No. 1512-1 and has been classified "not major." It has been determined that these program provisions will not result in: (1) An annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; (2) major increases in costs or prices for consumers, individual industries, Federal, State, or local government agencies or geographic regions; or (3) significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of U.S.-based enterprises to compete with foreign-based enterprises in domestic or export markets.

The title and number of the Federal assistance program that this proposed rule applies to is: Title—Commodity Loans and Purchases; Number—10.051; as found in the catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

This proposed change will not have a significant impact specifically on area and community development. Therefore, review as established by OMB Circular A-95 was not used to assure that units of local government are informed of this action.

It has been determined that the Regulatory Flexibility Act is not applicable to this proposed rule since Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) is not required by 5 U.S.C. 553 or any other provision of law to publish a notice of proposed rulemaking with respect to the subject matter of this rule.

The existing regulations at 7 CFR 1427.5 require that the packaging of cotton pledged as collateral for price support loan shall meet the CCC Specifications for Bale Packaging Materials Used in Wrapping Cotton. These specifications are primarily the recommendations of the JCIBPC. This committee is sponsored by the National Cotton Council of America (NCCA) and represents all segments of the cotton industry from producer to end user. The JCIBPC is, in fact, two committees. One committee represents raw cotton (producers, ginners, warehousemen, merchants, and cooperatives) and the other represents the American Textile Manufacturers Institute which represents textile mills and manufacturers. Members of the JCIBPC are appointed by the President of the NCCA for a term of three years.

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) has recognized the recommendations of this committee as being acceptable to CCC for the packaging of cotton pledged as collateral for price support loan since 1967. A representative of USDA has met and will continue to meet annually with the committee in an advisory capacity when recommendations are presented and adopted.

Under the proposed change in the regulations, the specifications for bale packaging material used in wrapping cotton would no longer be published by CCC and codified at 7 CFR 1427.1901 through 1427.1905. In lieu thereof, CCC would incorporate by reference those specifications which are adopted and published by the JCIBPC. CCC would require that the packaging of cotton pledged for price support loan meet the specifications that are recommended, approved, and published by the JCIBPC. Copies of the specifications would be made available by the JCIBPC to the public upon request at the following address: Joint Cotton Industry Bale Packaging Committee, National Cotton Council of America, P.O. Box 12285, Memphis, Tennessee 38112.

The JCIBPC would distribute copies of the specifications to all State Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices. State ASCS offices would provide adequate copies to county ASCS offices for their distribution to gins, warehouses, and other interested persons upon request as is currently done.

PART 1427—COTTON

Proposed Rule

Accordingly, the regulations at 7 CFR 1427.5(l) are proposed to be revised to read as follows:

§ 1427.5 Eligible cotton.

* * * * *

(l) Each bale must be packaged in materials which meet the specifications adopted and published by the Joint Cotton Industry Bale Packaging Committee (JCIBPC) sponsored by the National Cotton Council of America for bale coverings and bale ties or must be packaged in material and/or bale coverings and bale ties identified with the experimental programs of the JCIBPC. Heads of bales must be completely covered.

The firm would also be required to comply with the FTC's Mail Order Merchandise Rule and possess documentation supporting any claim regarding past or future appreciation of gemstones.

Order

I

It is ordered that respondent Thomas L. Baker, Inc., a corporation, respondent American Diamond Company, a corporation, their successors and assigns, and their officers, and Thomas L. Baker, individually and as an officer of said corporations, and respondents' agents, representatives, brokers, and employees, directly or through any corporation, subsidiary, division or other device, in connection with the purchasing, advertising, offering for sale, sale or distribution of any diamond, ruby, or any other precious or semi-precious stone, (hereinafter gemstones) or other merchandise in or affecting commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Representing, directly or by implication, that:

(a) A diamond or ruby or other gemstone is an investment which can be easily or quickly sold by an individual investor for a price subtantially the same as what an individual would have to pay to purchase such gemstone from respondent(s) or another commercial source.

(b) A person can sell a diamond or ruby or other gemstone through respondent(s) as easily as he or she could sell a stock or bond through a stock broker.

(c) There is at any time an establish, generally recognized market price for a diamond or other gemstone at which an individual could easily sell or exchange his or her gemstone(s).

2. Misrepresenting in any manner, directly or by implication, the ease with which an individual can resell a diamond, ruby or other gemstone or the price an individual is likely to receive upon such resale.

3. Failing to disclose, clearly and conspicuously, in writing and orally, prior to the execution of any contract for sale of any gemstone(s), the following information:

(a) Gemstones are not as easy to sell as many other investments. If you seek a quick sale of a gemstone you will in many instances only be able to get a price substantially lower than the current selling price of the gemstone.

(b) If you resell your gemstones through [name company] you will be required to pay liquidation/consignment fees of [insert fees].

(c) If you try to resell your gemstones through [name company] you may in some instances have to wait a substantial period of time before the gemstones are sold. In addition, a sale on consignment is not completed until thirty (30) days after the gemstones have been delivered to the new purchaser. This allows the new purchaser the right to inspect and return the gemstones.

(d) There are substantial differences in the past appreciation of gemstones of different weight, color, cut and clarity. Also, the fact that particular gemstones may have appreciated in the past is no guarantee that they will appreciate in the furture.

4. Failing to disclose, clearly and conspicuously, in writing and orally, prior to the execution of any contract for sale of any diamond(s), ranging in size from .04 to .60 carats, the following information:

(a) [Name company] is the principal place for you to resell these diamonds. Resale for profit to other outlets such as retail jewelers may be difficult. Many jewelers will not buy diamonds from an individual. Those that do generally pay substantially less than what they pay their customary suppliers.

(b) Resale through outlets other than [name company] may be made more difficult by the lack of certification by a recognized independent gemological laboratory.

(c) The grading on [name company] certificates accompanying these diamonds is for identification purposes only and not for purposes of valuation. More specific grading may be necessary to enable a purchaser to resell through anyone other than [name company].

5. Misrepresenting in any manner, directly or by implication, the past appreciation in value of any diamond(s) or other gemstone(s).

6. Making any representation, directly or by implication, concerning the past appreciation of any diamond(s), or other gemstone(s) without:

(a) Disclosing, clearly and conspicuously, the type of diamond or other gemstone, in terms of size, color, cut, clarity, or other relevant characteristic, to which the past appreciation representation relates; and

(b) Having a reasonable basis upon which to make the claim.

7. Misrepresenting in any manner, directly or by implication, the source of any graph or chart or of any information depicted in any promotional material or other presentation relating to the sale of any gemstone(s).

8. Making any representation, directly or by implication, in any advertising or sales promotional material or orally during the course of any sales presentation, concerning the future appreciation of any diamond(s) or other gemstone(s) unless at the time of such representation respondents possess and rely upon a reasonable basis for the representation.

9. Failing to maintain accurate records, which may be inspected by Commission staff members upon reasonable notice, which:

(a) Consist of documentation in support of any representation concerning the past or future appreciation of any diamond or other gemstone included in any advertising or sales promotional material disseminated by respondents, insofar as the text of such representation is prepared, or is authorized and approved, by any person who is an officer or employee of respondents or by any advertising agency engaged for such purpose by respondents, and;

(b) Provide the basis upon which respondents relied as of the time the representation was made.

10. Misrepresenting in any manner, directly or by implication, that respondents' own price increases reflect general maket price increases.

11. Representing, directly of by implication, that:

(a) Respondents are "sight" buyers of diamonds from DeBeers Central Selling Organization.

(b) Respondents are wholesale rough brokers of diamonds or other gemstones.

(c) Respondents maintain an inventory of the gemstones they sell unless at the time such representation was made respondents actually had in their possession or on consignment the exact gemstones about which the representation was made.

12. Misrepresenting in any manner, directly or by implication, the business activities engaged in by respondents, including how respondents' pricing compares to price levels at various positions on the gemstone distribution chain such as cutter or wholesale levels.

13. Failing to disclose, clearly and conspicuously, in writing and orally, prior to the execution of any contract for sale of any colored gemstone, the following information:

(a) If your gemstone is re-certified, it may receive a different grade. This may affect its value. There are two reasons for this. First, colored gemstone grading is, in part, subjective. Second, procedures used for grading colored genstones may change.

(b) A colored gemstone which receives a higher grade on a certificate is not necessarily more valuable than one receiving a lower grade. Dealers in colored gemstones may differ significantly in their assessment of the value of particular gemstones and will often rely on personal inspection in setting a value for a gemstone instead of relying only on a certificate.

(c) The above characteristics of colored gemstone grading and valuation are a risk you should consider before investing in colored gemstones.

14. Failing to comply with Federal Trade Commission Rule concerning Mail Order Merchandise, 16 CFR § 435.

15. Failing to answer and to answer promptly inquiries by or on behalf of any customer regarding any purchase made from respondents.

16. Failing to deliver a gemstone with the specific characteristics ordered unless a customer has agreed in writing to a substitution.

17. Failing to deliver the proceeds of a gemstone sale which the respondents have made on behalf of a previous customer or other party to such customer or party within 10 working days of completion of sale.

II

It is further ordered, that the written affirmative disclosures required by Paragraphs 3, 4, and 13 of this order shall be made in the manner described below:

Risk Factors You Should Consider Before Investing in Gemstones

1. Gemstones are not as easy to sell as many other investments. If you seek a quick sale of a gemstone you will in many instances only be able to get a price substantially lower than the current selling price of the gemstone.

2. If you resell gemstones through [name company] you will be required to pay liquidation/consignment fees of [insert fees.]

3. If you try to resell your gemstones through [name company] you may in some instances have to wait a substantial period of time before the gemstones are sold. In addition, a sale on consignment is not completed until thirty (30) days after the gemstones have been delivered to the new purchaser. This allows the new purchaser the right to inspect and return the gemstones.

4. There are substantial differences in the past appreciation of gemstones of different weight, color, cut and clarity. Also, the fact that particular gemstones may have appreciated in the past is no guarantee that they will appreciate in the future.

For Purchasers of Diamonds .04–.60 Carats in Size

5A. [Name company] is the principal place for you to resell these diamonds. Resale for profit to other outlets such as retail jewelers may be difficult. Many jewelers will not buy diamonds from an individual. Those that do generally pay substantially less than what they pay their customary suppliers.

5B. Resale through outlets other than [name company] may be made more difficult by the lack of certification by a recognized independent gemological laboratory.

5C. The grading on [name company] certificates accompanying these diamonds is for identification purposes only and not for purposes of valuation. More specific grading may be necessary to enable a purchaser to resell through anyone other than [name company].

For Purchasers of Colored Gemstones

6A. If your gemstone is re-certified, it may receive a different grade. This may affect its value. There are two reasons for this. First, colored gemstone grading is, in part, subjective. Second, procedures used for grading colored gemstones may change.

6B. A colored gemstone which receives a higher grade on a certificate is not necessarily more valuable than one receiving a lower grade. Dealers in colored gemstones may differ significantly in their assessment of the value of particular gemstones and will often rely on personal inspection in setting a value for a gemstone instead of relying only on a certificate.

6C. The above characteristics of colored gemstone grading and valuation are a risk you should consider before investing in colored gemstones.

A. This notice shall appear in all written advertising and promotional material used to sell any gemstone(s) except newspaper and magazine advertisements and one-page promotional material whose sole purpose is to solicit a prospective customer to request further information. The title "Risk Factors You Should Consider Before Investing in Gemstones" shall be printed in no smaller than ten (10) point bold face type. The remainder of the notice shall be printed in type no smaller than the smallest type otherwise in the advertising or no smaller than eight (8) point type, whichever is larger. The capitalization, punctuation and wording of the text and headings must be exactly as shown above.

B. This notice must also appear on the front page of all sales agreements or on a separate sheet of paper given to customers before they sign the sales agreement. The separate sheet may not contain any other writing. The notice required in this subparagraph shall be in the form set forth as follows:

1. At the bottom of the notice shall be the language "I have read this notice and understand what it says" and a place for the buyer's signature.

2. The text of the notice must be printed in no smaller than 9-point type and the heading "Risk Factors You Should Consider Before Investing in Gemstones" must be 2 type points larger and boldface. The capitalization, punctuation and wording of the text and headings must be exactly as shown above.

3. The whole notice, from the word "Risk" to the words "what it says," must be printed in gothic, astron, avant garde, eras, frutiger, gill sans, grotesque, helidustry, helvetica, kabel, antique, optima, univers, vogue, americana, american typewriter, newtext, or quorum type in blue, blue-black, or black ink on white or buff background. If the notice is printed on the front page of a sales agreement on which other information is emphasized by the use of colored type, the notice must then be printed in the most conspicuous colored type used.

4. The whole notice from the word "Risk" to the space for the customer's signature, must be boxed with lines 2 points thick if the notice appears on the front page of a sales agreement.

C. The disclosures in Paragraph 4 only have to be made if the promotional material or contract relates to the sale of diamonds of .04 carats to .60 carats in size. The disclosures in Paragraph 13 only have to be made if the promotional material or contract relates to the sale of colored gemstones.

It is further ordered, that each customer be given at the time of sale a fully filled-in and legible copy of the sales agreement. Respondents shall keep a fully filed-in and legible copy of each sales agreement for three years after signing.

III

It is further ordered, that respondents herein shall notify the Commission at least 30 days prior to any change in the structure of any of the corporate respondents involving dissolution, assignment or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of any subsidiary, or any other change in the respective corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of this order.

IV

It is further ordered, that the individual respondent named herein promptly notify the Commission of the discontinuance of his present business or employment and of his affiliation with a new business or employment if the business or employment is similar in nature to respondent's present employment. Such notice shall include respondent's current business or employment in which he is engaged as well as a description of his duties and responsibilities.

V

It is further ordered, that respondents distribute a synopsis of this order to all operating divisions of said corporations, and to present or future personnel, agents or representatives having sales, advertising, or policy responsibilities with respect to the subject matter of this order and that respondents secure from each such person a signed statement acknowledging receipt of said order.

VI

It is further ordered, that respondents herein shall, within ninety (90) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

Analysis of Proposed Consent Order To Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission has accepted an agreement to a proposed consent order from Thomas L. Baker, Inc., American Diamond Company, and from Thomas L. Baker, the president of both companies.

The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for sixty (60) days for reception of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After sixty (60) days, the Commission will again review the agreement and comments received and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement or make final the agreement's proposed order.

The complaint accompanying the proposed consent order charges that Thomas L. Baker, Inc., American Diamond Company, and Mr. Baker (hereinafter referred to as "respondents") have through the dissemination of advertising and through oral sales presentations, made several false and misleading representations and failed to disclose material facts regarding gemstones sold to consumers for investment purposes. In particular, the complaint alleges that respondents have misrepresented and failed to disclose material facts regarding the liquidity of gemstones (the ease with which they can be resold). For example, the complaint alleges that respondents have failed to disclose the material fact that an individual who seeks a quick sale of gemstones usually will only be able to obtain a resale price substantially lower than the purchase price of such gemstones.

The complaint also charges that respondents have failed to disclose material facts regarding their own gemstone resale service and that when respondents ahve sold diamonds ranging in size from .04 to .06 carats, they ahve failed to disclose material facts concerning difficulties investors may experience in resale and limitations associated ith the certificates issued by respondents to accompany these diamonds. The limitations are the fact that the grading on respondents' certificates is for identification purposes only and not for purposes of valuation. Resale through outlets other than respondents may be made more difficult by the lack of certification by a recognized independent gemological laboratory. Thus more specific grading than that contained on respondents' certificates may be necessary to enable a purchaser to resell through anyone other than respondents.

The complaint further charges that respondents have made false representations and failed to disclose material facts concerning the past appreciation of gemstones, and that they have misrepresented that their own price increases reflect general market price increases. Further, the complaint charges that respondents have made representations concerning the future appreciation of gemstones for which they lacked a reasonable basis. In addition, the complaint charges that respondents have misrepresented the source from which they have derived charts and graphs used in their promotional literature to show the economic performance and past appreciation of gemstones, the nature of their business activities, and that they would deliver gemstones with specific characteristics and in a specific or reasonable amount of time. The complaint also charges that certain of respondents' practices relating to the delivery of gemstones were deceptive and unfair.

Part I of the proposed consent order contains several provisions designed to remedy the violations charged. Respondents are prohibited from making certain specific representations as to the liquidity of gemstones and misrepresenting in general the ease with which gemstones can be resold. Respondents may not misrepresent the past appreciation of gemstones, the source of graphs or charts used in their promotional literature, that their own price increases reflect general market price increases, or respondents' own business activities. Whenever respondents make a claim concerning the past appreciation of gemstones, they must disclose the relevant characteristics of the gemstone to which the claim relates and have reasonable basis for making the claim. Respondents must have a reasonable basis for any claim concerning the future appreciation of gemstones and maintain accurate records to document the basis on which they have relied in making any claim concerning either the past or future appreciation of gemstones. Respondents are required to disclose, in writing and orally, prior to the execution of any contract for the sale of gemstones: (1) that gemstones are not as easy to sell as other investments and that diamonds .04 to .60 carats in size bought from respondents may be difficult to resell except through respondents, (2) the fee for reselling gemstones through respondents and that resale may take a substantial amount of time, (3) that gemstones with different characteristics differ substantially in their past appreciation and that past appreciation of any gemstone is not a guarantee of a future increase in value and (4) there are risks involved in the purchase of colored gemstones. These include the fact that if a colored gemstone is re-certified it may receive a different grade because colored gemstone grading is, in part, subjective and the procedures used for grading colored gemstones may change. Further, a colored gemstone which receives a higher grade on a certificate is not necessarily more valuable than one receiving a lower grade. Dealers in colored gemstones may differ significantly in their assessment of the value of particular gemstones and will often rely on personal inspection in setting a value for a gemstone instead of relying only on a certificate. Other provisions of the proposed consent order require the respondents to comply with the Federal Trade Commission Rule concerning Mail Order Merchandise, to promptly respond to inquires from customers regarding purchases made from respondents, to deliver gemstones with the specific characteristics ordered unless the customer has consented in writing to a substitution, and to deliver the proceeds of any gemstone resale made for a customer within ten working days of completion of the sale.

Part II of the proposed consent order requires respondents to make written disclosures in the exact format specified in that part of the order in certain advertising and promotional material and either on the front page of a sales contract or on a separate sheet of paper given to a consumer before he signs a sales contract.

Part III of the proposed consent order requires respondents to notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days before any proposed structural change in the corporate respondents occurs that may affect compliance with the order.

Part IV of the proposed consent order requires the individual respondent to notify the Commission of the discontinuance of his present business and of his affiliation with a new business if it is similar in nature to his present employment. This notification must state the nature of the new business and describe respondent's duties and responsibilities.

Part V of the proposed consent order requires that respondents distribute a synopsis of the order to all individuals having sales, advertising, or policy responsibilities relating to the matters dealt with in the order, and that respondents secure from each of them a signed statement acknowledging receipt of the order.

Part VI of the proposed consent order requires respondents to file a compliance report with the Commission within ninety (90) days after service of the order.

The purpose of this analysis is to facilitate public comment on the proposed order, and it is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the agreement and proposed order or to modify in any way their terms.

Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

Federal Energy Regulatory Commission

18 CFR Part 141

[Docket No. RM82-4]

Form No. 423: Monthly Report of Cost and Quality of Fuels for Electric Plants; Proposed Revision

Issued: December 3, 1981.

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, DOE.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) is proposing to revise its Form 423, "Monthly Report of Cost and Quality of Fuels for Electric Plants" and its corresponding regulations at 18 CFR 141.61. As proposed, Form No. 423 would be amended so as to apply only to plants that have a stream electric generating capacity of 50 MW or greater. In addition, certain data requests in the form would be clarified, and the number of copies to be submitted with the original would be reduced. The proposed revision of Form 423 is part of the Commission's ongoing program to eliminate reporting requirements that are not necessary to the performance of the Commission's regulatory responsibilities and to reduce the burden associated with necessary filing requirements.

DATE: Comments are due by January 4, 1981.

ADDRESSES: Comments to this Notice should be sent to: Office of the Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Washington, D.C. 20426 and should reference Docket No. RM82-4.

Copies of the proposed Form No. 423 are available at: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Division of Public Information, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Room 1000, Washington, D.C. 20426, (202) 357-8055.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Alexander Gakner, Office of Electric Power Regulation, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Room 507H-RB, Washington, D.C. 20426, (202) 376-9389.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) proposes to amend Form No. 423, "Monthly Report of Cost and Quality of Fuels for Electric Plants" and to amend its regulations prescribing that form (18 CFR 141.61).[1] This rulemaking has been initiated as part of the Commission's ongoing program to review the Commission's filing requirements and reduce unnecessary reporting burdens.

Form No. 423 solicits information about the cost, quantity, and quality of fuel received monthly at generating plants owned or operated by electric utilities that are subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission under the Federal Power Act.[2]

Form No. 423 provides the Commission with information about utility fuels; specifically, their cost, quality (energy content, sulfur content, ash content), geographic source, type of contract, and method of mining (coal). The information is used to evaluate fuel quality and costs in electric rate cases, and also to evaluate fuel purchase practices of electric utility companies according to section 208 of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 824d(f)).[3] The information is also used by other Federal agencies, such as the Environmental Protection Agency, the Departments of Labor and Commerce, the Federal Reserve Board, and the General Accounting Office, in the discharge of their various statutory responsibilities. Information in the form is collected every month from about 900 plants.

The Form No. 423 has been prescribed by Commission regulations since 1972.[4] After reevaluating the form, the Commission now proposes to increase the threshold capacity requirement that triggers the requirement to submit the form and the Commission proposes to alter the definition of that capacity requirement. The proposed amendments would also clarify certain data requests so as to prevent the filing of inconsistent data by reporting entities and to provide more meaningful information to the Commission. These amendments should result in a net decrease of approximately 17 percent in the number of utility plants that must gather the data, record it, and submit it to the Commission. Because fewer companies would be required to file the Form No. 423 and because the form itself would be simplified, the total number of hours spent annually in preparing the form should decrease correspondingly. Finally, the respondents would be required to file four copies of the completed form, rather than six.

[2] The Commission is authorized to regulate electric utilities engaged in interstate commerce under Part II of the Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 792–828c) pursuant to section 402 of the Department of Energy Organization Act (42 U.S.C. 7172(b)). The Commission collects information in the Form No. 423 under section 304 of the Federal Power Act pursuant to a delegation of authority from the Secretary of Energy to the Commission (Delegation Order No. 0204–1 (October 1, 1977)).

[3] Section 208 requires the Commission to periodically review fuel purchaser practices and policies under automatic adjustment clauses in order to promote the efficient use of fuel and energy resources, and to evaluate the justness and reasonableness of rates charged by electric utilities.

[4] Docket No. R–432, Order No. 453, issued June 7, 1972 (37 FR 11860, June 15, 1972); revised July 19, 1974, Docket No. R–432–A, Order No. 512 (39 FR 34030, September 23, 1974).

B. Summary of Proposed Changes

The Commission proposes to revise the general instructions in Form No. 423 so that the filing requirement is triggered if an electric power producer's plant possesses a rated generating capacity of 50 megawatts (MW), rather than 25 MW as is now required. The minimum capacity requirement would be determined by reference to only steam-electric facilities. Combustion turbine and internal combustion engine plants, which are used to provide power during peak system load, would no longer be included in computing the filing threshold.

The Commission proposes these changes because the plants that have less than a 50 MW rated generating capacity, or that operate by combustion turbine or internal combustion, represent less than five percent of the generating capacity that is reported in the Form No. 423 and this type of information is not needed on a monthly basis. Information about these smaller plants can be obtained in individual rate proceedings or through specific data requests, as needed. However, the Commission believes that a threshold higher than 50 MW would not provide sufficient information to the Commission for the analysis of rate filings.

Specific instructions in the form would be amended in certain respects. For reporting purposes, a central storage facility would be treated as a plant, to clarify the classification of such facilities. The instructions would also require respondents to provide certain additional detail in the form to more clearly report their activities, such as indicating the expiration date (if such occurs within 24 months) of all contracts under which deliveries of coal or oil are made; and the name of the broker, if applicable, from whom coal was purchased during the reporting month. Finally, the instructions would be revised to include "flame stabilization" fuels in the instruction requiring fuel identification and to define "spot" purchase to be "shipments under purchase orders or contracts of less than one year duration".

The regulations at § 141.61 which prescribe the filing of Form No. 423 would be revised to reflect the increase in the minimum capacity requirement from 25 MW of steam-electric generating plant capacity to 50 MW rated steam-electric generating capacity. The regulations would also be revised to make certain non-substantive changes that more clearly describe who must file the form and when the filing is required.

C. Certification of No Significant Economic Impact

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) (5 U.S.C. 601–612) requires certain statements, descriptions, and analyses of proposed rules that will have "a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities".

Pursuant to section 605(b) of the RFA, the Commission certifies that this rule, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial numer of small entities. Virtually all electric utility companies required to file the monthly report are large entities. Moreover, this rule, if promulgated, will reduce the filing burden on the electric utility companies because the proposed revisions will simplify the current report.

D. Written Comment Procedure

The Commission invites interested persons to submit written data, views and other information concerniing the matters set out in this Notice. An original and 14 copies of such comments should be filed with the Commission by January 4, 1981. Comments should be submitted to the Office of the Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426 and should reference Docket No. RM82–4.

All written submissions to this rulemaking will be placed in the Commission's public files and will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Division of Public Information, Room 1000, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, DC 20426, during regular business hours.

(Department of Energy Organization Act (42 U.S.C. 7101–7352); E.O. 12009, 3 CFR Part 142; Federal Power Act (16 U.S.C. 792–828c); Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act (16 U.S.C. 2601–2645))

In consideration of the foregoing, the Commission proposes to amend Form No. 423 as set forth in the Appendix, and Part 141 of Chapter I, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations as set forth below.

By direction of the Commission.

Kenneth F. Plumb,

Secretary.

BILLING CODE 4310-05-M

PANAMA CANAL COMMISSION

35 CFR Part 10

Access to Information Concerning Individuals; Proposed Exemption From Access of System of Records Under the Privacy Act

AGENCY: Panama Canal Commission.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: The proposed rule would exempt a system of records, called "Ombudsman Investigation Files, PCC/OM-1," from certain provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974. The general effect of the exemption would be to make information in the system inaccessible to the subjects of the records. The exemption is needed because the system consists of information maintained by an office of the Panama Canal Commission whose functions include the receiving, investigating, and resolving of complaints, grievances, and requests concerning administrative problems, inefficiencies and conflicts arising as a result of the implementation of the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977 and related agreements. Divulging the information in the system to the subjects of the records could render the efforts of the Office of Ombudsman ineffective.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before: December 29, 1981. The proposed effective date for this rule is January 8, 1982.

ADDRESS: Secretary, Panama Canal Commission, Room 312, Pennsylvania Building, 425 13th Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004; or Chief, Administrative Services Division, Panama Canal Commission, APO Miami 34011.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mrs. Hazel M. Murdock, Assistant to the Secretary, Panama Canal Commission, Room 312, Pennsylvania Building, 425 13th Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004 (telephone 202–724–0104).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Since the purpose of this rule is to exempt a narrow class of records concerning individuals from the access and contest provisions of the Privacy Act, no small entities would be affected by its implementation. Accordingly, the agency has determined that the proposed rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. Therefore, sections 603 and 604 of 5 U.S.C. do not apply to the regulation proposed in this document, and the head of the agency so certifies pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 605(b). Further, for the same reasons, this proposed rule is not considered to be a "major rule" as defined in section 1(b) of Executive Order 12291 of February 17, 1981.

PART 10—ACCESS TO INFORMATION ABOUT INDIVIDUALS

Under the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. 552a, the Panama Canal Commission proposes to amend Part 10 of 35 CFR by adding a new paragraph (xxviii) to 35 CFR 10.22(a)(2), as follows:

Phenmedipham; Proposed Tolerance

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: This notice proposes that a tolerance be established for the herbicide phenmedipham. This proposal to establish a maximum permissible level for residues of phenmedipham in or on spinach was submitted by the Interregional Research Project No. 4 (IR–4).

DATE: Comments must be received on or before January 8, 1982.

ADDRESS: Written comments to: Donald R. Stubbs, Emergency Response Section, Registration Division (TS–767C), Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, SW., Washington, DC 20460.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Donald Stubbs (703–557–7123).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Interregional Research Project No. 4 (IR–4) New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, P.O. Box 231, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ 08903, has submitted a pesticide petition (PP 9E2202) to EPA on behalf of the IR–4 Technical Committee and the Agricultural Experiment Stations of Arkansas, California, and Oklahoma.

This petition requested that the Administrator, pursuant to section 408(e) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, propose the establishment of a tolerance for residues of the herbicide phenmedipham in or on the raw agricultural commodity spinach at 0.5 part per million (ppm).

The data submitted in the petition and other relevant material have been evaluated. The pesticide is considered useful for the purpose for which the tolerance is sought. The toxicological data considered in support of the proposed tolerance included: A three-generation rat reproduction study with a no-observable-effect-level (NOEL) (for reproductive effects) of 500 ppm (highest dose tested); a rat teratology study with no teratogenic or fetal toxic effects noted at 500 ppm (highest dose tested); a two-year dog feeding study with a NOEL of 1,000 ppm (highest dose tested); a rat chronic feeding and oncogenic study with no unusual incidence of tumor formation and a NOEL (based on body weight change) of 100 ppm; and a mouse mutagenic potential study (using micronucleus test) with no evidence of mutagencity.

The acceptable daily intake (ADI), based on the two-year rat feeding study (NOEL of 5 mg/kg/day) and using a 100-fold safety factor, is calculated to be 0.05 mg/kg of body weight (bw)/day. The maximum permitted intake (MPI) for a 60 kg human is calculated to be 3.0 mg/day. The theoretical maximum residue contribution (TMRC) from existing tolerances for a 1.5 kg daily diet is calculated to be 0.0060 mg/day; the current action will add 0.0004 mg/day. Published tolerances and this proposed tolerance utilize 0.21 percent of the ADI.

The nature of the residues is adequately understood and an analytical method, using gas chromatography and an electron capture detector is available for enforcement purposes. There is no problem of secondary residues in meat, milk, poultry, and eggs from this use. There are presently no actions pending against the continued registration of chemical.

Based on the above information considered by the Agency, the tolerance established by amending 40 CFR Part 180 would protect the public health. It is proposed, therefore, that the tolerance be established as set forth below.

Any person who has registered or submitted an application for registration of a pesticide, under the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA) as amended, which contains any of the ingredients listed herein, may request on or before January 8, 1982, that this rulemaking proposal be referred to an Advisory Committee in accordance with section 408(e) of the Federal Good, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on the proposed regulation. Comments must bear a notation indicating the document control number "[PP 9E2202/P201]". All written comments filed in response to this petition will be available for public inspection in the office of Donald Stubbs from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, except legal holidays.

As required by Executive Order 12291, EPA has determined that this proposed rule is not a "Major" rule and therefore does not require a Regulatory Impact Analysis. In addition, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has exempted this regulation from the OMB review requirement of Executive Order 12291, pursuant to section 8(b) of that Order.

Pursuant to the requirements of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (Pub. L. 96–534, 94 Stat. 1164, 5 U.S.C. 601–612), the Administrator has determined that regulations establishing new tolerances or raising tolerance levels or establishing exemptions from tolerance requirements do not have significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A certification statement to this effect was published in the Federal Register of May 4, 1981 (46 FR 24950).

Dated: November 27, 1981.

Robert V. Brown,

Acting Director, Registration Division, Office of Pesticide Programs.

PART 180—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMCIALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

Therefore, it is proposed that 40 CFR Part 180.278 be revised by reformating the commodities in an alphabetized columnar listing and alphabetically inserting the raw agricultural commodity "spinach" to read as follows:

§ 180.278 Phenmedipham; tolerances for residues.

Tolerances are established for residues of the herbicide phenmedipham (methyl m-hydroxycarbanlate m-methylcarbanlate) in or on the following raw agricultural commodities:

Commodity	Parts per million
Beets	0.2 (N)
Beets, sugar, roots	0.1 (N)
Beets, sugar, tops	0.1 (N)
Spinach	0.5

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

44 CFR Part 67

[Docket No. FEMA-6121]

National Flood Insurance Program; Proposed Flood Elevation Determinations; Michigan

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency.

ACTION: Proposed rule; revision.

SUMMARY: Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed base (100-year) flood elevations listed below for selected locations in the City of Wyoming, Michigan.

Due to recent engineering analysis, this proposed rule revises the proposed determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations published in 46 FR 39620 on August 4, 1981 and in the Wyoming Reporter, published on or about June 30, 1981, and July 7, 1981, and hence supersedes those previously published rules for the areas cited below.

DATES: The period for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of this notice in a newspaper of local circulation in the above-named community.

ADDRESSES: Maps and other information showing the detailed outlines of the floodprone areas and the proposed flood elevations are available for review at Treasurer's Office, 1155 28th Street, SW, Wyoming, Michigan.

Send comments to: the Honorable Harold Isenga, 1155 28th Street, SW, Wyoming, Michigan 49509.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Robert G. Chappell, National Flood Insurance Program, (202) 287–0230, Federal Energency Management Agency, Washington, D. C. 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Proposed base (100-year) flood elevations are listed below for selected locatgions in the City of Wyoming, Michigan, in accordance with section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93–234), 87 Stat. 980, which added section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90–448), 42 U.S.C. 4001–4128, and 44 CFR 67.4(a)).

These base (100-year) flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

These modified elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Associate Director, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the proposed flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the floodplain area. The elevation determinations, however, impose no restriction unless and until the local community voluntarily adopts floodplain ordinances in accord with these elevations. Even if ordinances are adopted in compliance with Federal standards, the elevations prescribe how high to build in the floodplain and do not proscribe development. Thus, this action only forms the basis for future local actions. It imposes no new requirement; of itself it has no economic impact.

The proposed base (100-year) flood elevations are:

Source of Flooding	Location	#Depth in feet above ground *Elevation in feet (NGVD)
Grand River	Intersection of Conrail and Interstate Highway 196.	*607
Plaster Creek	Intersection of creek and center of Chicago Drive.	*616
	50 feet downstream from center of Division Street.	*641
Buck Creek	50 feet upstream from center of Byron Center Avenue.	*640
	Intersection of 56th Street and Crippen Avenue.	*666
	60 feet south of intersection of 36th Street and Wentworth Drive.	*630

SUMMARY: This document corrects a Notice of Proposed Determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations in the City of Portage, Porter County, Indiana, previously published at 45 FR 41112 on August 14, 1981.

DATE: December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Robert G. Chappell, National Flood Insurance Program, (202) 287-0230, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Washington, D.C. 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Federal Emergency Management Agency gives notice of the correction to the Notice of proposed Determinations of base (100-year) flood elevations for selected locations in the City of Portage, Porter County, Indiana previously published at 46 FR 41112 on August 14, 1981, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. The following corrections were made to Portage Indiana: Willow Creek, "About 4000 feet upstream of Lute Road, 634*," Lenburg Ditch, "At mouth, 626*," "About 0.39 mile upstream of mouth, 628*," " About 140 feet downstream of Stone Avenue, 630*," North Road is the designated name given by the U.S. Geological Survey quadrangle maps; however, the community prefers Lute Road which is the given name by the community. Linberg Ditch changed to Lenburg Ditch due to a clerical error. These changes warranted a correction to the Base Flood Elevation notice.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Associate Director, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that the (proposed) flood elevation determinations, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. A flood elevation determination under section 1363 forms the basis for new local ordinances, which, if adopted by a local community, will govern future construction within the flood plain area. The listing appears correctly as follows:

[Docket No. 80–739; Report No. 16627]

Frequency Allocations and Radio Treaty Matters General Rules and Regulation

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Public notice regarding fourth notice of inquiry.

SUMMARY: The Commission is soliciting public comments, through a series of documents in this proceeding (Docket 80–739), on national implementation of the Final Acts of the 1979 World Administrative Radio Conference. This Fourth Notice of Inquiry considers frequency allocations for the portion of radio spectrum from 40.5 GHz through 400 GHz and new emission designators. This action is necessary in order for the Commission to proceed with appropriate rulemaking in a timely manner after U.S Senate consideration and ratification of the WARC treaty.

DATE: Comments due December 22, 1981, reply comments due January 6, 1982.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, 1919 "M" Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Fred Thomas, Office of Science and Technology, 1919 "M" Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20554, (202) 653–8171.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: October 2, 1981.

Inquiry Begun for Implementation of 1979 WARC Actions in 40.5–400 GHz Spectrum

The Commission has begun a further inquiry for preparation of rule changes to put into effect the final acts of the 1979 World Administrative Radio Conference involving frequency allocations in the spectrum from 40.5 to 400 GHz.

The Notice of Inquiry compares U.S. proposals with the 1979 WARC actions and proposes appropriate modifications of FCC rules. In cases where U.S. proposals were drawn to provide flexibility and were adopted, the inquiry proposes choices among alternatives. Previous inquiry notices dealt with spectrum changes below 40 GHz and other matters stemming from the WARC actions.

The Commission specifically asked for comment on proposals for:

1. Nearly complete sharing between government and nongoverment users in the spectrum above 40 GHz.

2. A new system for designating radio frequency emissions to conform FCC rules to International Radio Regulations.

The actions of the 1979 WARC, which constitute a treaty, will take effect January 1, 1982, in countries which have ratified them. The treaty has not yet been submitted to the Senate for ratification. When ratified the treaty will have the force of law in the United States.

The WARC generally adopted the U.S. approach to spectrum allocation above 40 GHz, as reflected in U.S. proposals which included making allocations for both terrestrial and space services. The allocations will provide guidance for the development of new technology and coming generations of telecommunications systems.

The Commission's previous inquiry notices were released on December 30, 1980, and on June 15 and July 16, 1981. The FCC inquiries are being coordinated with other federal agencies, which are developing regulatory provisions for changes affecting government radio uses.

Comments are due by December 22, 1981 and replies by Jan. 6, 1982.[1]

Action by the Commission October 1, 1981, by Fourth Notice of Inquiry (FCC 81-457). Commissioners Fowler (Chairman), Quello, Washburn, Fogarty, Jones, Dawson and Rivera.

47 CFR Part 74

[BC Docket No. 81-793; FCC 81-535]

Experimental, Auxiliary, and Special Broadcast and Other Program Distributional Services; Current Policy and Procedure

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: As part of an ongoing effort to review its rules for accuracy and clarity, the FCC is proposing a number of amendments to Subparts D, E, F and H of Part 74 regarding experimental, auxiliary, and special broadcast and other program distributional services. This action is being initiated to give interested parties an opportunity to comment on rule changes which would formally express existing policy. The intended effect of the action is to conform the rules with actual policy and to eliminate certain rules which are no longer deemed necessary.

DATES: Comments must be filed on or before January 2, 1982, and reply comments on or before January 19, 1982.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Steven D. Linn, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7698.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Adopted: November 12, 1981.

Released: November 25, 1981.

By the Commission.

1. Recent review of the rules pertaining to the Broadcast Auxiliary Services indicates the need for certain substantive and editorial changes in order that they reflect current policy and procedure. Accordingly, notice of proposed rule making is given in the above-entitled matter. This Notice and the Notice of Proposed Rule Making in BC Docket No. 81-794 (Amendment of Part 74, Subpart F of the Commission's Rules to permit shared use of broadcast auxiliary facilities with other broadcast and non-broadcast entities and to establish new licensing policies for television auxiliary broadcast stations) comprise the present phase of the Commission's Part 74 deregulatory and regulatory flexibility review programs. Parties having an interest in this proceeding who may identify in Part 74 other rules which become obsolete or which appear excessively burdensome in view of the intended benefit, or which place a disproportionate or unnecessary burden on small business entities, the deletion or amendment of which would not be likely to engender sufficient controversy to warrant individual rule makings, are encouraged to identify and discuss same in conjunction with comments filed in response to the specific issues raised in this Notice. This will enable the subsequent Report and Order to be as comprehensive as possible and avoid unnecessary delay in worthwhile revision of the rules.

Reference to the Chicago Regional Office, and FCC Form 425

2. As operation of the Commission's Chicago Regional Office has been terminated, reference to it in §§ 74.433(c) and 74.833(c) and mention of FCC Form 425 in § 74.832(e) is no longer appropriate. These strictly editorial amendments could be the subject of a separate Order; but for reasons of economy and administrative simplicity, they are being included in this proceeding.

"Grandfathered" Operation Between 942 and 947 MHz

3. The "grandfather clause" in §§ 74.502(c) and 74.603(c) concerning continued operation of aural broadcast STL, intercity relay and TV auxiliary broadcast stations does not contain a provision for such stations operating on frequencies between 942 and 947 MHz. This band was allocated to land mobile and reserved in the First Report and Order and Second Notice of Inquiry [1] in Docket 18262. We believe, for purposes of clarity, that it would be desirable to include the substance of Footnote NG-64 (which states that "[b]roadcast auxiliary stations licensed as of July 10, 1970, to operate in the frequency band 942-947 MHz may continue to so operate pending a decision as to their disposition through a future rule making proceeding") in §§ 74.502(c) and 74.603(c). [The Commission has under consideration two petitions (RM-3885, Aeronautical Radio, Inc., developmental license, granted August 25, 1981, and RM-3524, Air Fone, Inc., developmental license, granted December 12, 1980) proposing air-to-ground telephone service in the 942-947 MHz band. Action on these two proposals will be taken in the near future.]

Notification Requirements

4. It is our belief that communications technology today is sufficiently advanced to warrant the elimination of the notification requirements set forth in paragraphs (a) of §§ 74.533, 74.634 and 74.635 (which concern remote control and unattended operation). We feel similarly with respect to paragraph (c) of § 74.651 (which concerns the use of multiplex equipment). Accordingly, in the proposed rules set forth in the Appendix these requirements are deleted. Paragraph (c) in § 74.533 and paragraphs (b) of §§ 74.634 and 74.635 also require amendment to reflect the new policy. While it might be possible to eliminate these paragraphs altogether, we feel that their retention in the modified form as set forth in the Appendix is desirable to give the Commission some latitude in the resolution of any conflicts or interference problems that may arise. We would emphasize that the operating requirements of these sections are being retained in full; only the need to notify the Commission would be eliminated.

Intracity Relay Stations

5. Another of our policies which is not reflected in the rules is that of authorizing intracity relay stations pursuant to Subpart F. Thus, the use of the term "television intercity relay station" in § 74.601(c) and elsewhere is misleading. We wish to simplify the term to "TV relay station" in order to more clearly signify the broader applicability and use of this type of station. Again, the necessary rule amendments are set forth in the Appendix. Also in keeping with previously discussed changes is amendment of § 74.631(c) to read: "A TV relay station is authorized to transmit visual program material between television broadcast stations for simultaneous or delayed broadcast, or may be used to transmit visual program material from a remote receiver site of a single station." This change simply deletes the term "intercity" for reasons discussed previously, and acknowledges use (relay or remote receiver information) not presently specified in the rule but permissible under existing practice and policy.

The dates mentioned herein are given to allow interested Federal Register readers the opportunity to submit comments and replies. An Order extending time for filing comments/replies will be issued by the Commission to present these dates to all parties who obtained copies of the original document.

Use Of Subpart E Facilities for Transmission of TV Sound

6. We turn our attention next to § 74.603(b), which allows the transmission of the sound portion of television broadcast program material over an aural broadcast STL or intercity relay station licensed under the provisions of Subpart E. This provision was created because of equipment limitations. However, in recent years the spectrum available under the provisions of Subpart E has become so intensively used by AM and FM broadcasters, we feel that the time has come when permission to use this spectrum in conjunction with video broadcasting should be withdrawn. Thus, we propose to remove paragraph (b) of § 74.603, but only if information submitted in comments generally supports our view. We would also ask what type of "grandfather" provisions, if any, should be applicable.

Special Temporary Authority

7. We feel that where our policies in administering the services regulated by the various subparts of Part 74 are similar, the related rules should likewise agree to the extent practicable. This results in a uniformity in the rules which serves as a memory aid and eliminates the appearance of special exceptions where none in fact exist.[2] A case in point is the absence of a paragraph in § 74.633 similar to paragraph (f) in §§ 74.433 and 74.833, which is, in fact, the policy applicable to Special Temporary Authorizations (STA's) issued in Subpart F. We therefore are proposing a new paragraph (e) for § 74.633 which will state that "Special temporary authority to permit operation of television auxiliary broadcast stations pending Commission action on an application for regular authority will not normally be granted." This will discourage the requests occasionally received by the Commission in this regard.

Zones

8. We wish to make an editorial amendment to § 74.802(b) which refers to certain zones without defining them. We believe a statement referring the reader to § 73.609 (where the three zones are clearly defined) would be helpful and eliminate ambiguity.

Specification of Nearest TV Station

9. We also propose, in § 74.832(e), to delete the requirement that applicants specify the nearest television stations operating on the requested channel, since operations in this band are limited to areas removed from existing co-channel stations. We have found, through years of experience, that users of the 174–216 MHz spectrum take care to maintain a sufficient distance from co-channel stations, since it is rare that they can be in a location where they can cause interference to the reception of a television station, yet not receive comparable interference themselves. Thus, as experience has shown this requirement to be useless, we propose its deletion.

Low Power Auxiliary Station Operation at Temporary Locations

10. We would also like to propose amendment of paragraphs (f) and (h) of § 74.832 to allow greater flexibility in the operation of low power auxiliary stations at temporary locations. This would be accomplished by amending paragraph (f) to read (in part):

(f) Applications for the use of the 174–216 MHz band must specify the usual area of operation within which the low power auxiliary station will be used. This area of operation may, for example, be specified as the metropolitan area in which the broadcast licensee serves, or the usual area within which motion picture and television producers are operating. (The remainder of the paragraph would be unchanged.)

It will be noticed that the essential change made above involves the use of the word "usual" to provide the alternative which would allow operation at locations not specified, as may be necessary. In paragraph (h), the requirement to obtain prior authorization from the Commission would be eliminated. We are proposing these changes because at the time the service was created these requirements were suitable simply as a precautionary measure; but after years of experience we have seen no instances of abuse whatever and see no need to retain these needlessly burdensome requirements.[3]

11. Regulatory Flexibility Act Initial Analysis.

I. Reasons for action. Due to administrative oversight in other rule making proceedings and the gradual evolution of policies more in keeping with the objectives and actual needs of the various auxiliary broadcast services, certain rules in Part 74 of the Commission's Rules have become obsolete or are in need of minor revision.

II. The objectives. The Commission desires to update the rules for purposes of improved clarity, to make them reflect actual policy and to eliminate certain requirements no longer deemed necessary which may constitute a burden to some broadcasters and other entities eligible for operation in these services.

III. Legal basis. Action proposed is in furtherance of Sections 303(r), 4(i) and of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which permits the Commission to make such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with law, as may be necessary in the execution of its functions, with the additional view of the public welfare.

IV. Description, potential impact and number of small entities affected. No impact is seen on non-broadcast entities. The rule changes proposed are largely editorial in nature and reflect policies which are already operative. Certain of the other changes proposed are permissive in nature, and should be welcomed by large and small broadcast and broadcast-related entities alike. In sum, no adverse impact on any entity, large or small, is anticipated.

V. Recording, record-keeping and other compliance requirements. Certain administrative burdens (notifying the Commission of certain operations) would be eliminated for both small and large broadcast and broadcast-related entities.

VI. Federal rules which overlap, duplicate or conflict with these rules. None.

VIII. Any significant alternatives minimizing impact on small entities and consistent with the stated objective. None, and retention of the status quo would constitute a continuing burden.

12. Accordingly, it is proposed to amend Part 74 of the Commission's Rules as set forth in the attached Appendix.

[2] This is not to say that where unique circumstances or considerations arise, we will sacrifice flexibility for conformity. In such cases the rules applicable to the various subparts must necessarily differ.

[3] The predominant use of these low power auxiliary stations is for wireless microphones having a very short piece of wire for an antenna and a range not in excess of a few hundred feet.

13. Authority for the action taken herein is contained in Sections 4(i) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

14. Pursuant to the procedures set forth in sections 1.4, 1.415 and 1.419 of the Commission's Rules and Regulations, interested parties may file comments on or before January 4, 1982, and reply comments on or before January 19, 1982. All submissions by parties to this proceeding or by persons acting on behalf of such parties must be made in written comments, reply comments or other appropriate pleadings.

15. In accordance with section 1.419 of the Commission's Rules and Regulations, an original and five copies of all comments, reply comments, pleadings, briefs or other documents shall be furnished the Commission. Members of the general public who wish to participate informally in this proceeding may submit one copy of their comments, specifying BC Docket Number 81—793.

16. All filings in this proceeding will be available for examination by interested parties during regular business hours in the Commission's Public Reference Room at its headquarters at 1919 M St., N.W., Washington, D.C.

17. For further information concerning this proceeding contact Steven D. Linn, Broadcast Bureau (202) 632–7698. However, members of the public should note that from this time a Notice of Proposed Rule Making is issued until the matter is no longer subject to Commission consideration or court review, ex parte contacts presented to the Commission in proceedings such as this one will be disclosed in the public docket file.

18. An ex parte contact is a message (spoken or written) concerning the merits of a pending rule making other than comments officially filed at the Commission or oral presentations requested by the Commission. If a member of the public does wish to comment on the merits of this proceeding in this manner, he or she should follow the Commission's procedures governing ex parte contacts in informal rule making. A summary of these procedures is available from the Commission's Consumer Assistance Office, FCC, Washington, D.C. 20554 (202) 632–7000.

PART 74—EXPERIMENTAL, AUXILIARY, AND SPECIAL BROADCAST AND OTHER PROGRAM DISTRIBUTIONAL SERVICES

Appendix

It is proposed to amend Part 74 of the Federal Communications Commission's Rules and Regulations as follows:

1. In Subpart D, it is proposed to revise paragraph (c) of § 74.433 to remove the reference to the Commission's Chicago Regional Office:

§ 74.433 Temporary authorizations.

* * * * *

(c) An informal request for special temporary authority shall be addressed to the FCC in Washington, D.C. and must include full particulars including: licensee's name, call letters of associated broadcast station or stations, name and address of individual designated to receive return authorization, call letters of remote pickup station, if assigned, type and manufacturer of equipment, power output, emission, frequency or frequencies proposed to be used, commencement and termination date, location of proposed operation and purpose for which request is made including any partiular justification. In the event that the proposed antenna installation will increase the height of any natural formation or existing man-made structure by more than 20 feet, a vertical plan sketch showing the height above ground of any existing structure, the elevation of the site above mean sea level, and the geographical coordinates of the proposed site, shall be submitted with the application.

2. In Subpart E, it is proposed to revise paragraph (c) of § 74.502 to read as follows:

§ 74.502 Frequency assignment.

* * * * *

(c) Aural broadcast STL and intercity relay stations licensed as of July 10, 1970, to operate in the frequency band 942–947 MHz, may continue to so operate pending a decision as to their disposition through a future rule making proceeding.

* * * * *

3. In § 74.533, the introductory texts of paragraphs (a) and (b) would be revised to remove the Commission notification requirement; and paragraph (c) would be revised to read as follows:

§ 74.533 Remote control and unattended operation.

(a) Aural broadcast STL and intercity relay stations may be operated by remote control provided that such operation is conducted in accordance with the conditions listed below:

* * * * *

(b) Aural broadcast STL and intercity relay stations may be operated unattended provided that such operation is conducted in accordance with the conditions listed below:

* * * * *

(c) The FCC may notify the licensee to cease or modify operation in the case of frequency usage disputes, interference or similar situations where such action appears to be in the public interest, convenience and necessity.

4. In Subpart F, paragraph (c) of § 74.601 would be amended to remove the term "intercity" as follows:

§ 74.601 Classes of TV auxiliary broadcast stations.

(c) TV relay station. A fixed station used for transmission of TV program material and related communications for use by TV broadcast stations.

* * * * *

5. In § 74.602, the introductory text of paragraph (a) and (f) would be revised as follows.

§ 74.602 Frequency assignment.

(a) The following frequencies are available for assignment to TV pickup, TV STL, TV relay stations and TV translator relay stations:

* * * * *

(f) Community antenna relay stations may be assigned channels in Band D between 12,700 and 13,200 MHz subject to the condition that no harmful interference is caused to TV STL and TV relay stations authorized at the time of such grants. Similarly, new TV STL and TV relay stations must not cause harmful interference to community antenna relay stations authorized at the time of such grants. The use of channels between 12,700 and 13,200 MHz by TV pickup stations is subject to the condition that no harmful interference is caused to community antenna relay, TV STL and TV relay stations, except as provided for in § 74.602(a) Note 2.

* * * * *

6. In § 74.603, paragraph (b) is removed and marked "Reserved" and paragraph (c) is revised to read as follows:

§ 74.603 Sound channels.

* * * * *

(b) [Reserved]

* * * * *

(c) TV STL or TV relay stations licensed as of July 10, 1970, to operate in the frequency band 942–947 MHz, may continue to so operate pending a decision as to their disposition through a future rule making proceeding.

* * * * *

7. In § 74.631, paragraphs (c) through (f) would be revised to read as follows:

§ 74.631 Permissible service.

* * * * *

(c) A TV relay station is authorized to transmit visual program material between television broadcast stations for simultaneous or delayed broadcast, or may be used to transmit visual program material from a remote pickup receiver site of a single station.

(d) The transmitter of an STL, TV relay station or TV translator relay station may be multiplexed to provide additional communication channels for the transmission of aural program material and operational communications. Operational communications include voice communications and telemetry signals, all of which must be directly related to the technical operation of the associated broadcast TV or TV translator station of the STL, TV relay or translator system of which the multiplexed transmitter is a part. Aural program material may include the sound accompanying the visual program material transmitted over the system or aural program material intended for broadcast by other AM, FM, or TV broadcast stations owned by or under the common control of the licensee of the TV STL or TV relay station. Multiplexing on TV translator relay stations shall be limited to the sound accompanying the visual program material and operational communications as defined in this paragraph. A TV broadcast STL or TV relay station will be authorized only in those cases where the principal use is the transmission of TV broadcast program material for use by its associated TV broadcast station. However, STL or TV relay stations so licensed may be operated at any time for the transmission of aural program material and operational communications whether or not visual program material is being transmitted, provide that such operation does not cause harmful interference to TV broadcast pickup, STL or TV relay stations transmitting TV broadcast program material.

(e) Except as provided in paragraphs (a), (d) and (f) of this section, all program material transmitted over a TV pickup, STL, or TV relay station shall be used by or intended for use by a TV broadcast station owned by or under the common control of the licensee of TV pickup, STL, or TV relay station. Program material transmitted over a TV pickup, STL or TV relay station and so used by the licensee of such facility may, with the permission of the licensee of the broadcast auxiliary facility, be used by other TV broadcast stations and by nonbroadcast closed circuit educational TV systems operated by educational institutions.

(f) A TV broadcast pickup, STL or TV relay station may, at times when it is not transmitting program material to its associated TV broadcast station, be used for the transmission of program material to non-broadcast closed circuit educational television systems operated by educational institutions, provided that such use is less than 50% of the total use of the broadcast auxiliary facility during any one year of the license period. Use of the broadcast auxiliary facility for this purpose is subject to the condition that no harmful interference is caused to broadcast auxiliary stations operating in accordance with the basic frequency allocation. No charge either direct or indirect may be made for this use. Licensees shall submit reports with their applications for renewals showing the breakdown of usage in terms of primary and alternative uses, during each year of the license term.

* * * * *

8. In § 74.632, paragraphs (b) and (d) would be revised to read as follows:

§ 74.632 Licensing requirements.

* * * * *

(b) A license for a TV relay station may be issued in any case where the circuit will operate between TV broadcast stations either by means of "off-the-air" pickup and relay or location of the initial relay station at the studio or transmitter of a TV broadcast station.

* * * * *

(d) Licensees who have two or more TV broadcast stations located in different cities shall, in applying for a new TV pickup station or for renewal of license of an existing station, designate the TV broadcast station in conjunction with which it is to be operated principally. Operation in a city which is not the city of license of the associated TV broadcast station is on a secondary, non-interference basis to home-city users.

* * * * *

9. In § 74.633 new paragraphs (e) and (f) would be added to read as follows:

§ 74.633 Temporary authorizations.

* * * * *

(e) [Reserved]

(f) Special temporary authority to permit operation of a TV auxiliary broadcast station of any class pending FCC action on an application for regular authority will not normally be granted.

10. In § 74.634, the introductory text of paragraph (a) and (b) would be revised to read as follows:

§ 74.634 Remote control operation.

(a) A TV auxiliary station may be operated by remote control provided that such operation is conducted in accordance with the conditions listed below:

* * * * *

(b) The FCC notify the license to cease or modify operation in the case of frequency usage disputes, interference or similar situations where such action appears to be in the public interest, convenience and necessity.

11. In § 74.635, the introductory text of paragraph (a), (a)(4) and (b) would be revised to read as follows:

§ 74.635 Unattended operation.

(a) TV relay stations, TV translator relay stations, and TV STL stations may be operated unattended provided such operation is conducted in accordance with the conditions listed below:

* * * * *

(4) In the case of TV relay stations, TV STL stations, and TV translator stations, observations shall be made at intervals not exceeding 24 hours, at the receiving end of the microwave circuit, by a person designated by the licensee, who must institute measures sufficient to ensure prompt correction of any condition of improper operation that is observed. In the case of an STL station associated with a TV station operated by remote control, the observations may be made by monitoring the TV station's transmitted signal at the remote control point. In the case of a TV translator relay station, the observations may be made by monitoring the associated TV translator station's transmitted signal.

* * * * *

(b) The FCC may notify the licensee to cease or modify operation in the case of frequency usage disputes, interference or similar situations where such action appears to be in the public interest, convenience and necessity.

12. Paragraph (c) of § 74.651 would be revised to remove the notification requirement:

§ 74.651 Equipment changes.

* * * * *

(c) Multiplexing equipment may be installed on any licensed TV broadcast STL, TV relay, or translator relay station without authority from the Commission provided that such changes are shown in the next application for renewal of license for the station.

13. In Subpart H, the introductory material preceding paragraph (b)(1) of § 74.802 would be revised to read as follows:

§ 74.802 Frequency assignment.

* * * * *

(b) In the 174–216 MHz band, operations are limited to locations removed from existing co-channel stations by the following distances unless otherwise authorized by the Commission:

Zone I, 97 Km (60 miles)
Zone II and III, 120 Km (75 miles)

Note.—See § 73.609 for a definition of each of the zones.

Specific frequency operation is required in this band and the licensee will select the exact frequency on which operation is desired. Specific frequencies available for use by low power auxiliary stations in the 174–216 MHz band are as follows:

* * * * *

14. In § 74.832, paragraphs (e), (f) and (h) are revised to read as follows:

§ 74.832 Licensing requirements and procedures.

* * * * *

(e) An application for low power auxiliary stations or for a change in an existing authorization shall specify the broadcast station, combination of such stations, or the network with which the low power broadcast auxiliary facilities are to be principally used as given in paragraph (h) of this section; or it shall specify the motion picture or television production company or the cable television operator with which the low power broadcast auxiliary facilities are to be solely used. A single application, filed in duplicate on FCC Form 313 may be used in applying for the authority to operate one or more low power auxiliary units. The application must specify the number of units to be operated and the frequency bands which will be used. Motion picture producers, television program producers, and cable television operators are required to attach a single sheet to their application form explaining in detail the manner in which the eligibility requirements given in paragraph (a) of this section are met.

(f) Applications for the use of the 174–216 MHz band must specify the usual area of operation within which the low power auxiliary station will be used. This area of operation, may for example, be specified as the metropolitan area in which the broadcast licensee serves, or the usual area within which motion picture and television producers are operating. Since low power auxiliary station use of this band will only be permitted in areas removed from existing co-channel television broadcast stations, it is the licensee's responsibility to insure operation of these stations does not occur at distances less than those specified in § 74.802(b) with respect to existing co-channel TV stations serving part of the specified area of operation.

(h) For broadcast licensees, low power auxiliary stations will be licensed for use with a specific broadcast station or combination of broadcast stations licensed to the same licensee and to the same community. Licensing of low power auxiliary stations for use with a specific broadcast station or combination of such stations does not preclude their use with other broadcast stations of the same or a different licensee at any location. Operation of low power auxiliary stations outside the area of operation specified in the authorization, or in other bands is permitted without further authority of the Commission. However, operation of low power auxiliary stations shall, at all times, be in accordance with the requirements of § 74.882 of this Subpart. Also, a low power auxiliary station that is being used with a broadcast station or network other than one with which it is licensed, must, in addition to meeting the requirements of § 74.861 of this Subpart, not cause harmful interference to another low power auxiliary station which is being used with the broadcast station(s) or network with which it is licensed.

* * * * *

15. Paragraph (c) of § 74.833 would be revised to remove the reference to the Commission's Chicago Regional Office as follows:

§ 74.833 Temporary authorizations.

(c) An informal request for special temporary authority shall be addressed to the FCC in Washington, D.C., and must include full particulars including: applicant's name, statement of eligibility, call letters of associated broadcast stations or stations, if any, name and address of individual designated to receive return telegram, type and manfacturer of equipment, power output, emission, frequency or frequencies proposed to be used, commencement and termination date, location of proposed operation, and purpose for which request is made including any particular justification.

Foreign-Trade Zones Board

[Docket No. 21-81]

Foreign-Trade Zone No. 40, Cleveland, Ohio; Application for Expansion

Notice is hereby given that an application has been submitted to the Foreign-Trade Zones Board (the Board) by the Cleveland-Cuyahoga County Port Authority (the Port Authority), grantee of Foreign-Trade Zone No. 40, requesting authority to expand its zone project to include a site in Brook Park, Ohio, within the Cleveland Customs port of entry. The application was submitted pursuant to the provisions of the Foreign-Trade Zones Act, as amended (19 U.S.C. 81a–81u), and the regulations of the Board (15 CFR Part 400). It was formally filed on December 1, 1981. The applicant is authorized to make this proposal under § 4582.06(f) of the Ohio Revised Code.

On September 29, 1978, the Port Authority received authority from the Board to establish a foreign-trade zone project in the Cleveland area (Board Order 135, 43 FR 46886, 10–11–78). The facility covers 32 acres of port property on W. 9th Street, in Cleveland harbor, and includes a 600,000 square foot multi-purpose building currently being prepared for zone activity. The zone is designed to improve the port's international trade services.

The Port Authority now proposes to include as a part of its zone project a site in Brook Park to be used primarily as an international exhibition center. Covering 175 acres adjacent to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport, the facility, formerly the Cleveland Tank Plant, has 2.2 million square feet of exhibition, storage and manufacturing floor space. It is owned and will be operated by the Park Corporation, a firm experienced in industrial park operations and international machine tool distribution. The exhibition center is to be used for capital equipment, such as metal-working machine tools, and zone status will help the facility serve as an international trade center. In addition to drawing up to 1200 exhibitors and 350,000 visitors annually, the center is expected to employ 750 persons and generate shipping activity for the port.

In accordance with the Board's regulations, an Examiners Committee has been appointed to investigate the application and report to the Board. The committee consists of Dennis Puccinelli (Chairman), Foreign-Trade Zones Staff, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. 20230; Donald L. Cavanaugh, District Director, U.S. Customs Service, Region IX, 6th Floor, Plaza Nine Building, 55 Erieview Plaza, Cleveland, Ohio 44114; and Colonel George P. Johnson, District Engineer, U.S. Army Engineer District Buffalo, 1776 Niagara Street, Buffalo, New York 14207.

Comments concerning the proposed zone expansion are invited in writing from interested persons and organizations. They should be addressed to the Board's Executive Secretary at the address below and postmarked on or before January 6, 1982.

A copy of the application is available for public inspection at each of the following locations:

U.S. Dept. of Commerce District Office, Room 600, 666 Euclid Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio 44114;

Office of the Executive Secretary, Foreign-Trade Zones Board, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th and E Streets, N.W., Room 3721, Washington, D.C. 20230.

ADDRESS: NOAA Office of General Counsel (GCEL), Room 275, Page 1 Building, 2001 Wisconsin Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20235.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Stephen J. Powell or Harry Feehan at the above address (telephone: 202–254–8350).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Title IV (43 U.S.C. 1841) established the Fishermen's Contingency Fund from which the Secretary of Commerce is authorized to compensate commercial fishermen for damage to, or loss of, fishing gear and for any resulting economic loss due to activities related to oil and gas exploration, development, and production of the Outer Continental Shelf.

In pertinent parts, the regulations implementing Title IV, (50 CFR 296) declare as follows. Damage or loss is not compensable if a claim is not filed within 60 days of the discovery of the damage or loss. 50 CFR 286.5(c)(3). A claim brought under Title IV must contain certain specified information (50 CFR 296.7(e)). The Chief, Financial Services Division, National Marine Fisheries Service (Chief, FSD), is authorized initially to decide whether a claim contains this information, or so much of it as is thought necessary to process the claim (50 CFR 296.7(e), 296.8(b)(1)). If the Chief, FSD, finds that the claim is incomplete, the claimant must be notified in writing of any deficiencies (50 CFR 296.8(b)(3)(i)). Thereafter, a claimant has 60 days in which to correct the deficiency. If the claimant does not so do within 60 days, the claim is not eligible for compensation unless the Chief, FSD, extends the 60-day period (50 CFR 296.8(b)(3)(ii)). The General Counsel is authorized to review any determination by the Chief, FSD, with regard to a deficiency. If the General Counsel finds that a claim has been abandoned by reason of the claimant's having failed to file a claim within 60 days of the discovery or loss, or by reason of the claimant's having failed to respond in timely fashion to a notice of deficiency from the Chief, FSD, the General Counsel "may close the file without further action under * * * Part 296" (50 CFR 296.8(d)(1)).

With regard to each of the above claims, either the claimant failed to file a claim within the 60-day limit, or failed to respond to a notice of deficiency within 60 days and, in some cases within 20 or 30 additional days unilaterally granted by the Chief, FSD. Therefore, the General Counsel has found that these claims have been abandoned within the meaning of 50 CFR 296.8(d)(1), has closed the files on them, and will take no further action in their regards.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 4th day of December 1981.

Robert K. Crowell,

Deputy Executive Director, National Marine Fisheries Service.

In the letter published below, the Chairman of the Committee for the Implementation of Textitle Agreements directs the Commissioner of Customs, in accordance with the terms of the bilateral agreement, to prohibit entry into the United States for consumption, or withdrawal from warehouse for consumption, of man-made fiber textile products in Category 649, produced or manufacturerd in Costa Rica and exported during the twelve-month period beginning on January 1, 1982 and extending through December 31, 1982, in excess of 1,811,000 dozen.

Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements

Commissioner of Customs,
Department of the Treasury, Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Commissioner: Pursuant to the Bilateral Cotton, Wool and Man-Made Fiber Textile Agreement of September 22, 1980, between the Governments of the United States and Costa Rica; and in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order 11651 of March 3, 1972, as amended by Executive Order 11951 of January 6, 1977, you are directed to prohibit, effective on January 1, 1982 and for the twelve-month period extending through December 31, 1982, entry into the United States for consumption and withdrawal from warehouse for consumption of man-made fiber textile products in Category 649, produced or manufactured in Costa Rica, in excess of 1,811,000 dozen.

In carrying out this directive entries of man-made fiber textile products in Category 649 which have been exported to the United States prior to January 1, 1982, shall, to the extent of any unfilled balance, be charged against the level of restraint established for such goods during the twelve-month period beginning on January 1, 1981 and extending through December 31, 1981. In the event that the level of restraint established for that period has been exhausted by previous entries, such goods shall be subject to the level set forth in this letter.

The level set forth above is subject to adjustment in the future according to the provisions of the bilateral agreement of September 22, 1980 between the Governments of the United States and Costa Rica which provide, in part, that: (1) The specific limit may be increased for carryover and carryforward up to 11 percent of the applicable category limit or sublimit; and (2) administrative arrangements or adjustments may be made to resolve minor problems arising in the implementation of the agreement. Any appropriate adjustments under the provisions of the bilateral agreement, referred to above, will be made to you by letter.

A detailed description of the textile categories in terms or T.S.U.S.A. numbers was published in the Federal Register on February 28, 1980 (45 FR 13172), as amended on April 23,1980 (45 FR 27463), August 12, 1980 (45 FR 53506), December 24, 1980 (45 FR 85142), May 5, 1981 (46 FR 25121), October 5, 1981 (46 FR 48963) and October 27, 1981 (46 FR 52409)).

In carrying out the above directions, the Commissioner of Customs should construe entry into the United States for consumption to include entry for consumption into the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

The actions taken with respect to the Government of Costa Rica and with respect to imports of man-made fiber textile products from Costa Rica have been determined by the Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements to involve foreign affairs functions of the United States. Therefore, these directions to the Commissioner of Customs, which are necessary for the implementation of such actions, fall within the foreign affairs exception to the rule-making provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553. This letter will be published in the Federal Register.

Sincerely,

Arthur Garel,

Acting Chairman, Committee for the Implementation of Textile Agreements.

[ERA Docket No. 81-CERT-025]

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc.; Certification of Eligible Use of Natural Gas to Displace Fuel Oil

On October 19, 1981 Consolidated Edison Company of New York, Inc. (Con Edison), 4 Irving Place, New York, N.Y. 10003 filed with the Administrator of the Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) pursuant to 10 CFR Part 595 an application for certification of an eligible use of approximately 2.20 billion cubic feet of natural gas per year to displace approximately 312,000 barrels of residual fuel oil (0.3 percent sulfur), and approximately 15,000 barrels of No. 2 fuel oil (0.2 percent sulfur), approximately 41,000 barrels of kerosene (0.05 percent sulfur) per year at six of its steam and electric generating stations located in New York City: Astoria in Queens; East River in Manhattan; Narrows in Brooklyn; Ravenswood in Queens; Waterside in Mahattan; and East 60th Street in Manhattan. The eligible seller of the natural gas is New York State Electric and Gas Corporation, 4500 Vestal Parkway East, Binghamton, New York 13902. The gas will be transported by Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation, and Tennessee Gas Pipeline Company, a Division of Tenneco, Inc. Notice of that application was published in the Federal Register (46 FR 56498, November 17, 1981) and an opportunity for public comment was provided for a period of ten (10) calendar days from the date of publication.

Con Edison has in effect a certification by the ERA, effectice April 13, 1981 (Docket No. 81-CERT-005), which authorizes purchases of approximately 62 billion cubic feet of natural gas per year from other eligible sellers for use at the electric generating stations named in this certification.

The ERA has carefully reviewed Con Edison's application in accordance with 10 CFR Part 595 and the policy considerations expressed in the Final Rulemaking Regarding Procedures for Certification of the Use of Natural Gas to Displace Fuel Oil (44 FR 47920, August 16, 1979). The ERA has determined that Con Edison's application satisifies the criteria enumerated in 10 CFR Part 595, and, therefore, has granted the certification and transmitted that certification to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. More detailed information, including a copy of the application, transmittal letter, and the actual certification are available for public inspection at the ERA, Division of Natural Gas Docket Room, Room 6304, RG-13, 2000 M Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20461, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

December 7, 1981.

Take notice that on November 2, 1981, Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company (Applicant), P.O. Box 21744, Shreveport, Louisiana 71151, filed in Docket No. CP82-52-000 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of 1,350 horsepower compressor unit at the existing Enid Compressor Station near Enid, Oklahoma, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant states that the Enid Compressor Station is located near the middle of its 14-inch Line 2 near Enid, Oklahoma, and presently consists of two 1,200 horsepower units. Applicant asserts that the two existing compressor units have been in service approximately 16 years and that virtually all gas destined for Applicant's retail customers north of Enid is compressed at this station. Applicant proposes the installation of a third compressor unit of 1,350 horsepower at the Enid Compressor Station which would be utilized as a standby unit at that critical location. It is asserted that the additional unit would improve reliability of service north of Enid.

Applicant states that the total cost for the proposed construction would be approximately $1,950,000. Such costs, it is asserted, would be financed from funds on hand.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before January 4, 1982, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission or its designee on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Secretary.

El Paso Natural Gas Co.; Tariff Filing

December 4, 1981.

Take notice that on November 12, 1981, El Paso Natural Gas Company ("El Paso") tendered for filing, pursuant to Part 154 of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission ("Commission") Regulations Under the Natural Gas Act, and in compliance with ordering paragraph (B) of the Commission's order issued November 2, 1981 at Docket No. CP79-100-004, et al., Second Revised Sheet Nos. 1359, 1361, 1363, 1382 and First Revised Sheet No. 1382-A to special Rate Schedule X-54 contained in El Paso's FERC Gas Tariff, Third Revised Volume No. 2.

El Paso states that special Rate Schedule X-54 is comprised of the Lincoln Road Gas Exchange Agreement ("Lincoln Road Agreement") dated December 20, 1978, between El Paso and Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Company ("Michigan Wisconsin"), providing for the exchange of certain quantities of natural gas from Michigan Wisconsin's reserves in the Lincoln Road area of the State of Wyoming for equivalent volumes, on an MMBtu basis, of El Paso's reserves underlying High Island Block A -309 located in the East Addition, High Island Area South Extension, Federal Domain offshore Texas. El Paso further states that by order issued November 2, 1981, at Docket No. CP79-166-004, et al., the Commission authorized the establishment of the El Paso Receipt Point No. 8 under the subject arrangements. The revised tariff sheets identified above were tendered by El Paso in compliance with ordering paragraph (B) of said order to modify special Rate Schedule X-54 by (i) adding the El Paso Receipt Point No. 8 to Exhibit A of the Lincoln Road Agreement and (ii) revising certain provisions of the Lincoln Road Agreement in order to accommodate the additional receipt point. The changes to the Lincoln Road Agreement are identical to those set forth in the Amendatory Agreement dated February 12, 1981, between El Paso and Michigan Wisconsin.

El Paso required, pursuant to § 154.51 of the Commission's Regulations, that waiver of the notice requirements of § 154.22 of the Commission's Regulations be granted so as to permit the tendered tariff sheets to become effective November 2, 1981, the date of the amended certificate authorization granted by the Commission's order issued November 2, 1981, at Docket No. CP79-166-004, et al.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said tariff filing should, on or before December 17, 1981, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C., 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations Under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). Protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make any protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

The stated purpose of this budget-type application is to augment Applicant's ability to act with reasonable dispatch in abandoning service and removing direct sales measuring, regulating and related facilities. Applicant states that it would abandon service and facilities only when deliveries to any one direct sales customer would not have exceeded 100,000 Mcf of natural gas during the last year of service.

certifying that the customer has no further need for service would be filed with the Commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before January 4, 1982, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission or its designee on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that permission and approval for the proposed abandonment are required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

December 4, 1981.

Take notice that on November 10, 1981, Mississippi River Transmission Corporation (Mississippi) tendered for filing Second Substitute Seventy-Ninth Revised Sheet No. 3A and Second Substitute Eightieth Revised Sheet No. 3A to its FERC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 1, carrying effective dates of September 1 and October 1, 1981, respectively.

The filing is being submitted pursuant to a Commission Order in the captioned dockets issued October 27, 1981 which accepted for filing a revised PGA rate change effective September 1, 1981. Such Order conditioned acceptance upon the refiling by Mississippi of its September 1 PGA and its October 1, 1981 Docket No. RP81-48 rates to reflect any rate modifications made by certain pipeline suppliers, and to remove unpaid accruals from the deferred account other than those attributable to the normal billing and payment lag.

Mississippi states that copies of its filing have been served on all jurisdictional customers and interested state commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). [Docket No. CP82-63-000]

Montana-Dakota Utilities Co.; Application

December 7, 1981.

Take notice that on November 6, 1981, Montana-Dakota Utilities Co. (Applicant), 400 North Fourth Street, Bismarck, North Dakota 58501, filed in Docket No. CP82-63-000 an application pursuant to Section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of certain pipeline and appurtenant facilities on its interstate natural gas transmission system, all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate the following facilities:

A. A new city gate station to serve the community of Edinburg, North Dakota;

B. A new city gate station to serve the community of Edmore, North Dakota;

C. Four transmission line taps and meter and regulator facilities to serve a new industrial customer, Shell Oil Company, at four different locations in McKenzie County, North Dakota;

D. A city gate station to provide natural gas service to Wyoming Gas Company in Washakie County, Montana;

E. A transmission line tap and meter and regulator facilities to serve a new industrial customer, Centennial Quarry, in Lawrence County, South Dakota;

F. Sixty other transmission line taps and meter and regulator facilities to serve residential and commercial customers at various locations within the certificated service area from transmission mains.

Applicant estimates the total cost to construct the facilities at $171,300 to be financed from internally generated funds and/or interim short-term bank loans.

Applicant states that the service requested would be to consumers within its franchised distribution area and that there are no other natural gas distributors in the area which could provide the service proposed herein.

Applicant explains that each new customer whether from a distribution system or as a direct connection from a transmission main would count as a new connection. Applicant further explains that it would provide service for the five industrial accounts only if its proposed Amendment of Stipulation and Agreement in Settlement of Remaining Issues filed July 10, 1981, is approved and the Commission grants such authority. It is indicated that said amendment is to Applicant's currently effective curtailment plan as approved by the Commission on November 30, 1979, in Docket No. RP76-91.

James F. Scott Oil and Gas; Petition for Withdrawal of Final Well Category Determinations

Issued: December 4, 1981.

Take notice that on August 17, 1981, James F. Scott Oil and Gas (James F. Scott), P.O. Box 112, Salem, West Virginia 26426, filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) a petition to reopen a final well category determination and to withdraw the application for section 108 well category determination under the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 (NGPA) for the well referenced above.

James F. Scott states that incorrect information was erroneously submitted to establish the maximum efficient rate in qualifying the stripper well, in that production for the last six months in the twelve month qualification period was incorrectly stated. Although the determination was terminated April 22, 1981, and no collections pursuant to section 108 were received, James F. Scott requests that the determination be re-opened and the application be formally withdrawn.

With respect to the question of refunds arising out of James F. Scott's request for withdrawal of the subject final well category determination, notice is hereby given that the question of whether refunds, plus interest computed under 18 CFR 154.102(d), will be required is a matter subject to the review and final decision of the Commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest this proceeding should file, on or before January 8, 1982, with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with §§ 1.8 or 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). [Docket No. CP79-425-001]

Southern Natural Gas Co.; Petition To Amend

December 7, 1981.

Take notice that on November 2, 1981, Southern Natural Gas Company (Petitioner), P.O. Box 2563, Birmingham, Alabama 35202, filed in Docket No. CP79-425-001 a petition to amend the order issued December 12, 1979, in the instant docket pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act and § 157.7(b) of the Regulations thereunder (18 CFR 157.7(b)) so as to authorize the construction of a single offshore project in excess of the single-project limitation of $3,500,000, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Petitioner states that by order issued December 12, 1979, it was authorized to construct and operate each year gas purchase facilities with no single offshore project to exceed $3,500,000. Petitioner asserts that it undertook the construction of 2.3 miles of 16-inch pipeline and appurtenant facilities connecting reserves from South Pass Area Block 78, offshore Louisiana, which was estimated to cost $3,300,000. It is stated that delays due to problems attaching the pipeline rises, bad weather and repairs by the producer on its production platform raised the actual cost of construction to approximately $5,300,000. Petitioner, therefore, requests an increase in the single project cost limitation from $3,500,000 to $5,300,000 for construction of the South Pass Area Block 78 pipeline.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said petition to amend should on or before January 4, 1982, file with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Thirty-Eighth Revised Sheet No. 3-A

Trunkline stated that such filing reflects a rate adjustment pursuant to Opinion No. 131 issued September 28, 1981 in Docket No. RP81-72. Ordering Paragraph (B) of that Opinion provides that jurisdictional members of Gas Research Institute (GRI), such as Trunkline, may file a general R&D cost adjustment to be effective January 1, 1982. Trunkline states that copies of its filing have been served on all customers subject to the tariff sheets and applicable state regulatory agencies.

[Project No. 5375-000]

Utah Power & Light Co.; Application for Preliminary Report

December 3, 1981.

Take notice that Utah Power & Light Company (Applicant) filed on September 15, 1981, an application for preliminary permit [pursuant to the Federal Power Act, 16 U.S.C. 791(a)-825(r)] for Project No. 5375 to be known as the Mesa Falls Hydro Project located near the Town of Ashton on Henry's Fork of the Snake River in Fremont County, Idaho. The application is on file with the Commission and is available for public inspection. Correspondence with the Applicant should be directed to: Mr. Sidney G. Baucom, Utah Power & Light Company, 1407 West North Temple, Salt Lake City, Utah 84116.

Project Description—The proposed project would affect lands of the United States within the Targhee National Forest and would consist of two new Developments: A. The Upper Development comprising: (1) a 350-foot long and 7-foot high diverson dam; (2) a reservoir extending about 900 feet upstream; (3) an intake structure; (4) a 9-foot diameter 2,000-foot long penstock; (5) a powerhouse containing generating unit(s) having a total rated capacity of 8,300-kW; (6) a 4,500-foot long 115-kV transmission line; and (7) appurtenant facilities. B. the Lower Development comprising: (1) a 280-foot long and 7-foot high diversion dam; (2) a reservoir extending about 900 feet upstream; (3) an intake structure; (4) a 9-foot diameter 850-foot long penstock; (5) a powerhouse containing generating unit(s) having a total rated capacity of 4,600-kW; and (6) appurtenant facilities.

Project energy would be utilized by Applicant within its service territory. Applicant estimates that the average annual energy output would be 78,000,000 kWh.

Proposed Scope of Studies Under Permit—A preliminary permit, if issued, does not authorize construction. Applicant seeks issuance of a preliminary permit for a period of 36 months, during which time it would conduct field inspections of site locations, prepare detailed designs for facilities and conduct detailed project economic feasibility evaluations. Applicant estimates the cost of the studies under the permit would be $45,000.

Competing Applications—This application was filed as a competing application to Mesa Falls Project No. 3878 filed on April 6, 1981, by Gregory Wilcox under 18 CFR 4.33 (1980). Public notice of the filing of the initial application has already been given and the due date for filing competing applications or notices of intent has passed. Therefore, no further competing applications or notices of intent to file competing applications will be accepted for filing.

Agency Comments—Federal, State, and local agencies are invited to submit comments on the described application. (A copy of the application may be obtained by agencies directly from the Applicant.) If an agency does not file comments within the time set below, it will be presumed to have no comments.

Comments, Protests, or Petitions To Intervene—Anyone may submit comments, a protest, or a petition to intervene in accordance with the requirements of the Rules of Practice and Procedure, 18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10 (1980). In determining the appropriate action to take, the Commission will consider all protests or other comments filed, but only those who file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules may become a party to the proceeding. Any comments, protest, or petition to intervene must be received on or before January 18, 1982.

Filing and Service of Responsive Documents—Any filings must bear in all capital letters the title "COMMENTS", "PROTEST", or "PETITION TO INTERVENE", as applicable, and the Project Number of this notice. Any of the above named documents must be filed by providing the original and those copies required by the Commission's regulations to: Kenneth F. Plumb, Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426. An additional copy must be sent to: Fred E. Springer, Chief Applications Branch, Division of Hydropower Licensing, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Room 208 RB at the above address. A copy of any petition to intervene must also be served upon each representative of the Applicant specified in the first paragraph of this notice.

Secretary.

During the period of October 19, through November 6, 1981, the proposed decisions and orders summarized below were issued by the Office of Hearings and Appeals of the Department of Energy with regard to applications for exception.

Under the procedural regulations that apply to exception proceedings (10 CFR Part 205, Subpart D), any person who will be aggrieved by the issuance of a proposed decision and order in final form may file a written notice of objection within ten days of service. For purposes of the procedural regulations, the date of service of notice is deemed to be the date of publication of this Notice or the date an aggrieved person receives actual notice, whichever occurs first.

The procedural regulations provide that an aggrieved party who fails to file a Notice of Objection within the time period specified in the regulations will be deemed to consent to the issuance of the proposed decision and order in final form. An aggrieved party who wishes to contest a determination made in a proposed decision and order must also file a detailed statement of objections within 30 days of the date of service of the proposed decision and order. In the statement of objections, the aggrieved party must specify each issue of fact or law that it intends to contest in any further proceeding involving the exception matter.

Copies of the full text of these proposed decisions and orders are available in the Public Docket Room of the Office of Hearing and Appeals, Room B–120, 2000 M Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20461, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m., except federal holidays.

Pioneer Refining, Inc., Washington, D.C., BEE–1634 Crude Oil

Pioneer Refining, Inc. filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67. The exception request, if granted would result in the issuance of additional entitlements to the firm for the crude oil which it purchased to establish an increased permanent inventory for a new sour crude refinery located at Nixon, Texas. On November 3, 1981, the Department of Energy issued a Proposed Decision and Order which determined that the exception request be granted. The DOE also issued an Interim order which implemented the relief immediately. (Case No. BEN–0086.)

Placid Co., Refining, Port Allen, Louisiana, BEE–1270 Crude Oil

Placid Refining Co. filed an Application for Exception from the provisions of 10 CFR 211.67. The exception request, if granted would permit Placid Refining Co. to recalculate its small refiner bias entitlements for the months of June through September 1979 and to receive additional entitlements based on the recalculation. On November 6, 1981, the Department of Energy issued a Proposed Decision and Order which determined that the exception request be denied.

[Special Docket No. 81-1]

Temporary Commission on Alternative Financing for Public Telecommunciations; Special Inquiry on Alternative Financing for Public Telecommunications

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

SUMMARY: Action herein institutes a formal inquiry into additional sources of financing for public telecommunications entities. This inquiry will serve as an information gathering device for the Commission's report to Congress on or before July 1, 1982.

DATES: Comments must be filed on or before January 15, 1982, and reply comments must be filed on or before February 15, 1982.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Judith Herman, Federal Communications Commission (202) 632–6302, or Brian Fontes, Federal Communications Commission (202) 632–7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Adopted: November 9, 1981.

Released: November 13, 1981.

By the Temporary Commission on Alternative Financing for Public Telecommunications.

In the matter of special inquiry on alternative financing for public telecommunications; Notice of public inquiry.

1. By publication of this Notice the Temporary Commission on Alternative Financing for Public Telecommunications ("Temporary Commission"), hereby solicits public comment and other information on all matters relating to additional funding sources for public broadcasting. This public inquiry will serve as an information gathering vehicle, and will be an important source of information for the Temporary Commission's July 1, 1982, report to the Congress.[1]

Background

2. The Temporary Commission on Alternative Financing for Public Telecommunications was created by the Public Broadcasting Amendments Act of 1981, which was incorporated into the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1981.[2] The Act requires that a study be conducted "regarding options which may be available to public telecommunications entities, the Public Broadcasting Service, and National Public Radio with respect to the development of sources of revenue in addition to the sources of revenue available to such entities and organizations on the date of the enactment of this Act."[3] As required by statute, this study should "seek to identify funding options which also will ensure that public telecommunications as a source of alternative and diverse programming will be maintained and enhanced, and that public telecommunications services will continue to expand and be available to increasing numbers of citizens throughout the Nation."[4] In addition, this study "also shall seek to determine appropriate means for ensuring that the use of such funding alternatives does not interfere with the content and quality of programming appearing on public television and raido."[5] The Temporary Commission has been given authority to hold hearings and receive testimony as it considers advisable.[6] In so doing, it must seek to obtain testimony and advise of business representatives, persons representing public interest groups, and other persons and organizations with an interest in public broadcasting.[7] The report to the Congress must include an evaluation of each option available to public broadcasting and recommendations for legislative or other action the Temporary Commission considers necessary or appropriate.

3. The Public Broadcasting Amendments Act of 1981 also authorizes the Temporary Commission to engage in an Advertising Demonstration Project involving up to ten public radio and ten public television station licensees. Although the Advertising Demonstration Project is separate from this broad inquiry into alternative financing for public broadcasting, the subject of advertising on public stations is relevant to this proceeding.

General Information

4. The Temporary Commission wishes to gather all relevant information on alternative revenue sources which may be available to public telecommunication entities. In so doing, it recognizes that significant research on this issue already has been undertaken by groups such as the Carnegie Commissions, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, the national organizations of public broadcasting stations, as well as others. The Temporary Commission will consider any existing research which is brought to its attention and may incorporate these in its report and recommendations to the Congress.[8] Each idea set forth in these previous studies will be reappraised and considered in light of present economic and technological circumstances. Persons wishing to present new comments on these previously considered revenue sources are encouraged to do so.

5. The Temporary Commission also has an opportunity to develop and present new ideas to the Congress. The report calls for legislative as well as other recommendations which could involve revenue generating devices now foreclosed to the public broadcasting system because of legal or other restraints. Such ideas are of special interest and are particularly sought in this proceeding. Each alternative funding technique will be examined with respect to its revenue generating potential and its impact on the content and quality of public broadcasting programming.

6. Public broadcasting is funded from a variety of sources with tax-based entities providing the largest block of funds. In 1980, income for public broadcasting equalled approximately 700 million dollars. In recent years, the Federal government has provided approximately 30 percent of total public broadcasting income with state and local governments and state colleges providing an additional 40 percent. The remaining 30 percent is raised directly by public broadcasting from voluntary contributions from the general public ("subscribers"), corporations, foundations, auctions, and private colleges.[9]

7. Public broadcasting derives funds from the Federal government from two major sources. First, the Department of Commerce's Public Telecommunications Facilities Program provides funds directly to individual stations for their equipment purchases. Second, federal funds are distributed through the Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB). Created by the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967, CPB is a private, nonprofit corporation, which receives and then dispenses public and private funds to underwrite the production, acquisition, and distribution of radio and television programs. CPB provides funds directly to stations through Community Service Grants. Stations receiving these funds may use them for activities relating to the provision of telecommunications services. CPB also contracts with National Public Radio (NPR) and Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) for management of the public broadcasting satellite interconnection system. CPB also contracts with NPR to provide public radio programming.[10]

Inquiry

8. The Temporary Commission seeks information relating to sources of revenue that are consistent with public broadcasting's mission and public interest character. In this regard, parties may wish to comment on factors they believe contribute to and sustain public broadcasting as a "source of alternative and diverse programming."[11] We believe this is an appropriate area for inquiry since such factors will influence the choice of recommended funding options. We, therefore, seek comment on the factors which are most important in maintaining the character and prosperity of public broadcasting. Such factors may include:

a. Nature of programming

b. Differences in regulatory treatment (i.e., nonprofit status of licensees)

c. Levels of community service

d. Reliance on multiple source of public and private income (i.e., tax-based sources, contributions)

e. Absence of advertisements

9. Congress requires the Temporary Commission to consider funding alternatives that will support the current level of activity in public broadcasting as well as promote future growth. Thus, the Temporary Commission seeks information about:

A. Public broadcasting's funding requirements through 1990. (Operating costs and capital requirements should be listed separately.)

B. The amount of non-federal support public broadcasting can reasonably expect through 1990, without changes in Federal law or regulation. (Revenues should be listed by source.)[12]

10. Since future funding may not be able to meet public broadcasting's fiscal needs, it is increasingly important to use available funding sources in the most efficient manner possible. Therefore, we solicit answers to the following questions:

A. Are there provisions in existing Federal law or regulation that unduly impede public broadcasters' ability to raise funds from non-federal sources? If so, what are they and how can they be addressed?

B. Are there any legal or regulatory provisions which may unnecessarily restrict the authority of Federal agencies or departments to make grants to public telecommunications organizations for the purpose of distributing information to the public?

C. Are there any Federal regulatory, legal, CPB, or other requirements that increase public broadcasters' costs of operation without providing public benefits in excess of those costs?

D. Are there ways in which public broadcasters could more efficiently use their available resources?

11. We have included, in Appendix A, a list of several specific funding alternatives that has been compiled by members of the Temporary Commission. Also, in Appendix B, specific questions are raised about one alternative. These questions are illustrative of the kinds of concerns that may be raised about many of the other alternatives. We encourage comments on any and all of these alternatives with respect to the revenues they may generate and any possible impact on programming. The alternatives listed in the appendices are meant to be illustrative, not restrictive, and parties should freely propose other alternatives.

12. For each funding source, we ask parties to answer the following questions:

A. Is the funding source capable of generating revenue for both public radio and public television; or is it more specialized?

B. Could the funding source be available to stations individually or would national representation or coordination be necessary?

C. What is the short-term revenue generating potential of the funding source; the long term; for individual stations; for the system as a whole? (These revenue estimates should reflect all direct costs.) What are the potential indirect costs of the funding source? (For example, would exploitation of this source decrease the expected yield from another source?)

D. Would use of the funding source: (1) "ensure that public telecommunications as a source of alternative and diverse programming * * * [is] maintained and enhanced"; (2) "interfere with the content and quality of programming appearing on public television and radio"?[13]

E. Are there legal and/or regulatory barriers to the use of this funding source by public broadcasting entities? If so, what legislative, regulatory, or other action would be needed to eliminate these obstacles?

Procedural Matters

13. Authority for this inquiry is contained in Section 1232(g) of the Public Broadcasting Amendments Act of 1981. Parties are invited to submit comments by January 15, 1982. Reply comments should be submitted by February 15. All material submitted by these dates will be considered by the Temporary Commission before making its final report to the Congress. The Temporary Commission may consider any other relevant material, but interested parties are urged to submit all such material through this public inquiry. Parties should file an original and five copies of all comments and materials. In addition, parties should submit an original and 15 copies of a one page, single spaced abstract of their comments. All material submitted as part of this inquiry will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Federal Communications Commission Public Reference Room (Room 239) in its

[9] Historically, state and local governments and private donations provided for the capital plant and operating cost needs of public broadcasting. Significant federal funding efforts began during the 1960's.

[10] NPR and PBS also provide certain support services including promotion, research, and fund raising.

[11] Pub. L. 97-35, Sec. 1231(a)(2).

[12] It may be the case that recent changes in Federal tax laws will have an impact on public broadcasters' ability to secure contributions from the private sector (i.e., reductions in marginal income tax rates, estate tax deductions and the ability to deduct charitable contributions on the IRS short form). We ask parties, if possible, to discuss any such effects in their estimates.

Appendix A—Alternatives for Financing Public Television and Radio

I. Alternatives Involving Public Broadcasting Subscribers, Contributors, and Underwriters

A. Additional Incentives to Subscribe or Contribute—incentives include tax credits or check-offs, government matching of private contributions, and might require FCC rule changes to allow for more effective over-the-air fundraising.

B. Debt Financing of Public Broadcasting—public broadcasting entities could be authorized to issue tax-free debt instruments guaranteed by the Federal government or by state governments, thus enabling public broadcasting entities to borrow at below-market rates.

II. Over-the-Air Alternatives

A. Advertising—the concept of advertising on public broadcasting stations raises several issues, such as impact on underwriters, subscribers, and type and amount of advertising. The Temporary Commission has authorized a demonstration program involving no more than ten public television and ten public radio licensees. It is anticipated that the demonstration program will address the array of issues surrounding advertising on public broadcast stations, however, public comment is sought on this as an alternative source of funding.

B. Use of ITFS (Instructional Television Fixed Service) and MDS (Multipoint Distribution Service)—lease existing ITFS and MDS facilities for pay programming delivery, business executive training sessions, data transmission, and delivery of programs to libraries and other users.

C. Use of SCA (Subsidiary Communications Authorization)—pay radio service involving specialized programming, or leasing facilities to others wishing to provide specialized services.

D. Subscription Television—pay television service involving over-the-air scrambled signal, with subscribers given equipment to unscramble the signal. (See Appendix B for further discussion.)

III. Alternatives Involving Satellites

Alternatives involving satellites require large, up-front commitments of capital in order to construct and launch satellites. Public broadcasting does not now operate with such a capital base. Thus, these alternatives would require the Federal government and/or private contributors to provide public broadcasting with sufficient funds to invest in satellite communications.

A. Public Broadcasting Satellite System—public broadcasting could construct, launch, and operate one or more satellites, with leasing (or sales) authority for transponders not used by public broadcasting entities.

B. Satellite Brokerage—a public broadcasting entity could act as a satellite broker, leasing a large portion of a system's capabilities and then reselling space to others.

C. Direct Broadcast Satellites (DBS)—public broadcasting either could own a direct broadcast satellite and sell time on it to others, or could sell its programs to one or more DBS operators. Public broadcasting could be permitted to provide a subscription television channel on a DBS.

D. Teleconferencing—existing station facilities, uplink, receiving stations, and transponder capacity could provide clients with the ability to conduct a simultaneous conference, seminar, training session, or the like at two or more locations.

E. Lease of Excess Transponder and Terminal Capacity—service could be offered on an end-to-end basis, or there could be separate leasing of uplinks, ground receiving stations, and transponders; potential customers include advertising agencies (e.g., Blairsat), video programmers, and communications common carriers (e.g., Western Union).

IV. Cable Television Alternatives

A. Provision of a Subscription Pay Cable Service—public broadcasting entities could provide, through cable operators, one or more channels for subscription programming (e.g., PACE).

B. Cable System Ownership—public broadcasting entities could construct and operate one or more local cable systems.

C. Operation of One or More Cable Channels—for a fee, public broadcasting entities could agree to operate, on behalf of cable franchisees, municipal channels, public access channels, instructional and school channels, etc.

V. Alternatives Involving Video and Audio Tapes and Discs

Public broadcasting could put its program library into marketable form and offer to sell or lease the library to the general public or to selected groups (e.g., universities).

VI. Teletext and Videotext Alternatives

A. Delivery of Newspapers, Advertisements (Electronic Yellow Pages), Government Announcements, and Other Print-Related Materials—the broadcast vertical blanking interval or cable could be used to deliver print material to home or office television.

B. Service for the Hearing-Impaired—captioning for the deaf could be provided over-the-air or over cable.

VII. Alternatives Involving Station Equipment and Facilities

A. Video and Audio Taping of Significant Events—microphones, mobile cameras and station production facilities could be used to provide videotapes for profit of private events such as business meetings, weddings, birthday parties, and testimonial dinners.

B. Commercial Production—video and audio program producers could lease public broadcasting studios, cameras, and other facilities to produce programs for commercial distribution.

C. Leasing of Selected Equipment and Crews—in covering a news story in a romote location, major market commercial television and radio stations may find it more economical to rent crews and equipment from a local public television or radio station than to use their own.

D. Equipment Maintenance and Repair—public broadcasting technicians are qualified to maintain and repair a full range of video and audio equipment, including satellite earth stations; service could be provided on a long- or short-term basis.

Appendix B—Subscription Television Alternative

Subscription, or pay, television (STV) involves scrambling the over-the-air signal so that only those television sets equipped with an unscrambling device can receive the signal. By charging a fee for the unscrambling device, broadcasters can obtain financial support directly from viewers. Standard over-the-air broadcasting cannot similarly force consumers to "purchase" their viewing time because they cannot prevent non-payers from receiving the signal. Thus, permitting public television station licensees to provide STV service should enable them to raise additional funds from the viewing public. (FCC regulations now proscribe public broadcasters from providing STV.)[1]

Further, the STV option need not be an all-or-nothing choice. A public broadcaster could provide a mix of STV and regular over-the-air programming. For example, STV could make up only part of the broadcast day of a station. Or, a public licensee might provide STV on one station in order to financially support the programming of another station. Another decisional parameter is whether the noncommercial restrictions that are now placed on public broadcasting programming should also apply to their STV programming. It may be the case that commercially oriented STV could raise more funds for public broadcasting than noncommercial fare.

The STV options discussed above may generate revenue for public television but may present some public interest concerns. We therefore raise the following questions:

1. Should public broadcasting be permitted to provide noncommercial STV? Can public

[1] STV is similar in many ways to other pay telecommunications services, and to that extent the questions raised here are applicable to all such services. However, STV uses the broadcast spectrum for program delivery while some other pay services do not (e.g., pay cable television). This distinction leads to different public interest concerns for the FCC and other regulators which could be addressed in the comments.

broadcasters continue to fulfill their responsibility to provide noncommercial programming to the public (i.e., both subscribers and non-subscribers) if STV is permitted for all or part of the broadcast day? Would the response be different if a television station was expected to go off-the-air without some STV revenue?

2. Should public broadcasting be permitted to provide STV programming of a commercial nature? Can public broadcasters continue to fulfill their responsibility to provide non-commercial programming to the public (i.e., both subscribers and non-subscribers) if commercial STV programming is permitted for part of the broadcast day? Can they do so if a public broadcast licensee is permitted to provide full-time commercial STV programming on one of its stations while providing full-time noncommercial programming over its other station(s)? Would the response be different if a public television station was expected to go off-the-air (or, alternatively, never come on-the-air) if it were not permitted one of the options discussed above?

Bureau of Land Management

[Serial No. AA-045553]

Alaska; Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands; Tongass National Forest

November 3, 1981.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Forest Service filed application, serial number AA–045553, on October 27, 1981, for the withdrawal of the following described lands from settlement, sale, location, or entry, under all of the general land laws, including the mining laws subject to valid existing rights for a term of twenty years:

Tongass National Forest, Copper River Meridian, Alaska Lots 1–3 of U.S. Survey Number 3758, situated on Glacier Loop Road fourteen miles northwest of Juneau, Alaska. Containing 22.51 acres.

The applicant agency desires that the lands be withdrawn and reserved for the future expansion of the Forest Service administrative facility which will include housing, warehouse and office space.

All persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) on or before January 8, 1982.

Pursuant to section 204(h) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, notice is hereby given that an opportunity for a public hearing is afforded in connection with the proposed withdrawal. All interested persons who desire to be heard on the proposed withdrawal must submit a written request for a hearing to the State Director, Bureau of Land Management, 701 C Street, Box 13, Anchorage, Alaska 99513, on or before January 8, 1982. Notice of the public hearing will be published in the Federal Register giving the time and place of such hearing. The public hearing will be scheduled and conducted in accordance with BLM Manual, section 2351.16 B.

The Department of the Interior's regulations provide that the authorized officer of the BLM will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demands for the lands and their resources. He will also undertake negotiations with the applicant agency with the view of assuring that the area sought is the minimum concurrent utilization of the lands for purposes other than the applicant's and reaching agreement on the concurrent management of the lands and their resources.

The authorized officer will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn and reserved as requested by the applicant agency. The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the Federal Register. The Secretary's determination shall, in proper case, be subject to the provisions of section 204(c) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, 90 Stat. 2752.

Effective on the date of publication of this notice, the above-described lands shall be segregated from the operation of the public land laws, including the mining laws, to the extent that the withdrawal applied for, if and when effected, would prevent any form of disposal or appropriation under such laws. The segregative effect of this proposed withdrawal shall continue for a period of two years, unless sooner terminated by action of the Secretary of the Interior. Current administrative jurisdiction over the segregated lands will not be affected by the temporary segregation. If the withdrawal is approved, the segregation will continue for the duration of the withdrawal.

V 46 / 236 DEC 9 1981 UMI

All communications (except for public hearing requests) in connection with this proposed withdrawal should be addressed to the Chief, Branch of Lands and Minerals Operations, Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, 701 C Street, Box 13, Anchorage, Alaska 99513.

November 30, 1981.

The following described lands have been determined to be suitable for disposal by exchange under section 206 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, 43 U.S.C. 1716:

Mount Diablo Meridian, Nevada

T. 16N., R. 44 E.,
Sec. 10, SE¼
Sec. 11, E½, SE¼NW¼, SW¼;
Sec. 12, SW¼NW¼, SW¼;

Sec. 22, NE¼NW¼, W½W½;
Sec. 23, E½NW¼NE¼, SE¼NE¼;
Sec. 24, NE¼, NE¼NW¼, SW¼SW¼.

Comprising 2,593.02 acres of public land.

In exchange for these lands, the United States will acquire the following described lands from Telford Work:

Mount Diablo Meridian, Nevada

T. 31 N., R. 46 E.,
Sec. 11, N½, SE¼;
Sec. 13, SW¼NE¼, W½, W½SE¼;
Sec. 23, all;
Sec. 27, SE¼NE¼, SE¼.
T. 31 N., R. 47 E.,
Sec. 17, all, except 2.48 acre parcel in NW¼SE¼;
Sec. 19, all;
Sec. 29, all;
Sec. 31, Lots 1 and 2, E½, E½NW¼.

Comprising 4,123.57 acres of private land.

The purpose of this exchange is to acquire the non-Federal lands which have high public values for wildlife habitat. These lands are considered to have high values as chukar habitat and mule deer winter range. The present ownership patter is a private/public checkerboard as a result of a land grant to a railroad. The exchange will cause blocked public ownership and facilitate effective public land management. The public interest will be well served by completing the exchange.

The values of the land to be exchanged are approximately equal; full equalization of values will be achieved by payment to the United States by Telford Work of funds in an amount not to exceed 25% of the total value of the lands to be transferred out of Federal ownership.

Patent, when issued, will contain the following reservations to the United States:

1. A right-of-way thereon for ditches and canals constructed by the authority of the United States. Act of August 30, 1890, 26 Stat. 391; 43 U.S.C. 945.

2. All mineral deposits in the lands so patented, and to it, or persons authorized by it, the right to prospect, mine, and remove such deposits from the same under applicable law and such regulations as the Secretary of the Interior may prescribe.

And will be subject to:

1. Those rights for irrigation ditch purposes which have been granted to Theodore K. Young, his successors or assigns, by Permit No. Nev–064382, under the Act of March 3, 1891, 26 Stat. 1101, 43 U.S.C. 946–949.

2. Those rights for highway purposes which have been granted to the Nevada State Highway Department, its successors or assigns, by Permit No. CC–022622, under the Act of November 9, 1921, 42 Stat. 212.

3. Those rights granted by oil and gas leases, N–18304, N–18305, N–18308 and N–18309, made under Section 29 of the Act of February 25, 1920, 41 Stat. 437 and the Act of March 4, 1933, 47 Stat. 1570.

National Environmental Policy Act Revised Implementing Instructions

AGENCY: Department of the Interior, Secretary.

ACTION: Notice of proposed revised instructions for the Bureau of Land Management.

SUMMARY: This notice proposes additions to the actions categorically excluded from the NEPA process for the Bureau of Land Management. The current categorical exclusions were published in the Federal Register on January 23, 1981 (46 FR 7492).

DATE: Comments due by January 25, 1982.

ADDRESS: Comments to J. Robinson West, Assistant Secretary—Policy, Budget and Administration, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Bruce Blanchard, Director of Environmental Project Review, Office of the Secretary, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240, Telephone (202) 343–3891. For Bureau of Land Management contact Alan Stein, Telephone (202) 653–8830.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This is a proposed revision to Section 5.4 of Appendix 5 to Chapter 6, Part 516 of the Departmental Manual (516 DM 6, App. 5.4). It adds to the categorical exclusions previously published in the Federal Register on January 23, 1981 [46 FR 7492]. The categorical exclusions must be taken in conjunction with the Department's NEPA procedures (especially 516 DM 2) which were published in the Federal Register on April 23, 1980 (45 FR 47941).

These proposed additional categorical exclusions are based on continued experience with the NEPA process. They will result in a reduction in unnecessary paperwork for actions which have not in the past and will not in the future cause significant environmental impacts. Reviewers are reminded that the Departmental exceptions listed in 516 DM 2A(3) apply to these additions.

We would also like to bring to your attention a typographical error which appeared in the Federal Register notice of January 23, 1981. Section 5.4B(3) should read "* * * there has not been a serious interest * * *" This error does not appear in the Departmental Manual release #2316 of January 19, 1981.

Comments on this proposal are invited. To be considered in the preparation of the final revision, comments must be received by January 25, 1981.

Dated: December 4, 1981.

Bruce Blanchard,

Director Environmental Project Review.

Receipt of Amendment To Petition for Designation of Lands as Unsuitable for Surface Coal Mining Operations; Texas AGENCY: Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of receipt of amendment to petition for designation of lands as unsuitable for surface coal mining operations and request for comments.

SUMMARY: On October 16, 1981, John R. Prager of Route 1, Elgin, Texas, submitted to the Office of Surface Mining (OSM) a request to amend by approximately 7,100 acres of Federal lands the 2,375 acres of Federal lands located in Camp Swift, Bastrop County, Texas, that on August 7, 1981, were petitioned to be designated unsuitable for surface mining of coal. The petition was submitted pursuant to section 522 of the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 (The Act) 30 U.S.C. 1272). On September 10, 1981, OSM determined the petition to be complete. Public notices concerning receipt of the complete petition were published in various newspapers and on page 49963 of the Federal Register, Volume 46, No. 195, dated October 8, 1981. The amendment request was accepted by OSM on November 16, 1981. Information on which the base analyses of the issues raised by the amendment is being sought from all interested parties.

DATE: Comments should be received by March 1, 1982.

ADDRESSES: Comments and requests for copies of the amendment should be sent to: Richard E. Dawes, Deputy Administrator, Western Technical Service Center, Office of Surface Mining, either at 818 Grand Ave., Scarritt Bldg., Kansas City, MO 64106, or at 1020—15th St., Denver, CO 80202.

A public record has been established for public inspection during normal business hours at the following locations;

Bastrop County Public Library, 1008 Water Street, Bastrop, Texas 78602

U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining, 818 Grand Ave., Scarritt Bldg., Kansas City, Missouri 64106

U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of Surface Mining, Room 135, South Interior, 1951 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20240

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Richard E. Dawes or Dennis Haag, Western Technical Service Center, Office of Surface Mining, either at Kansas City or Denver as listed under "ADDRESSES."

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The petitioner cites in the amendment the original allegations, which are summarized in the Federal Register notice of October 8, 1981, and the following:

1. The area contains over 1,000 acres of lands classified as "prime farmland."

2. The area contains at least five cemeteries.

The location and description of the original petition are are given in the Federal Register notice of October 8, 1981.

The amendment area is also located in Bastrop County, is adjacent to and west of the petitioned area, and is described as approximately the remaining portion of the Camp Swift KRCRA (Known Recoverable Coal Resource Area) consisting of, more or less, 7,100 acres. The amended public lands are described as Corps of Engineers Tract Numbers A–21, A–22, A–31, A–37, D–131, D–133, D–137, D–138, D–139, D140, D–141, D–142, D–145, D–146, D–146A, D–147, D–151, D–152, D–153, D–165, D–166, D–171, G–104, G–193, G–308, G–309, G–314, G–315, G–316, G–316, G–318, G–319, G–320, G–321, G–322, G–323, G–324, G–325, G–326, G–327, G–328, G–329, G–330, G–331, G–332, G–350, OT–100.

The allegations of the amendment pertain to environmental resource parameters either already scheduled for evaluation in conjunction with the petition or scheduled for evaluation in conjunction with other Federal government investigations. Therefore, the allegations pertaining to the amended acres of Federal lands are to be evaluated within the time frame for processing the originally petitioner Federal lands.

After reviewing and analyzing available information, OSM will issue a draft evaluation document which will be available for public review. This will be followed by a public hearing held near the area covered by the petition. Notice of the time and place of the hearing will be announced at a later date.

After completion of the analyses and public hearing, the Department of the Interior may designate the area or a portion thereof as unsuitable for all or certain types of surface coal mining operations. The agency may also decline to designate all or any part of the area as unsuitable. A decision will be made by August 7, 1982.

The following applications, filed on or after February 9, 1981, are governed by Special Rule of the Commission's Rules of Practice, see 49 CFR 1100.251. Special Rule 251 was published in the Federal Register of December 31, 1980, at 45 FR 86771. For compliance procedures, refer to the Federal Register issue of December 3, 1980, at 45 FR 80109.

Persons wishing to oppose an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1100.252. A copy of any application, including all supporting evidence, can be obtained from applicant's representative upon request and payment to applicant's representative of $10.00.

Amendments to the request for authority are not allowed. Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the Commission's policy of simplifying grants of operating authority.

Findings

With the exception of those applications involving duly noted problems (e.g., unresolved common control, fitness, water carrier dual operations, or jurisdictional questions) we find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated a public need for the proposed operations and that it is fit, willing, and able to perform the service proposed, and to conform to the requirements of Title 49, Subtitle IV, United States Code, and the Commission's regulations. This presumption shall not be deemed to exist where the application is opposed. Except where noted, this decision is neither a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment nor a major regulatory action under the Energy Policy and Conservation Act of 1975.

In the absence of legally sufficient opposition in the form of verified statements filed on or before 45 days from date of publication, (or, if the application later becomes unopposed) appropriate authorizing documents will be issued to applicants with regulated operations (except those with duly noted problems) and will remain in full effect only as long as the applicant maintains appropriate compliance. The unopposed applications involving new entrants will be subject to the issuance of an effective notice setting forth the compliance requirements which must be satisfied before the authority will be issued. Once this compliance is met the authority will be issued.

Within 60 days after publication an applicant may file a verified statement in rebuttal to any statement in opposition.

To the extent that any of the authority granted may duplicate an applicant's other authority, the duplication shall be construed as conferring only a single operating right.

Note.—all applications are for authority to operate as a motor common carrier in interstate or foreign commerce over irregular routes, unless noted otherwise. Applications for motor contract carrier authority are those where service is for a named shipper "under contract."

Motor Carriers; Permanent Authority Decisions; Restriction Removals; Decision-Notice

Decided: December 3, 1981.

The following restriction removal applications, filed after December 28, 1980, are governed by 49 CFR 1137. Part 1137 was published in the Federal Register of December 31, 1980, at 45 FR 86747.

Persons wishing to file a comment to an application must follow the rules under 49 CFR 1137.12. A copy of any application can be obtained from any applicant upon request and payment to applicant of $10.00.

Amendments to the restriction removal applications are not allowed.

Some of the applications may have been modified prior to publication to conform to the special provisions applicable to restriction removal.

Findings

We find, preliminarily, that each applicant has demonstrated that its requested removal of restrictions or broadening of unduly narrow authority is consistent with 49 U.S.C 10922(h).

In the absence of comments filed within 25 days of publication of this decision-notice, appropriate reformed authority will be issued to each applicant. Prior to beginning operations under the newly issued authority, compliance must be made with the normal statutory and regulatory requirements for common and contract carriers.

By the Commission, Restriction Removal Board, Members Sporn, Ewing, and Shaffer.

Secretary.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE COMMISSION

[Investigation No. 701–TA–79]

Suspension of Countervailing Duty Investigation Concerning Sodium Gluconate From the European Economic Community

AGENCY: International Trade Commission.

ACTION: Suspension of countervailing duty investigation on sodium gluconate from the European Economic Community (EEC).

SUMMARY: On November 24, 1981, the United States Department of Commerce notified the Commission that pursuant to section 704(f)(1)(A) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1671c) it had suspended the countervailing duty investigation involving sodium gluconate from the European Economic Community. The basis for the suspension is an agreement between the Department of Commerce and Joh A. Benckiser (Benckiser), a manufacturer and exporter of sodium gluconate in the Federal Republic of Germany that accounts for substantially all of the imported merchandise. This agreement completely offsets the subsidy. As a result of this action by the Department of Commerce, the Commission is required by section 704(f)(1) (B) and (C) of the Tariff Act of 1930 to suspend its investigation effective December 9, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Woodley Timberlake, Office of Investigations, telephone 202–523–4618.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On June 16, 1981, a petition was filed simultaneously with the Department of Commerce (the administering authority) and the U.S. International Trade Commission by Pfizer, Inc., alleging that sodium gluconate imported from the EEC benefits from the payment or bestowal of bounties or grants within the meaning of the countervailing duty laws of the United States. On July 31, 1981, the Commission notified Commerce of its preliminary determination that there is a reasonable indication that an industry in the United States is materially injured, or threatened with material injury, by reason of the importation of the merchandise in question. On September 9, 1981, Commerce preliminary determined that the EEC is subsidizing the manufacture, production, and exportation of sodium gluconate within the meaning of the countervailing duty laws. Commerce directed the U.S. Customs Service to suspend liquidation of entries of the merchandise entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, and to require a cash deposit, bond, or other security in the amount of $107.05 per metric ton (the estimated amount of the net subsidy) to be posted on this merchandise.

On October 30, 1981, Commerce published in the Federal Register a notice of proposal to suspend the investigation on the basis of an agreement proposed on behalf of Benckiser. The basis of the proposed suspension agreement was contained in a letter to Commerce dated August 14, 1981, in which Benckiser agreed to renounce all export restitution payments on sales of sodium gluconate to the United States effective August 18, 1981.

Issued: November 30, 1981.

By order of the Commission.

Secretary.

BILLING CODE 7020-02-M

[Investigation No. 104-TAA-5]

Termination of Countervailing Duty Investigation Concerning Ski Lifts and Parts Thereof From Italy

AGENCY: International Trade Commission.

ACTION: Termination of countervailing duty investigation under section 104(b)(1) of the Trade Agreements Act of 1979, with regard to ski lifts and parts thereof from Italy.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 30, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Stephen Miller, Office of Investigations, telephone number (202) 523-0305.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Trade Agreements Act of 1979, subsection 104(b)(1), requires the Commission in the case of a countervailing duty order issued under section 303 of the Tariff Act of 1930, upon the request of a government or group of exporters of merchandise covered by the order, to conduct an investigation to determine whether an industry in the United States would be materially injured, or threatened with material injury, or whether the establishment of such an industry would be materially retarded, if the order were to be revoked. On March 28, 1980, the Commission received a request from the Delegation of the Commission of the European Communities for the review of the outstanding countervailing duty order on ski lifts and parts thereof from Italy (T.D. 68-288).

The Commission instituted an investigation on ski lifts and parts thereof from Italy on August 10, 1981 (46 FR 42220). A prehearing conference was held on October 1, 1981, however, no persons other than Commission staff attended or otherwise participated. On October 7, 1981, the Commission was notified by letter that Hall Ski-Lift Co., the original and only petitioner for the countervailing duty order, wished to withdraw its petition on ski lifts because of minimal imports from Italy in recent years.

There is no provision in the Trade Agreements Act of 1979, or in its legislative history, specifically permitting termination of a section 104(b) investigation. However, authority to terminate such investigations is implied under section 704(a) of the Tariff Act of 1930. Section 704(a) permits termination of countervailing duty investigations properly instituted under Title VII of the Tariff Act of 1930. Section 704(a) directs the Commission to solicit public comment prior to termination and approve termination only if it is in the public interest.

On October 19, 1981, the Commission published a notice in the Federal Register (46 FR 51326) requesting public comment by November 18, 1981 on the proposed termination of the Commission investigation on ski lifts and parts thereof from Italy. No adverse comments were received in response to the Commission's notice. Thus, the Commission deems it to be in the public interest to terminate this investigation in light of the withdrawal of the petition by the original petitioner and by lack of interest in the continuance of the investigation by any interested parties.

The Commission is therefore terminating its investigation (Inv. No. 104-TAA-5) under section 104(b)(1) of the Trade Agreements Act of 1979 on ski lifts and parts thereof from Italy (T.D. 68-288). The termination of this investigation has the same effect as a determination that an industry in the United States would not be materially injured or threatened with material injury, nor would the establishment of such an industry be materially retarded, if the countervailing duty order were to be revoked.

In addition to publishing this Federal Register notice, the Commission is serving a copy of this notice on all persons who have written the agency in connection with this investigation and is also notifying the Department of Commerce of its action in this case.

Issued: November 30, 1981.

By order of the Commission.

Kenneth R. Mason,

Secretary.

AGENCY: Department of Justice.

ACTION: Annual publication of Privacy Act issuances.

SUMMARY: Federal agencies are required by the Privacy Act of 1974 to give annual notice of records they maintain from which information is retrieved by name or other personal identifier. Accordingly, the Department of Justice published on September 30, 1977 in Federal Register Volume 42 a notice of all Department systems of records. Subsequently, the Department published the following annual updates:

1. September 28, 1978, Federal Register Volume 43, page 44676;

3. November 17, 1980, Federal Register Volume 45, page 75898.

Later, for the convenience of the public, the Office of the Federal Register issued a publication which combined the 1977 notice and all subsequent updates into a single document entitled "Privacy Act Issuances—1980 Compliation, Volume II." This document reflected all systems of records issued through December 31, 1980.

Now, by way of this notice, the Department is publishing its 1981 annual update which reflects only those systems which have been added or amended during 1981 and those we propose to amend or delete at this time.

To date the Department's Foreign Claims Settlement Commission (FCSC) has published its annual update separately. However, this notice incorporates the Commission's 1981 annual update and all previous updates by giving notice that the Commission has not established or revised any systems since that published along with its annual update of March 26, 1981 in Federal Register Volume 46, page 18789. (The public may review all FCSC systems of records published through December 31, 1980 in a document published by the Office of the Federal Register entitled "Privacy Act Issuances—1980 Compilation, Volume IV.")

The compilations and the 1981 annual updates may be examined at Regional Depository Libraries at 50 locations around the country. The compilations may also be examined at Federal Information Centers at 38 locations around the country.

Published here are:

—Part I: a table of contents listing all the systems of records published here in full text;

—Part II: the full text of systems of records which the Department amended during the year, and the full text of new systems of records which the Department established during the year;

—Part III: the full text of systems of records which the Department now proposes to amend; and —Part IV: notice that the Office of the Associate Attorney General proposes to delete a duplicate notice of a system of records and the Office of Justice Assistance, Research and Statistics proposes to delete a system of records.

(1) The main record of the system is the official case file which is retained on each case under the jurisdiction of the Civil Division except for those cases for which files are maintained in the Civil Division Case File System: Field Office, Customs Litigation, Commercial Litigation Branch and the Office of Alien Property File System and constitutes the official record of the Department of Justice. All record material relating to a case is retained in the file. Each case is assigned a number comprised of the category designation for the subject matter, the code number for the judicial district where the action originated, and the number of cases of that category which have arisen in that district.

(2) Alphabetical and numerical indices are utilized as a means of access to the proper file by the cross-referencing of the names of all parties to a suit with the file number. Forms CV-54 and carbon-interleaf index cards are used in these indices.

(3) An automated record of selected data which has been extracted from each case file is maintained on magnetic diskettes and magnetic tapes in order to follow the progress of all Division cases and to obtain statistical data for monthly and fiscal reports.

(4) An automated record, maintained on magnetic disketts and tapes, contains the names of employees and the allocation of their time according to the kind of work activity and the case on which the work was performed.

Release of information to the news media: information permitted to be released to the news media and the public pursuant to 26 C.F.R. 50.2 may be made available from systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice unless it is determined that release of the specific information in the context of a particular case would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Release of information to Members of Congress: Information contained in systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice, not otherwise required to be released pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information on behalf of and at the request of the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of information to the National Archives and Records Service: A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) in records management inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

STORAGE:

(1) The case files utilize standard file jackets and are retained in electronic, rotary power files; or in standard file cabinets. (2) The alphabetical and numerical index cards are retained in standard file cabinets. (3) Automated records are maintained on magnetic diskettes and magnetic tapes. (4) Automated records on employee time use are maintained on magnetic diskettes and magnetic tapes.

RETRIEVABILITY:

The files must be retrieved by file number. The file number can be ascertained from the alphabetical index if the name of any party to the suit is known. Automated case records can be retrieved by Department of Justice case number, plaintiffs name, defendant's name, or Civil division attorney's name. Automated employee time-use records are retrievable by employee name. Department of Justice case number, case caption, type of case, and kind of work activity.

SAFEGUARDS:

Information contained in the system is unclassified. However, only attorneys who have their names recorded in the File Unit can be issued a case file. Mimimal information about a case is provided from the various indices to telephone callers, since there is a problem with indentifying the identity of a caller. If a party desires detailed information, he is referred directly to the attorney of record.

Automated employee time-use records are safeguarded and protected in accordance with Department rules and procedures governing the handling of computerized information. Access to employee time-use records is limited to Civil division employees needing access to those records to perform their official duties. Individual employees have access to their personal records through regular reports or through requests.

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

When a case file is closed by the responsible attorney, it is sent to the Federal Records Center for retention in accordance with the authorized Record Disposal Schedule for the classification of the case. Such schedules are approved by the National Archives.

After the designated period has passed, the file is destroyed. However, the index and docket cards are not purged. Automated employee time-use records constitute a cumulative resource file for which there are no plans to delete records.

Release of information to the news media: Information permitted to be released to the news media and the public pursuant to 28 CFR 50.2 may be made available from systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice unless it is determined that release of the specific information in the context of a particular case would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Release of information to Members of Congress: Information contained in systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice, not otherwise required to be released pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information on behalf of and at the request of the

SAFEGUARDS:

Data stored in the NCIC is documented criminal justice agency information and access to that data is restricted to duly authorized criminal justice agencies. The following security measures are the minimum to be adopted by all criminal justice agencies having access to the NCIC Computerized Criminal History File. These measures are designed to prevent unauthorized access to the system data and/or unauthorized use of data obtained from the computerized file.

1. Computer Center: a. The criminal justice agency computer site must have adequate physical security to protect against any unauthorized personnel gaining access to the computer equipment or to any of the stored data. b. Since personnel at these computer centers can access data stored in the system, they must be screened thoroughly under the authority and supervision of an NCIC control terminal agency. (This authority and supervision may be delegated to responsible criminal justice agency personnel in the case of a satellite computer center being serviced through a state control terminal agency.) This screening will also apply to non-criminal justice maintenance or technical personnel. c. All visitors to these computer centers must be accompanied by staff personnel at all time. d. Computers having access to the NCIC must have the proper computer instructions written and other built-in controls to prevent criminal history data from being accessible to any terminals other than authorized terminals. e. Computers having access to the NCIC must maintain a record of all transactions against the criminal history file in the same manner the NCIC computer logs all transactions. The NCIC identifies each specific agency entering or receiving information and maintains a record of those transactions. This transaction record must be monitored and reviewed on a regular basis to detect any possible misuse of criminal history data. f. Each state control terminal shall build its data system around a central computer, through which each inquiry must pass for screening and verification. The configuration and operation of the center shall provide for the integrity of the data base.

2. Communications: a. Lines/channels being used to transmit criminal history informtion must be dedicated solely to criminal justice use, i.e., there must be no terminals belonging to agencies outside the criminal justice system sharing these lines/channels. b. Physical security of the lines/channels must be protected to guard against clandestine devices being utilized to intercept of inject system traffic.

3. Terminal Devices Having Access to NCIC; a. All agencies having terminals on the system must be required to physically place these terminals in secure locations within the authorized agency. b. The agencies having terminals with access to criminals history must have terminal operators screened and restrict access to the terminal to a minimum number of authorized employees. c. Copies of criminal history data obtained from terminal devices must be afforded security to prevent any unauthorized access to or use of that data. d. All remote terminals on NCIC Computerized Criminal History will maintain a hard copy of computerized criminal history inquiries with notations of individual making request for record (90 days).

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

Unless otherwise removed, records will be retained in file as follows:

1. Vehicle File: a. Unrecovered stolen vehicle records (including snowmobile records) which do not contain vehicle identification numbers (VIN) therein, will be purged from file 90 days after the end of the license plate's expiration year as shown in the record. Unrecovered stolen vehicle records (including snowmobile records) which contain VIN's will remain in file for the year of entry plus 4. b. Unrecovered vehicles wanted in conjunction with a felony will remain in file for 90 days after entry. In the event a longer retention period is desired, the vehicle must be reentered. c. Unrecovered stolen VIN plates, certificates or origin or title, and serially numbered stolen vehicles engines or transmissions will remain in file for the year of entry plus 4.

be automatically removed from file after 48 hours).

Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, J. Edgar Hoover F.B.I. Building, 9th and Pennsylvania Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20535.

NOTIFICATION PROCEDURES:

Same as the above.

RECORD ACCESS PROCEDURE:

It is noted the Attorney General is exempting this system from the access and contest procedures of the Privacy Act. However, the following alternative procedures are available to a requester. The procedures by which an individual may obtain a copy of his computerized Criminal History are as follows:

If an individual has a criminal record supported by fingerprints and that record has been entered in the NCIC CCH File, it is available to that individual for review, upon presentation of appropriate identification, and in accordance with applicable State and Federal administrative and statutory regulations.

Appropriate identification includes being fingerprinted for the purpose of insuring that he is the individual that he purports to be. The record on file will then be verified as his through comparison of fingerprints.

Procedure 1. All requests for review must be made by the subject of his record through a law enforcement agency which has access to the NCIC CCH File. That agency within statutory or regulatory limits can require additional identification to assist in securing a positive identification.

2. If the cooperating law enforcement agency can make an identification with fingerprints previously taken which are in file locally and if the FBI identification number of the individual's record is available to that agency, it can make an on-line inquiry of NCIC to obtain his record on-line or, if it does not have suitable equipment to obtain an on-line response, obtain the record from Washington, D.C., by mail. The individual will then be afforded the opportunity to see that record.

3. Should the cooperating law enforcement agency not have the individual's fingerprints on file locally, it is necessary for that agency to relate his prints to an existing record by having his identification prints compared with those already on file in the FBI or possibly, in the State's central identification agency.

CONTESTING RECORD PROCEDURES:

The subject of the requested record shall request the appropriate arresting agency, court, or correctional agency to initiate action necessary to correct any stated inaccuracy in his record or provide the information needed to make the record complete.

RECORD SOURCE CATEGORIES:

Information contained in the NCIC system is obtained from local, State, Federal and international criminal justice agencies.

Records Maintained in FBI Field Divisions—FBI field divisions maintain for limited periods of time investigative, administrative and correspondence records, including files, index cards and related material, some of which are duplicated copies of reports and similar documents for forwarded to FBI Headquarters. Most investigative activities conducted by FBi field divisions are reported to FBI Headquarters at one or more stages of the investigation. There are, however, investigative activities wherein no reporting was made to FBI Headquarters, e.g., pending cases not as yet reported and cases which were closed in the field division for any of a number of reasons without reporting to FBI Headquarters.

Duplicate records and records which extract information reported in the main files are also kept in the various divisions of the FBI to assist them in their day-to-day operation. These records are lists of individuals which contain certain biographic data, including physical description and photograph. They may also contain information concerning activities of the individual as reported to FBIHQ by the various field offices. The establishment of these lists is necessitated by the needs of the Divisions to have immediate access to pertinent information duplicative of data found in the Central Records without the delay caused by a time-consuming manual search of central indices. The manner of segregating these individuals varies depending on the particular needs of the FBI Division. The information pertaining to individuals who are a part of the list is derivative of information contained in the Central Records System. These duplicative records fall into the following categories:

(1) Listings of individuals used to assist in the location and apprehension of individuals for whom legal process is outstanding (fugitives);

(2) Listings of individuals used in the identification of particular offenders in cases where the FBI has jurisdiction. These listings include various photograph albums and background data concerning persons who have been formerly charged with a particular crime and who may be suspect in similar criminal activities; and photographs of individuals who are unknown but suspected of involvement in a particular criminal activity, for example, bank surveillance photographs;

(3) Listings of individuals as part of an overall criminal intelligence effort by the FBI. This would include photograph albums, lists of individuals known to be involved in criminal activity, including theft from interstate shipment, interstate transportation of stolen property, and individuals in the upper echelon of organized crime;

(4) Listings of individuals in connection with the FBI's mandate to carry out Presidential directives on January 8, 1943, July 24, 1950, December 15, 1953, and February 18, 1976, which designated the FBI to carry out investigative work in matters relating to espionage, sabotage, and foreign counterintelligence. These listings may include photograph albums and other listings containing biographic data regarding individuals. This would include lists of identified and suspected foreign intelligence agents and informants;

(5) Special indices duplicative of the central indices used to access the Central Records System have been created from time to time in conjunction with the administration and investigation of major cases. This duplication and segregation facilities access to documents prepared in connection with major cases.

In recent years, as the emphasis on the investigation of white collar crime, organized crime, and hostile foreign intelligence operations has increased, the FBI has been confronted with increasingly complicated cases, which require more intricate information processing capabilities. Since these complicated investigations frequently involve massive volumes of evidence and other investigative information, the FBI uses its computers, when necessary, to collate, analyze, and retrieve investigative information in the most accurate and expeditious manner possible. It should be noted that all investigative information, which is placed in computerized form, is actually extracted from the main files and that the duplicative computerized information is only maintained as necessary to support the FBI's investigative activities. Information from these internal computerized subsystems of the "Central Records System" is not accessed by any other agency. All disclosures of computerized information are made in printed form in accordance with the routine uses which are set forth below.

Records also are maintained on a temporary basis relevant to the FBI's domestic police cooperation program, where assistance in obtaining information is provided to state and local police agencies.

Also, personnel type information dealing with such matters as attendance and production and accuracy requirements is maintained by some divisions.

(The following chart identifies various listings or indexes maintained by the FBI which have been or are being used by various divisions of the FBI in their day-to-day operations. The chart identifies the list by name, description, and use, and where maintained, i.e., FBI Headquarters and/or Field Office. Authority for maintenance of the system: Federal Records Act of 1950, Title 44, United States Code, Chapter 31, Section 3101; and Title 41, Code of Federal Regulations Subpart 101–11.202, requires Federal agencies to insure that adequate and proper records are made and preserved to document the organization, functions, policies, decisions, procedures and transactions and to protect the legal and financial rights of the Federal Government. Title 28, United States Code, Section 534, delegates authority to the Attorney General to acquire, collect, classify, and preserve identification, criminal identification, crime and other records.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: Records, both investigative and administrative, are maintained in this system in order to permit the FBI to function efficiently as an authorized, responsive component of the Department of Justice. Therefore, information in this system is disclosed to officials and employees of the Department of Justice, and/or all components thereof, who have need of the information in the performance of their official duties.

Personal information from this system may be disclosed as a routine use to any Federal agency where the purpose in making the disclosure is compatible with the law enforcement purpose for which it was collected, e.g., to assist the recipient agency in conducting a lawful criminal or intelligence investigation, to assist the recipient agency in making a determination concerning an individual's suitability for employment and/or trustworthiness for access clearance purposes, or to assist the recipient agency in the performance of any authorized function where access to records in this system is declared by the recipient agency to be relevant to that function.

In addition, personal information may be disclosed from this system to members of the Judicial Branch of the Federal Government in response to a specific request, or at the initiation of the FBI, where disclosure appears relevant to the authorized function of the recipient judicial office or court system. An example would be where an individual is being considered for employment by a Federal judge.

Information in this system may be disclosed as a routine use to any state or local government agency directly engaged in the criminal justice process, e.g., police, prosecution, penal, probation and parole, and the judiciary, where access is directly related to a law enforcement function of the recipient agency, e.g., in connection with a lawful criminal or intelligence investigation, or making a determination concerning an individual's suitability for employment as a state or local law enforcement officer. Disclosure to a state or local government agency, (a) not directly engaged in the criminal justice process or, (b) for a licensing or regulatory function, is considered on an individual basis only under exceptional circumstances, as determined by the FBI.

Information in this system may be disclosed as a routine use to an organization or individual in both the public or private sector pursuant to an appropriate legal proceeding, or if deemed necessary to elicit information or cooperation from the recipient for use by the FBI in the performance of an authorized activity. An example would be where the activities of an individual are disclosed to a member of the public in order to elicit his/her assistance in our apprehension or detection efforts.

Information in this system may be disclosed as a routine use to an organization or individual in the public or private sector where there is reason to believe the recipient is or could become the target of a particular criminal activity or conspiracy, to the extent the information is relevant to the protection of life or property.

Information in this system may be disclosed to legitimate agency of a foreign government where the FBI determines that the information is relevant to that agency's responsibilities, and dissemination serves the best interests of the U.S. Government, and where the purpose in making the disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the information was collected.

Relevant information may be disclosed from this system to the news media and general public where there exists a legitimate public interest, e.g., to assist in the location of Federal fugitives, to provide notification of arrests, and where necessary for protection from imminent threat of life or property.

A record relating to an actual or potential civil or ciminal violation of the copyright statute, Title 17, United States Code, may be disseminated to a person injured by such violation to assist him/her in the institution or maintenance of a suit brought under such title.

The FBI has received inquiries from private citizens and Congressional offices on behalf of constituents seeking assistance in locating individuals such as missing children and heirs to estates. Where the need is acute, and where it appears FBI files may be the only lead in locating the individual, consideration will be given to furnishing relevant information to the requester. Information will be provided only in those instances where there are reasonable grounds to conclude from available information the individual being sought would want the information to be furnished, e.g., an heir to a large estate. Information with regard to missing children will not be provided where they have reached their majority.

Release of information to Members of Congress: Information contained in this system, the release of which is required by the Freedom of Information-Privacy Acts, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information in behalf of and at the request of the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of information to the National Archives and Records Service: A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) in records management inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: The active main files are maintained in hard copy form and some inactive records are maintained on microfilm. Investigative information which is maintained in computerized form may be stored in memory, on disk storage, on computer tape, or on a computer printed listing.

Retrievability: The FBI General Index must be searched to determine what information, if any, the FBI may have in its files. The index cards are on all manner of subject matters, but primarily a name index of individuals. It should be noted the FBI does not index all individuals that furnish information or names developed in an investigation. Only that information that is considered pertinent and relevant and essential for future retrieval, is indexed. In certain major cases most persons contacted ar indexed in order to facilitate the proper administrative handling of a large volume of material. The FBI is in the process of automating the General Index and, therefore, the retrieval of certain information from the main files will be accomplished through the use of peripheral computer equipment, that is, Cathode Ray Tubes (CRTs) and printers. Automation will not change the "Central Records System"; it will only facilitate more economic and expeditious access to the main files. The automated General Index will not cause the "Central Records System" to be interfaced with any other system of records, nor will it allow any outside agency to access FBI information. Since the General Index of all of the field offices will not be automated for quite some time, certain complicated investigative matters are presently supported with special computerized indices which allow retrieval of information from the main files. These special indices are either maintained on printed listings or on disk storage and then accessed through the use of CRTs.

Safeguards: Records are maintained in a restricted area and are accessed only by FBI employees. All FBI employees receive a complete background investigation prior to being hired. All employees are cautioned about divulging confidential information or any information contained in FBI files. Failure to abide by this provision violates Department of Justice regulations and may violate certain statutes providing maximum severe penalties of a ten thousand-dollar fine or 10 years' imprisonment or both. Employees that resign or retire are also cautioned about divulging information acquired in the job. Registered mail is used to transmit routine hard copy records between field offices. Highly classified records are hand carried by Special Agents or personnel of the Armed Forces Courier Service. Highly classified or sensitive privacy information, which is electronically transmitted between field offices, is transmitted in encrypted from the prevent interception and interpretation. Information transmitted in teletype form is placed in the main files of both the receiving and transmitting field offices. Field offices involved in certain complicated investigative matters may be provided with on-line access to the duplicative computerized information which is maintained for them on disk storage in the FBI Computer Center in Washington, D.C., and this computerized data is also transmitted in encrypted form.

Retention and disposal: All FBI records destruction programs relevant to this system were suspended as a result of a court order, issued January 10, 1980, in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, enjoining the FBI from destroying or otherwise disposing of any FBI records until such time as detailed records retention plans and schedules are developed by NARS and the FBI, and are submitted to and approved by the Court. With the exception of certain limited record categories, this court order prohibits records destruction at both FBI Headquarters and FBI field offices.

System manager(s) and address: Director; Federal Bureau of Investigation; Washington, D.C. 20535.

Notification procedure: Same as above.

Record access procedures: A request for access to a record from the system shall be made in writing with the envelope and the letter clearly marked "Privacy Access Request". Include in the request your full name, complete address, date of birth, place of birth, notarized signature, and other identifying data you may wish to furnish to assist in making a proper search of our records. Also include the general subject matter of the document or its file number. The requester will also provide a return address for transmitting the information. Access requests can be addressed to the Director, Federal Bureau of investigation, Washington, D.C. 20535, or individually to one or more of the FBI field divisions or Legal Attachés listed in the appendix to this system notice.

Contesting record procedures: Individuals desiring to contest or amend information maintained in the system should also direct their request to the Director, Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D.C. 20535, stating clearly and concisely what information is being contested, the reasons for contesting it, and the proposed amendment to the information sought.

Record source categories: The FBI, by the very nature and requirement to investigate violations of law within its investigative jurisdiction and its responsibility for the internal security of the United States, collects information from a wide variety of sources. Basically it is the result of investigative efforts and information furnished by other Government agencies, law enforcement agencies, and the general public, informants, witnesses, and public source material.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act: The Attorney General has exempted this system from subsections (c)(3)(d), (e) (1), (2) and (3), (e)(4) (G) and (H), (e) (5) and (8), (f), (g), of the Privacy Act pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a (j) and (k). Rules have been promulgated in accordance with the requirements of 5 U.S.C. 553 (b), (c) and (e) and are being published in the proposed rules section of today's Federal Register.

JUSTICE/FBI–009

SYSTEM NAME:

Identification Division Records System.

SYSTEM LOCATION:

Federal Bureau of Investigation: J. Edgar Hoover Bldg., 10th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20535.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

A. Individuals fingerprinted as a result of arrest or incarceration.

B. Persons fingerprinted as a result of Federal employment applications, military service, alien registration and naturalization purposes and individuals desiring to have their fingerprints placed on record with the FBI for personal identification purposes.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

A. Criminal fingerprint cards and related criminal justice information submitted by authorized agencies having criminal justice responsibilities.

B. Civil fingerprint cards submitted by Federal agencies and civil fingerprint cards submitted by persons desiring to have their fingerprints placed on record for personal identification purposes.

C. Identification records sometimes referred to as "rap sheets" which are compilations of criminal history information pertaining to individuals who have criminal fingerprint cards maintained to the system.

D. An alphabetical name index pertaining to all individuals whose fingerprints are maintained in the system. The criminal records and the civil records are maintained in separate files and each file has an alphabetical name index related to the data contained therein.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

The system is established, maintained and used under authority granted by 28 U.S.C. 534, 15 U.S.C. 78q. 7 U.S.C. 12a, and Pub. L. No. 92–544 (86 Stat. 1115). The authority is also codified in 28 CFR 0.85 (b), and (j).

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

The FBI operates the identification Division Records System to perform identification and criminal history record information functions for federal, state, local, and foreign criminal justice agencies, and for noncriminal justice agencies, and other entities where authorized by Federal statute, state statute pursuant to Public Law 92–544 (86 Stat. 1115). Presidential executive order, or regulation of the Attorney General of the United States. In addition, identification assistance is provided in disasters and for other humanitarian purposes.

Release of information to the news media: Guidelines applicable for the release of information to the news media and the public are set forth in 28 CFR 20.33(a)(4), 20.33(c), and 50.2.

Release of information to Members of Congress: Information contained in systems of records maintained by the Department of Justice, not otherwise required to be released pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information on behalf of and at the request of the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of information to the National Archives and Records Service: A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) in records management and inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

STORAGE:

Information in the system is stored manually in file cabinets either in its natural state or on microfilm. In addition, some of the information is stored in computerized data storage devices.

RETRIEVABILITY:

(1) All information in the system is retrievable by technical fingerprint classification and positive identification is effected only by comparison of the unique identifying characteristics appearing in fingerprint impressions submitted for search against the fingerprint cards maintained within the system.

(2) An auxiliary means of retrieval is through alphabetical name indexes which contain names of the individuals, their birth date, other physical descriptors, and the individuals technical fingerprint classifications and FBI numbers, if such have been assigned.

SAFEGUARDS:

Information in the system is unclassified. Disclosure of information from the system is made only to authorized recipients upon authentication and verification of the right to access the system by such persons and agencies. The physical security and maintenance of information within the system is provided by FBI rules, regulations and procedures.

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

(1) The Archivist of the United States has approved the destruction of records maintained in the criminal file when the records indicate individuals have reached 80 years of age, and the destruction of records maintained in the civil file when the records indicate individuals have reached 75 years of age.

(2) Fingerprint cards and related arrest data in the system are destroyed seven years following notification of the death of an individual whose record is maintained in the system.

(3) Fingerprint cards submitted by state and local criminal justice agencies are returned upon the request of the submitting agencies. The return of a fingerprint card under this procedure results in the deletion from the system of all arrest information related to that fingerprint card.

(4) Fingerprint cards and related arrest data are removed from the Identification Division Records System upon receipt of Federal court orders for expunctions when accompanied by necessary identifying information. Recognizing lack of jurisdiction of local and state courts over an entity of the Federal Government, the Identification Division Records System, as a matter of comity, returns fingerpring cards and related arrest data to local and state criminal justice agencies upon receipt of orders of expunction directed to such agencies by local and state courts when accompanied by necessary identifying informations.

SYSTEM NAME:

Docket, Scheduling and Control

SYSTEM LOCATION:

Records are maintained at each of the Regional Offices for inmates incarcerated in and persons under supervision in each region, except for the National Appeals Board docket maintained in Washington. Duplicates of regional materials are maintained in Washington. All requests for records should be made to the appropriate regional office or Headquarters at the following addresses: United States Parole Commission, Scott Plaza II, Industrial Highway, 6th Floor, Philadelphia, Pa. 19113; United States Parole Commission, 715 McDonough Blvd., S.E., Atlanta, Ga. 30315; United States Parole Commission, 5550 Friendship Blvd., Bethesda, Md. 20015, ATTN: National Appeals Board, United States Parole Commission, Air World Center Suite 220, 10929 Ambassador Dr., Kansas City, Mo. 64153. United States Parole Commission, 555 Griffin Square, Suite 820 Dallas, Tex. 75202. United States Parole Commission, 330 Primrose Drive, 5th Floor Burlingame, Calif. 94010.

CATEGORIES OF INDIVIDUALS COVERED BY THE SYSTEM:

Current and former inmates under the custody of the Attorney General who are to be scheduled for hearings under Commission procedures. Former inmates includes those presently under supervision as parolees or mandatory releases and those against who a revocation warrant has been issued.

CATEGORIES OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM:

(a) Docket sheets—Each region and the National Appeals Board in Washington maintains a cumulative series of docket sheets in time sequence showing Commission action. Principal data elements are name and register number of inmate, offense, sentence, and previous and present Action. The appeal docket includes the date and type of appeal in addition to much of the above data. These provide a continual running record of the basic data elements per inmate and former inmate. Docket sheets are used to input this information into a computer program which produces printouts of identical information and certain statistical reports. (b) Hearing schedules—Shortly after inmates are incarcerated, their names appear on an eligibility list prepared by the Bureau of Prisons, for initial parole hearings. Inmates denied immediate parole are "continued" by the Commission to future dates for review hearings or records reviews. Other types of hearings and reviews are provided for in the Code of Federal Regulations as part of parole, rescission or revocation procedures. All of the different types of hearings and reviews are placed on schedules for examiners to process when they visit the various institutions or hold "local" hearings. The data elements are similar to those on the docket but indicate the number and type of hearing or review to be held instead of the result.

AUTHORITY FOR MAINTENANCE OF THE SYSTEM:

18 U.S.C. 4201–4218, 5005–5041, 28 CFR Part O, Subpart V, and 28 CFR Part 2.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES:

(a) The dockets provide the basis of answering basic inquiries, mostly from within the Parole Commission, as to when a hearing came up for an individual and what action was taken. The schedules indicate to examiners and prison staff the specific hearings and reviews to be prepared for and held.

(b) In the event that material in this system indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records may be referred to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, State, local or foreign, charged with responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(c) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal, State or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant information if necessary to obtain information relevant to an agency decision concerning parole matters.

(d) A record from this system may be disclosed to a Federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the information is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(e) Internal users—Employees of the Department of Justice who have a need to know the information in the performance of their duties.

(f) External users—As noted above, on occasion employees of Federal, State and local enforecment, correctional, prosecutive, or other agencies, and courts may have access to this information.

Release of information to the news media: Information permitted to be released to the news media and the public pursuant to 28 CFR 50.2 may be made available from systems of records maintained by the U.S. Parole Commission unless it is determined that release of the specific information in the context of a particular case would constitute and unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Release of information to Members of Congress. Information contained in systems of records maintained by the U.S. Parole Commission, not otherwise required to be released pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information on behalf of and in response to a communication from the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of information to the National Archives and Records Service: A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) in records management inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM.

STORAGE:

Information stored in the system is on sheets of paper, one item per line, stored in folders or binders. An experimental program to store such data on tape disk, or microfiche using ADP technology, and to prepare certain computer printouts is in effect in all regions. Data also may be stored on paper printouts through file retention.

RETRIEVABILITY:

Name, register number, date, institution Commission action, and statistical data as to such actions.

SAFEGUARDS:

Copies of dockets, printouts and schedules are not disseminated outside of Commission offices and Bureau of Prisons installations. They are available only to Commission and bureau employees on a "need to know" basis. Information therefrom may be given outside the Department as indicated in the "Routine Uses." If so, a letter will be written covering the item disclosed, date and identity of the recipient. 18 U.S.C. 4201–4218, 5005–5041, 28 CFR Part O, Subpart V, and 28 CFR Part 2.

ROUTINE USES OF RECORDS MAINTAINED IN THE SYSTEM, INCLUDING CATEGORIES OF USERS AND THE PURPOSES OF SUCH USES.

(a) The file is the "working tool" used by Parole Commission examiners to frame the questions at the inmates initial hearing. After that hearing, it is placed in the appropriate regional office where it provides the principal information source for decisions necessary during the pre-release stage (before parole), the review hearing or record review, and the post release stage (when supervision takes place). It is sent temporarily to Commission Headquarters when appeals come before the National Appeals Board or when needed by counsel and others on the Headquarters Staff. It is used by employees at all levels including Commission members to provide the information for decision making in every area of Commission responsibility. Files of released inmates are used to make statistical studies of subjects related to parole and revocation.

(b) The system is used to provide an information source to officers and employees of the Department of Justice who have a need for the information in the performance of their duties.

(c) The system is used as a source for disclosure of information which is solely of general public record, such as offense, sentence data, release date, etc. Names are not disclosed when information is so provided.

(d) The system is used to provide informational source for responding to inquiries from Federal inmates, their families or representatives, or Congressional inquiries.

(e) Internal Users—Employees of the Department of Justice who have a need to know information in the performance of their duties.

(f) External Users—U.S. Probation Officers, who supervise parolees and mandatory releases and U.S. District Court judges when Commission action is attacked in litigation. Very rarely, to enforcement authorities outside of the Department of Justice.

(g) In the event that material in this system indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records may be referred to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, State, local or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order, issued pursuant thereto.

(h) A record from this system may be disclosed to a Federal, State or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant information if necessary to obtain information relevant to an agency decision relating to current or former inmates under supervision.

(i) A record from this system may be disclosed to a Federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency to the extent that the information is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(j) A record from this system may be disclosed to a person or to persons who may be exposed to harm through contact with a particular parolee or mandatory releasee if it is deemed by a Commissioner to be reasonably necesary to give notice that such danger exists.

Release of information to the news media: Information permitted to be released to the news media and the public pursuant to 28 CFR 50.2 may be made available from systems of records maintained by the U.S. Parole Commission unless it is determined that release of the specific information in the context of a particular case would constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Release of information to Members of Congress: Information contained in systems of records maintained by the U.S. Parole Commission, not otherwise required to be released pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, may be made available to a Member of Congress or staff acting upon the Member's behalf when the Member or staff requests the information on behalf of and in response to a communication from the individual who is the subject of the record.

Release of information to the National Archives and Records Service: A record from a system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to the National Archives and Records Service (NARS) in records management inspections conducted under the authority of 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906.

POLICIES AND PRACTICES FOR STORING, RETRIEVING, ACCESSING, RETAINING, AND DISPOSING OF RECORDS IN THE SYSTEM.

STORAGE:

Information maintained in the system is stored on papers fastened into file jackets and a minimal amount is on cards stored in card file drawers. A duplicate record of certain data elements is stored on microfiche at Headquarters. Active files and card indices are located in each region; inactive files are at the Washington Federal Records Center and the card index to inactive files is at the Bureau of

V 46 / 236 DEC 9 81 UMI

Prisons in Washington. An experimental program to store such data on tape, disk or microfiche using ADP technology has been partially implemented.

RETRIEVABILITY:

All data is indexed by name and/or register number. When ADP technology is used in the future, such data may be available by FBI identification number, or other indices.

SAFEGUARDS:

Within the Department of Justice, routine use is made available to employees only on a "need to know" basis. Files are stored in rooms which are supervised by day and locked at night. Data from files for recipients outside of the Parole Commission and Bureau of Prisons is conveyed by a letter so that a record exists. When files are sent they are covered by a letter with a follow-up on return of the file. Such disclosure is infrequent, and is within the Federal enforcement-prosecution-judicial area only.

RETENTION AND DISPOSAL:

Records in this system are retained for a period of ten (10) years after expiration of sentence, then destroyed by electronic means of shredding.

BILLING CODE 7590–01–M

PANAMA CANAL COMMISSION

Privacy Act of 1974; New Systems of Records

AGENCY: Panama Canal Commission.

ACTION: Notice of two new systems of records.

SUMMARY: The Panama Canal Commission is maintaining two new systems of records called "Ombudsman Investigation Files, PCC/OM–1" and "Marine Accident Investigation Reports/Statistics, PCC/MRBL–2." Descriptions of the systems are published below. The Ombudsman investigation files system is used to make findings and render assistance with respect to the complaints, grievances, and requests submitted to the Office of Ombudsman arising as a result of implementation of the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977 and related agreements. The marine accident investigation reports/statistics system is stored on a time-sharing computer system and contains statistical and other data concerning investigations and administrative reports of marine accidents. It is used to record the facts, and the Board's findings and opinions, concerning marine accidents.

DATES: Written comments by any member of the public concerning the intended routine uses of the information in these systems is invited. To be considered, comments must be received by December 29, 1981. If no comments requiring modification of the routine uses are received, the routine uses will become effective on January 8, 1982.

ADDRESS: The public should address comments to: K. E. Goldsberry, Agency Records Officer (Chief, Administrative Services Division), Panama Canal Commission, APO Miami 34011. Mark all comments "OM–1" or "MRBL–2."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Hazel M. Murdock, Assistant to the Secretary, Panama Canal Commission, Room 312, Pennsylvania Building, 425 13th Street N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004 (telephone 202–724–0104).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with the provisions of the Panama Canal Act of 1979, Pub. L. 96–70, 93 Stat. 452 and the Panama Canal Treaty of 1977, the Canal Zone Government was disestablished and the Panama Canal Company was replaced by the Panama Canal Commission on October 1, 1979. The Panama Canal Act of 1979 created within the Commission the Office of Ombudsman and, as a direct result, a new system of records came into existence. Notice of the existence and character of this system has not previously been given due to the major reorganization which took place and the ensuing administrative workload. Because this system contains investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes (some of which, if disclosed, would reveal the identity of confidential sources), the agency proposes to exempt the records in the system from mandatory disclosure under the Privacy Act. A proposed rule to exempt the system appears in the proposed rules section of this issue.

The marine accident investigation reports/statistical information had previously been maintained by a manual system using a log book in which information was not retrievable by name or personal identifier. In the interest of establishing a method for efficient and rapid access to vessel accident information, the Board of Local Inspectors began to store marine accident investigation information in a time-sharing computer system. This created the capability of retrieving the information by the name of the Panama Canal pilot involved in the accident. Notice that a new privacy act system had come into existence as the result of automating a previously manually maintained system has not been given through administrative oversight.

Suspension of either of these two systems would adversely affect the functions of the respective offices; therefore, this agency has requested for each a waiver of the 60-day notice period required before implementation of a system by OMB Circular A–108 and Transmittal Memorandums 1 and 3.

Dated: December 4, 1981.

Michael Rhode, Jr.,

Secretary, Panama Canal Commission.

The subsidiaries will ussue installment notes if the last public financing by Columbia was in the form of the issuance of debentures or preferred stock; however, floating rate term notes will be issued by the subsidiaries if the last public financing by Columbia was through the issuances of notes under its Revolving Credit Term Loan Agreement dated as of April 1, 1980 ("Term Agreement") among Columbia and certain banks named therein (File No. 70-6436). The installment notes are to be unsecured and will be dated the date of their issue. The principal amounts will be due in equal annual installments on January 31st of each year for a term which approximates that of the instrument issued by Columbia. Interest on the installment notes will accrue from the date of issuance and is to be paid semi-annually on the unpaid principal thereof until fully paid. The interest rate will be the actual cost of money to Columbia with respect to its last sale of debentures or preferred stock prior to the issuance of said notes, decreased by an amount necessary in order that the interest rate be a multiple of ⅛th of 1%. Interest on the floating rate term notes will be paid on a calendar quarterly basis on the unpaid principal amount of said notes at a floating rate which will be equal to the effective cost of money to Columbia under the Term Agreement. Installment and/or floating rate term notes issued by Development Canada will have the same provisions as those mentioned above except that the interest on such notes of Development Canada shall be due and payable only if and to the extent that it is determined, as of the end of such payment period, that Columbia will be able to reduce its United States consolidated income tax liability for the taxable year in which such interest is to be paid, or for any preceding taxable year, by the full amount of any foreign taxes paid or payable by Columbia with respect to such interest or the receipt thereof.

It is stated and the proceeds from the issuance and sale of the common stock and installment notes, together with funds generated from internal sources, will be used to finance these subsidiaries' capital expenditures programs and other corporate needs. Big Marsh Oil Company, Columbia of West Virginia, Commonwealth Propane, Coal Gasification, Columbia LNG, and Service are financing their entire capital expenditures from internally generated funds. The projected aggregate of net capital expenditures for all of the subsidiaries is estimated at $651,926,000.

It is also proposed that Columbia advance on open account to certain subsidiaries, and have outstanding from time to time, up to an aggregate amount of $752,800,000 to finance the purchase by such subsidiaries of underground storage gas inventories and liquid hydrocarbon inventories and to use for short-term requirements. All of such advances are to be taken down by December 31, 1982, and are to repaid on or before January 1, 1983. The open account advances will initially bear interest at the prime rate in effect from time to time at the agent bank for Columbia's short-term loan line of credit. Interest charges to these subsidiaries subsequently will be adjusted, after the storage financing period, to the effective cost of money Columbia achieves on its short-term borrowing for this purpose.

The proposed advances will be limited to the amount of each subsidiary's estimated short-term financing requirements as shown below:

Columbia of Kentucky	$30,000,000
Columbia of Ohio	200,000,000
Columbia of Maryland	3,000,000
Columbia of New York	7,000,000
Columbia of Pennsylvania	45,000,000
Columbia of Virginia	8,000,000
Columbia of West Virginia	40,000,000
Columbia Transmission	275,000,000
Columbia Gulf	35,000,000
Development U.S.	20,000,000
Columbia LNG	57,000,000
Hydrocarbon	11,000,000
Inland	1,000,000
Development Canada	12,300,000
Service	1,000,000
Commonwealth Propane	3,500,000
Commonwealth Services	2,000,000
Commonwealth Pipeline	2,000,000
Total	752,800,000

Columbia requests that, through December 31, 1982, the exemption from the provision of 6(a) of the Act afforded it by the first sentence of 6(b), relative to the issue and sale of short-term notes, be increased from 5% to approximately 30% and that Columbia be permitted to issue and sell through December 31, 1982, and/or have outstanding at any one time, up to $450,000,000 principal amount of short-term notes. Generally, this is to enable Columbia to furnish funds to its subsidiaries for the purchase of gas for underground storage and liquid hydrocarbon inventories and for other short-term financing requirements as shown above. Columbia's proposed short-term notes will be in the form of either commerical paper or notes under bank credit lines.

Columbia proposes to issue and sell commerical paper to one or more commerical paper dealers and continue to do so as long as the effective interest rate on such commercial paper is less than the effective interest cost which Columbia would have to pay to the banks for an equivalent amount of funds as of the date of borrowing, except that, in order to obtain greater flexibility, commerical paper may be issued with an effective interest cost in excess of the effective interest cost on bank borrowing if the paper has a maturity of not more than 60 days from the date of issue. Commerical paper will be issued by Columbia in denominations of not less than $50,000 nor more than $5,000,000 and will be reoffered by the dealer or dealers in such a manner as not to constitute a public offering. Such commerical paper will be sold by Columbia to the dealer or dealers at a discount rate which will not be in excess of the discount rate per annum prevailing at the date of issuance for commercial paper of that particular maturity and rating sold by issuers thereof to commerical paper dealers. No commission or fee will be payable by Columbia in connection with the issuance and sale of such commercial paper. The purchasing dealer, however, will reoffer such notes at a discount rate of 1/10 of 1% per annum less than such discount rate to the issuer.

For short-term purposes, Columbia has $350,000,000 bank lines of credit and intends to secure an additional $100,000,000 for an aggregate amount of up to $450,000,000. In no event will the proposed bank borrowings and/or commercial paper exceed an aggregate amount of $450,000,000 at any one time outstanding. Borrowings under these lines of credit will be repaid within nine months from the date of issuance, and Columbia will also have the right to prepay any or all of such bank notes, in whole or in part, without penalty. It is anticipated that the negotiations will result in a maximum cost not greater than the prime rate, in effect from time to time, adjusted for the effect of compensating balances or fees in lieu thereof. Assuming a 7.0% compensating balance requirement and a prime rate of 17.5%, the effective cost would be 18.8%. Assuming a fee in lieu of balances of ¼% and a prime rate of 17.5%, the effective cost would be 17¾%. Virtually all of the proceeds from Columbia's short-term borrowings will be related to gas inventory requirements, and Columbia anticipates that all short-term borrowing will be repaid from the proceeds of the subsidiaries' sale of inventory gas prior to May 31, 1983.

It is stated that during the winter heating season the distribution subsidiaries generate substantial amounts of cash in excess of their current requirements. During the same period, however, the transmission subsidiaries generate lesser amounts of cash and their capital expenditures are generally larger, with the result that Columbia must advance such subsidiaries funds under Commission authorization while the distribution subsidiaries have cash considerably in excess of their current requirements. Also, there are considerable fluctations in the subsidiaries' cash flow on a day-to-day basis during each month due to their normal receipt and disbursement patterns. Accordingly, it is proposed that the subsidiaries, from time to time during 1982, temporarily prepay outstanding installment promissory notes and, for Development Canada, demand promissory notes with excess cash in aggregate amounts not to exceed the amounts set forth below for each company respectively. Interest on such indebtedness will cease upon prepayment and recommence upon reinstatement.

Columbia of Kentucky	$12,000,000
Columbia of Ohio	125,000,000
Columbia of Maryland	4,000,000
Columbia of New York	7,500,000
Columbia of Pennsylvania	55,000,000
Columbia of Virginia	6,500,000
Columbia of West Virginia	20,000,000
Columbia Transmission	330,000,000
Columbia Gulf	75,000,000
Development U.S.	50,000,000
Columbia LNG	116,000,000
Hydrocarbon	5,000,000
Inland	4,400,000
Coal Gasification	20,000,000
Development Canada	12,300,000
Service	7,500,000
Commonwealth Services	2,900,000
Commonwealth Pipeline	6,000,000
Columbia Alaskan	15,000,000
Total	874,100,000

As such funds are thereafter required for construction and other corporate purposes, it is proposed that advances be made on open account to such subsidiary by Columbia in such aggregate amounts not to exceed the amount of indebtedness previously prepaid, less any current maturities applicable to notes which have matured subsequent to the date of prepayment. The open account loans will bear interest at the same rate or rates as borne by the equivalent principal amounts of indebtedness previously prepaid by such subsidiary during 1982. It is proposed that advances on open account to an individual subsidiary as proposed herein be increased or decreased from time to time in accordance with variations in the cash flow of the individual subsidiary; however, at no time will the advances outstanding under the authority herein requested be in excess of the indebtedness prepaid theretofore. Either at such time as the advances equal the aggregate amount of indebtedness prepaid or in any event not later than December 31, 1982, the indebtedness that was prepaid will be reinstated and accepted by Columbia in repayment of the outstanding open account loans.

It is requested that the companies be authorized to file certificates under Rule 24 with respect to the proposed transactions on a quarterly basis.

The application-declaration and any amendments thereto are available for public inspection through the Commission's Office of Public Reference. Interested persons wishing to comment or request a hearing should submit their views in writing by December 31, 1981, to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, and serve a copy on the applicants-declarants at the addresses specified above. Proof of service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. Any request for a hearing shall identify specifically the issues of fact or law that are disputed. A person who so requests will be notified of any hearing, if ordered, and will receive a copy of any notice or order issued in this matter. After said date, the application-declaration, as amended or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective.

Dallas Business Capital Corp.; Proposal to Terminate Registration

December 2, 1981.

Notice is hereby given That the Commission proposes, pursuant to Section 8(f) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), to declare by order on its own motion that Dallas Business Capital Corporation ("Dallas"), 333 Meadows Building, Dallas, Texas 75206, registered under the Act as a closed-end, non-diversified, management investment company, ceased to be an investment company required to be registered under the Act, effective as of the date on which Dallas elected to be treated as a business development company.

Information contained in the files of the Commission indicates that Dallas, a corporation organized under the laws of Nevada, has been registered under the Act since 1958. On January 13, 1981, the company filed a notification of election to be regulated as a business development company pursuant to Section 54 of the Act.

Section 6(f) provides, in pertinent part, that any closed-end company which elects pursuant to Section 54 of the Act to be regulated as a business development company under Sections 55–65 or the Act will be excluded from the definition of an investment company and exempted from registration as an investment company pursuant to Section 8 of the Act.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that whenever the Commission on its own motion finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order.

Notice is further given That any interested person may, not later than December 28, 1981, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his or her interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he or she may request that he or she be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Dallas at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit, or in the case of an attorney-at-law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

Heizer Corp.; Filing of Application

December 3, 1981.

Notice is hereby given that Heizer Corporation ("Applicant"), 20 North Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60606, filed an application on January 27, 1981, and amendments thereto on July 17, 1981, and September 21, 1981, for an order pursuant to Section 61(a)(3)(B) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") approving the issuance of stock options to non-employee directors of Applicant, pursuant to an executive compensation plan. Applicant requests that the relief be granted retroactive to the date on which Applicant became subject to the Act. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

Applicant states that it is a business development company ("BDC") within the meaning of Section 2(a)(48) of the Act and that it elected to become subject to the provisions of Sections 55 through 65 of the Act on May 7, 1981. Applicant represents that its primary investment objective is to achieve long-term capital appreciation through investing primarily in new and developing companies whose securities have no established market, and in mature companies, some of which are experiencing financial difficulties. According to the application, Applicant does not have an external "investment adviser" within the meaning of the Act; and its directors and officers make all its investment decisions. Applicant further represents that it generally acquires a substantial or controlling interest in its portfolio companies, and provides them with significant managerial assistance. Applicant asserts that its directors, who often become involved in the management of its portfolio companies, function more like the board of an operating company than like the board of an investment company. Accordingly, Applicant believes that the skill and experience of its directors are critical to its success.

Applicant states that in order to attract and retain highly qualified and motivated personnel, while still a private company, it granted to its officers and directors, pursuant to an employee compensation plan, options to purchase shares of Applicant that are exercisable on a cumulative basis, beginning in the second year after the date of grant, at an annual rate of 10 percent in each year thereafter, with the final 10 percent exercisable within 90 days of the tenth anniversary date of the grant. The exercise price of the options is $7.64, the price at which Applicant determined its stock would sell in a public market at the time the options were granted had Applicant been a public company. That price is higher than the net asset value of Applicant's shares, $6.75, at the time the options were granted. The options expire on the earlier of (a) ten years less one day from the day on which they were granted, or (b) 90 days after termination of the director's service with Applicant. The options are not transferable other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution. According to the application, non-employee directors of Applicant held 45,000 of the options at the time Applicant elected to become a BDC. Applicant represents that its option plan significantly enhances its ability to recruit qualified personnel, provides an important incentive to such personnel to increase their efforts on behalf of Applicant and to remain with Applicant, and assures a closer identification of interest between Applicant and its personnel.

Section 61(a)(3)(B) of the Act permits a BDC to issue to its officers, directors and employees options to purchase voting securities of such company pursuant to an executive compensation plan if the options, by their terms, expire within 10 years; the exercise price of such options is not less than the current market value at date of issuance or if no such market value exists, the current net asset value of such options; the options are not transferable except by gift, will or intestacy; no investment adviser of such BDC receives any compensation described in paragraph (1) of Section 205 of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, except to the extent permitted by clause (A) or (B) of that section; the BDC does not have a profit-sharing plan described in Section 57(n) of the Act; and the proposal to issue such options has been authorized by the shareholders of the BDC and, in the case of options issued to non-employee directors, approved by order of the Commission, upon application, on the basis that the terms of the proposal are fair and reasonable and do not involve overreaching of the BDC or its shareholders.

Section 61(b) of the Act states that a BDC shall comply with the provisions of Section 61 at the time it becomes subject to Sections 55 through 65 of the Act, as if it were issuing a security of each class which it has outstanding at such time.

Applicant represents that the terms of its opinions and the manner in which they were granted are consistent with Section 61(a)(3)(B) with the exception of the requirement of Commission approval of the proposal to issue options to its non-employee directors. Applicants states that it did not seek approval prior to granting such options because, at the time the options were granted, Applicant was not a BDC subject to the Act and did not expect to become a public company subject to the Act. Applicant further states that Section 61(b) requires that it be in compliance with Section 61(a) at the time it filed its election under the Act. Applicant submits that the terms of its stock options and the manner in which they were granted are fair and reasonable and do not involve overreaching of its shareholders insofar as the options granted to its non-employee directors represent only a small percentage of Applicant's outstanding shares (.06 percent at the date on which this application was filed) and the exercise of such options would have a de minimis effect on Applicant's net asset value per share. Based on December 31, 1980 figures, Heizer's net asset value per share as a public company was $17.86. If all non-employee options were exercised, the net asset value would be diluted to $17.83. If all outstanding options were exercised, the net asset value would be diluted to $17.58. Applicant further submits that because the right to exercise such options vests over a ten-year period, at a rate of 10% per year, the directors holding such options will benefit from them in proportion to the length of their service with Applicant and the extent to which Applicant enjoys business success during that service. Applicant also argues that the proposal to issue such options was approved by its shareholders prior to granting the options. Applicant submits that, at that time, a vast majority of its shares were held by institutions which were clearly able to make informed decisions as to issuance of stock options and protect themselves against overreaching. Applicant also submits that the exercise price of the options is greater than its net asset value on the date that the options were granted. Finally, Applicant states that no member of its management or board of directors sold any shares in the public offering of its shares, which took place more than a year after the options were granted.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than December 28, 1981, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing, a request for a hearing on the application accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his or her interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he or she may request that he or she be notified if the Commision shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order diposing of the application herein will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

By the Commission.

[Release No. 22293; 70–6665]

Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.; Proposed Issuance and Sale of Short-Term Notes to Banks and Commercial Paper to Dealer; Request for Exception From Competitive Bidding

December 2, 1981.

Indiana & Michigan Electric Company ("I&M"), One Summit Square, P.O. Box 60, Fort Wayne, Indiana 46801, an electric utility subsidiary of American Electric Power Company, Inc., a registered holding company, has filed an application-declaration and an amendment thereto with this Commission pursuant to Section 6 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") and Rules 50(a)(2) and 50(a)(5) promulgated thereunder.

I&M requests authorization to incur short-term debt through the issuance and sale of notes to banks and commercial paper to a dealer in commercial paper in an aggregate amount not to exceed $200,000,000 outstanding at any one time. The notes to banks and commercial paper would be issued from time to time subsequent to December 31, 1981 and prior to January 1, 1983, but shall not mature later than June 30, 1983. I&M seeks to issue such notes and commercial paper pursuant to an exemption under Section 6(b) of the Act for I&M to incur unsecured debt in an aggregate principal amount up to 20% of capitalization. Such a 20% exemption through December 31, 1985, was authorized by Commission order dated September 30, 1980 (HCAR No. 21734) and approved by a majority of the holders of I&M's preferred stock. I&M proposes to issue and sell its short-term notes to three groups of banks, including two groups of domestic and a group of foreign banks, with which I&M maintains lines of credit totaling $468,465,000.

Each note to be issued to the first group of domestic banks will generally bear interest at a rate not greater than the bank's prime rate, will mature not more than 270 days after the date of issuance or renewal, and will be prepayable by I&M at any time without premium or penalty. Credit arrangements with these banks require it to maintain compensating balances equal to a percentage of the line of credit made available by the bank plus a percentage of any amount actually borrowed (generally not in excess of 10% of the line of credit and 10% of the amount borrowed). Such requirements are frequently satisfied by I&M's normal operating accounts.

Each note to be issued to a second group of domestic banks will bear interest at up to 108.5% of the prime rate, will mature not more than 270 days after the date of issuance or renewal thereof, and will be prepayable at any time without premium or penalty. Compensating balances of 5% of the line of credit and a fee of ⅜ of 1% of the size of the line are generally required. The combination of 5% compensating balances and the fee is generally equivalent to compensating balances not in excess of 10% of the line of credit made available.

In the case of borrowings from the foreign bank group, no compensating balances are required, only a fee of ¼ of 1% of the unused amount of the line of credit. Borrowings from these five banks may be made in U.S. dollars and/or in Eurodollars except in the case of Royal Bank of Canada N.V., where the borrowings are on a Eurodollar basis only. Where such borrowings are made in Eurodollars, the rate of interest will be a designated percent, not more than ½%, over the London Interbank Offering Rate (LIBOR). Such borrowings are not prepayable. Borrowings in U.S. dollars will be at the prime rate then in effect and are prepayable at any time without premium or penalty.

The total cost of borrowings from the second and third bank groups would not be greater than the effective rate for borrowings hearing interest at the prime rate with compensating balances equal to 10% of the line of credit and 10% of the amount borrowed. If the balances maintained and fees paid by I&M with the banks were maintained and paid solely to fulfill requirements for borrowing, the effective annual interest cost under any of the above arrangements, assuming full use of the line of credit, would not exceed 125% of the prime commercial rate in effect from time to time, or not more than 23.75% on the basis of a prime commercial rate of 19.0%.

Except for a $20,000,000 commitment with Irving Trust Company, all lines of credit with the second and third bank groups are shared with Kentucky Power Company, Appalachian Power Company, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company and Ohio Power Company, associate companies of I&M, and certain of the credit lines are shared with AEP, I&M's parent company. If proposed short-term bank borrowings through December 31, 1982, are authorized or permitted under Section 6(b) of the Act, I&M and these participating associate companies will be authorized to borrow a maximum aggregate amount of approximately $722,000,000 as of January 1, 1982. Fees and balances for shared lines of credit are borne by I&M and participating associate companies in proportion to their respective projected maximum need for such credit facilities.

I&M also has a money market facility with The Fidelity Bank of Philadelphia, Pa., in an aggregate amount of $10,000,000. This money market facility does not represent a formal commitment or engagement by The Fidelity Bank to I&M but represents merely the ability of I&M to request unsecured borrowings, in the form of promissory notes, on a case-by-case basis. Borrowings may be made for periods of up to 180 days after the date of issuance and any such borrowings are prepayable by I&M at any time without premium or penalty. No compensating balances are required. The interest rate which is to be negotiated on a case-by-case basis, will be a designated percent of the bank's average Federal Fund rate. However, the interest rate will be lower than the effective interest rates for the other bank borrowings described above.

Commercial paper will be sold directly by I&M to Lehman Commercial Paper Incorporated, a dealer in commercial paper. The commercial paper will be in the form of promissory notes in denominations of not less than $50,000 nor more than $5,000,000, and of varying maturities, with no maturity more than 270 days after the date of issue. Such notes will not pe prepayable prior to maturity and will be sold at a discount rate not in excess of the discount rate per annum prevailing at the time of issuance for commercial paper of comparable quality and maturity. No commercial paper maturing in more than 90 days will be issued at an effective interest cost higher than bank borrowings of equal principal amount.

The commercial paper dealer will reoffer the commercial paper, at a discount rate of ⅛ of 1% less than the discount rate at which such notes were purchased from I&M, to not more than 200 of the dealer's customers identified and designated in a non-public list prepared by the dealer in advance. No sales of such commercial paper will be made to any customer unless that customer has received up-to-date reports as to the credit position of I&M. It is expected that such customers will hold such commercial paper notes to maturity; but if any such customer wishes to resell such commercial paper prior to maturity, the dealer, pursuant to a verbal repurchase agreement, will repurchase such commercial paper and reoffer it to other customers on its non-public list.

The proceeds of the short-term debt incurred by I&M will be added to the general funds of I&M and used to pay the general obligations of I&M, including expenses incurred in its various construction projects, and for other corporate purposes. The estimated cost of I&M's net construction program (adjusted to reflect the planned acquisition of a portion of the Rockport Plant by an affiliated company) for the year 1982 is approximately $296,000,000.

I&M seeks an exception from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 pursuant to Rule 50(a)(5) for the issuance and sale of commercial paper because it is not practicable to invite competitive bids for commercial paper and current commercial paper rates for prime borrowers are published daily in financial publications.

The application-declaration and any amendments thereto are available for public inspection through the Commission's Office of Public Reference. Interested persons wishing to comment or request a hearing should submit their views in writing by December 24, 1981, to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, and serve a copy on the applicant-declarants at the addresses specified above. Proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. Any request for a hearing shall identify the issues of fact or law that are disputed. A person who so requests will be notified of any hearing, if ordered, and will receive a copy of any notice or order issued in this matter. After said date, the application-declaration, as amended or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

George A. Fitzsimmons,

Secretary.

Kentucky Power Co.; Proposed Issuance and Sale of Short-Term Notes to Banks and Commercial Paper to Dealer; Request for Exception From Competitve Bidding

December 3, 1981.

Kentucky Power Company ("Kentucky"), 1701 Central Ave., Ashland, KY 41101, an electric utility subsidiary of American Electric Power Company, Inc., a registered holding company, has filed an application-declaration and an amendment thereto with this Commission pursuant to Section 6 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") and Rules 50(a)(2) and 50(a)(5) promulgated thereunder.

Kentucky seeks authorization to issue and sell up to an aggregate amount of $50,000,000 of short-term notes to banks and commercial paper to a dealer pursuant to an exception under Section 6(b) of the Act. Such notes and commercial paper will be issued from time to time prior to January 1, 1983, but shall not mature later than June 30, 1983. Kentucky proposes to issue and sell its short-term notes to three groups of banks, including two groups of domestic and a group of foreign banks, with which Kentucky maintains lines of credit totaling $373,900,000.

Each note to be issued to the first group of domestic banks will generally bear interest at a rate not greater than the bank's prime rate, will mature not more than 270 days after the date of issuance or renewal, and will be prepayable by Kentucky at any time without premium or penalty. Credit arrangements with these banks require it to maintain compensating balances equal to a percentage of the line of credit made available by the bank plus a percentage of any amount actually borrowed (generally not in excess of 10% of the line of Credit and 10% of the amount borrowed). Such requirements are frequently satisfied by Kentucky's normal operating accounts.

Each note to be issued to a second group of domestic banks will bear interest at up to 108.5% of the prime rate, will mature not more than 270 days after the date of issuance or renewal thereof, and will be prepayable at any time without premium or penalty. Compensating balances of 5% of the line of credit and a fee of ⅜of 1% of the size of the line are generally required. The combination of 5% compensating balances and the fee is generally equivalent to compensating balances not in excess of 10% of the line of credit made available.

In the case of borrowings from the foreign bank group, no compensating balances are required, only a fee of ¼of 1% of the unused amount of the line of credit. Borrowings from these five banks may be made in U.S. dollars and/or in Eurodollars except in the case of Royal Bank of Canada N.V., where the borrowings are on a Eurodollar basis only. Where such borrowings are made in Eurodollars, the rate of interest will be a designated percent over the London Interbank Offering Rate (LIBOR). Such borrowings are not prepayable. Borrowings in U.S. dollars will be at the prime rate then in effect and are prepayable at any time without premium or penalty.

The total cost of borrowings from the second and third bank groups would not be greater than the effective rate for borrowings bearing interest at the prime rate with compensating balances equal to 10% of the line of credit and 10% of the amount borrowed. If the balances maintained and fees paid by Kentucky with the banks were maintained and paid solely to fulfill requirements for borrowing, the effective annual interest cost under any of the above arrangements, assuming full use of the line of credit, would not exceed 125% of the prime commercial rate in effect from time to time, or not more than 20% on the basis of a prime commercial rate of 16.0%.

All lines of credit with the second and third groups of banks are shared with Appalachian Power Company, Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, Ohio Power Company, and, with the exception of a $20,000,000 commitment of Irving Trust Company, with Indiana & Michigan Electric Company, all of which are associate companies of Kentucky. Certain of such lines of credit are also shared with AEP, Kentucky's parent company. If proposed short-term bank borrowings through December 31,1982 are authorized or permitted under Section 6(b), Kentucky and its associate companies will be authorized to borrow an aggregate amount of $722,000,000 as of January 1, 1982. Fees and balances for shared lines of credit are borne by Kentucky and participating associate companies in proportion to their respective projected maximum need for such credit facilities.

Kentucky also has a money market facility with The Fidelity Bank of Philadelphia, Pa., in an aggregate amount of $10,000,000. This money market facility does not represent a formal commitment or engagement by The Fidelity Bank to Kentucky but represents merely the ability of Kentucky to request unsecured borrowings, in the form of promissory notes, on a case-by-case basis. Borrowings may be made for periods of up to 180 days after the date of issuance and any such borrowings are prepayable by Kentucky at any time without premium or penalty. No compensating balances are required. The interest rate which is to be negotiated on a case-by-case basis, will be a designated percent of the bank's average Federal Fund rate. However, the interest rate will be lower than the effective interest rates for the other bank borrowings described above.

Commercial paper will be sold directly by Kentucky to Lehman Commercial Paper Incorporated, a dealer in commercial paper. The commercial paper will be in the form of promissory notes in denominations of not less than $50,000 nor more than $5,000,000, and of varying maturities, with no maturity more than 270 days after the date of issue. Such notes will not be prepayable prior to maturity and will be sold at a discount rate not in excess of the discount rate per annum prevailing at the time of issuance for commercial paper of comparable quality and maturity. No commercial paper maturing in more than 90 days will be issued at an effective interest cost higher than bank borrowings of equal principal amount.

The commercial paper dealer will reoffer the commercial paper, at a discount rate of ⅛ of 1% less than the discount rate at which such notes were purchased from Kentucky, to not more than 200 of the dealer's customers identified and designated in a non-public list prepared by the dealer in advance. No sales of such commercial paper will be made to any customer unless that customer has received up-to-date reports as to the credit position of Kentucky. It is expected that such customers will hold such commercial paper notes to maturity; but if any such customer wishes to resell such commercial paper prior to maturity, the dealer, pursuant to a verbal repurchase agreement, will repurchase such commercial paper and reoffer it to other customers on its non-public list.

The proceeds of the short-term debt incurred by Kentucky will be added to the general funds of Kentucky and used to pay the general obligations of Kentucky, including expenses incurred in its various construction projects, and for other corporate purposes. The estimated cost of Kentucky's net construction program for the year 1982 is estimated to be approximately $205,000,000.

Kentucky seeks on exception from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 pursuant to Rule 50(a)(5) for the issuance and sale of commercial paper because it is not practicable to invite competitive bids for commercial paper and current commercial paper rates for prime borrowers are published daily in financial publications.

The application-declaration and any amendments thereto are available for public inspection through the Commission's Office of Public Reference. Interested persons wishing to comment or request a hearing should submit their views in writing by December 28, 1981, to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, and serve a copy on the applicant-declarants at the addresses specified above. Proof of service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. Any request for a hearing shall identify specifically the issues of fact or law that are disputed. A person who so requests will be notified of any hearing, if ordered, and will receive a copy of any notice or order issued in this matter. After said date, the application-declaration, as amended or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective.

[Release No. 12073; 812-4962]

Midland Capital Corp., et al.; Filing of Application

December 3, 1981.

Notice is hereby given that Midland Capital Corporation (the "Company"), a New York corporation, a business development company regulated under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), and a small business investment company ("SBIC") subject to the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, as amended ("SBIC Act"), Midland Capital Corporation ("New Midland"), a Delaware corporation, a business development company regulated under the Act and a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company, and Midland Venture Capital Limited ("Ventures"), 110 William Street, New York, New York 10038, a Delaware corporation, a business development company regulated under the Act and a wholly-owned subsidiary of New Midland, (together with the Company and New Midland, "Applicants"), filed an application on August 27, 1981, and an amendment thereto on September 23, 1981, requesting an order of the Commission pursuant to Section 57(c) of the Act exempting from the provisions of Section 57(a) of the Act, (1) a proposed merger ("Merger") pursuant to which the Company would merge with and into Ventures, and (2) certain transactions between New Midland and Ventures. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations therein, which are summarized below.

Applicants state that after the proposed Merger, Ventures would be the surviving corporation and, as a licensee of the Small Business Administration ("SBA") under the SBIC Act, Ventures would conduct the Company's SBIC business. Ventures would assume all of the liabilities of the Company, including the Company's currently outstanding subordinated debentures issued to, or guaranteed by, the SBA in the aggregate principal amount of $9,035,000. As a result of the merger, New Midland would issue shares of its common stock to the existing shareholders of the Company (except those duly exercising dissenters' rights of appraisal under New York law) in exchange for outstanding shares of common stock of the Company on a share-for-share basis. Following the Merger, New Midland would provide venture capital equity financing and managerial advisory services to selected businesses which, in the opinion of New Midland's board of directors, have a significant potential for long-term growth and which are permissible investments for business development companies under Section 55(a) of the Act. New Midland would not be an SBIC.

Applicants state that following consummation of the Merger, New Midland and Ventures may enter into the following types of transactions:

(1) New Midland may, from time to time, make additional investments in Ventures by way of contributions to capital, purchases of additional shares of Venture's capital stock or loans;

(2) Ventures may, from time to time, make loans to New Midland; and

(3) Ventures and New Midland may, from time to time, engage in transactions between themselves in the ordinary course of business and jointly participate in investments in unaffiliated third parties.

New Midland and Ventures represent that, as a condition to the issuance of an order granting the application, they will comply with the following:

(1) New Midland will at all times own and hold beneficially and of record all of the outstanding shares of capital stock of Ventures.

(2) Vacancies on the board of directors of Ventures occurring between annual meetings of stockholders will be filled in the manner provided in Section 16(b) of the 1940 Act. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the board of directors of Ventures will be elected by New Midland as the sole stockholder of Ventures, and may be comprised of some, but not all, of the directors of New Midland. All the officers of New Midland will hold corresponding positions with Ventures.

(3) No person shall serve or act as an investment adviser to Ventures unless the directors and stockholders of New Midland shall have taken the action with respect thereto required to be taken by the directors and stockholders of Ventures pursuant to Section 15(a) and Section 15(c) of the Act.

(4) No person shall serve as the independent accountant of Ventures, unless the directors and stockholders of New Midland shall have taken the action with respect thereto required to be taken by the directors and stockholders of Ventures pursuant to Section 32 of the Act.

(5) Subject always to New Midland, individually, and New Midland and Ventures on a consolidated basis, having the asset coverage required by Section 18(a) of the Act, immediately after the issuance or sale of any senior securities representing indebtedness, (a) New Midland may issue and sell its senior securities representing indebtedness in consideration of any loan, extension or renewal thereof made by private arrangement, provided that such senior securities representing indebtedness are not intended to be publicly distributed, and provided further that such senior securities representing indebtedness are not convertible into, exchangeable for, or accompanied by any options to acquire, any equity security except, in the case of New Midland, as permitted by Section 61 of the Act, and (b) Ventures may borrow from the SBA on such basis as the SBA may from time to time lend to SBIC's and as may be permitted under the Act and applicable rules thereunder, provided that New Midland will not guarantee any such borrowings by Ventures. New Midland will not itself, and will not cause or permit Ventures otherwise to issue any class of senior security representing indebtedness.

(6) New Midland and Ventures will file with the Commission, and New Midland will provide its stockholders, the financial statements required by the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and other federal securities laws, on a consolidated basis for New Midland and Ventures and on a separate basis for Ventures. New Midland will also cause Ventures to file with the Commission copies of all reports which Ventures will be required to file with the SBA.

Applicants assert that the Merger will benefit the Company's shareholders since Ventures will continue the Company's SBIC business and continue to be eligible to obtain financing through the issuance of debentures to, or guaranteed by, the SBA at interest rates approximately equal to those paid on borrowings by the United States Treasury, while New Midland would be able to participate in venture capital and other investment opportunities which cannot be undertaken by an SBIC.

Although certain of the contemplated transactions between the parties are permitted under Rule 17d–1, as made applicable to business development companies by Section 57(i), and under Section 21(b) and 62, others may violate Section 57 which states, in pertinent part, that:

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person who is related to a business development company in a manner described in subsection (b) or this section, acting as principal—

(1) knowingly to sell any security or other property to such business development company, unless such sale involves solely (A) securities of which the buyer is the issuer, or (B) securities of which the seller is the issuer and which are part of a general offering to the holders of a class of its securities;

(2) knowingly to purchase from such business development company or from any company controlled by such business development company, any security or other property (except securities of which the seller is the issuer);

(3) Knowingly to borrow money or other property from such business development company or from any company controlled by such business development company (unless the borower is controlled by the lender), exept as permitted in Section 21(b) or Section 62; or

Knowingly to effect any transaction in which such business development company or a company controlled by such business development company is a joint or a joint and several participant with such person in contravention of such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe for the purpose of limiting or preventing participation by such business development company or controlled company on a basis less advantageous than that of such person, except that nothing ~~contained~~ in this paragraph shall be deemed to preclude any person from acting as manager of any underwriting syndicate or other group in which such business development company or controlled company is a participant and receiving compensation therefor.

Applicants state that the consummation of the Merger may violate Section 57(a) of the Act because the Merger may involve the purchase and sale of property between the Company and Ventures and a joint transaction among the Applicants. Applicants also state that the on-going transactions between New Midland and Ventures after consummation of the Merger, including joint transactions between New Midland and Ventures and joint investments by New Midland and Ventures in unaffiliated third parties could involve violations of the provisions of Section 57(a) of the Act. Accordingly Applicants request an exemption from the provisions of Section 57(a) with respect to the proposed transactions of New Midland and Ventures after the consummation of the Merger on the terms and conditions set forth in the application. Section 57(c) provides that, notwithstanding the prohibitions of subsection (a), any person may file with the Commission an application for an order exempting a proposed transaction of the applicant from one or more provisions of such paragraphs. The Commission shall grant such application and issue such order of exemption if evidence establishes that—

(1) the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching of the business development company or its shareholders or partners on the part of any person concerned;

(2) the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of the business development company as recited in the filing made by such company with the Commission under the Securities Act of 1933, its registration statement and reports filed under the Securities Act of 1934, and its reports to shareholders or partners; and

(3) the proposed transaction is consistent with the general purposes of this title.

In support of the application, Applicants submit that the Merger and proposed transactions between New Midland and Ventures following consummation of the Merger are reasonable and fair and involve no overreaching, are consistent with the policies of the Applicants and the general purposes of the Act, and participation in the Merger and other joint transactions by the Applicants are not on different or less advantageous terms.

Applicants submit that the value to be received by the Company's shareholders as a result of the proposed Merger would be identical to the value of their shares of the Company's common stock since the underlying net asset value of New Midland and Ventures on the effective date of the Merger would be identical to that of the Company. The Applicants further submit that the Merger would permit New Midland and Ventures to participate in an expanded range of investment opportunities compared to those of the Company, since Ventures would continue to conduct the Company's SBIC operations while New Midland would be permitted to make a wider range of investments in accordance with Section 55 of the Act. Both New Midland and Ventures will be subject to the provisions of the Act as business development companies. Moreover, since Ventures will be a wholly-owned subsidiary of New Midland, the Merger would have no material economic or regulatory effect on New Midland's stockholders. Applicants submit that, accordingly, the public interest will be protected and the exemption requested is consistent with the policy and provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than December 28, 1981, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission a request in writing for a hearing on the application accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues of fact or law, if any, proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed to: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (priority mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

George A. Fitzsimmons,

Secretary.

[Release No. 18299; (SR-NASD-80-23)]

National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.; Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

December 2, 1981.

On December 8, 1980, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD") 1735 K Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20006, filed with the Commission, pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1) ("Act") and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change[1] which addresses certain recommendations of the Commission's Special Study of the Options Markets ("Options Study") relating to options sales communications.[2]

Notice of the proposed rule change, together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change, was given by issuance of a Commission release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 17374 (December 15, 1980), 21 SEC Docket 967) and by publication in the Federal Register (45 FR 83726 (December 19, 1980)). No comments were received with respect to the proposed rule change.

The Commission previously approved uniform rule proposals submitted by the options exchanges and the New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") in response to the Options Study recommendations, including those concerning options sales communications.[3] In conjunction with those rules, the exchanges also submitted for Commission review a booklet for distribution to their members containing guidelines designed to assist in the preparation of advertisements and sales communications.

For the most part, the proposed NASD rules are identical to the uniform exchange options sales communication rules. They do, however, differ from the uniform rules in certain respects. For example, the NASD proposal does not include the uniform rules' "good taste and truthfulness" standard for options sales communications. Nor does the NASD proposal require that options sales communications contain certain disclosures pertaining to the advisability of engaging in options trading.[4] Finally, the NASD rule proposal does not require that all advertisements be submitted to an SRO for prior approval at least ten days before its proposed use. Rather, the NASD would only require that advertisements and certain other option-related communications be submitted to the NASD Advertising Department for prior review ten or more days before their proposed use.

While the Commission would have preferred that the NASD adopt the uniform exchange options sale communications rules in their entirety, the Commission does not believe that the deviations in the NASD rules generally raise significant regulatory concerns. The "good taste and truthfulness" provision in the uniform rules was intended by the exchanges to provide guidance to their member firms regarding statements that might be fraudulent or misleading, but generally was not intended to create a new substantive disclosure standard. Accordingly, its omission will not result in a measurable decrease in investor protection. Similarly, the Commission does not believe that the absence of the warnings contained in the uniform rules concerning the advisability of investing in options in and of itself would render options sales communications misleading.

Finally, the Commission is of the view that the substitution by the NASD of a prior review standard for the prior approval requirement in the uniform rules will be of limited significance. First, we do not believe that in most instances a firm would use an advertisement in the face of a strong NASD staff objection. Second, the rule will have limited application. In this regard, the uniform exchange rules provide that member firms may satisfy the requirement for prior approval of options advertisements by submitting them to another SRO having a comparable rule. Since the NASD rule only calls for prior review, and not approval, of options advertisements, it is not in the Commission's view comparable to the uniform exchange rules. Accordingly, exchange member firms would not be able to satisfy the uniform exchange requirement by submitting options advertisements for prior review to the NASD.

The Commission believes that the subject proposal adequately addresses the major concerns underlying the Options Study sales communications recommendations. Accordingly, the Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities association and, in particular, the requirements of Section 15A and the rules and regulations thereunder.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the above-mentioned proposed rule change be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

[4] The uniform rules state that all options advertisements and sales communications should contain a warning that options are not for everyone. They also provide that it should not be suggested that options are suitable for all investors. The NASD proposal omits the first requirement and replaces the second with a provision that it should not be suggested that speculative options strategies are suitable for most investors, or for small investors.

New York Stock Exchange, Inc.; Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

December 2, 1981.

On October 20, 1981, the New York Stock Exchange, Inc., ("NYSE") 11 Wall Street, New York, N.Y. 10005, filed with the Commission, pursuant to section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78(s)(b)(1) ("Act") and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change to amend NYSE Rule 409 to remove the provision which permits a member organization to address confirmations, statements and other communications to a husband having power of attorney over his wife's account, without the wife's express written instructions to do so, and without providing her with duplicate copies.

Notice of the proposed rule change together with the terms of substance of the proposed rule change was given by issuance of a Commission Release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 18206, October 23, 1981) and by publication in the Federal Register (46 FR 53571, October 29, 1981). No comments were received with respect to the proposed rule filing.

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities exchange, in general, and, the requirements of Rules 10b-10 and 15c3-2, in particular.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the above-mentioned proposed rule change be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation pursuant to delegated authority.

[Release No. 22291; (70-6097)]

System Fuels, Inc.; Proposal by Fuel Procurement Subsidiary To Make Borrowings From Its Public-Utility Parent Companies for Its Fuel Supply Programs

December 2, 1981.

In the Matter of System Fuels, Inc., Noro Plaza, 666 Poydras, New Orleans, Louisiana 70130; Arkansas Power & Light Company, First National Building, Little Rock, Arkansas 72203; Louisiana Power & Light Company, 142 Delaronde Street, New Orleans, Louisiana 70174; Mississippi Power & Light Company, Electric Building, Jackson, Mississippi 39205; and New Orleans Public Service Inc., 317 Baronne Street, New Orleans, Louisiana 70112.

System Fuels, Inc. ("SFI"), a fuel procurement subsidiary of Arkansas Power & Light Company, Louisiana Power & Light Company, Mississippi Power & Light Company, and New Orleans Public Service Inc. (collectively the "Operating Companies"), each a subsidiary of Middle South Utilities, Inc., a registered holding company, and the Operating Companies have filed a post-effective amendment to the application-declaration in this proceeding pursuant to sections 6(a), 7, 9(a), 10, 12(b), and 13 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") and Rules 45, 90, and 91 promulgated thereunder.

By order dated December 31, 1980 (HCAR No. 21871) in this matter, SFI was authorized to make additional long-term borrowings of up to $207,000,000 through December 31, 1981, from the Operating Companies in order to finance, in part, SFI's fuel procurement, storage, and transportation activities. It is estimated that pursuant to such authorization $87,500,000 will be outstanding on December 31, 1981. SFI intends to enter into a further amendment to its Loan Agreement, dated January 4, 1978, with the Operating Companies to provide for proposed additional borrowings in 1982 of up to $259,500,000 through December 31, 1982. Any amounts outstanding as of December 31, 1981, will be converted into loans under the Loan Agreement. Consequently, the amount of borrowings which have been, or are proposed to be, made under the Loan Agreement through December 31, 1982, is estimated to be $327,000,000, which amount will be adjusted to reflect the actual amount of loans outstanding at December 31, 1981. It is presently contemplated that additional net capital of $31,000,000 will be required for SFI's fuel supply programs during 1882, as follows:

Fuel supply program	Amount
A. Exploration & development expenditures	$8,200,000
B. Uranium exploration	9,200,000
C. Nuclear fuel procurement	72,300,000
D. Coal procurement	5,900,000
E. Fuel oil procurement, storage & handling	12,600,000
F. Natural gas procurement	2,000,000
Gross capital requirements	110,200,000
Less:
Depreciation & Amortization	2,200,000
Funds generated by sales of gas, crude oil, and condensate	20,000,000
External financing	57,000,000
Net capital requirements	31,000,000

Under the Loan Agreement, each Operating Company will agree to make loans which will mature on December 31, 2007, to SFI until December 31, 1982, in aggregate principal amounts at any one time outstanding up to but not exceeding the following:

Operating companies	Commitment
Arkansas Power & Light Company	$107,595,000
Louisiana Power & Light Company	138,460,000
Mississippi Power & Light Company	50,610,000
New Orleans Public Service Inc.	30,335,000
Total	$327,000,000

The amounts of the commitments include $67,500,000 assumed to be outstanding under the 1981 Loan Agreement at December 31, 1981, and will vary to reflect the loans actually outstanding at that time. Each Operating Company's commitment to make additional loans in 1982 is equal to an amount in such proportion as its kilowatt-hour sales for the twelve months ended September 30, 1981, bear to the total kilowatt-hour sales of the Operating Companies for that period, computed in both cases by including sales to rural electric cooperatives and municipalities but excluding sales to other public utilities.

The obligation of SFI to repay the loans made by each Operating Company under the Loan Agreement shall be evidenced by the promissory note ("Note") of SFI in the principal amount equal to such Operating Company's commitment and payable to the order of such Operating Company on December 31, 2007. SFI will authorize each Operating Company to endorse on the reverse side of the Note payable to such Operating Company and appropriate notation evidencing its pro rata share of the loans made to SFI under the Loan Agreement and each prepayment and payment of principal with respect to such loans. Each loan will be made pro rata according to the commitments. Simultaneously with the delivery of the Notes and their appropriate notation for borrowings outstanding at December 31, 1981, under the 1981 Loan Agreement, the Notes issued under the 1981 Loan Agreement which evidence such borrowings will be returned to SFI and cancelled.

Each Note will bear interest on the unpaid principal balance thereof, adjustable monthly on the first day of each month, at an annual rate for such month equal to the annual rate of interest borne on the last day of the preceding month by the short-term bank borrowings of the Operating Company to which such note shall have been issued. If, on the last day of any month, such Operating Company shall have short-term bank borrowings bearing more than one rate of interest, the highest rate shall apply. If, on the last day of any month, such Operating Company shall not have any short-term bank borrowings, the prime commercial rate generally charged by commercial banks in New York City on such day shall apply. The loans will be prepayable at any time in any amount without premium or penalty. Each prepayment on account of the unpaid principal balance of the notes will be made by SFI to the Operating Companies pro rata in accordance with their respective percentage shares of the commitments. The rights and obligations of the parties under the Loan Agreement will be subject to certain restrictions relating principally to the payment or prepayment by SFI of its indebtedness to the Operating Companies during the terms of certain other agreements.

SFI also requests that the existing authorization be extended through December 31, 1982, for the following: (1) The Operating Companies, in connection with a transaction in the ordinary course of SFI's fuel supply business and not involving the issuance of a security, to assure any party contracting with SFI that the Operating Companies will, in accordance with their respective shares of ownership of the Common Stock of SFI, take such action as may be appropriate from time to time to keep SFI in a sound financial condition so that it may discharge its obligations under the particular contract; and (2) To have personnel employed by the other companies in the System perform services for SFI at cost where it is more economical and efficient for such personnel to perform such services.

It is requested that the companies be authorized to file certificates under Rule 24 with respect to the proposed transactions on a quarterly basis.

The application-declaration, as now amended, and any further amendments thereto are available for public inspection through the Commission's Office of PUblic Reference. Interested persons wishing to comment or request a hearing should submit their views in writing by December 28, 1981, to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commisison, Washington, D.C. 20549, and serve a copy on the applicants-declarants at the addresses specified above. Proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. Any request for a hearing shall identify specifically the issues of fact or law that are disputed. A person who so requests will be notified of any hearing, if ordered, and will receive a copy of any notice or order issued in this matter. After said date, the application-declaration, as now amended or as it may be further amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

On December 5, 1974, Applicant, a Maryland Corporation, filed a registration statement pursuant to Section 8(b) of the Act. Its registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 was declared effective on March 17, 1975 and an initial public offering was commenced immediately thereafter.

Applicant represents that on March 23, 1979 it redeemed all of its outstanding shares and thereby distributed all of its remaining assets to its only shareholder, Waddell and Reed, Inc.

Applicant represents that it has no debts or other outstanding liabilities; it has no assets or securityholders, and it is not a party to any litigation or administrative proceedings. Applicant states that within the last 18 months it has not for any reason transferred any of its assets to a separate trust. Finally, Applicant states that it is not now engaged, and does not propose to engage in any business activity. According to Applicant, it intends to file articles of dissolution as required under Maryland law.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that whenever the Commission, on its own motion or upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order, and upon the effectiveness of such order, the registration of such company under the Act shall cease to be in effect.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than December 28, 1981, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing, a request for a hearing on the application accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his or her interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he or she may request that he or she be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

[Release No. 22295; 70–6671]

Yankee Atomic Electric Co.; Proposed Issuance and Sale of Short-Term Notes to Banks and Commercial Paper to a Commercial Paper Dealer; Request for Exception From Competitive Bidding Requirement

December 3, 1981.

Yankee Atomic Electric Company ("Yankee Atomic"), 1671 Worcester Road, Framingham, MA 01701, an electric utility subsidiary company of New England Electric System ("NEES") and Northeast Utilities ("NU"), registered holding companies, has filed an application-declaration pursuant to Sections 6(a) and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") and Rules 42(B)(2), 50(a)(2), and 50(a)(5) promulgated thereunder.

Yankee Atomic proposes to issue and sell short-term notes to banks and commercial paper to a commercial paper dealer from time to time through December 31, 1982, up to a maximum aggregate principal amount of $16,000,000 outstanding at any time. The notes will be sold to the Bank of Nova Scotia or the Bank of Nova Scotia International (Curacao), N.V. ("Banks") and the commercial paper will be sold to A.G. Becker and Company, Incorporated ("Becker"), a comercial paper dealer. The proceeds will be used to finance the cost of nuclear fuel, capitalizable expenditures and other corporate purposes. The proposed short-term borrowings will be repaid from internally generated funds, from additional short-term borrowings, or through permanent financing, subject to requisite Commisison authorization.

Under an Operating/Standby Credit Agreement between Yankee Atomic and the Banks, proposed borrowings will be evidenced by a note payable maturing in less than twelve months from the date of issuance. Voluntary prepayment, in whole or in part, is not subject to premium or penalty. However, if Yankee Atomic makes a voluntary prepayment on advances by The Bank of Nova Scotia International (Curacao), N.V., on other than a London Interbank Offered Rate ("LIBO Rate") rollover date, Yankee Atomic is required to compensate this bank for any loss or expense it might incur as a result of such payment. Advances made by The Bank of Nova Scotia shall bear interest at a rate per annum which at all times shall be equal to ½of 1% above this bank's base rate. Borrowings from The Bank of Nova Scotia International (Curacao), N.V., shall bear interest equal to ¾of 1% above this bank's 1, 2, 3, 6 or 9 month LIBO Rate as selected from time to time by Yankee Atomic. On a monthly basis, the Company is to pay a standby fee equal to ⅜of 1% per annum on the average daily unborrowed portion of the line of credit under said Credit Agreement. Assuming borrowings of one-half the line of credit, based on the current base rate of 15¾% and using the 6 month LIBO rate of 12^{13}⁄$_{16}$%, the effective interest cost to Yankee Atomic under borrowings with The Bank of Nova Scotia and Bank of Nova Scotia International, would be 16.63% and 13.94%, respectively.

The commercial paper would be issued and sold through December 31, 1981, directly to Becker. Becker, as a principal, will reoffer such commercial paper to not more than 100 of its customers whose names appear on a non-public list prepared in advance by Becker. No additions will be made to such list of customers. Each list includes commercial banks, insurance companies, pension funds, investment trusts, foundations, colleges and universities, municipal and state benefit funds, eleemosynary institutions, finance companies and non-financial corporations. It is expected that such commercial paper will be held to maturity by the purchasers. However, should any purchaser wish to resell prior to maturity, Becker, pursuant to an oral repurchase agreement, will repurchase the paper for resale to others on the list of customers. The commercial paper will be in the form of unsecured promissory notes having varrying maturities of not in excess of 270 days, will be in denominations of not less than $50,000 nor more than $1,000,000 and will not by its terms be prepayable prior to maturity. It will be purchased by Becker from Yankee Atomic at a discount which will not be in excess of the discount rate per annum prevailing at the date of issuance for commercial paper of comparable quality and maturity sold by public utility issuers to commercial paper dealers. Becker will initially reoffer the commercial paper at a discount rate not exceeding ⅛of 1% per annum les than the prevailing discount rate to Yankee Atomic. No commercial paper notes having a maturity of more than 90 days will be issued at an effective interest cost which exceeds the effective interest cost at which Yankee Atomic could borrow from The Bank of Nova Scotia or The Bank of Nova Scotia International (Curacao), N.V.

Yankee Atomic seeks an exception from the competitive bidding requirments of Rule 50 pursuant to Rule 50(a)(5) for the issuance of commercial paper because the commercial paper will mature within nine months, the effective interest costs with the exception stated above will not exceed the effective interest cost for the proposed bank borrowings, rates for prime borrowers are available from daily financial publications, and the publications of invitations for bids for commercial paper is not practical.

The application-declaration and any amendments thereto are available for public inspection through the Commission's Office of Public Reference. Interested persons wishing to comment or request a hearing should submit their views in writing by December 28, 1981, to the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, and serve a copy on the applicant-declarant at the address specified above. Proof of service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. Any request for a hearing shall identify specifically the issues of fact or law that are disputed. A person who so requests will be notified of any hearing, if ordered, and will receive a copy of any notice or order issued in this matter. After said date the application-declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

Multiple Trading of Non-equity Options; Policy Statement

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Policy statement.

SUMMARY: The Commission announces its determination not to designate a single exchange as the exclusive market place for the trading of standardized options on particular non-equity securities.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 2, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Richard T. Chase, Office of Self-Regulatory Oversight, Division of Market Regulation, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, DC 20549, (202) 272-2405.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

In its 1980 release announcing the termination of the options moratorium, the Commission identified certain potential benefits that could result from the expansion of multiple trading in equity options:

> [A]n expansion of multiple trading in options may be beneficial to public investors and market professionals. In addition to the direct effects of intermarket competition in terms of increased depth and liquidity, multiple markets provide broakers and dealers with alternative markets in which to execute orders for a particular options class, thereby assuring that securities market participants are given an effective means of influencing market centers to provide more efficient pricing, execution and clearing services. Moreover, without the discipline provided through competition among market makers and among market centers resulting from multiple trading, the Commission would have to assume an undesirable oversight role in the allocation of securities to particular markets.[1]

The Commission also addressed certain concerns that historically have been associated with multiple trading of equity options. For example, the Commission noted that, to the extent multiple trading results in a significant dispersion of order flow among markets, it could raise concerns regarding market fragmentation, which could result in price disparities (particularly at the opening) and difficulties by broakers in obtaining best execution of their customers' orders. Moreover, the Commission stated that, because of the "primary market" phenomenon,[2] any competition resulting from multiple trading likely would be transitory at best.[3] The Commission also was concerned that expansion of multiple trading of equity options in the current market environment might adversely affect to a material degree the financial condition of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange ("Phlx") and the Pacific Stock Exchange ("PSE"), thereby jeopardizing the ability of these regional exchanges to participate as meaningful competitors in the continuing development of a national market system for stocks.[4]

The Commission concluded that, under appropriate circumstances, the benefits of multiple trading of equity options appeared to outweigh the potential adverse consequences. Nevertheless, the Commission expressed the view that the near term development of market integration facilities might create a fairer, more efficient market structure within which multiple trading could occur and deferred further action on multiple trading to afford the self-regulatory organizations ("SROs") an opportunity to examine whether and to what extent the development of such facilities would alleviate market fragmentation concerns and maximize competitive opportunities. On September 2, 1981, a joint SFRO task force formed to address the feasibility of such market integration facilities submitted its final report to the Commission, which, in general, concluded that market integration facilities for equity options are not feasible.[5] Accordingly, without endorsing the findings of the joint task force, it does not appear to the Commission that there is any present prospect that such facilities will be developed.

In its order approving the Chicago Board Options Exchange's ("CBOE") proposal to trade GNMA options, however, the Commission stated, as a preliminary matter, that it did not believe its decision to defer consideration of whether to permit expansion of multiple trading in equity options should apply to options on non-equity securities ("non-equity options").[6] In reaching this determination, the Commission noted that "franchising" or allocation of non-equity options would be more difficult than the allocation of stock options because of the limited

[2] The primary market phenomenom refers to the tendency of one exchange ultimately to receive the preponderance of trading volume in a particular option. Since most large retail firms generally designate one market to which they automatically route virtually all of their retail order flow in a particular options class, largely on the basis of the relative trading volume attracted by each exchange, primary market designation in effect becomes a "self fulfilling prophecy," and accordingly, any real intermarket competition for public order flow occurs for the short term only. number of optionable non-equity instruments and the problems associated with determining whether proposed options contracts on the same underlying instrument were sufficiently distinctive to constitute different options. In addition, the Commission observed that multiple trading of non-equity options does not give rise to the same concerns regarding the financial viability of any of the current options exchanges, since no potential market has committed significant resources to non-equity options trading on the basis of exclusive franchising and no functioning market structure would be threatened by such multiple trading.

The Commission solicited public comment on the preliminary views it expressed in the CBOE order in publishing notice of the New York Stock Exchange's ("NYSE") GNMA options proposal [7] and in soliciting public comment on the Treasury options proposals of the American Stock Exchange ("Amex"), CBOE and NYSE.[8] The existing options exchanges, other than Amex (which has not expressed an opinion), have expressed opposition to multiple trading of non-equity options,[9] as has the Options Committee of the Securities Industry Association ("SIA")[10] and those broker-dealers that have commented.[11] The NYSE has indicated that it favors multiple trading of debt options.[12] In addition, the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board have indicated that they are not opposed to multiple trading of non-equity options.[13]

The industry commentators opposing multiple trading of non-equity options believe that the major concerns raised in the stock options context—market fragmentation and unfair competition between markets—also are present in the non-equity options context. These commentators contend that market fragmentation resulting from multiple trading of non-equity options would lead to a dilution of capital, investor confusion, and increased costs for brokers, and ultimately, the investing public.[14] The three options exchanges submitting comments assert that multiple trading will result in unfair competition between markets, particularly if NYSE entry were permitted. In this latter regard, they contend that NYSE could unfairly use the power and resources derived from its dominance in the stock market to subsidize its position in the non-equity options market. In addition, they contend that because of NYSE's stock market dominance its stock specialists will have the ability to exert pressure on members firms to send options orders to the NYSE.

In Addition, the CBOE maintains that multiple trading would impose certain other burdens on competition by permitting exchanges merely to copy and market non-equity options products developed by another exchange. Thus, the CBOE contends that multiple trading would discourage innovation, research and development of new options products. It also alleges that the unitary specialist system (proposed by Amex and NYSE for their debt options markets), by vesting monopoly powers in a single specialist, would confer an unfair competitive advantage on those markets over the competitive market making system proposed by CBOE for its debt options markets.[15] For example, the CBOE asserts that a specialist, as the custodian of the limit order book, has the ability to subsidize its dealer function with earnings derived from brokerage activity, unlike competitive market makers who are prohibited from concurrently acting as floor brokers in options classes in which they act as market makers.

To resolve the competitive and other problems perceived to result from multiple trading, CBOE proposes that the first exchange to develope a product should be given exclusive trading rights in that product.[16] Phlx and PSE instead propose that each interested exchange be allowed to trade one non-equity option on a pilot basis.

The NYSE states that the same factors that lead it to favor multiple trading of equity options apply to non-equity options. In particular, the NYSE contends that the 1975 Securities Act Amendments, "by embodying a clear legislative mandate for maximum competition among orders, among market centers and among market markers, implicitly preclude the alternative of arbitrarily restricting, by government fiat, trading in any security to any single market center." [17] The FRB stated that multiple trading of options on exempt securities need not pose a problem for the functioning of the Treasury securities markets, provided contracts are properly specified and that surveillance and regulation by the exchanges and Commission are effectively carried out. [18] The Treasury Department stated that "competition among the exchanges is healthy and thus [we] do not object to multiple listings." It also concurred with the Commission's preliminary view that " 'regulatory intervention' should not be substituted 'for market forces as the arbiter of contract and market design.' " [19]

II. Discussion

The Commission is not persuaded by the comments it has received to alter its preliminary conclusion that multiple listings of non-equity options shoud be permitted. As indicated in its February 26, 1981 release, restricting trading of particular non-equity options ot one exchange market place would widen the Commission's role in allocating marketing franchises. [20] The Commission believes that competitive forces should be permitted to define the structure of the non-equity options markets to the maximum extent possible. Moreover, the Commission recognizes that the "primary market" phenomenon witnessed in the stock option markets would also be likely to appear in the non-equity options markets and, therefore, that fragmentation concerns associated with order-by-order price competition among competing exchanges represent a most unlikely longer term problem. Viewed from this perspective, the Commission believes that it is preferable, as matter of regulatory policy, to defer to the marketplace to select the surviving, or at least the dominant, market for new non-equity options products.

In this regard, certain of the concerns which have prompted the Commission to defer a decision with respect to the expansion of multiple listings of equity options, particularly relating to possible adverse structural changes in the options markets and a decrease in competition in other areas, are not present in the context of a prospective market for options on non-equity securities. No potential market for non-equity options currently is substantially reliant on revenue flow from the trading of non-equity options, nor is there any existing market structure that would be disrupted by multiple listings. Accordingly, the Commission believes that multiple listings of non-equity options would not have the potential to jeopardize any market place's financial stability or its ability to participate in other areas of the securities markets.

Further, the allocation of non-equity options by government franchising would be significantly more difficult because apparently there is a limited number of optionable non-equity instruments. The CBOE has stated that at this stage the Commission should not assume that the number of new options products is limited, asserting that each interested securities exchange is likely to have one or more new product proposals in addition to those that already have been submitted.[21] Even assuming the CBOE assessment is correct, this situation nevertheless is far different from the equity options markets.

For example, when the Commission deferred expansion of multiple trading in equity options when the moratorium ended, the existing options exchanges initially were able to select 60 new underlying stocks in addition to the almost 220 stocks on which options were already traded.[22] Given the significantly lesser number of non-equity instruments available for options trading, problems inevitably would arise concerning the method to be used in allocating those instruments among the exchanges.

Moreover, the Commission would be required to make difficult decisions concerning whether contracts on the same underlying instrument were sufficiently distinct to in effect constitute different instruments. The CBOE has suggested that more than one exchange should be permitted to trade options on the same or similar underlying instrument only if there are "meaningful variations" in their proposed options contracts.[23] Such a standard, however, would prove very difficult to apply in practice. For example, the Commission could be faced with deciding whether an option on a "market basket" of Treasury bonds was sufficiently distinct from options contracts on individual Treasury bond issues, whether 13 week and 26 week Treasury bills should be considered separate underlying instruments or whether a GNMA option with an 8 percent nominal coupon rate should be considered distinct from one with a 12 percent nominal coupon rate.[24]

As a result of the practical difficulties in identifying "meaningful variations" in contract design on the same or related underlying instruments, goverment allocation of non-equity options could effectively eliminate the possibility of competition among exchanges on the basis of such variations, a phenomenon that has occurred to some extent in the futures markets,[25] and apparently has occurred with respect to the Amex, CBOE and NYSE proposed Treasury options contracts.[26] The three commenting options exchanges, however, assert that multiple listings would permit exchanges merely to copy and market nonequity options products developed by another exchange and therefore would discourage innovation, research and development of new options products. To alleviate this concern the CBOE has proposed that the first exchange to develop a product should be given exclusive rights in that product. Phlx and PSE instead propose that each interested exchange be allowed to trade one non-equity option as a pilot.

The Commission is of course concerned that its actions designed to promote competition and innovation in the nonequity options markets not, in effect, produce an opposite result. The Commission, however, is not persuaded that multiple listings of non-equity options would have such an effect.[27] Rather, the Commission continues to believe that unrestricted inter-exchange competition in the non-equity options markets is the approach most likely to result in the development of options contracts best suited to the economic needs of market participants.[28]

[21] CBOE letter supra note 9, at 4.

[22] There are a number of other stocks that are eligible for options trading under the exchanges' current listing standards that have not been selected by the exchanges. In addition, if proposed amendments to the options listing standards recently filed by the options exchanges are approved, the Commission understands that 70 or more new stocks may be eligible for options trading. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 18152 (October 6, 1981).

[23] CBOE letter, supra note 9, at 4.

[24] In this regard, a recent study of the futures markets concludes that, with respect to competition between competing futures contracts, "[m]any minor components of contract design that seem trivial at first * * * ultimately prove crucial." Silber, William L., "Innovation Competition, and New Contract Design in "Futures Markets," J. of Futures Markets at 145 (1981) ("Silber article").

[25] For example, in 1963 the Commodities Exchange, Inc. ("COMEX") introduced a 10,000 ounces silver futures contract, which remained the only silver contract traded until 1969, when the Chicago Board of Trade ("CBT") commenced trading of a 5,000 ounce contract. Because the 5,000 ounce contract proved to be of a size better suited to hedger needs and speculator interest, the CBT started to capture a substantial portion of the silver futures market. The CBT's market share only stabilized after COMEX changed over to a 5,000 ounce contract. In this manner, multiple listings appear to have facilitated the development of a more economically useful silver futures contract.

[26] While in many respects the exchanges' Treasury options proposals are similar, several differences exist. For example, CBOE does not propose to maintain a limit order book for any of its Treasury options contracts. Amex and NYSE apparently anticipate that the specialists for their Treasury options classes would maintain a limit order book. Similarly, each exchange initially proposed to trade $100,000 Treasury note and bond contracts and $1 million Treasury bill contracts. Subsequently, however, Amex proposed to introduce additional contracts of smaller denominations, an approach later adopted by CBOE and NYSE. Each exchange also initially proposed to trade options only on specific Treasury bond issues. CBOE has since also proposed to trade a "market basket" Treasury bond options contract.

[27] The concerns of the commenting options exchanges have not been borne out in the futures markets. See e.g., Silber articles at 124–129, 145, where Silber concluded that competition is a "powerful force" in innovation and improving contract design in the futures markets.

[28] The CBOE argued that its alternative would not preclude the possibility of exchange competition on the basis of contract design. In its view, the trading of options on the same instrument on two separate exchanges would not constitute multiple trading if the terms of the second exchange's options contracts were sufficiently different to provide a meaningful economic alternative to the first exchange's options contract. The difficulties that the Commission would confront in determining the extent to which the terms of two options contracts would be required to deviate in order to avoid the multiple trading question have been noted above. While the CBOE argues that the comments received from the industry concerning a proposed new contract will generally make it clear whether the difference between proposed contract designs relating to the same product are sufficiently meaningful to avoid the problem of multiple trading.

Continued

Further, multiple listings of options on non-equity instruments could generate other benefits. For example, multiple listings should enhance price competition among exchange markets, at least until the emergence of a primary market for a particular options contract. It also would permit competition among exchanges on the basis of additional factors such as quality of markets and quality of execution and back office services. Without multiple listings, inter-market competition can take place only on the basis of product selection, i.e., once an exchange receives a franchise in a particular debt instrument, other exchanges can compete for order flow in the debt options market only by trading options on other debt instruments. Even after the emergence of a dominant exchange for a particular contract, multiple listings may provide salutary competitive effects. Specifically, price competition may continue to be viable for larger orders which are individually handled by brokerage firms' traders. In addition, the existence of potential competitors may encorage the primary market to continue to provide quality markets and enhanced services to investors and the brokerage community, and would provide alternate markets for investors dissatisfied with the quality of the market or services on the primary exchange.

In the Commission's view these benefits outweight the possible negative effects of multiple listings of non-equity options. The principal concerns relating to multiple trading in the past concern fragmentation of the market and unfair competition. While at least initially multiple trading of non-equity options may raise the possibility of market fragmentation, to the extent the primary market phenomenon continues in the non-equity options context, any fragmentation that may occur will dissipate with the emergence of a dominant exchange. Moreover, the potential benefits in terms of narrowing of spreads resulting from inter-market competition prior to the emergency of a primary market in the Commission's view outweigh the potential adverse effect of fragmentation during that time.[29]

The SIA Options Committee has asserted that even though a primary market for a particular option eventually emerges, investors are adversely affected by the perpetuation of second place markets that generate poor executions and create customer dissatisfaction. Past multiple trading experience has shown, however, as a practical matter, that firms generally direct customer orders to the primary market.[30] Moreover, significant pricing disparities between markets for multiply listed stock options classes has been infrequent.[31]

Further, the CBOE, Phlx and PSE have expressed concern that the NYSE will enjoy unfair competitive advantages in the non-equity options market because of its dominance in the stock market. The Commission believes that the concerns associated with NYSE entry into the equity options market [32] generally are of little relevance in the context of non-equity options. In particular, it is unclear whether the NYSE's prominence as the primary stock exchange will convey any substantial competitive advantage in the generally unrelated non-equity options markets, particularly since it will be competing against exchanges with established options programs.[33] The Commission recognizes that to the extent there is an overlap between the participants in the stock markets and the non-equity options markets, NYSE stock specialists theoretically could attempt to divert options business to the NYSE by taking unfair advantage of their position in the stock market. The Commission does not believe it would be appropriate, however, to preclude the NYSE from participating as a competitor in the developing non-equity options market because of such theoretical concerns. Of course, should the Commission in the future become aware that any market participants are engaging in competitive practices inconsistent with the federal securities laws it will take appropriate remedial action at that time.

Finally, and wholly aside from the continuing debate as to whether multiple trading is desirable or harmful, the proposal that the Commission should allocate particular non-equity option contracts to particular exchanges raises a serious question as to whether this is a proper function for the Commission as a government agency. This is a question which must be addressed by the Commission and as to which it cannot properly defer to the SRO's or the securities industry.

There may be circumstances where such government intervention is necessary but we do not believe that this is a such case. We believe that market forces and competition with Commission oversight will allocate as well or better than we could. In addition, we do not desire to commit our limited resources to deciding difficult and complex questions as to whether a particular contract is sufficiently unlike other contracts as to constitute a different product. More fundamentally, and particularly in this period of deregulation, we do not think it appropriate for us to displace by government action the workings of the free markets.

Conclusion

In view of the foregoing, the Commission is issuing this release to announce its determination not to designate a single exchange as the exclusive market place for the trading of standardized options on particular non-equity instruments.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

OFFICE OF THE UNITED STATES TRADE REPRESENTATIVE

Machine Forming Sections; Request for Public Comments: Certain Headboxes and Papermaking

On October 19, 1981, the United States International Trade Commission (the Commission) found a violation of section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930 in the importation into the United States of certain multi-ply headboxes and papermaking machine forming sections, manufactured by Aktiebolaget Karlstads Mekaniska Werkstad of Karlstad, Sweden, which were held to infringe claims of two U.S. letters patent thereby causing substantial injury to an efficiently and economically operated the Commission does not believe that this kind of determination is an appropriate one for the Commission to make prior to actual trading experience. Rather, competitive market forces should be the ultimate arbiter of whether variations in contract design are in fact meaningful.

[29] To evaluate the effects of multiple trading, the Options Study obtained data from each options exchange concerning the liquidity, continuity and depth in multiple traded options for periods before and after the initiation of multiple trading. The data generated by this study showed an improvement in market quality in each respect. While the Options Study cautioned that the data obtained might not be sufficient to support broad conculsions, it concluded that they suggest that multiple trading may improve market quality in the short run. [30] The Commisison is not suggesting, however, that under all circumstances a firm is justified in routing all customer orders to a "primary" market.

[31] To the extent pricing disparities between markets for multiply traded options develop, professional arbitrage generally will rapidly eliminate such disparities.

[32] See Options Study at 870–825.

domestic industry. An order was issued excluding the articles in question from importation into the United States.

Under section 337(g), the President may disapprove the determination of the Commission for policy reasons within sixty days of the date following receipt of the determination and record. Disapproval by the President would cause the determination and order of the Commission to be without force or effect. The President also may approve the determination expressly, making it final on the date the Commission receives notice, or he may take no action, allowing the order to become final following the sixty day period provided for review.

Interested parties are invited to submit comments concerning foreign or domestic policy issues which should be considered by the President in making his decision regarding the case. Parties submitting comments regarding domestic policy issues should refer to the portion of the Commission record in which information or comment concerning that issue was presented. If no presentation of the domestic policy issue being raised was made to the Commission, the interested party should include justification for having failed to make such a presentation. The Trade Representative will be reluctant to review comments concerning domestic policy issues not included in the Commission proceeding, absent adequate justification for the failure of the interested party to present the issue before the Commission. Because foreign policy issues are considered only during the Presidential review, interested parties need not refer to the Commission record to submit comments based upon foreign policy.

Comments submitted should not be longer than 15 double spaced, letter sized pages, including attachments. The original and 19 copies of the submission should be delivered no later than close of business Friday, December 18, 1981, to the Secretary, Trade Policy Staff Committee, 600 17th St., NW., Washington, D.C. 20506. For further information call Alice Zalik 395–3432.

FM Table of Assignments; Policies and Procedures and Assignment of Air-Ground Channel 1 to Memphis, Tenn.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

47 CFR Part 1

[BC Docket No. 80-130; FCC 81-538]

Amendment of Policies and Procedures for Amending the FM Table of Assignments of the Commission's Rules

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action eliminated the pre-Notice of Proposed Rule Making stage of the rule making proceeding to amend the FM and Television Tables of Assignments. The filing of a petition to amend the FM or Television Table will henceforth be announced and comments solicited thereon by a Notice of Proposed Rule Making issued after receipt of the petition. This action is necessary to expedite processing of petitions for rulemaking.

EFFECTIVE DATE: November 12, 1981.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mark N. Lipp, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

In the matter of amendment of policies and procedures for amending the FM Table of Assignments, § 73.202(b) of the Commission's rules, BC Docket No. 80-130.

First Report and Order

Adopted: November 12, 1981.

Released: November 20, 1981.

1. The Commission is presently considering major revisions to the policies and procedures utilized to process petitions to amend the FM Tables of Assignments (§§ 73.202(b) and 73.504(a) of the Commission's rules). In the Notice of Proposed Rule Making, 45 FR 26390, published April 18, 1980, we proposed several substantive changes in the policies we apply in considering requests to add new FM channel assignments to various communities. In addition, we suggested a procedural modification in order to reduce the processing time in the disposition of such cases. We still have under consideration the proposed substantive changes and do not plan to discuss those proposals herein. However, we are now in a position to adopt the procedural change concerning the pre-Notice of Proposed Rule Making stage so as not to delay its implementation any further.

2. In originally proposing to eliminate the pre-Notice stage in FM Table cases, we realized that such a purely procedural change did not require a full notice and comment rulemaking proceeding under the Administrative Procedure Act. 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(3)(A). However, we were opening a broad inquiry into more substantive standards applicable to these cases, and it seemed appropriate to solicit comments on this procedural change as well. Having reviewed the comments, we believe that elimination of the pre-Notice stage is warranted. We further believe that a similar change is warranted with regard to the procedures governing the handling of petitions to amend the Television Table of Assignments (§ 73.606(b) of the Commission's rules). Because these changes are purely procedural in nature, they can be accomplished for cases involving the TV Table as well as the FM Tables without further notice and comment proceedings.

3. As stated in the Notice, the rulemaking process is initiated by the submission of a petition which is analyzed to determine whether it is acceptable. This determination involves mostly technical considerations. If additional information is needed, acceptance may be delayed until the information is received. Announcement of the acceptance is made by Public Notice and a rulemaking number is given. Comments are permitted for a specified period (30 days for initial comments; 15 days for replies). Some time later, depending on the current backlog, the Notice of Proposed Rule Making is issued (assuming the proposal has merit) outlining the Commission's proposed change in the FM or Television Table in response to the petitioner's request. Another comment period of 30 days for initial comments and 15 days for reply comments is instituted. Depending again on the backlog and the complexity of the case, a final action (Report and Order) is adopted some time later.

4. The proposed change would expedite consideration of these cases by eliminating a 45 day waiting period. Under the proposal, the Notice of Proposed Rule Making would announce acceptance of the petition and any necessary additional information would then be requested. Comments on this proposal have been received from: The National Association of Broadcasters, the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., the National Radio Broadcasters Association, Radio Broadcast Licensees (as a joint pleading), and General Electric Broadcasting, Co., Inc.[1] Reply comments were filed by Radio Broadcast Licensees, by American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., and by the National Association of Broadcasters.

5. All commenting parties agreed that the elimination of the pre-Notice of Proposed Rule Making stage was desirable and urged its removal. Some commenters expressed concern that the creation of a one-step process in which the Notice of Proposed Rule Making is issued without first considering comments should not be interpreted as a presumption in favor of granting the petition.

6. The Commission was confronted with this exact proposal in 1974. See Amendment of Part 1, Subpart C, FM and Television Table of Assignments, RM-2393, 32 RR 2d 71 (1974). We then agreed that the suggestion was desirable but decided that the Public Notice step and receipt of comments did not cause a delay in issuing the Notice of Proposed Rule Making. Rather the number of cases on the staff's workload and the lack of sufficient personnel combined to postpone resolution of pending cases. We stated that we hoped we would some day be in a position to eliminate the pre-Notice of Proposed Rule Making step.[2]

7. While the pre-Notice comments and replies could be beneficial, in most cases no pleadings are filed or the pleadings that are filed have little effect on the content of the Notice of Proposed Rule Making. Furthermore, the Commission's staff is now in a position to act on these cases in a more expeditious manner than was possible in 1974. Accordingly, we no longer believe that the limited potential benefits of pre-Notice comments and replies justifies a 45 day waiting period in the preparation of a Notice of Proposed Rule Making. The Administrative Procedure Act presents no impediment to our adopting this one-step procedure. Section 553(b)(3) merely requires a notice which includes the terms or substance of the proposed rule and a description of the subjects and issues involved. The Notice of Proposed Rule Making adequately fulfills this requirement.

8. Therefore the time is ripe to eliminate this built-in delay in the handling of these FM and Television Tables of Assignments rulemaking

[1] Other parties submitted comments in this docketed proceeding, but they are not under consideration here because they did not address this proposal.

[2] See Separate Statement of Chairman Wiley, supra at p. 77.

cases. The acceptance of petitions and the assignment of rule making numbers will be handled in the Notice of Proposed Rule Making. If any special problems require additional showings, that information can be requested in the Notice. We emphasize that under this amended procedure, as in the past, the issuance of a Notice of Proposed Rule Making indicates nothing more than the Commission's intention to consider the proposed change in the Table of Assignments and to afford petitioner, interested parties and the public an opportunity to comment on that proposal.

9. Accordingly, the Commission's rules are amended as set forth in the Appendix below. Since the amendments are procedural in nature, we have determined that the effective date provision of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is inapplicable. Accordingly, the amended procedures shall apply to proceedings in which the petition for rulemaking is accepted on or after November 12, 1981.

10. Authority for these amendments is contained in sections 4(i) and (j) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and 5 U.S.C. 4 and 553 (the Administrative Procedure Act).

Federal Communications Commission.

William J. Tricarico,

Secretary.

Amendment of the Commission's Rules To Add Memphis, Tenn., to the Table of Assignments for Air-Ground Stations in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service and To Apply Additional Procedures in Proceedings for Amendment of the Table

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Communications Commission amends its rules to assign air-ground channel 1 to Memphis, Tennessee. This amendment is in response to a petition for rulemaking submitted by Mobile/Comm, Inc. The effect of this amendment is to afford reliable air-ground communication service to aircraft flying in the Memphis area. In addition, the Commission amends its rules to apply additional procedures in proceedings to amend the table of assignments for air-ground radiotelephone stations. The effect of this amendment is to require that procedures now applied in amending the FM and television tables of assignment also be applied in proceedings to amend the air-ground table of assignments. Finally, the Commission amends its rules to exclude amendments to the air-ground table of assignments from the procedure of soliciting comments on a rulemaking petition. The effect of this exclusion is to expedite action on petitions to amend the air-ground table of assignments.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 17, 1981.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ann Stevens, Common Carrier Bureau, (202) 632-6450.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Under the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980, the Federal Communications Commission certifies that this rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

In the matter of amendment of § 22.521(b) of the Commission's rules to add Memphis, Tennessee to the table of assignments for air-ground stations in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service, amendment of § 1.420 of the Commission's rules to apply additional procedures in proceedings for amendment of the table of assignments for air-ground stations in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service, CC Docket No. 81-350, RM-3817.

Report and Order

Adopted: November 24, 1981.

Released: December 2, 1981.

By the Commission: Chairman Fowler not participating.

Background

1. On May 21, 1981 (46 FR 31292, June 15, 1981), the Commission adopted a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (FCC 81-253) which proposed to add Memphis, Tennessee to the table of assignments for air-ground stations in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service. The Notice was issued in response to a petition for rulemaking filed by Mobile/Comm Inc. (RM-3817). Mobile/Comm filed a comment reaffirming its intention to apply for the channel, if assigned. No other comments were filed.

2. Section 22.521(a) of the Commission's rules allocates twelve frequency pairs for assignment to land mobile radio systems that are interconnected to the nationwide public landline telephone system and afford communications service to airborne stations. Section 22.521(b) allocated from one to four of these frequency pairs, or working channels, to specific geographic locations. That subsection also provides that base stations operating on these frequencies must be within 25 miles of the location specified.

3. Memphis, Tennessee is not among the locations listed in § 22.521(b), nor is it within 25 miles of any of the other specified locations. Mobile/Comm requested that § 22.521(b) be amended by adding Memphis to the list of assignments for air-ground stations. This amendment would allow an air-ground station to be operated on the working frequency 454.950 MHz (Channel 1) and on 454.675 MHz (the nationwide signaling channel) within 25 miles of Memphis. No harmful electrical interference is expected to result from this amendment.

4. The air-ground station nearest Memphis is 130 miles away at Little Rock, Arkansas. According to Mobile/Comm, this spacing between stations reveals a void in air-ground service in the vicinity of Memphis. Mobile/Comm also claims that Memphis is the scene of significant general aviation activity. In response to a survey conducted by Mobile/Comm among the general aviation community in the Memphis area, 27 prospective subscribers expressed sufficient interest in Mobile/Comm's proposal to produce "firm applications for service." Mobile/Comm states that present air-ground service is inadequate to afford reliable service to aircraft flying in the Memphis area. In addition, aircraft at sufficiently high altitudes may obtain service, but must pay toll charges to communicate with a Memphis telephone through a distant base station.

Amendment of § 22.521(b)

5. In view of the apparent need for air-ground communications service in Memphis, we believe the public interest would be served by amendment of § 22.521(b) of the Commission's rules, assigning air-ground channel 1, frequency 454.950 MHz, to Memphis, Tennessee. This assignment conforms with the mileage separations used elsewhere in the table of frequency assignments for air-ground radiotelephone service.

Amendment of Part 1

6. Also in this proceeding, we are amending several sections of Part 1 of the Commission's rules. We are amending § 1.420, which sets forth additional procedures in proceedings to amend the FM and television tables of assignments. The procedures in this section concern the filing of comments and reply comments in amending these tables of assignments. Since there are no specialized procedures for amending the air-ground table of assignments in the Domestic Public Land Mobile Radio Service, we believe it is appropriate to apply § 1.420 to proceedings to amend this table of assignment. We are also amending §§ 1.403 and 1.405 of the Commission's rules. These amendments will exclude amendments to the air-ground table of assignments from the Commission procedure of issuing a Public Notice announcing acceptance of a rulemaking petition and allowing for comments and reply comments on the petition. Amendments to the FM and television assignment tables were recently excluded from this same procedure. These amendments to Part 1 involve rules of agency practice or procedure, and are therefore exempt from the notice and comment requirements of the adminstrative Act, 5 U.S.C. 553(b). See Buckeye Cablevision, Inc. v. United States, 538 F. 2d 948 (6th Cir. 1971); Meredith Broadcasting Co. v. Federal Communications Commission, 365 F. 2d 912 (D.C. Cir. 1966). Compare Pickus v. United States Board of Parole, 507 F. 2d 1107 (D.C. Cir. 1974).

Authority

7. Authority to amend Section 22.521(b) of the Commission's rules appears in Sections 4(i), 303 (g) and (r) and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. Authority to amend §§ 1.403, 1.405 and 1.420 of the Commission's rules appears in Section 4(i) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

8. Accordingly, it is ordered, That effective December 17, 1981, §§ 22.521(b), 1.403, 1.405 and 1.420 of the Commission's rules are amended as set forth in the attached appendix below.

9. It is further ordered, that this proceeding is terminated.

10. The Secretary shall cause a copy of this Report and Order to be published in the Federal Register.

(Secs. 4, 303, 307, 48 Stat., as amended, 1066, 1082, 1083; (47 U.S.C. 154, 303, 307))

Proposed Amendments to Rules of Procedure Governing Rate Adjustments

AGENCY: Bonneville Power Administration, DOE.

ACTION: Proposed amendments to rules of procedure governing Bonneville Power Administration rate adjustments.

SUMMARY: On December 5, 1980, the President signed into law the Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act (Regional Act) (Pub. L. 96–501) which, among many other things, provides at section 7(i) for new procedures for involving the public in the development of Bonneville Power Administration's (BPA) wholesale power and transmission rates. By Federal Register notice of February 10, 1981 (46 FR 11697), BPA published its "Rules of Procedure Governing Bonneville Power Administration Rate Adjustments." That notice requested public comments on the procedures. These procedures were designed to give the public notice of how it could participate in BPA's rate adjustments and elaborate on the statutory procedures called for in the Regional Act. BPA received comments on the procedures from a number of its customers and interested members of public interest groups. In addition, BPA applied the procedures in conducting its 1981 Wholesale Power Rate and Transmission Rate hearings conducted February through May 1981. The amendments proposed by this notice are based upon the comments received and BPA's experience in the 1981 rate hearings.

DATE: Comments will be received through December 24, 1981. A public meeting on the proposed amendments will be held on December 21, 1981.

ADDRESSES: Written comments should be sent to: Donna Lou Geiger, Public Involvement Coordinator, P.O. Box 12999, Portland, Oregon. A public hearing on the proposed amendments will be held in December, beginning at 9 a.m. in Room 464 of the Bonneville Power Administration Headquarters Building, 1002 NE. Holladay Street, Portland, Oregon.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Donna Lou Geiger, Public Involvement Coordinator, P.O. Box 12999, Portland, Oregon 97212, 503–234–3361, extension 4261, or Mr. Michael C. Dotten, Attorney, General Counsel's office, Bonneville Power Administration, P.O. Box 3621, Portland, Oregon 97208, 503–234–3361, extension 4214. Toll-free numbers for Oregon callers 800–452–8429; for callers from Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming, and California 800–547–6048.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: BPA will accept written public comments on the proposed amendments to the regulations until December 24, 1981, and, if the public comments so warrant, the proposed amendments may be adjusted, as necessary. Written comments should sent to: Donna Lou Geiger, Public Involvement Coordinator, P.O. Box 12999, Portland, Oregon 97212.

BPA will hold a public meeting on the proposed amended procedures on December 21, 1981, beginning at 9 a.m. in Room 464 of the BPA Headquarters Building, 1002 NE. Holladay Street, Portland, Oregon. The meeting will be conducted in a discussion format and will be transcribed.

Based upon written and oral comments, the proposed amended procedures may be substantially revised, and the final procedures will be published in the Federal Register.

The most significant elements of the proposed amendments and discussions relating to amendments proposed by those commenting on the regulations are summarized below, arranged by section:

Section 1(b): Forelaws on Board (FOB), an environmental group, objected to permitting the Hearing Officer to supplement the rules with unspecified supplemental rules of procedure. As happened in the 1981 rate hearings, situations will undoubedly arise which are unanticipated by these rules; therefore, the Hearing Officer must have flexibility to adapt these procedures. However, the FOB concern for confusion is well founded. Therefore, Section 16 is proposed to be amended to permit the Hearing Officer to apply the Federal Rules of Evidence and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to the extent deemed appropriate and in a manner not inconsistent with these rules.

Sections 2(c), 4(a), and 4(c): The Public Power Council (PPC), a nonprofit corporation representing the interest of its 113 publicly owned utility members, and an association of eight privately owned utilities (Privates), protested the provision allowing the BPA staff to submit an evaluation of the record after the record closed. FOB did not expressly object to the staff evaluation, but believed that the evaluation should be subject to rebuttal by all parties. In the 1981 proceeding, the Hearing Officer provided such an opportunity for rebuttal in the form of briefs of counsel.

We reject the notion underlying the PPC and Privates' assertion that the staff evaluation is an ex parte document and implying that Section 7(i) of the Regional Act imposes a separation of functions requirement upon BPA, preventing the rates staff from presenting a case in the proceeding and then assisting the Administrator in reviewing the record in making the final decision. We reject this view because "ratemaking" falls within the definition of "rulemaking" under the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 551; and not within the definition of "order" or "adjudication." See United States v. Florida East Coast Railway Co., 410 U.S. 224, 234–35 (1973). Section 9(e)(2) of the Regional Act also makes clear that an adjudication was not intended by referring to the result of the Section 7(i) proceedings as a "rulemaking record" and then stating: "Nothing in this section shall be construed to require a hearing pursuant to section 554, 556, or 557 of title 5 of the United States Code." In rulemaking it is clear that the agency staff may assist in the making of a decision:

> "Even in formal rule making proceedings subject to sections [556 and 557], the Act leaves the hearing officer entirely free to consult with any other member of the agency's staff. In fact, the intermediate decision may be made by the agency itself or by a responsible officer other than the hearing officer. This reflects the fact that the purpose of the rule making proceeding is to determine policy. Policy is not made in Federal agencies by individual hearing examiners; rather it is formulated by the agency heads relying heavily upon the expert staff which have been hired for that purpose. And so the Act recognizes that in rule making the intermediate decisions will be more useful to the parties in advising them of the real issues in the case if such decisions reflect the views of the agency heads or of their responsible officers who assist them in determining policy. In sharp contrast is the procedure required in cases of adjudication subject to section [554(d)]. There the hearing officer who presides at the hearing and observed the witnesses must personally prepare the initial or recommended decision required by section [557]. Also, in such adjudicatory cases, the agency officers who performed investigative or prosecuting functions in that or a factually related case may not participate in the making of decisions. These requirements reflect the characteristics of adjudication." Attorney General's Manual on the Administrative Procedure Act 15 (1947) as quoted with approval in National Association of Advertisers v. FTC, 627 F.2d 1151, 1169 (D.C. Cir. 1979) cert. denied, 100 S.Ct. 3011 (1980).

Notwithstanding the permissibility of the evaluation, we have deleted the requirement for a staff evaluation of the record in these proposed amendments. It adds significant delay at the end of the rate proceedings and when time permits, the Administrator would seem better served by evaluations of the record and the law submitted by all parties, as was done in the 1981 rate proceedings in the form of briefs. These procedures provide the Hearing Officer with discretion to call for such briefs or oral argument where time permits this tool to be used to assist the Administrator in the final decision. As proposed for amendment sections 2(d) (Evaluation of the Record) and 4(a) are accordingly eliminated and Sections 4(c) and 4(e) delete reference to the evaluation.

Section 2(f): Several BPA customers believed that transmission line losses should be included in the definition of "rate." BPA has numerous contracts with differing treatments of line losses, which terms are not subject to unilateral amendment upon change of rates as are BPA's rate schedules. Computation of line losses for contractually provided services is not a rate or change for the sale or disposition of power, but rather a means of computing the amount of power to be replaced (due to loss of electricity from the lines) by a party to a contract that uses BPA's transmission lines to wheel power. Furthermore, BPA has begun, through a separate rulemaking process, the development of a transmission policy (46 FR 12658, February 17, 1981).

Section 2(i): Party status. The Public Power Council and the Public Generating Power Pool suggested that associations of BPA customers be permitted to be parties of right, on behalf of its members, but that its members be permitted to "secede" from the group representation in order to be represented by another group or individually on a particular issue or issues. Such an amendment would reflect the latitude extended by the Hearing Officer in the 1981 rate proceedings and would permit grouping of interests with resulting efficiencies in the hearing process. As a consequence, section 2(i) of the regulations is proposed to be amended to permit such shifting joint representation and individual participation.

Section 2 (h) and (i): International Paper Company (IPC) and St. Regis Paper Company, although eventually admitted as parties to the 1981 rate proceeding by stipulation, filed comments objecting to the different treatment accorded "parties" and "participants" by the rules.

Section 7(i)(2) (A) and (B) of the Regional Act provides in pertinent part:

> In any such hearing—
> (A) Any person shall be provided an adequate opportunity by the hearing officer to offer refutation or rebuttal of any material submitted by any other person or the Administrator, and
> (B) The hearing officer in his discretion shall allow a reasonable opportunity for cross examination, which, as determined by the hearing officer, is not dilatory, in order to develop information and material relevant to any such proposed rate.

IPC reads the foregoing to require BPA not only to permit all persons to have the opportunity to offer refutation and rebuttal, but also to afford all persons an opportunity to engage in cross-examination, be served with documents and all other rights normally accorded a full fledged party in a proceeding.

BPA believes that the express words of the Regional Act do not require that all persons be permitted to cross-examine, but that a "reasonable opportunity for cross-examination" be allowed by the Hearing Officer.

When the rate precedures were introduced on the floor of the Senate, the sponsor of section 7(i) said:

> Mr. President, that provision is intended to give the hearings officer the opportunity to limit the amount of cross-examination which may take place at any of the hearings in the rate determination, but it is not intended and should not be read to allow the hearings officer to completely exclude the cross-examination of the administrator's witnesses.
> I think a fair reading of the requirement in the context of the amendment would indicate that, yes, it should not be interminable, because there is almost total access for interested parties to the hearings process and for putting material in the record. The hearings officer may have to, as a matter of practice, limit the number of people who are permitted to crossexamine, but not to the extent of fully excluding those who might produce evidence or ask questions that were necessary to develop fully any essential fact which is material and relevant directly. And, if, as a matter of fact, the records of all of the proceedings, the administrative record which goes to the court for review, would indicate that the hearings officer had totally excluded that opportunity, and that the opportunity was focused upon such material and relevant essential facts, the court could then remand the proceedings back to the Administrator for further proceedings. The court could upset the rate if as a matter of fact the hearings officer took that action.

(125 Cong. Rec. S 11599 (daily ed. August 3, 1979) (remarks of Senator McClure).)

The House Interior Committee in its report on S. 885 did not take issue with Senator McClure's suggestion regarding a limitation on the number of people who could cross-examine, but rather intended that its version eliminate the Hearing Officer's discretion to prohibit cross-examination altogether. See H.R. Rep. No. 976, Part II, 96th Cong. 2d Sess. 20 and 53 (1979).

The full House restored the "in his discretion" and "reasonable opportunity" qualifiers. Nowhere in the legislative history of the Regional Act did anyone dispute Senator McClure's limitation on the right of cross-examination.

BPA believes that Congress intended a reasonable result from the enactment of the section 7(i) procedures. To have but one category of participants in the rate proceeding would unduly encumber the hearings themselves and result in burdens upon those who might wish to have their views considered—but who do not wish to be burdend with the requirement of serving all other parties, the prefiling of testimony and the like. To read section 7(i)(2)(B) to permit all persons, whether otherwise represented or not, to participate would greatly add to the possibility that the hearings would simply collapse of their own weight. In the 1981 Wholesale Power Rate proceedings, 37 active parties participated. Literally dozens of others "participated." Even though expedited, the hearings took 27 days with 37 parties. If all persons who wished to participate were permitted to be a full fledged "party," it is difficult to imagine how long the hearings might eventually take. Consistent with Senator McClure's recognition that there must be a logical limit to the number of persons permitted to cross-examine, BPA developed this dicotomy between "participant" and "party" and retains this distinction.

However, BPA does recognize that a limited number of interested persons, who are not in privity of contract with BPA, may have such a substantial interest in the proceedings that party status should be accorded. In the original rules BPA allowed party status to those "representing a significant and otherwise unrepresented public interest." It is clear that significant private interests may also demonstrate that they are otherwise unrepresented. Therefore, the proposed amendments delete the word "public" to permit a significant and otherwise unrepresented public or private interest to be represented through party status where the Hearing Officer finds that a person requesting such status has satisfied the "significant" and "otherwise unrepresented" tests.

Section 3(b): FOB believed that ex parte procedural rulings should not be allowed; the PPC believed that notice to all parties of any procedural ruling ought to be provided. During the 1981 hearings the Hearing Officer was required to rule on procedural matters between hearing sessions. Should the Hearing Officer not be allowed to rule ex parte, under some circumstances it is conceivable that a large group of parties, many from long distances away, would be obligated to convene for a hearing for a short period of time only to have a delay motion granted, or a fundamental change made in the hearing schedule. Therefore, we leave the opportunity for ex parte ruling on procedural matters—but institute two safeguards. One, the simultaneous filing of all motions on all parties at the time the Hearing Officer is served, the second a requirement that the Hearing Officer render a written ruling to be served on all parties.

Section 3(c): Information Requests. The Public Power Council suggested that the Hearing Officer should, by rule, be required to fix dates for making and responding to data requests. The Hearing Officer would be empowered, by the proposed amendment, to provide a schedule for such data request of BPA and the other parties to the proceeding. The proposed amendment also makes clear that any party to the proceeding is subject to such requests, and like the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the proposed amendments make clear that data requests may be made in any sequence. The proposed amended rule also provides for oral clarifying information requests on the record. Such a technique was successfully used in the 1981 rate proceedings and resulted in expedition of the hearings.

Section 3(d)(5)(b): One company objected to a provision in the rules permitting the Hearing Officer to order appropriate limitations on the number of attorneys or other parties permitted to cross-examine and make and argue motions. During the course of the 1981 hearings the Hearing Officer used his or her discretion in applying section 3(d)(5)(b) in ways which expedited the hearings but gave such interest groups full opportunity to cross-examine. This section is a necessary tool of the Hearing Officer to prevent redundant and dilatory cross-examination. Given the large number of parties in the 1981 case (37) and the potential for each of BPA's more than 150 customers to intervene separately, the Hearing Officer must be able to require group representation. Otherwise domination of the rate hearings by one or another customer group with a near identity of interests could threaten the participation rights granted by section 7(i) of the Regional Act to other parties.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company suggested that the Hearing Officer, before requiring parties with substantially like interests to operate through "lead counsel," be required to make a specific finding of such like interests and state the factual basis for such a finding. Because of the large number of parties in the Section 7(i) proceedings, such a requirement would place a heavy burden on the Hearing Officer and require the taking of evidence. To accomplish the aim of preventing a party from being locked into a lead counsel relationship with other parties without similar interest in some issues, this paragraph is proposed to be amended to permit the Hearing Officer to allow disaggregation of parties on such issues where the party seeking to represent itself on a particular issue can demonstrate that its interest would otherwise not be adequately represented.

Section 3(d)(7): This new section is added to allow the Hearing Officer to call for briefs or oral argument, where time permits, in lieu of the staff evaluation of the record, proposed to be deleted.

Section 4: Decision Process. Several customers believe that the Hearing Officer should forward recommended rates or a proposed order to the Administrator. Such a role is not contemplated by the Regional Act which, as indicated above, clearly distinguishes these rulemaking procedures from adjudications. The requirement that the presiding officer at a hearing make a recommendation, stems from section 557(b) of the Administrative Procedure Act. However, "section [557] applies to cases of rulemaking and adjudication which are required by sections [553] and [554] to be conducted in accordance with sections [556] and [557]." Attorney General Manual on the APA 81 (1947). Since a section 553 informal rulemaking proceeding is not "required * * * to be conducted in accordance with sections 556 and 557," there is no APA requirement for an initial recommendation, nor an opportunity for the parties to submit their own findings and conclusions.

The use of the term "Hearing Officer" in section 7(i) of the Regional Act as opposed to "Hearing Examiner" is significant. The distinction between a "Hearing Officer" and "Hearing Examiner" was sharply pointed out by the U.S. Supreme Court in International Tel. & Tel. Corp. v. Local 134, 419 U.S. 428 (1975), where the Court, admonishing the lower court, said that:

> The Court of Appeals may have confused "hearing officers" with "trial examiners" or "hearing examiner" (now "administrative law judges") who are ordinarily required to make recommended decisions, 5 U.S.C. 557(b) [5 USCS § 557(b)], and who must be appointed pursuant to 5 USC § 3105 [5 USCS § 3105]. Id. at 448 n. 18.

There is no requirement that the Hearing Officer issue a proposed order or recommended decision. To require one individual to take on such a task from a record as voluminous as the one in the last rate proceeding would unreasonbly delay rate adjustments. Thus, I have not added such a requirement to these proposed amended rules.

BPA's Proposed Amended Rate Procedures follow:

Accordingly, the Bonnerville Power Administration, proposes to amend Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations by establishing a new Chapter X, consisting at this time of Part 1010 which reads as set forth below:

CHAPTER X—BONNEVILLE POWER ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

PART 1010—RULES OF PROCEDURE GOVERNING RATE ADJUSTMENTS

Sec.

1010.1 Purpose and scope.
1010.2 Definitions.
1010.3 Rate adjustment procedures.
1010.4 Decision process.

Authority: Sec. 7(i) of Pub. L. 96–501; and 5 U.S.C. 553.

§ 1010.1. Purpose and scope.

(a) The purpose of this rule is to establish procedures for conducting rate adjustment hearings required to be held by the "Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act" (Regional Act) (Pub. L. 96–501). As amended, these regulations supersede BPA's "Procedure for Public Participation in Marketing Policy Formulation," 45 FR 73531 (November 5, 1980) as they apply to rates developed pursuant to Section 7 of the Regional Act and "Bonneville's Rules of Procedure Governing Bonneville Power Administration Rate Adjustments," 46 FR 11697 (February 10, 1981).

(b) The Hearing Officer may render any procedural rulings necessary to the conduct of orderly and expenditious hearings. The Hearing Officer may apply the Federal Rules of Evidence and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure as deemed appropriate, to the extent not inconsistent with these rules.

§ 1010.2. Definitions.

(a) Administrator. The Bonneville Power Administrator.

(b) Notice. A notification required by this procedure and published in the Federal Register or elsewhere if determined by the Administrator to be desirable. Notices shall be effective on date of publication in the Federal Register unless otherwise stated.

Wherever a time period is provided, the date of publication of the Federal Register notice shall determine the commencement of the time period unless otherwise stated.

(c) Official Record. The compiled and indexed records which document the development of rates. The Official Record is the responsibility of the Hearing Officer.

(d) [Reserved].

(e) Record of Decision. The Administrator's summary of the decision.

(f) Rate. The monetary charge or the formula for computing such a charge for any electric service provided by BPA, including charges for capacity (or demand), energy, or transmission service, and discounts or surcharges; however, it does not include transmission line losses, leasing fees, or other types of facility use charges for other than transmission of non-Federal power, or charges for operation and maintenance of customer-owned facilities. A rate may be set forth in a rate schedule or in a contract.

(g) Rate Adjustment. A change in an existing rate or rates, or the establishment of a rate or rates for a new service. It does not include a change in rate schedule provisions or in contract terms, if such change does not involve a change in the price per unit of service, nor does it include changes in the monetary charge pursuant to a formula stated in a rate schedule or a contract.

(h) Participant. A person or entity testifying at a hearing or providing written views, data, questions, or argument, but not formally becoming a party.

(i) Party. A person or entity itself declaring to be a party to a rate adjustment proceeding and who is determined by the Hearing Officer to be either: (1) A party of right; or (2) a party representing a significant and otherwise unrepresented interest. "Parties of right" are those persons having a power sales or transmission contract with BPA which is subject to adjustment as a result of the proceedings, or an association representing parties of right. Parties will be entitled to participate in any prehearing conferences, to cross-examine witnesses (subject to reasonable limitations), to call witnesses, and service of documents from all other parties. A party will also be subject to cross-examination of its witnesses and, as determined by the Hearing Officer, may be required to serve all other parties with documents. Parties may choose to participate through an association on matters of common concern. Such parties may participate individually on other matters where the Hearing Officer determines that the individual parties' interests would be otherwise unrepresented.

§ 1010.3. Rate adjustment procedures.

(a) Notice. Upon a determination that revenues from existing rates are insufficient or excessive to meet the Administrator's obligations, or where the Administrator determines a rate form needs adjustment, the Administrator may initiate a rate adjustment.

(1) The Administrator may issue a notice of intent to adjust rates and solicit views of interested parties.

(2) The Administrator shall provide notice in the Federal Register of proposed rates with a statement of the justification and reasons supporting such proposed rates together with a statement of the research, studies, analyses, and other available information in support of the proposed rates. Such notice shall establish a deadline for filing a notice of intention to claim status as a party. The notice may include such additional rules as necessary for an orderly procedure and shall specify a date for the commencement of the hearing conducted pursuant to paragraph (e) of this section.

(b) Prehearing Conference. The Hearing Officer may establish hearing schedules, convene the parties for such prehearing conferences as are necessary for modifying hearing schedules, prefiling deadlines, and defining issues for consideration at the hearings. Disputes regarding procedures may be resolved at such conference or ex parte. If seeking an ex parte ruling, the moving party shall simultaneously serve any motion upon all parties to the proceeding, in writing, by regular mail at the time of requesting the ruling. The Hearing Officer shall rule upon any ex parte motion in writing indicating disposition of the motion and the grounds therefor and serve such ruling upon all parties by regular mail, or if required under the circumstances, may notify all parties of the ruling by other means.

(c) Information Requests. (1) Prior to publication of any initial rate proposal information may be requested of BPA pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) or informally by making a written request through BPA's General Counsel.

(2) Upon publication of initial proposed rates, requests for information may be served upon counsel for any party or person petitioning to be a party to the proceeding. Parties or persons petitioning to be parties shall answer such requests within a reasonable time or as set forth in an order issued pursuant to paragraph (c)(3) of this section, to the extent such request is relevant, material, and otherwise not privileged or protected.

(3) The Hearing Officer may issue any necessary orders and mediate any disputes related to such data requests and may establish schedules for providing requested information.

(4) Unless the Hearing Officer, for the convenience of parties and in the interests of justice, orders otherwise, information requests may be made in any sequence.

(5) The Hearing Officer may provide for oral clarifying information requests on the record to permit clarification of prefiled testimony or other matter. The Hearing Officer need not preside at such sessions, and the parties may move to exclude from the record any improper matter.

(d) Hearings—(1) Initial Proposed Rates—Hearing. One or more hearings shall be conducted as expeditiously as practicable by the Hearing Officer to develop a full and complete record and to receive public comment in the form of written or oral presentation of views, data, questions, and argument related to the proposed rates. In any such hearing—

(i) Any person shall be provided an adequate opportunity by the Hearing Officer to offer refutation or rebuttal of any material submitted by any other person or the Administrator, and

(ii) The Hearing Officer shall allow reasonable opportunity for cross-examination to develop information and material relevant to any such proposed rate.

(2) Written Record. In addition to the opportunity to submit oral and written material at the hearings, any written views, data, questions, and arguments submitted by or before the close of hearings shall be made a part of the Official Record.

(3) Order of Testimony. Participants and parties may appear personally at the hearings or by qualified counsel. Views, data, questions, and arguments will be received in the order determined by the Hearing Officer subject to such limitations as the Hearing Officer may impose.

(4) Prefiling of Testimony. The Hearing Officer may require parties to prefile exhibits or testimony on any issue raised in the proceedings. The Hearing Officer may exclude all or part of such testimony not prefiled by the specified deadline.

(5) Cross-Examination. (i) To prevent unnecessary delay, the Hearing Officer may place such limitations on cross-examination deemed necessary.

(i) Where there are two or more parties having substantially like interests and positions, the Hearing Officer may, in order to expedite the hearing, order appropriate limitations on the number of attorneys or parties appearing pro se who will be permitted to cross-examine and make and argue motions and objections on behalf of such parties. Where a party demonstrates that it would not be adequately represented in the joint presentation of an issue or issues, the Hearing Officer may permit separate examination or argument regarding such issue or issues.

(6) Revised Proposed Rate—Hearing. After a hearing, the Administrator may propose Revised Proposed Rates, publish such Revised Proposed Rates in the Federal Register, and conduct additional hearings in accordance with these regulations.

(7) Briefs or Oral Argument. Where time permits, the Hearing Officer may extend an opportunity to the parties to summarize the record and analyze the law either through briefs or oral argument.

§ 1010.4 Decision process.

(a) [Reserved].

(b) Continuation of Hearings. If additional hearings are necessary to reflect new factual material previously unavailable to the parties, the Hearing Officer may, upon notice, and consistent with contractual time constraints, reconvene the hearings to allow the presentation of new evidence and to allow rebuttal and cross-examination thereon.

(c) The Official Record. The Hearing Officer shall certify the Official Record to the Administrator for decision.

(1) The Official Record shall contain:

(i) all Federal Register or other notices provided for by these procedures;

(ii) the principal research, analyses, and other available information, or a summary thereof, used in developing the rates;

(iii) the transcribed record of hearings including documents and exhibits presented at such hearings, written comments and questions from interested persons, and BPA's replies;

(iv) such records or minutes as exist of workshops or other public meetings on the rates;

(v) [Reserved].

(vi) written views, data, and suggestions submitted by persons before the close of the hearings; and

(vii) any other information the Hearing Officer or the Administrator determines is relevant.

(2) A copy of the Official Record shall be available for inspection or copying in the office of the BPA Public Involvement Coordinator.

(d) Final Proposed Rates—(1) Record of Decision. The Administrator shall develop Final Proposed Rates based upon the record certified to the Administrator by the Hearing Officer. The basis for adopting the Final Proposed Rates shall be explained in the Administrator's Record of Decision. The Record of Decision shall contain findings of fact, statements of applicable law, major areas of controversy, principal objections to and statements in support of the proposed new or revised rates submitted by participants or parties together with summaries of BPA's analyses thereof, and a statement of the reasons for the Administrator's decision.

(2) Service of Decision. Upon adopting the Final Proposed Rates, the Administrator shall serve copies of the Administrator's Record of Decision upon all parties and shall promptly file such Final Proposed Rates together with the Official Record with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) for confirmation and approval; and if the FERC does not have final procedures for granting interim approval, with the Secretary of Energy.

Dated: December 2, 1981.

7 CFR Part 905

[Orange, Grapefruit, Tangerine, and Tangelo Reg. 6, Amdt. 1]

Oranges, Grapefruit, Tangerines and Tangelos Grown in Florida; Amendment of Tangerine Size Requirements

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Amendment to final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment lowers the minimum size requirement applicable to fresh shipments of Dancy variety tangerines from 2$^{6}/_{16}$ inches to 2$^{4}/_{16}$ inches in diameter on and after December 7, 1981. This action allows an increase in the supply of tangerines in recognition of demand conditions and the size composition of available supply in the interest of growers and consumers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 7, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:
William J. Doyle, Acting Chief, Fruit Branch, F&V AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250, telephone (202) 447-5975.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This final action has been reviewed under Secretary's Memorandum 1512-1 and Executive Order 12291 and has been designated a "non-major" rule. William T. Manley, Deputy Administrator, Agricultural Marketing Service, has determined that this action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities because it would not measurably affect costs for the directly regulated handlers.

This amendment is issued under the marketing agreement and Order No. 905 (7 CFR Part 905), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines and tangelos grown in Florida. The agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674). This action is based upon the recommendation and information submitted by the Citrus Administrative Committee, and upon other available information. It is hereby found that the regulation of Florida Dancy tangerines, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

Interim regulation 5, setting minimum grade and size requirements for Florida Dancy tangerines, was effective for the period October 19, 1981 through December 6, 1981. The final rule is to become effective on and after December 7, 1981. The final rule provides, among other things, that the minimum diameter of Florida Dancy tangerines be not smaller than 2$^{6}/_{16}$ inches.

This amendment would relax limitations on the handling of Dancy tangerines by permitting each handler, on and after December 7, 1981, to ship 210 size (2$^{4}/_{16}$ inches) Dancy tangerines.

The committee reports that the total quantity of large fruit is less than anticipated and there is a need to augment the total available supply by permitting shipment of smaller sized fruit. Thus, relaxation of the regulation is necessary to allow a greater proportion of the available supply to reach the market.

It is further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rulemaking, and postpone the effective date until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register (5 U.S.C. 553), because of insufficient time between the date when information became available upon which this amendment is based and the effective date necessary to effectuate the declared purposes of the act. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit information and views on the amendment at an open meeting. This amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of Florida Dancy tangerines. Handlers have been apprised of such provisions and the effective date.

Information collection requirements (reporting or recordkeeping) under this part are subject to clearance by the Office of Management and Budget and are in the process of review. These information requirements shall not become effective until such time as clearance by the OMB has been obtained.

PART 905—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, TANGERINES, AND TANGELOS GROWN IN FLORIDA

Accordingly, the provisions of § 905.306 (Orange, Grapefruit, Tangerine and Tangelo Regulation 6 (46 FR 60170) are amended by revising table I paragraph (a) to read as follows:

[Navel Orange Reg. 531; Navel Orange Reg. 530, Amdt. 1]

Navel Oranges Grown in Arizona and Designated Part of California; Limitation of Handling

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action establishes the quantity of fresh California-Arizona navel oranges that may be shipped to market during the period December 11–December 17, 1981, and increases the quantity of such oranges that may be so shipped during the period December 4–December 10, 1981. Such action is needed to provide for orderly marketing of fresh navel oranges for the periods specified due to the marketing situation confronting the orange industry.

DATES: This regulation becomes effective December 11, 1981, and the amendment is effective for the period December 4–10, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: William J. Doyle, (202) 447–5975.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Findings

This rule has been reviewed under Secretary's Memorandum 1512–1, and Executive Order 12291 and has been designated a "non-major" rule. This regulation and amendment are issued under the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 907, as amended (7 CFR Part 907), regulating the handling of navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California. The agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The action is based upon the recommendation and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee and upon other available information. It is hereby found that this action will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

This action is consistent with the marketing policy for 1981–82. The marketing policy was recommended by the committee following discussion at a pulbic meeting on October 6, 1981. A regulatory impact analysis on the marketing policy is available from William J. Doyle, Acting Chief, Fruit Branch, F&V, AMS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250, telephone 202–447–5975.

The committee met again publicly on December 8, 1981, at Redlands, California, to consider the current and prospective conditions of supply and demand and recommended a quantity of navel oranges deemed advisable to be handled during the specified weeks. The committee reports the demand for navel oranges is good.

It is further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rulemaking, and postpone the effective date until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register (5 U.S.C. 553), because of insufficient time between the date when information became available upon which this regulation and amendment are based and the effective date necessary to effectuate the declared policy of the act. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit information and views on the regulation at an open meeting, and the amendment relieves restrictions on the handling of navel oranges. It is necessary to effectuate the declared purposes of the act to make these regulatory provisions effective as specified, and handlers have been apprised of such provisions and the effective time.

Forms required for operation under this part are subject to clearance by the Office of Management and Budget and are in the process of review.

1. Section 907.831 is added as follows:

§ 907.831 Navel orange regulation 531.

The quantities of navel oranges grown in Arizona and California which may be handled during the period December 11, 1981, through December 17, 1981, are established as follows:

(a) District 1: 1,274,000 cartons;
(b) District 2: Unlimited cartons;
(c) District 3: 126,000 cartons;
(d) District 4: Unlimited cartons.

2. Section 907.830 Navel orange regulation 530 (46 FR 58639) is hereby revised to read:

§ 907.830 Navel orange regulation 530.

(a) District 1: 1,547,000 cartons;
(b) District 2: Unlimited cartons;
(c) District 3: 153,000 cartons;
(d) District 4: Unlimited cartons.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674))

7 CFR Part 1133

Milk in the Inland Empire Marketing Area; Order Suspending Certain Provisions

AGENCY: Agriculture Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Suspension of rule.

SUMMARY: This action suspends certain provisions of the Inland Empire Federal milk order that affect the regulatory status of distributing plants. The suspension is based on a cooperative association's request considered at a public hearing on a proposal to merge the Puget Sound and Inland Empire orders. The public hearing was held in Seattle, Washington, on September 15–19, 1981, and on September 21, 1981, in Spokane, Washington. The suspension is effective beginning for the month of December 1981 and continues until final disposition is made of the hearing proceeding. Such action recognizes the current marketing situation of the cooperation association and is in the interest of producers associated with the market.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 10, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Maurice M. Martin, Marketing Specialist, Dairy Division, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, (202) 447–7183.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Prior documents in this proceeding:

Notice of Hearing: Issued June 11, 1981; published June 16, 1981 (46 FR 31424).

Notice of Postponement of Hearing: Issued June 30, 1981; published July 6, 1981 (46 FR 34805).

Notice of Rescheduling of Hearing: Issued July 23, 1981; published July 28, 1981 (46 FR 38524).

Notice of Proposed Suspension: Issued November 6, 1981; published November 12, 1981 (46 FR 55707).

This administrative action is governed by the provisions of sections 556 and 557 of Title 5 of the United States Code and, therefore, is excluded from the requirements of Executive Order 12291.

The action will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. It lessens the regulatory impact of the order on certain milk handlers and tends to ensure that dairy farmers who supply milk for the area will have their milk priced under the order and thereby receive the benefits that accrue from such pricing.

This order of suspension is issued pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Inland Empire marketing area.

It is hereby found and determined that beginning for the month of December 1981 and continuing until final disposition is made of the hearing proceeding on the proposal to merge the Puget Sound and Inland Empire orders the following provisions of the order do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act:

In § 1133.7, paragraph (a)(2).

Statement of Consideration

This action suspends the minimum total route disposition requirement that a distributing plant must meet to qualify as a pool plant under the order. The order now requires that a distributing plant must dispose of at least 40 percent of its milk receipts as fluid milk products on routes during February through August and 50 percent of such receipts during other months before the plant is qualified for pool plant status.

The suspension was requested by Northwest Dairymen's Association (NDA), a cooperative association, at the above mentioned hearing. The cooperative represents a majority of the dairy farmers supplying the market, and its marketing agent, Consolidated Dairy Products Co. (Consolidated), operates two pool distributing plants and a nonpool manufacturing plant in the market. Also, NDA was the proponent of the proposal to merge the Puget Sound and Inland Empire orders.

At the hearing, proponent testified that the need for the suspension stems from changes in plant operations and milk movements contemplated by Consolidated as a result of the September 1, 1981, merger of Mayflower Farms (Mayflower) with NDA. Proponent's spokesman testified that among the changes under consideration is the combining of the nonpool manufacturing plant operated by Consolidated with the former Mayflower pool distributing plant at Spokane into one integrated plant. Both of these plants are located on the same premises but presently are operated separately. The witness stated that this change would result in significant operating efficiencies. He indicated, however, that if these plants are combined, the total Class I route disposition of the combined plant would be less than the order's present requirement for a pool distributing plant. He claimed that failure of the combined plant to meet the pooling requirements would result in the milk of many of NDA's member producers who are regular suppliers on the market not being priced and pooled under the order. The witness indicated that the suspension should be effectuated soon so that Consolidated could proceed with the desired revamping of its Spokane facilities. No one testified in opposition to the suspension request at the hearing.

Subsequent to the hearing, NDA renewed its suspension request and asked that it be considered prior to the time that a complete review could be made of the post-hearing briefs on this limited issue considered at the hearing. The basis of this later request was that the plans to combine the two plants at Spokane were finalized and the suspension was needed immediately to make the change feasible. Whether the plants should be combined had not yet been decided at the time of the hearing.

In response to NDA's later request, the Department issued a notice of proposed suspension which provided interested parties the opportunity to comment on the proposed action. Comments in support of the suspension request were filed separately by NDA and Consolidated. Further, they indicated in their comments that the suspension will provide Consolidated with greater flexibility in determining whether to continue operating its Moses Lake plant as a pool distributing plant. There were no comments filed in opposition to the proposed suspension.

One of proponent's proposals considered at the merger hearing would remove the total route disposition requirement for pooling a distributing plant that the cooperative now seeks to have suspended. No one opposed this proposal at the hearing. However, whether or not the proposal would be adopted in a merged order that may be issued as a result of the hearing proceeding, is a matter to be determined after the hearing record and post-hearing briefs are completely evaluated. In the interim, suspension of the total route disposition requirement for pooling a distributing plant is warranted on the basis of the hearing evidence as it will tend to assure orderly marketing pending the outcome of the hearing proceeding.

Without the suspension, Consolidated might be able to meet the total route disposition pooling standard for the combined plant operation either by moving considerable quantities of fluid milk products between its two distributing plants associated with the market or discontinue receiving milk from some of its producers. This would tend to disrupt the normal and efficient marketing practices of the handler and would jeopardize the pool status of some of the producers involved. The suspension action, however, will enable Consolidated to make certain changes in its plant operations that will result in significant operating efficiencies. Also, it will permit the producers regularly supplying the Spokane plant to continue to share uniformly with other producers supplying the market in the proceeds from Class I sales in the market.

It is hereby found and determined that 30 days' notice of the effective date hereof is impractical, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(a) This suspension is necessary to reflect current marketing conditions and to maintain orderly marketing conditions in the marketing area in that without this action a number of dairy farmers who have been regularly supplying the fluid market could lose their producer status under the order and thus no longer share in the Class I sales of the market.

(b) This suspension does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparations prior to the effective date; and

(c) The marketing problems that provide the basis for the suspension were fully reviewed at a public hearing and all interested parties had the opportunity of being heard on this matter.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective December 10, 1981. It is therefore ordered, that the aforesaid provisions of the order are hereby suspended beginning for the month of December 1981 and continuing until final disposition is made of the hearing proceeding on the proposal to merge the Puget Sound and Inland Empire orders.

(Secs. 1–19, Stat. 31, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674))

Effective Date: December 10, 1981.

Part 204, Organization and Functions, is amended to show the current organization and functions of the Packers and Stockyards Administration. Also, it is amended to set forth the Freedom of Information Act procedures of the agency.

On October 14, 1981 (46 FR 50510), the definitions of terms in 9 CFR Part 201.2 were revised to reflect the reorganizational changes. The definitions in 9 CFR Part 201.2 also apply to 9 CFR Part 202, 9 CFR Part 203 and 9 CFR Part 204.

The chapter title of Title 9, Animals and Animal Products, Chapter II, is changed to read Packers and Stockyards Administration, Department of Agriculture, rather than Agricultural Marketing Service (Packers and Stockyards), Department of Agriculture.

Footnote 1 to 9 CFR Parts 201, 202 and 203 is removed. In addition, Parts 202 and 203 are amended to change the name of the agency to Packers and Stockyards Administration and the Agency head to the Administrator of the Packers and Stockyards Administration.

This rule relates to agency organization, management and personnel, and consequently the requirements of 5 U.S.C. 553 do not apply. Further, since the rule relates to agency organization, management, and personnel, it is exempt from the provisions of Executive Order 12291 by Section 1(a)(3) of that Order. Lastly, this action is not a rule as defined in Public Law 96–354, the Regulatory Flexibility Act, and thus is exempt from the provisions of that Act.

Accordingly, Chapter II of Title 9 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as set forth below:

1. The title of Chapter II is revised to read:

CHAPTER II—PACKERS AND STOCKYARDS ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

PART 201—REGULATIONS UNDER THE PACKERS AND STOCKYARDS ACT

2. Footnote 1 to the Part 201 heading is removed.

PART 202—RULES OF PRACTICE GOVERNING PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE PACKERS AND STOCKYARDS ACT

1. Footnote 1 to the Part 202 heading is removed.

2. Section 202.102 is amended by revising paragraphs (e) and (f) to read as follows:

§ 202.102 Rule 2: Definitions.

* * * * *

(e) "Agency" means those divisions and offices of the Packers and Stockyards Administration of the Department which are charged with administration of the Act;

(f) "Agency Head" means the Administrator, Packers and Stockyards Administration, of the Department, or any officer or employee of the Agency to whom authority is lawfully delegated to act for the Administrator;

* * * * *

PART 203—STATEMENTS OF GENERAL POLICY UNDER THE PACKERS AND STOCKYARDS ACT

1. Footnote 1 to this Part 203 heading is removed.

§ 203.17 [Amended]

2. Section 203.17 is amended by removing the words "Packers and Stockyards—AMS" wherever they appear and inserting in their place the words "The Packers and Stockyards Administration."

These responsibilities include formulation of long range and current programs relating to assigned functions; technical and administrative direction and coordination in the execution of approved policies and programs carried out by the Packers and Stockyards Administration; review and evaluation of program operations and determination of remedial measures for improvement; maintenance of relations and communications with producer and industry groups.

(1) The Administrator. The Administrator is responsible for the general direction and supervision of programs and activities assigned to the Packers and Stockyards Administration except such activities as are reserved to the Judicial Officer (32 FR 7468). Federal Aviation Administration

[Airworthiness Docket No. 81-ASW-64; Amdt. 39-4274]

Airworthiness Directives; Mitsubishi Aircraft International, Inc.; (MAI) Model MU-2B Series Airplanes

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD) which requires inspection and/or replacement of engine wiring harnesses on MAI MU-2B series airplanes. There have been several reports of kinked and frayed wiring in the engine wiring harness. These defects could result in fires or other malfunctions resulting from shorted wiring.

DATES: Effective December 10, 1981. Compliance required as prescribed in the body of the AD.

ADDRESSES: The applicable service information may be obtained from Mitsubishi Aircraft International, Inc., Post Office Box 3848, San Angelo, Texas 76901. A copy of the Service Bulletin may be examined at the Office of the Regional Counsel, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, 4400 Blue Mound Road, Fort Worth, Texas, or Rules Docket in Room 916, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Al Backstrom, Propulsion Branch, Aircraft Certification Division, ASW-140, Federal Aviation Administration, P.O. Box 1689, Fort Worth, Texas 76101, telephone number (817) 624-4911, extension 525.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: There have been reports of kinked and frayed wiring in the engine wiring harness of 16 MU-2B series airplanes. These failures can lead to failure or improper operation of the electrical system and the possibility of engine compartment fires. Since this condition is likely to exist or develop in other airplanes of the same type design, an airworthiness directive is being issued which requires inspection and/or replacement of engine wiring harness to prevent fires or other malfunctions resulting from shorted wiring on MAI MU-2B airplanes. Since a situation exists that requires the immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

Mitsubishi Aircraft International, Inc. (MAI): Applies to MAI Model MU-2B-25/-26/-26A/-40, serial numbers 313SA, 321SA, 348SA through 453SA, Model MU-2B-35/-36A/-60, serial numbers 652SA, 661SA, 697SA through 799SA, 1501SA through 1536SA, and 1540SA.

Compliance is required as indicated unless previously accomplished.

Within the next 25 hours' time in service from the effective date of this AD:

1. Visually inspect the engine's electrical wiring to determine if nonshielded and noncolor coded wiring is white or brown (tan). Inspection may be made at connectors P4001 and P4020. Remove spiral wrap as required for inspection.

2. If wires are brown (tan) inspect in accordance with paragraph 4.

3. If wires are white, open the harness as necessary and inspect wires for identification:

a. If white wires are marked MS 25471-XX (XX indicates wire gauge), inspect in accordance with paragraph 4.

b. If white wires are marked M 22759/5-XX no further inspection is necessary and the airplane may be returned to service.

4. Each 25 hours' time in service remove wiring harness which incorporates wires affected by paragraph 2 or 3a from the engines and visually inspect all brown (tan) or white insulated MS 25471-XX wires for tight loop, kinks, or bulged deformation. If these conditions are found, replace the wiring harness using one of the procedures in paragraph 5 before further flight. Inspections may be discontinued when wires are replaced using one of the procedures in paragraph 5.

5. Before 300 hours' time in service, after the effective date of this AD, replace all brown (tan) or white insulated MS 25471-XX wires using one of the procedures specified in Part 3 of MAI S/B SB036/71-003 Revision A or alternate means approved by the Chief, Aircraft Certification Division, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration.

A special flight permit may be issued in accordance with FAR 21.197 to allow flight of the airplane to a location where this AD can be accomplished.

This amendment becomes effective December 10, 1981.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, and 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); 14 CFR 11.89)

Note.—The FAA has determined that this document involves a regulation which is not considered to be major under Executive Order 12291 or significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979) nor will it have significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act since it involves relatively low cost per aircraft. A final regulatory evaluation has been prepared for this regulation and has been placed in the docket. A copy of it may be obtained by contacting the person identified under the caption "For Further Information Contact."

This rule is a final order of the Administrator under the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended. As such, it is subject to review only by the various courts of appeals of the United States, or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Issued in Fort Worth, Texas, on November 25, 1981.

BILLING CODE 4910-13-M

14 CFR Part 39

[Docket No. 81-EA-26; Amdt. 39-4276]

Airworthiness Directives; Piper

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This amendment revokes A.D. 80-22-15 applicable to various Piper type airplanes and issues a new airworthiness directive (A.D.) covering the inspection for cracks and replacement, where necessary, of the lift strut forks. It also requires inscription of "No Step" on the strut. This new A.D. is prompted by the fact that with the termination of the mandatory times in A.D. 80-22-15, a simpler version of the correction can be published since it permits deletion of unnecessary paragraphs.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 14, 1981. Compliance is required as set forth in the A.D.

ADDRESS: Piper Service Bulletins may be acquired from the manufacturer at Piper Aircraft Corporation, 820 East Bald Eagle Street, Lock Haven, Pennsylvania 17745.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

C. Kallis, Airframe Section, AEA-212, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Federal Building, J.F.K. International Airport, Jamaica, New York 11430; Tel. 212-995-2875.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: There has been an alleged problem in the field in understanding A.D. 80-22-15. This was contributed to by the need to incorporate a number of mandatory times which, while necessary, tend to confuse the needed action. This present A.D. is simpler and easier to understand. Thus, in view of the fact that this new rule is clarifying in nature and does not add an additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the rule may be made effective in less than 30 days.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, 14 CFR 39.13 is amended, by revoking A.D. 80-22-15 and by issuing a new airworthiness directive as follows:

Piper: Applies to the following Piper series aircraft certificated in all categories:

1. Unless already accomplished in the last 450 hours in service, within the next fifty hours in service and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 500 hours in service, remove lift strut forks, and inspect for cracks by "magnetic" means or approved equivalent.

2. Replace lift strut forks prior to the accumulation of 1000 hours in service if used at any time on float equipped aircraft, and prior to the accumulation of 2000 hours in service if used on landplanes. Replacement parts must be parts with the same number manufactured with rolled threads, or approved equivalent.

3. Lift strut forks manufactured with machined (cut) threads are unacceptable for use.

(b) For Models J2, J3, L4, PA-11, PA-15, and PA-17 airplanes, inspect wing lift strut forks in accordance with (a)(1).

(c) For models in paragraphs (a) and (b), unless already accomplished, within the next 50 hours in service, inscribe the statement NO STEP in 1" minimum high letters, in a color which contrasts with the airplane color, or each wing lift strut approximately 6" from the bottom of the struts, and in such direction so that the NO STEP caution can be read when entering and leaving the airplane.

(d) Replace cracked parts before further flight with lift strut forks of the same part number, or approved equivalent, both of which meet the requirements of this AD. For the models in paragraph (a) these forks must have rolled threads; for the models in paragraph (b) these forks may have either machined (cut) or rolled threads.

(e) Upon submission of substantiating data by an owner or operator through an FAA Maintenance Inspector, the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA, Eastern Region may adjust the compliance times specified in this AD.

(f) Equivalent parts and inspections must be approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA, Eastern Region.

(g) Airplanes may be ferried to a base in accordance with FAR 21.197 where the AD can be accomplished.

Note (1): The following parts are acceptable for use on the airplanes as indicated. The dashed numbers are Piper's new numbers (since September 1981) with the Piper "logo" metal stamped at the fork-end of the parts.

Old part Nos.	New part Nos.	Model
P/N 13770	P/N 13770-2	J3, L-4, PA-11
P/N 11431	P/N 11431-2	J4.
P/N 11281	P/N 11281-4	PA-15, PA-17, J2
P/N 14481	P/N 14481-2	PA-12, PA-14, PA-16, PA-18, PA-19, PA-20, PA-22, J5, L-14, L-18, L-21, AE-1, HE-1.

Note (2): To distinguish between machined and rolled threads, a 10-power magnifying glass should be used to examine the threads. A rolled thread is processed by a thread die configuration which upsets the material when forming the thread. This results in an even threaded surface with generous radii in the root of the thread. A machined thread will show machining marks and "tear" areas on the thread surface along with sharp V shaped roots, all caused by the cutting tool. Both conditions are easily discernible under a magnifying glass and not readily recognized with the naked eye.

Effective Date: This amendment is effective December 14, 1981.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, and 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423, and 1431(b); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c) and 14 CFR 11.89.)

Note.—The Federal Aviation Administration has determined that this regulation is an emergency regulation that is not major under Executive Order 12291. It has been further determined that this document involves an emergency regulation under Department of Transportation Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979). If this action is subsequently determined to involve a significant regulation, a final regulatory evaluation or analysis, as appropriate, will be prepared and placed in the regulatory docket (otherwise, an evaluation is not required). This rule is a final order of the Administrator under the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended. As such, it is subject to review only by the court of appeals of the United States or the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Airworthiness Directives; Rolls-Royce Ltd., DART 542-10, 542-10J, and 542-10K Turboprop Engines

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule; request for comments.

SUMMARY: This amendment amends an existing airworthiness directive (AD) applicable to Rolls-Royce DART 542-4, 542-4K, 542-10, 542-10J, and 542-10K engines installed on Convair Model 340/440 (commonly known as Convair 600/640) and NAMC Model YS-11 airplanes by deleting certain model Rolls-Royce DART engines in the Convair model airplanes; by increasing the initial inspection interval for other Rolls-Royce DART engine models as installed on NAMC Model YS-11 airplanes; and by providing for terminating action.

DATES: Effective—December 10, 1981. Comments on the rule must be received on or before January 11, 1982. Compliance schedule as prescribed in body of AD.

ADDRESSES: The applicable Service Bulletins may be obtained from: Rolls-Royce, Ltd., Technical Publications Department, East Kilbride G74 4PY, Scotland.

A copy of each service bulletin [1] is contained in the Rules Docket, Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Regional Counsel, 12 New England Executive Park, Burlington, Massachusetts 01803.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Donald F. Perrault, Engine Standards Section, ANE-215, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Aircraft Certification Division, New England Region, Federal Aviation Administration, 12 New England Executive Park, Burlington, Massachusetts 01803; telephone: (617) 273-7347.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Amendment 39-1652, AD73-12-03, currently requires inspection of the engine mounting feet for cracks and inspection of the mounting feet studs for fracture, looseness, and loose nuts, and repairs as necessary on Rolls-Royce, Ltd., DART 542-4, 542-4K, 542-10, 542-10J, and 542-10K engines installed on NAMC YS-11 and General Dynamics/Convair Model 340/440 airplanes. After issuing Amendment 39-1652, the FAA has determined that the inspections are no longer required for certain engine models listed in that amendment; that the initial inspection interval can be increased for certain other engine models; and that inspections can be terminated when certain Rolls-Royce modifications are incorporated. Therefore, the AD is being amended to delete certain engine models from the applicability statement; to increase the inspection interval for remaining models until the manufacturer's recommended design modifications are installed; and also to make reference to the current issue of the Rolls-Royce Service Bulletin.

Since this amendment relieves restrictions and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective in less than 30 days.

Request for Comments on the Rule

Although this action is in the form of a final rule which is relaxatory and, thus, was not preceded by notice and public procedure, comments are invited on the rule.

When the comment period ends, the FAA will use the comments submitted, together with other available information, to review the regulation. After the review, if the FAA finds that changes are appropriate, it will initiate rulemaking proceedings to amend the regulation. Comments that provide the factual basis supporting the views and suggestions presented are particularly helpful in evaluating the effects of the AD and determining whether additional rulemaking is needed. Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the rule that might suggest a need to modify the rule.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 39.13) is amended by amending Amendment 39-1652, AD73-12-03, as follows:

1. Amend the applicability statement by striking "542-4, 542-4K" and by deleting all references to Convair airplanes so as to read: "Applies to Rolls-Royce DART engine models 542-10, 542-10J, and 542-10K which do not have Rolls-Royce, Ltd., Modification No. 1681 and Modification No. 1768 incorporated, as installed on, but not limited to, NAMC YS-11 airplanes."

2. Revise compliance paragraph (a) to read:

(a) Within the next 400 hours time in service after the effective date of this AD or within 400 hours time in service since the last inspection, whichever occurs sooner, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 400 hours time in service since the last inspection, inspect engine top mounting feet which do not incorporate Modification 1681 and side mounting feet which do not incorporate Modification 1768 for cracks and the mounting feet studs for fracture, looseness, and loose nuts, in accordance with Rolls-Royce Service Bulletin Da72-384, Revision 2, dated September 1979.

3. Strike from paragraph (b) the words "dated August 24, 1971," and insert "Revision 2, dated September 1979."

4. After paragraph (b), add a note to read:

Note.—Rolls-Royce DART Service Bulletins Da72-411 and Da72-444 concern Modification No. 1681 and Modification No. 1768, respectively.

The manufacturer's Service Bulletins identified and described in this directive are incorporated herein and made a part hereof pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 533(a)(1). Special Airport Traffic Areas and Air Traffic Rules for Abbotsford, BC, and Sault Ste. Marie, ON, Canada

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action establishes Special Airport Traffic Areas and Air Traffic Rules in U.S. airspace near Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, and Abbotsford, British Columbia, Canada. The rule requires pilots to establish two-way radio communication with the Canadian airport traffic control tower and to receive authorization from Canadian Air Traffic Control before operating in the designated special airport traffic area. The requirements enhance the level of safety within the designated U.S. airspace by establishing consistency with rules applied in Canadian Positive Control Zones. The rule reduces the midair collision potential caused by uncontrolled and unknown aircraft operating in the airspace in which air traffic control is currently provided by Canada to aircraft operating under instrument flight rules (IFR).

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 21, 1982.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. William C. Davis, Air Traffic Rules Branch (AAT-220), Air Traffic Service, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Ave., SW., Washington, DC 20591; telephone (202) 426-3128.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

By a letter dated January 9, 1978, the Superintendent of International Coordination, Transport Canada, requested the FAA to issue a special air traffic rule under Part 93 of the Federal Aviation Regulations. The letter requested a rule which would establish special airport traffic areas and air traffic rules that would apply to operations in U.S. airspace within control zones designated for certain Canadian airports. The requested rule required pilots to establish two-way radio communication with the Canadian airport traffic control tower and to receive a Canadian ATC clearance before operating in the specified areas. The Canadians requested that the special airport traffic areas be associated with airports located at Sault Ste. Marie, ON, and Abbotsford, BC, Canada.

Through letters of agreement, jurisdiction of certain U.S. airspace juxtaposed to Canadian positive control zones is delegated by the United States to the Canadian air traffic facilities for the control of IFR traffic. However, unlike the requirements for operation in U.S. airport traffic areas under FAR §§ 91.85 and 91.87, Canadian rules for positive control zones in Canadian airspace require aircraft to have authorization to enter or operate in the control zone and to maintain two-way radio communications with the control tower. Further, the Canadian requirement does not govern aircraft operating in U.S. airspace. Similarly, a U.S. airport traffic area does not exist, under the general rules, for Canadian airports and the requirements of §§ 91.85 and 91.87 do not apply to operations in the vicinity of those airports with operating control towers in Canada. Consequently, pilots operating to, from, and near those airports do not have protection of either rule while in the United States airspace.

Discussion of Comments

On April 30, 1981, the FAA published a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) which detailed the rule-changes requested by the Canadians (46 FR 24199). Only two comments were received in response to the NPRM.

The Air Line Pilots Association concurred with the proposal, but expressed doubt that the proposed regulation would tend to reduce the midair collision potential. The FAA believes that the mandatory communication requirement will facilitate the issuance of information by ATC concerning conflicting aircraft traffic, and, thus, will indeed reduce the midair collision potential.

The Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association (AOPA) objected to the proposal because of the special designation of the airport traffic areas. AOPA requested instead that a U.S. type airport traffic area be established in U.S. airspace. The FAA disagrees with this comment because the airspace is designated for Canadian airports, not U.S. airports, and the preponderance of traffic that would be affected by the rule would be operating into and out of those Canadian airports. The AOPA proposal, involving dissimilar types of airspace and procedures affecting common operations, would be disconcerting to pilots and ATC alike.

In commenting further, AOPA pointed out that VFR traffic pattern operations at Lynden, Washington, and Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, airports, both of which are just outside the proposed airspace designations, should be excluded from the proposed rule. The FAA agrees. In the case of Lynden, Washington, the southernmost line has been moved northward by 30 seconds, limiting the special ATA to that airspace which is north of State Highway 546 and the airport management's recommended traffic pattern. In the case of Sault Ste. Marie, the traffic patterns are all northeast of the airport and do not conflict with the proposed airspace designation.

In its comment, AOPA identified four errors in the proposed rule as it appeared in the Federal Register. Those errors have been corrected as follows:

1. The ceiling for Abbotsford special ATA has been changed from 3000 feet to the intended 4000 feet.

2. The ceiling for Sault Ste. Marie special ATA has been changed from 4000 feet to the intended 3000 feet.

3. The "180°T bearing" specified in proposed § 93.183(b)(2) has been changed to the intended "108°T bearing."

4. The words "all statute miles southeast" in proposed § 93.183(b)(3) have been changed to the intended "11 statute miles southeast."

Discussion of the Rule

In order for the Canadian airport control towers to effectively control the air traffic within the control zones, it is necessary that the controller in the terminal area be aware of all aircraft movements within the control tower's area of jurisdiction. With this awareness, controllers will be better able to separate aircraft and provide pilots with air traffic services, thereby enhancing the safe and efficient use of the navigable airspace. This rule accomplishes those objectives by requiring pilots to comply with requirements that would apply if that airspace were Canadian and controlled by the appropriate Canadian air traffic control tower.

This rule applies the special air traffic rules to the U.S. portion of the Abbotsford control zone at or below 4000 feet MSL. A requirement for radio contact is placed on pilots desiring to operate aircraft within or through the Abbotsford and Sault Ste. Marie positive control zones and the corresponding U.S. special airport traffic areas prior to entering the designated U.S. areas. All aircraft operating in the special airport traffic areas must have a clearance from Canadian Air Traffic Control. The rule enables ATC to effectively control the air traffic within the tower's area of jurisdiction, including that in the United States.

Adoption of the Amendment

Accordingly, Part 93 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 93) is amended, effective January 21, 1982, by adding a new Subpart Q to read as follows:

PART 93—SPECIAL AIR TRAFFIC AREAS AND AIRPORT TRAFFIC PATTERNS

* * * * *

Subpart Q—Abbotsford, BC, and Sault Ste. Marie, ON: Special Airport Traffic Areas and Air Traffic Rules

Sec.
93.181 Applicability; scope.
93.183 Special airport traffic areas.
93.185 Communications.

Authority: Secs. 307 and 313(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1348, and 1354(a)); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)), and 14 CFR 11.45.

Subpart Q—Abbotsford, BC, and Sault Ste. Marie, ON: Special Airport Traffic Areas and Air Traffic Rules

§ 93.181 Applicability; scope.

This subpart describes special airport traffic areas and air traffic rules for persons operating in the airspace designated under this subpart for Abbotsford, British Columbia, and Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, Canada.

§ 93.183 Special airport traffic areas.

Special airport traffic areas under this subpart are designated as follows:

(a) For Abbotsford, BC,—that airspace in the United States at or below 4,000 feet MSL within the area bounded by a line beginning 48°58′00″ N; 122°21′43″ W, thence counterclockwise along the arc of a circle of 4 nautical miles radius centered on the Abbotsford airport at 49°01′32″ N; 122°21′43″ W, thence to 49°02′00″ N; 122°28′40″ W, to 49°02′00″ N; 122°33′45″ W, to 48°58′00″ N; 122°33′45″ W; and thence to the point of beginning.

(b) For Sault Ste. Marie, ON—that airspace in the United States at or below 3,000 feet MSL within the following areas:

(1) Within a 5-statute-mile radius of the Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario Airport (lat. 46°29′ N; long. 84°31′ W, estimated);

(2) Within 1.75 statute miles north of the 108°T bearing from the geographical center of the airport extending from the 5-statute-mile radius zone to 5.5 statute miles southeast;

(3) Within 1.75 statute miles each side of the 118°T bearing from the geographical center of the airport extending from the 5-statute-mile radius zone to 11 statute miles southeast; and

(4) Within 1.75 statute miles each side of the 293°T bearing from the geographical center to the airport extending from the 5-statute-mile radius zone to 5.5 statute miles northeast.

§ 93.185 Communications.

For operations within the special airport traffic areas under this subpart the following apply:

(a) General. Unless otherwise authorized or required by ATC, each person operating an aircraft within a special airport traffic area designated under this subpart shall comply with the applicable provisions of this section.

(b) ATC clearance. No person may operate an aircraft within a special airport traffic area designated under this subpart without prior authorization from the appropriate Canadian airport traffic control tower.

(c) Two-way radio communication. No person may operate an aircraft within a special airport traffic area designated under this subpart unless two-way radio communications are maintained between that aircraft and the appropriate control tower. However, if the radio fails in flight on an aircraft operating under VFR, within the designated area (with weather conditions at or above VFR weather minimums), and the operator maintains visual contact with the tower, the operator may continue to operate that aircraft and land as soon as possible. If the radio fails in flight on an aircraft operating either under IFR within the designated area, or under VFR within the designated area and visual contact with the tower cannot be maintained, the operator shall comply with the requirements of § 91.127 of this chapter.

(Secs. 307 and 313(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1348, and 1354(a)); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)), and 14 CFR 11.45.)

Note.—The FAA has determined that this document involves a regulation which is—(1) not major under Executive Order 12291; and (2) not significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979). A copy of the regulatory evaluation prepared for this action is contained in the regulatory docket. Further, it is certified under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act that this rule will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities because of its low altitude, localized applicability in two small areas on the Canadian border and the nominal, routine nature of the air traffic rules involved.

Issued in Washington, DC, on November 10, 1981.

Administrator.

[Release Nos. 33-6364, 34-18302, IC-12070]

Interpretation of Rules Relating to Disclosure of Management Remuneration

AGENCY: Securities and Exchange Commission.

ACTION: Publication of staff interpretations.

SUMMARY: The Commission has authorized the issuance of this release setting forth the views of its Division of Corporation Finance (the "Division") regarding the management remuneration disclosure requirements of Item 4 of Regulation S-K. This release sets forth responses to the remuneration questions most frequently received by the Division. This release also supersedes two prior interpretive releases. The questions and responses in those releases have either been superseded or are restated in this release with revisions where appropriate. Interpretive responses to questions concerning personal benefits which were published in a third release, which is not being superseded, are summarized in a table in this release. Publication of the Division's views is intended to provide guidance to issuers and others in complying with the management remuneration disclosure requirements.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ann M. Glickman, Office of Chief Counsel, Division of Corporation Finance, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, at (202) 272-2573.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In November 1980, the Commission adopted amendments to the management remuneration disclosure requirements of Item 4 of Regulation S-K (17 CFR 229.20),[1] which significantly altered some of the requirements for disclosing the compensation of officers and directors in registration statements, proxy statements, and periodic reports filed pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933 (the "Securities Act") [15 U.S.C. 77a et seq.] and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act") [15 U.S.C. 78a et seq.]. During the months following the adoption of the amendments, the staff of the Division received numerous requests for interpretive advice regarding the amended requirements. Further, many inquiries were received regarding the continuing validity of interpretive views previously published by the Division on the subject of management remuneration. Therefore, in order to address the issues raised for the benefit of all interested persons, the Commission has authorized the publication of this release setting forth the current views of the Division.

Release No. 33–6261, in which the most recent amendments to Item 4 were adopted,[2] Release No. 33–5904,[3] which discussed the requirements for disclosure of personal benefits or "perquisites," and this release are intended to serve as the sole sources of interpretive guidance on the subject of disclosure of management remuneration in filings with the Commission. Consequently, Release No. 33–6166,[4] which discussed a broad range of disclosure issues, may be regarded as superseded, since the 1980 amendments either codified or rendered inapplicable many of the interpretations contained in that release. Those interpretations in Release No. 33–6166 which have continuing validity have been reiterated herein.[5]

Although some of the interpretations in Release No. 33–5904, covering personal benefits provided to officers and directors, have been codified or otherwise superseded, many continue to provide useful guidance. Those interpretations which still may be relied upon are listed in the following table under appropriate captions.

Release No. 33–6027 [6] provided interpretive guidance on: (1) the choice of executive officers to be named in the Item 4(a) remuneration table, and (2) disclosure relating to defined benefit pension plans. That release was codified in part and superseded in part by subsequent rule amendments. As a result, it may be disregarded in its entirety.

The remainder of this release sets forth the staff's interpretations in a question and answer format, with appropriate explanatory notes.

I. The Remuneration Table

Item 4(a) of Regulation S–K requires disclosure, in a specified tabular format, of total aggregate remuneration for the five most highly compensated executive officers and directors of reporting entities, naming such persons, and for all officers and directors as a group (the "remuneration table").

A. Format; Amounts and Persons Included in the Remuneration Table

(1) Question: Must a registrant list all columns specified in Item 4(a)(3) in its remuneration table regardless of their applicability?

Answer: No. The registrant is required to include only those columns for which it has information required to be reported in the remuneration table.

(2) Question: May a registrant include additional columns in its table? If so, must these additional columns be aggregated?

Answer: Instruction 5 to Item 4(a) specifically permits the inclusion of additional columns. It is unnecessary, however, to aggregate them. It has been the Division's experience that some registrants do not include bonus payments in Column C1 but instead place them in a separate column. The Division encourages this practice.

(3) Question: Are all cash amounts received as remuneration included in Column C1?

Answer: No. Column C1 includes salaries, fees, directors' fees, commissions and bonuses. All other forms of cash remuneration should be included in Column C2. Once the determination has been made that an amount should be reported in Column C rather than Column D, the fact that the distribution of such amount will be deferred is of no importance in determining whether Column C1 or C2 is the appropriate column.

(4) Question: Corporate directors who are not employees of the corporation or firms with which corporate officers and directors are associated may be hired by the corporation to perform specific tasks. Should the compensation for performance of such tasks be reported in the Item 4(a) remuneration table or pursuant to Item 4(f)?

Answer: Generally, such compensation is reported pursuant to Item 4(f), having been paid in connection with a transaction in which a corporate officer or director had a direct or indirect material interest. The exception to this general rule is compensation paid to a director who is an individual consultant, which should be reported in the Item 4(a) remuneration table. The reason for this exception is to increase comparability between the disclosures of corporations who hire individual consultants to perform certain functions and the disclosures of those [2] One portion of the explanatory material contained in Release No. 33–6261 has led to confusion in the treatment of performance unit rights in tandem with stock options or stock appreciation rights. Part II. E.4. of that release (45 FR at 76989) stated that for such performance unit rights, the "accrual balance" with regard to such a right should be reported under the potential [unrealized] value for the related stock option or stock appreciation right. In accordance with Instruction 12 to Item 4(d), the potential [unrealized] value of the performance unit right, rather than the accrual balance related thereto, should be so reported.

The following have been included in modified form: 3, 6, 7, 12, 35, 39, 49. The following interpretations were either codified in or superseded by the November 14, 1980 amendments: 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 17, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 30, 32, 40, 41, 42, 44, 47, 48, 52, 53.

corporations that have the same functions performed by corporate employees.

(5) Question: A person becomes a corporate officer during the course of a corporation's fiscal year. His annualized compensation would be sufficient to cause him to be named in the remuneration table of Item 4(a); however, the actual compensation paid him would not. Should the officer be included in the remuneration table as one of the five named individuals?

Answer: No. The person need not be named in the remuneration table as one of the highest-paid individuals. The actual compensation paid to him should be included in the group disclosure for all officers and directors.

(6) Question: Which officers are contemplated by Item 4(a)(2), which requires that all officers and directors as a group be included in the remuneration table? How does the group of "officers" differ from the group of "executive officers," from whom the five most highly compensated may be selected?

Answer: Instruction 1(b) defines the term "executive officer" as follows:

> An "executive officer" of the registrant means its president, secretary, or treasurer, any vice president of the registrant in charge of a principal business unit, division, or function (such as sales, administration or finance), and any other individual who performs similar policy-making functions for the registrant. Executive officers of subsidiaries may be deemed executive officers of the registrant if they perform such policy-making functions for the registrant.

The group of "officers" is more inclusive than the group of "executive officers"; it comprises all executive officers as well as persons with primary responsibility for certain corporate functions who are not included within the top policy-making group. For example, a corporate vice-president in charge of public relations might be considered an officer, although he might not be included within the group of executive officers.

Generally, a corporation's officers and executive officers are identifiable by title; however, membership in either group is determined by the functions performed for the corporation. For example, in the case of a one-bank holding company, persons with official positions only in the bank subsidiary may nonetheless perform significant policy-making functions for the parent holding company and should be regarded as executive officers of the holding company. Conversely, a large bank holding company with numerous vice-presidents who do not have primary responsibility for any corporate function would not regard these vice-presidents as officers.

B. Perquisites

Instruction 2(d) to Item 4(a) requires the inclusion in the remuneration table of "[t]he value of personal benefits which are not directly related to job performance, other than those provided to broad categories of employees and which do not discriminate in scope, terms or operation in favor of officers or directors, furnished by the registrant or its subsidiaries * * *." Subpart (1) of the instruction indicates how such perquisites should be valued. Subpart (2) sets forth an exclusion from the disclosure requirements if the registrant cannot without unreasonable effort or expense determine the specific amount of certain personal benefits or the extent to which benefits are personal rather than business benefits. Subpart (3) requires expanded disclosure regarding perquisites if such personal benefits aggregate to a specific threshold.

(7) Question: When is the footnote disclosure called for by subpart (1) of Instruction 2(d) required?

Answer: Subpart (1) requires footnote disclosure when the aggregate actual incremental costs for such personal benefits are significantly less than the aggregate amounts the recipient would have had to pay to obtain the benefits. For the purposes of Instruction 2(d), the comparison of incremental cost to the personal value to the recipient is to be done on an aggregate basis individual by individual, and perquisite by perquisite.

(8) Question: If the registrant pursuant to subpart (2) of Instruction 2(d) cannot determine, without unreasonable effort or expense, the specific amount of certain personal benefits or the extent to which benefits are personal rather than business, and after reasonable inquiry the registrant has concluded that the aggregate amounts of such personal benefits do not in any event exceed $10,000, must an affirmative statement that the conditional exclusion has been utilized be included in the covering letter submitted to the Commission with the proxy statement, report or registration statement?

Answer: If the conditional exclusion has been utilized by the registrant, this fact should be noted in the covering letter which accompanies the filed document.

(9) Question: Is the conditional exclusion a de minimis perquisite exclusion?

Answer: The conditional exclusion is not a de minimis perquisite exclusion; rather, it is available if the registrant cannot determine without unreasonable effort or expense the specific amount of certain personal benefits or the extent to which benefits are personal rather than business benefits. Otherwise, the specific amounts of any personal benefits are to be included in Column C2.

(10) Question: If an issuer has utilized the $10,000 conditional exclusion for a particular individual, should the amount of personal benefits conditionally excluded be considered for the purpose of determining whether the footnote disclosure describing such benefits called for by subpart (3) of Instruction 2(d) is required?

Answer: The amount of such personal benefits is not required to be considered for the purpose of the footnote disclosure. The footnote requirement of subpart (3) of Instruction 2(d) relates only to amounts representing personal benefits included in Column C2.

(11) Question: If an individual has over $10,000 of "indeterminable" personal benefits, should the entire amount or only the amount in excess of $10,000 be included in Column C2?

Answer: The entire amount of such personal benefits would be included in Column C2, not merely the amount in excess of $10,000.

(12) Question: Does disclosure in response to Instruction 2(d) satisfy all other disclosure requirements of Item 4?

Answer: No. Instruction 2(d) and the other Item 4 provisions may overlap, and therefore additional disclosure may be necessary. For example, a low interest loan obtained from the registrant by an officer or director may be required to be described under Item 4(e) of Regulation S–K as well as reported as a personal benefit in the remuneration table. However, duplicate disclosure is unnecessary where a form of disclosure satisfies all the requirements of the pertinent provisions.

(13) Question: Is a life insurance plan covering all salaried employees, in which benefit payout is proportional to remuneration, to be regarded under Instruction 2(c) to Item 4(a) as discriminatory in scope, terms or operation in favor of officers or directors, because their remuneration levels are generally higher than those of other salaried employees?

Answer: No.

(14) Question: With regard to split-dollar life insurance, must Column C2 reflect all of the premiums paid by the registrant?

Answer: Instruction 2(c) requires the inclusion of the cost of the premiums paid by the registrant or its subsidiaries. Therefore, if under a split-dollar life insurance policy the company will recoup some or all of its premiums from the proceeds of the policy, the Division will raise no objection if the registrant includes only the amounts relating to the policy that have been expensed for financial reporting purposes. Registrants should also be aware of their obligation to describe such a plan briefly under Item 4(b)(1).

(15) Question: Instruction 2(c) and Item 4(b)(1) indicate that information need not be furnished with respect to any group life, health, hospitalization or medical reimbursement plans which do not discriminate in favor of officers and directors and which are available generally to all salaried employees. In order to qualify for this exception must a policy taken out with an insurance company be involved?

Answer: No. "Reimbursement" plans, similar to life insurance or otherwise, need not be funded by an insurance company policy to qualify for this exception.

(16) Question: Should a remunerative amount arising as a result of a life, health or medical reimbursement plan which is to be reported pursuant to Instruction 2(c) to Item 4(a) be deemed a perquisite for the purpose of determining whether footnote disclosure is required under subpart (3) of Instruction 2(d)?

Answer: No. The staff would not object if registrants excluded such amounts from the calculation determining whether the footnote disclosure is necessary.

(17) Question: Is specific disclosure required for all perquisites provided by a registrant?

Answer: Outside of the footnote provisions called for by subpart (1) of Instruction 2(d) which requires disclosure where the personal benefit is significantly in excess of reported cost, and by subpart (3), which requires disclosure where aggregate amounts exceed certain limits, there is no specific requirement for separate disclosure of personal benefits per se. However, registrants may voluntarily include additional columns or subcolumns pursuant to Instruction 5 to Item 4(a). In practice, some registrants have provided information regarding the components of compensation reported in Column C2.

(18) Question: The conditional exclusion for personal benefits provided in subpart (2) of Instruction 2(d) is available if "after reasonable inquiry, the registrant has concluded that the aggregate amounts of personal benefits which cannot be specifically or precisely ascertained do not in any event exceed * * * $10,000 for each person in the group * * *" If one officer/director has no "indeterminable" perquisites, may his $10,000 maximum be allocated to other group members?

Answer: No. The company may not allocate the "unused" portion of one officer/director's conditional exclusion to another officer/director who has over $10,000 of "indeterminable" personal benefits.

(19) Question: How does the footnote disclosure requirement of subpart (3) of Instruction 2(d) with regard to personal benefits apply to the group disclosure?

Answer: Subpart (3) of Instruction 2(d) requires footnote disclosure only for the persons named in the remuneration table and not for the group. As stated previously, some registrants provide a description of the components of remuneration reported in C2 for the named individuals and for the group.

(20) Question: If an issuer gives an officer/director a personal benefit which is tax deductible to the company as compensation expense, may the incremental cost that must be reported pursuant to Instruction 2(d) be discounted to account for the value of the tax deduction to the company?

Answer: The incremental cost to the company is to be computed without regard to tax benefits. In reporting remuneration generally, there is no provision for adjustments relating to tax benefits accruing to a registrant. For example, a corporation's contributions to a TRASOP on behalf of its officers and directors are reportable pursuant to Item 4(a), although the amounts paid may be taken as a credit against the corporation's federal taxes.

C. Allocation of Amounts Between Columns C and D

Column D of the remuneration table reports the aggregate of contingent forms of remuneration accrued during the course of the fiscal year for individuals named in the remuneration table and the group of all officers and directors. "Contingent remuneration," as defined in Instructions 2(e) and 3 to Item 4(a), is remuneration whose measurement, vesting, or distribution is "subject to future events." This does not mean that all remuneration to be paid in the future should be reported in Column D. If the "future event" is certain to occur (e.g., retirement or other termination of employment), the remuneration should be reported in Column C. If the "future event" may or may not occur (e.g., the performance of future services for the company), the remuneration should be reported in Column D.

(21) Question: The company has a deferred bonus plan under which amounts are presently expensed but benefits are payable only if the participant is living at the date of payment. Is the remuneration reported in Column C1 or D?

Answer: The registrant must determine whether a true contingency exists. Under normal circumstances, if by standard actuarial tables the officer or director is expected to be living at the payment date, then no true contingency is present and the amount "accrued" for the officer or director should be reported in Column C1. Column C1 would be used instead of Column C2 because, notwithstanding the fact that the distribution is deferred, the amount relates to a bonus. See Instruction 2(a).

(22) Question: A corporation expenses each year an amount used to purchase an annuity for one of its officers. The annuity is payable on a yearly basis beginning upon retirement and provides for payments for at least ten years to the annuitant or his estate. Payments beyond the ten year period will be made only if the annuitant is still alive. Should the expense of the annuity be reported in Column C or Column D?

Answer: A portion of the annuity premium (that used to purchase the "ten year certain" feature) should be reported in Column C and the rest of the corporation's expense in Column D (if a true contingency exists as to the officer's receipt of that portion of the annuity). In the event that such split reporting is impracticable, the registrant may report the entire amount in Column C.

(23) Question: A corporation pays amounts into a TRASOP for the benefit of its employees. Such amounts, although fully vested, are subject to adjustments for tax reasons. Are such amounts to be reported in the C2 or D column?

Answer: Such amounts should be reported in the C2 column if expensed by the company. Credits to the company's books on account of later adjustments may be reported in Column D. (See Question 25.)

(24) Question: The company's tax-qualified profit sharing retirement plan has the following vesting schedule: year 1–0%, year 2–10%, year 3–20%, and 10% increments in the following years. No benefits are payable until after termination. How would the company's annual contributions of $1,000 to the plan for an officer/director be reported in the table?

Answer: The vested portion of profit-sharing or other retirement plans would be reportable in Column C2, and the unvested portion in Column D. Accordingly, with regard to the specific inquiry, the disclosure should be as follows:

First year disclosure:
Col. C2, 0
Col. D, $1000
(There is no vesting in year 1)
Second year disclosure:
Col. C2, $100
Col. D, $900
(The schedule calls for 10% vesting. However, since the prior year's contribution has already been reported in Column D, no reporting is necessary for any amount reported in Column D in year 1 that vests in year 2. Thus, only the second year's contributions must be reported)
Third year disclosure:
Col. C2, $200
Col. D, $800

(The basic principle is that no reporting is required for amounts previously reported in Column D that vest in subsequent years.) The table need not disclose cumulative account balances, nor any additions (or deductions) to a participant's account resulting from the annual allocation of trust earnings (or losses) or of amounts reallocated as forfeiture for the accounts of terminated employees who were not fully vested.

(25) Question: Is Column D exclusively for contingent remuneration?

Answer: All positive entries in Column D should be for remuneration subject to a true contingency but nevertheless expensed during the fiscal year for financial reporting purposes. However, negative adjustment entries with respect to amounts previously reported in Column C (and, of course, against amounts previously reported in Column D) are always to be reported in Column D.

(26) Question: What type of disclosure is necessary if negative adjustments are reported in Column D?

Answer: Subpart (2) of Instruction 3(b) to Item 4(a) provides, "if amounts credited pursuant to this instruction are so reflected in the table [in Column D], include a footnote briefly stating the amount of such credit and describing such treatment." The instruction discusses appropriate footnote treatment in the event that there are several plans generating negative entries.

D. Other Matters Relating to the Remuneration Table

(27) Question: Compensation may be paid in the form of "restricted shares," whose restrictions lapse over a period of years. The award of such shares is generally accounted for by expensing amounts over the period during which the restrictions lapse on the basis of the value of the shares at the time of the initial award. How are these awards to be reported?

Answer: Such awards are not considered stock appreciation rights, because changes in market value during the years in which the awards are expensed are not taken into account in the expensing process. Rather, the amounts expensed are based upon share values at the time of the initial award. Such awards are therefore reported in the Item 4(a) remuneration table. Amounts expensed are reported in that table for the fiscal year during which they are expensed, in the C2 or D column, as appropriate. In the table for the year during which restrictions finally lapse, market appreciation of the shares since the date of the award is reported in the C2 column (even though such appreciation is not expensed); decline in market value is reported in Column D. Dividends paid under this sort of restricted share program would be reported in Column C2 in the year paid.

(28) Question: An employee has the option of deferring payment of a portion of his compensation until retirement. During the time of deferral, the corporation pays the employee interest on the amount deferred. Is this interest required to be reported as compensation in the remuneration table?

Answer: Yes. The interest should be reported in the C2 column. This situation should be differentiated from the situation in which an employee's deferred compensation is paid into a thrift plan or other plan with funds separate from the general funds of the corporation. In such a case, any interest paid on the employee's account would not be required to be reported.

II. Item 4(b)(1)—Description of Proposed Remuneration

Item 4(b)(1) provides for a brief description of:

(A)ll remuneration payments proposed to be made in the future pursuant to any ongoing plan or arrangement to the individuals and group specified in Item 4(a). The description should include a summary of how each plan operates, any performance formula or measure in effect (or the criteria used to determine payment amounts), the time periods over which the measurement of benefits will be determined, payment schedules, and any recent material amendments to the plan. Information need not be furnished with respect to any group life, health, hospitalization, or medical reimbursement plans which do not discriminate in scope, terms or operation in favor of officers or directors of the registrant and which are available generally to all salaried employees.

(29) Question: If no amounts have been expensed by the corporation in the current fiscal year or are to be expensed in future years in connection with ongoing plans or arrangements, are such plans or arrangements still required to be reported under Item 4(b)(1)?

Answer: Yes. If the corporation has an obligation to make future payments, even if it is no longer expensing amounts in connection with such payments, continuing disclosure is required.

(30) Question: Does Item 4(b)(1) require that the registrant describe proposed salary increases for the current fiscal year?

Answer: Ordinarily, no description would be required. In the event, however, that the current year's salary increases will be substantially more than would be required to compensate officers and directors for the effects of inflation and increased responsibilities, it would appear appropriate to expand the Item 4(b)(1) discussion to include a brief description of the increases. Of course, any salary arrangements embodied in employment agreements would have to be fully described. (See Question 34.)

(31) Question: Are informal arrangements whereby corporations provide officers and directors with such prerequisites as automobiles or financial planning required to be described in Item 4(b)(1)?

Answer: No. If such benefits are significant in relation to compensation as a whole, they will be disclosed under Item 4(a) in footnote form, pursuant to Instruction 2(d), subpart (3). If arrangements relating to perquisites have been formalized as a part of a written contract, disclosure would be necessary.

(32) Question: Is any description of stock option or stock appreciation rights plans required by Item 4(d)?

Answer: While such a description is not required by Item 4(d), it should be included in the discussion of management remuneration pursuant to Item 4(b)(1). The description may be placed with the registrant's disclosure pursuant to Item 4(d).

(33) Question: In describing an Employee Stock Ownership Plan or similar employee benefit plan pursuant to Item 4(b)(1), is it necessary to state the assets accumulated by the plan to date?

Answer: No. Because employer contributions to the plan are disclosed in the remuneration table as they are set aside on a yearly basis, it is not necessary to state total (accumulated) plan assets under Item 4(b)(1) or elsewhere.

(34) Question: Are individual contractual arrangements, such as employment agreements, with (a) individuals named in the remuneration table, and (b) individuals who are not named but are included in the group disclosure, required to be disclosed under Item 4(b)(1)?

Answer: Yes. (a) Arrangements with persons named in the remuneration table should be fully disclosed, naming such persons. (b) Arrangements with officers or directors who are not named in the remuneration table should also be fully disclosed, but such persons need not be named in the course of disclosure. If a number of group members who are not specifically named in the remuneration table are covered by similar contracts or arrangements, such contracts or arrangements may be described generally, giving ranges of benefits, to the extent such disclosure is not misleading.

(35) Question: Certain life insurance plans discriminate in favor of officers and directors and are therefore required to be described pursuant to Item 4(b)(1). If the premiums paid by the company pursuant to such plans are not reported in the Item 4(a) remuneration table because they are not allocable to individuals, is any disclosure of such premiums required?

Answer: Such disclosure is generally not required if the allocation cannot be made.

(36) Question: A corporation maintains an incentive compensation plan. Payments are made from an incentive compensation fund depending upon the corporation's attainment of certain pre-determined earnings goals over a period of several years. Are specific dollar amounts of earnings goals required to be stated in the description of the plan required by Item 4(b)(1)?

Answer: No. If the following elements are included in the Item 4(b)(1) disclosure of incentive compensation plans, specific earnings targets used to determine awards under such plans need not be disclosed in dollar amounts. However, the fact that earnings targets exist should be disclosed, and there should be a general indication of the manner in which such targets are set.

1. The description should identify the person or persons determining the recipients and the amounts of incentive compensation pursuant to the plan.

2. The description should state the time period over which corporate performance is to be measured to determine awards under the plan.

3. The description should set forth the criterion or criteria of corporate performance used to determine the aggregate amount available and the specific amounts awarded to particular individuals under the plan.

4. The description should indicate whether compensation under the plan may be paid even if there is no improvement in performance over prior periods. For example, a profit sharing plan ordinarily provides for contribution of a percentage of profits, regardless of whether profits for the year represent an improvement over the prior year.

5. The description should indicate whether the full amount of the incentive compensation fund must be awarded in a particular year, or whether there is discretion not to award the full amount.

6. The description should include any maximum or ceiling on the total amounts available under the plan or on the amounts which may be awarded to specific individuals. For example, an individual's incentive compensation bonus for a year may be limited to a percentage of that person's salary.[7]

(37) Question: Does the language of Item 4(b)(1) calling for a description of "recent material amendments" to plans of remuneration require discussion of amendments to stock option plans whose sole purpose is to permit options granted and to be granted under the plan to be treated as "incentive stock options" for federal income tax purposes?

Answer: No. Such amendments are not required to be described pursuant to Item 4(b)(1), nor need they be reflected in disclosure made pursuant to Item 4(d).

III. Item 4(b)(2)—Defined Benefit Plans

The requirements of Item 4(b)(2), as adopted in the 1980 amendments, represented a revision of the Commission's previous disclosure regulations for defined benefit pension plans. Formerly, amounts expensed by the registrant with respect to such plans were to be reported in the item 4(a) remuneration table. However, such reporting of defined benefit plan expenses was frequently impracticable, since it was not actuarially possible to attribute portions of the amounts expensed to the accounts of individuals in the remuneration table. Registrants utilized an alternative format for reporting compensation in the form of defined benefit plans—a pension table showing how amounts payable upon retirement varied with years of service and final compensation. Item 4(b)(2) as amended makes this type of disclosure applicable to all defined benefit pension plans, where pension benefits depend on years of service and final or final average compensation. (Other types of defined benefit plans are described through the use of a table showing the estimated annual benefits to be paid upon retirement to the named individuals in the Item 4(a) remuneration table. See Instruction 3 to Item 4(b).)

(38) Question: What should be included in the Item 4(a) remuneration table concerning a defined contribution plan or "individual account plan," as opposed to a defined benefit plan?

Answer: The amount of the contribution attributed to or allocated for the account of an officer/director should be reflected in the table. Since there usually is no waiting period prior to vesting under these plans, company contributions will generally be reported in Column C2. It should be noted that a brief description of such a plan is required by Item 4(b)(1).

(39) Question: Does Item 4(b)(2) require a specified number of columns or set increments in both the remuneration and years of service classifications for the pension table?

Answer: No. Since the staff is not in a position to determine what is appropriate disclosure for the myriad of retirement plans, neither the number of columns nor set increments of amounts have been mandated. However, most issuers appear to reflect four or five classifications each as to remuneration and years of service.

(40) Question: If a registrant maintains several defined benefit plans, must it provide separate pension tables?

Answer: If it is possible to consolidate the plans into one table which accurately reflects the registrant's retirement program, the company may present only one table. However, if such a consolidation is not possible, separate tables would be required.

(41) Question: Is pension table disclosure required if only one Item 4(a) individual is covered by a defined benefit pension plan?

Answer: If the registrant is able to provide information similar to that which the table would provide as to the one participant, the staff would not object to omission of a full table. Comparable information would include information as to potential benefits reflecting any increases in remuneration and years of service.

(42) Question: A corporation has two types of retirement plans applicable to its officers and directors. One is a defined benefit pension plan; the other, a profit-sharing plan in which each year amounts are accrued for the accounts of individual officers. How are these plans to be reported? Should they be combined in a table under Item 4(b)(2)?

Answer: The defined benefit pension plan should be reported in the form of the pension table required by Item

[7] This interpretation represents the position taken by the Division in its letter to Leland J. Markley, Esq., dated February 20, 1981.

4(b)(2). The profit-sharing plan should be reported in the Item 4(a) remuneration table. Because it is generally impracticable to compose a table of the type described in Item 4(b)(2) covering both types of plans accurately, only supplementary plans which are defined benefit pension plans should be included in the pension table.

(43) Question: May the pension table reflect benefits to be paid upon retirement after an offset for expected Social Security benefits has been made?

Answer: No. The table should disclose benefits expected to be paid prior to adjustments for Social Security benefits or other offsets. However, the description of the plan should indicate whether plan benefits are subject to offset.

(44) Question: Is the statement of "current remuneration" covered by a defined benefit or actuarial plan, as called for by Item 4(b)(2)(ii), required to reflect increases in salary or other compensation since the close of the last fiscal year?

Answer: No. The term "current remuneration covered by the plan" refers to that portion of total compensation for the most recent fiscal year upon which computation of plan benefits is based.

Example: Column C1 reflects compensation of $100,000 for executive A during the most recently ended fiscal year; $60,000 in salary and $40,000 as bonus. The corporation's defined benefit pension plan provides a retirement benefit whose computation is based solely on a participant's salary. The issuer should specify $60,000 as executive A's "current remuneration covered by the plan," since that amount differs by more than 10% from the $100,000 figure set forth in Column C1.

(45) Question: Should the "credited years of service" required to be stated under Item 4(b)(2)(ii) be computed as of a recent date or as of the individual's projected retirement date?

Answer: "Credited years of service" are to be computed as of a recent date, rather than the individual's retirement date. The "credited years" figure should be computed without regard to plan vesting arrangements.

(46) Question: Instruction 3 to Item 4(b), which is to be followed when the use of an Item 4(b)(2) pension table is inappropriate, requires a description of the plan "as required by Item 4(b)(2)." What information is required to be furnished in this description?

Answer: As much of the information called for by Item 4(b)(2) as will aid in understanding the plan should be furnished. For example, if the plan payments are based upon remuneration, the remuneration covered by the plan should be described. On the other hand, if payments under the plan do not depend upon credited years of service, such information need not be included.

(47) Question: How are "career average pension plans," in which pension benefits are determined on the basis of the beneficiary's average compensation during his entire term of employment and on the basis of his years of service, to be reported under Item 4(b)(2)?

Answer. Such plans are covered by Instruction 3 to Item 4(b)(2), and may be reported as described in that instruction. The Division would not object, however, to the use of a table similar to the pension table illustrated in Item 4(b)(2), with the figures along the vertical axis representing career average compensation rather than final or average final compensation, to report such pension benefits. If such a table is utilized, the registrant should state the credited years of service for the individuals named in the Item 4(a) remuneration table, as well as each person's average annual salary since the beginning of his employment. The Division will not object if the table does not provide for increases in existing compensation levels; registrants may present as the highest remuneration level the highest amount of current covered compensation for any individual named in the Item 4(a) remuneration table.

IV. Item 4(d)—Stock Options and Stock Appreciation Rights

The November 14, 1980 amendments represented a departure from past practice in reporting remuneration in the form of stock options and stock appreciation rights ("SARs"). Such remuneration had been disclosed in the Item 4(a) remuneration table. In adopting the amendments, the Commission noted that such disclosure tended to be distortive, since the remuneration table reflected fluctuations in market value as well as actual grants of options and SARs. Now, information concerning remuneration in the form of stock options and SARs appears in a separate presentation, usually in tabular format, and is specified by Item 4(d).

(48) Question: Under some compensation plans, an employee may defer a portion of his compensation until retirement. The deferred portion is put into "phantom stock"; i.e., the employee's deferred compensation is converted into stock equivalents based on the market value of the company's stock at some time during the year of award. Upon retirement, the employee will receive the then market value of all "phantom stock" into which compensation was converted in previous years. The equivalent of dividends on all phantom shares credited to an employee's account are paid during the years in which compensation is deferred. How is remuneration under this type of deferred compensation plan properly reported?

Answer: It is the staff's understanding that, in accounting for this type of phantom stock plan, amounts are expensed and credited from year to year in accordance with fluctuations in the market price of the stock. Therefore, awards under this type of plan are properly reported in an SAR table pursuant to Instruction 1 to Item 4(d).

If the employee's cash compensation, which he has elected to defer, represents a "floor" for what he will receive upon retirement, regardless of the market value of the stock at that time, that amount should be reported in the remuneration table under Item 4(a). The "base price" shown in the SAR disclosure will then be the market value at which compensation is converted into phantom stock units. However, if the cash which the employee will receive upon retirement depends solely on the market price of the stock at that time, no amount of compensation deferred should be reported in the remuneration table under Item 4(a). The "base price" in the SAR disclosure will be zero.

Dividend equivalents should be reported as compensation in the C2 column of the remuneration table for the years in which dividends are paid.

(49) Question: Performance units are a form of deferred compensation in which the amount which will be paid out depends on the market price of stock at a future date and the attainment of performance goals (which may be measured in different ways) at such date. For each unit awarded, the award recipient will be paid 100% of the market value of a share of stock if the performance goal is reached, a lesser percentage if some lower performance level is attained. What is the proper disclosure of awards of performance units?

Answer: Because the amount expensed on account of the award of such units varies from year to year with the market value of the stock as well as the projected attainment of performance goals, awards of such units should be reported as awards of SARs under Instruction 1 to Item 4(d). The following information should be furnished: (A) The number of units awarded during the period of time covered by the remuneration disclosure; (B) The total amount of cash paid out during the period on account of maturation of performance unit awards made in previous years; (C) The number of awarded units which may be paid out in future years, if performance goals are attained; (D) The "potential value" of such units already awarded but not paid out at the close of the reporting period (this figure is derived by multiplying the "C" figure by the market value of the company's stock at the close of the reporting period).

Because performance unit awards are frequently paid out in terms of the full value of shares, the "base" price will be zero, and need not be disclosed. Otherwise, the information furnished, as described in (A) through (D) above, corresponds to the disclosures specified in Item (4)(d)(iv).

Following Instruction 8 to Item 4(d), the information specified in (A), (C) and (D) above should be furnished without regard to the possibility that performance goals may not be attained, although the fact that payout will be dependent upon attainment of performance goals should be reflected in a footnote. Alternatively, (A), (C) and (D) may be expressed in terms of ranges which may be achieved, with appropriate footnote disclosure.

(50) Question: Instruction 7 to Item 4(d) calls for additional disclosure of grants of stock options and SARs since the end of the last fiscal year under certain circumstances. In what documents is such disclosure required to be included?

Answer: Such disclosure should be included in proxy and information statements, annual reports on Form 10–K, and all other documents in which information is furnished pursuant to Item 4(d) except Securities Act registration statements in which Item 4(d) information is incorporated by reference.

(51) Question: For purposes of Item 4(d), should registrants prepare a separate table for each plan under which stock options or SARs are awarded?

Answer: No. Information regarding all such plans may be cumulated into two types of disclosure—that regarding stock options and tandem SARs and that relating to non-tandem SARs. The use of the tabular format described in Appendix A, while optional, is encouraged.

(52) Question: Does Item 4(d)(ii), which calls for a statement of the net value of securities or cash "realized" during the year on account of the exercise of options or realization of SARs, require inclusion of any gains derived as a result of the sale of shares acquired through the exercise of options?

Answer: No. In Item 4(d)(ii), "realization" refers only to the exercise of options or SARs and not to any subsequent sales of securities.

(53) Question: In computing the potential [unrealized] value of options and rights pursuant to Item 4(d) as of the end of a specified period, what measure of market value should be used?

Answer: If the security is reported on the Consolidated Transaction Reporting System, the staff suggests using the price of the last sale reported thereon for the last day of the specified period or, if there are no reported transactions on the Consolidated Transaction Reporting System, the mean of the closing bid and offer reported on the Consolidated Quotation System. For exchange-listed securities not reported on the Consolidated Transaction Reporting System, the price of the last sale on the exchange on that date should be used in the computation or, if there are no reported transactions on the exchange on that date, the means of the closing bid and offer on the exchange on that date. For NASDAQ-quoted securities, the mean of the reported closing bid and offer for that date should be utilized. For all other securities, the staff suggests using the mean of the highest independent bid and lowest independent offer current on that date, determined on the basis of reasonable inquiry.

(54) Question: In computing the net value of securities realized pursuant to Item 4(d)(ii) and the potential [unrealized] value of options or rights pursuant to Item 4(d)(iii), and in making the corresponding calculations in Item 4(d)(iv)(D) and (F), is it permissible to discount the fair market value of the security acquired through the exercise of the option or right because the recipient has a required holding period pursuant to Rule 144 under the Securities Act or Section 16(b) of the Exchange Act?

Answer: No. The fair market value may not be discounted when calculating the spread between the acquisition price and market value.

V. Other Matters

A. Item 4(h)—Termination of Employment

(55) Question: An individual named in the Item 4(a) remuneration table for the most recent or next preceding fiscal year resigns his employment and signs a consultancy contract with his former employer. Are the payments to the individual required to be disclosed pursuant to Item 4(h)?

Answer: Yes. Such payments are deemed to be made pursuant to a "remunerative arrangement" which results from the employee's resignation and are therefore subject to disclosure under Item 4(h).

B. Appendix A to Schedule 14A

(56) Question: Table I of Appendix A includes a line relating to sales of shares by optionees. Is such information required to be disclosed by Item 4(d)?

Answer: No. Information relating to sales of shares is required to be furnished only in proxy statements used to solicit shareholder approval of a bonus, pension, option or similar plan. Such information is required by Items 9, 10 and 11 of Schedule 14A under the Exchange Act. Incidentally, when information is furnished for stock options and SARs pursuant to these items, it should be furnished for the period from the beginning of the fith full previous fiscal year through the most recent practicable date.

By the Commission.

SUMMARY: The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) grants rehearing for the limited purpose of further consideration of a petition to rehear Order No. 182, a final rule to revise Part 34 of the Commission's regulations. That final rule, which was issued on October 7, 1981 (46 FR 50511, October 14, 1981), clarified and simplified Part 34 and reduced or eliminated certain requirements in that Part.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

In the matter of revision of Part 34—Application for authorization of the issuance of securities or the assumption of liabilities; order granting rehearing for purposes of further consideration.

On October 7, 1981, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) issued a final rule to revise Part 34 of its regulations, "Application for Authorization of the Issuance of Securities or the Assumption of Liabilities" (Order No. 182, 46 FR 50511, October 14, 1981). That final rule clarified and simplified the provisions of Part 34 and reduced or eliminated certain of the requirements specified in that Part. The revisions were made as part of the Commission's ongoing program to review all of its reporting requirements and to eliminate any further collection of data that are not needed for Commission decisionmaking and regulatory duties.

On November 6, 1981, the law firm of Simpson Thacher and Bartlett filed a timely application for rehearing or reconsideration of that final rule. In order to have sufficient time to consider the issues raised in this application, the Commission will grant rehearing of the final rule solely for the purpose of further consideration.

The Commission Orders: Rehearing of Order No. 182 is granted for the limited purpose of further consideration of the issues raised in the application for rehearing. This action does not constitute a grant or denial of the application on its merits in whole or part. As provided in § 1.34(d) of the Commission's regulations, no answers to this application will be entertained by the Commission because this order does not grant rehearing on any substantive issues.

By the Commission. Commissioner Sheldon voted present.

Discontinue Producer Reports and Related Form Nos. 108 and 314–B and To Reinstitute and Revise Producer Filing Instructions

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, DOE.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) is discontinuing two reporting requirements and the related regulations: FPC Form No. 108 "Rate Schedule Analysis on a Continuing Basis" (18 CFR 260.6), and FPC Form No. 314–B, "Annual Statement for Independent Producers Holding Small Producer Exemptions" (18 CFR 154.104).

In lieu of Form No. 108, which is composed of five separate schedules, the Commission substitute simplified requirements, Format No. FERC 558, "Contract Summary to be Filed by All Applicants for Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity, Including Successors in Interest" (18 CFR 250.5); and Format No. FERC 559, "Independent Producer Rate Change or Initial Billing Statement" (18 CFR 250.14).

Form No. 314–B is replaced by a requirement that companies file a simple statement with the Commission stating that they have lost their small producer status by producing more than 10 million Bcf of gas per year.

DATE: The revisions in this rulemaking are effective January 6, 1982.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Stephen Badzik, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation, 825 North Capitol Street, NE, Room 6006–F, Washington, D.C. 20426, (202) 357–8758.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Issued: December 7, 1981.

By this rule, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) discontinues two of its reporting requirements: FPC Form No. 108, "Rate Schedule Analysis on a Continuing Current Basis," and FPC Form No. 314–B, "Annual Statement for Independent Producers Holding Small Producer Exemptions." Two of the five schedules in Form No. 108 and the supporting documents in the form are deleted in their entirety. In lieu of the other three schedules in the form, the Commission substitutes the simpler reporting requirements of the new Format Nos. FERC 558 and 559. The Commission also replaces Form No. 314–B with a less burdensome reporting requirement. Certain necessary revisions are made to the Commission's regulations to reflect these form changes.[1]

The changes are made as part of the Commission's ongoing program to review all of its reporting requirements, to eliminate requirements that are not necessary to the performance of its regulatory responsibilities and to reduce the burden of filing required data with the Commission. The changes resulting from this rulemaking should reduce respondent reporting burden significantly.[2]

I. Background and Summary of Proposed Changes

A. Form No. 108. The filing of the Form No. 108 had been required since 1976 under § 260.6 of the Commission's regulations.[3] The form collected, in a computer format, information from large independent gas producers concerning natural gas flowing in interstate commerce. It was required to be filed each time a rate schedule was submitted to the Commission for the first time or a rate schedule presently on file with the Commission was proposed to be amended. Much of the information in the form had been used for determinations respecting biennial national rate adjustments under section 4 of the Natural Gas Act (15 U.S.C. 717c). With the passage of the Natural Gas Policy Act (NGPA) (15 U.S.C. 3301–3432), however, biennial rate adjustments were discontinued. As a result, most of the data collected in Form No. 108 has become obsolete.

More specifically, two of the schedules in Form No. 108, Schedule No. 501, "Independent Producer Natural Gas Sales Summary," and No. 505, "Independent Producer Annual Rate Schedule Sales Data", collected annual gas sales, volume and revenue reports. These reports became insufficient after

[1] The Commission's predecessor, the Federal Power Commission, was authorized to collect the information in Form Nos. 108 and 314–B under sections 4, 7, and 10 of the Natural Gas Act (15 U.S.C. 711–717w). Pursuant to section 402(a)(1)(C) and (D) of the Department of Energy Organization Act (42 U.S.C. 7101–7352), the authority under sections 4 and 7 of the Natural Gas Act was transferred to the Commission. The Secretary of Energy delegated the authority of section 10 of the Natural Gas Act to the Commission under Delegation Order 0204–1 (October 1, 1977).

[2] In anticipation of the rulemaking proceeding in this docket, the Commission issued an order on May 5, 1980 to suspend, until further notice, the filing of the two schedules which are deleted from Form No. 108, and the filing of the Form No. 314–B (45 FR 33600, May 20, 1980).

[3] Form No. 108 was promulgated in Order No. 556, Docket No. RM76–10, November 22, 1976 (41 FR 52441, November 30, 1976), and was revised in Order No. 556–A, Docket No. RM76–10, August 5, 1977 (42 FR 41271, August 16, 1977).

passage of the NGPA because they did not collect data required for NGPA compliance purposes. Moreover, the Commission's field audit program has proven to be an effective means of assuring producer and pipeline compliance with the NGPA and with the Commission's regulations. In addition, information about actual gas volumes and revenues can be obtained through specific data requests to the producers and pipeline companies. The Commission, therefore, issued a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking on February 19, 1981 (46 FR 14899, March 3, 1981) proposing, among other things, to discontinue Form No. 108 and the requirements of Schedule Nos. 501 and 505 in that format. The Commission's regulations at § 260.6 that require the filing of Form No. 108 were also proposed to be eliminated.

Schedule No. 502 of Form No. 108 "Independent Producer Rate Schedule Identification and Contract Data" and Schedule No. 503, "Independent Producer Rate Schedule Pricing Provisions and Actual Quality Data" collected summary data about gas contracts. These schedules were filed each time a producer submitted a new contract or contract amendment. Although the passage of the NGPA makes the filing of much of the data in these schedules unnecessary, sections 4 and 7 of the Natural Gas Act still require that certain information be reported about gas that is "committed or dedicated to interstate commerce" within the meaning of section 2(18) of the NGPA. In the February 19th notice, therefore, the Commission proposed to replace Schedule Nos. 502 and 503 with the new Format No. FERC 558, "Contract Summary to be Filed by all Applicants for Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity, Including Successors in Interest." This format would be filed with every producer's application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity and would be prescribed under a new § 250.5 of the Commission's regulations. The notice also provided that this requirement would include NGPA pricing data, certain new elements that are required for a certificate application and a few additional clarifying items. The notice further stated that the new Format No. FERC 558 would represent an 82 percent reduction in data elements from Schedule Nos. 502 and 503 and would be designed for human (i.e., noncomputer) responses.

The fifth, and last, of the Form No. 108 schedules is Schedule No. 507, "Independent Producer Rate Change Filing or Initial Billing Statement". Schedule No. 507 reported either the initial rate a producer proposed to charge under its requested certificate for a newly certificated sale of natural gas under section 7 of the NGA, or a change that a producer proposed to make to the rate that it filed under section 4 of the NGA. Many changes in rate filings have been eliminated under the blanket affidavit procedures adopted in Commission Order Nos. 15 and 25.[4] Therefore, in the February 19th notice, the Commission proposed to replace Schedule No. 507 with a new, simpler format to be entitled, "Format No. FERC 559, Independent Producer Rate Change or Initial Billing Statement". The notice proposed that this new format would be required by § 250.14 of the Commission's regulations. It would be required to be filed at the time a certificate to sell gas is submitted, and when a rate change is proposed. Format No. FERC 559 would continue to collect the basic data for new rates or changes in rates and would also require new information for NGPA compliance purposes. Much of the data previously required in Schedule No. 507 would be totally eliminated from the new format, according to the notice. As a result of the proposed deletions in the new, simplified format, there should be a 30 percent reduction in data elements from that previously required.

B. Form No. 314–B. Section 154.104 of the Commission's regulations has required the filing of annual reports of interstate sales by small producers in the statement set out in § 250.11. These data were submitted on Form No. 314–B.[5] The report was used to identify small producers and their affiliates whose combined annual jurisdictional sales exceeded 10 million Mcf, so that small producer certificates could be cancelled with respect to future sales. (See 18 CFR 157.40(a)(1) and (d).)

Because the NGPA now prescribes the maximum statutory prices for producer sales in both interstate and intrastate markets, the annual report of interstate small producer sales are of minimal value to the Commission. Therefore, the notice proposed the elimination of the Form No. 314–B and the reporting burden it represented. In lieu of this requirement, the notice proposed that companies file a simple statement with the Commission, described in 18 CFR 157.40(a), that they have lost their small producer status if and when their jurisdictional sales exceeded 10 million Mcf during the previous calendar year.

II. Summary and Analysis of Comments and Changes

The Commission received comments from seven natural gas producers and an interested party in response to the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.[6] All of the comments, at least generally, supported the eliminations proposed in this rulemaking.[7] One commenter stated that eliminating Schedule Nos. 501 and 505 of Form No. 108 will result in savings of approximately 250–300 man-hours per year. Two other commenters stated that the revised reporting requirements were more practical than the existing forms. Another added that the revised requirements provide all of the information necessary for the analysis of proposed rate schedules under the Natural Gas Act and the NGPA and they alleviate the burdens on producers of providing information that is no longer necessary for the Commission's analysis of gas rate schedules. The Commission has, therefore, adopted the changes to §§ 154.92, 154.94, 154.104, 157.24, 157.40, 250.11 and 260.6, that were proposed in the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking.

Several of the commenters also offered suggestions for changes to Format No. 558 (new § 250.5) and to Format No. 559 (new § 250.14). With respect to the changes for Format No. 558, one company said that Item (8), "Total price in dollars per MMBtu (including all adjustments and tax

[5] Although Form No. 314–B was not specifically mentioned in either § 154.104 or § 250.11, the data prescribed in § 250.11 were required through Commission practice to be reported by respondent companies on the Form No. 314–B. Section 250.11 was promulgated in Order No. 308, "Rate and Certificate Filings by Small Independent Producers", Docket No. R–279 (issued October 29, 1965), 30 FR 14099 (November 5, 1965), amended by Order No. 428–A, "Exemption of Small Producers From Regulation", Docket No. R–393 (issued April 9, 1971), 36 FR 7233 (April 16, 1971), and also amended by Order 428–D, "Exemption of Small Producers From Regulation", Docket No. R–393 (issued May 4, 1972), 37 FR 9559 (May 12, 1972).

[6] Comments were submitted by: Champlin Petroleum Company; Conoco, Inc. (concurring with Exxon's comments); Exxon Corporation; Henderson Clay Products, Inc.; Santa Fe Energy Company; Shell Oil Company; Sun Gas Company, a Division of Sun Oil Company; and Texas Gas Exploration Corporation, a subsidiary of Texas Gas Transmission Corporation.

[7] One commenter supported the proposed discontinuance of Form No. 314–B and added that it "did not disagree" with the proposed requirement to report the loss of small producer status instead of the requirement to file an annual report.

reimbursement)" should require only a statement of total price in dollars per MMBtu, exclusive of any adjustments for lawful add-ons. With respect to Item (9), which elicits a separate specification of adjustments included in the total price per MMBtu, the company said that the item should prescribe a specification of adjustments in the mode actually billed and received, whether in cents per MMBtu, per Mcf, or otherwise. According to this company, these changes to Items (8) and (9) would simplify the reporting requirement with respect to the burdensome conversion of data from MMBtu to Mcf or some other basis.

The Commission agrees with these suggestions and has amended Item (8) to require the base price in dollars per MMBtu (exclusive of any statutory adjustments and tax reimbursements) and has clarified Item (9) to require a report of the statutory adjustments including tax reimbursements to be added to the base price in Item (8). The footnote to Item (9) has also been clarified to require the amount for each type of statutory adjustment in the manner actually billed and received, either in cents per MMBtu or Mcf.

The company also suggested that Item (10), "Estimated Sales Volumes (Mcf per month)" should be modified to specify which "month" is involved (i.e., month of initial deliveries, or peak production, or average month's production over a long period). This commenter added that Item (10) should provide that the data reported do not constitute a representation or warranty of gas availability by the seller.

The Commission has clarified Item (10), as suggested. The estimated sales are "for the first month of deliveries." In addition, the Commission will require that these sales be reported in MMBtu or Mcf, to be consistent with the requirement in Item (9). However, the Commission need not state that the reported data in Item (10) do not constitute a representation or warranty of available gas, because only "estimated" sales volumes are requested in that item. Such information of course, would not be warranted.

The company also suggested that Item (11), "Delivery Pressure" should specify whether a statement of maximum/minimum contract pressures or a statement of anticipated actual working pressure is required. In addition, the commenter stated that this item should also provide that the data reported do not constitute a warranty of delivery pressure by the seller.

In response to this suggestion, the Commission has clarified Item (11). What will be required is the "estimated delivery pressure" of the reported gas. The Commission believes that this terminology is more accurate than the suggested "anticipated actual working pressure". As in Item (10), these estimated data are not supposed to constitute a representation or warranty of delivery pressure.

Finally, this company claimed that clarification was needed in Item (13), "Other special conditions affecting price", as to the type of information required. As a result, the Commission has reexamined Item (13) and has determined that it is not necessary, because sufficient data respecting conditions that affect price are reported elsewhere in the format. Therefore, Item (13) has been entirely deleted from the form.

Three of the commenters offered several suggestions for revisions to Format No. FERC 559 (the proposed § 250.14). First, they criticized the "Note" that follows the format heading that, among other things, provides the requirements for filing tax reimbursement data. Each of these commenters objected to the statement: "Applications filed to collect rates at Natural Gas Act or contract rate levels must include tax items 9(a) through (e)". They argued that, because there are now only NGPA rates and not NGA rates, the work "tax" is misused in the sentence. They also requested clarification of the terms "NGPA rate" and "contract rate" in the Note. One of these commenters noted that all rates are, in fact, NGPA rates, even where the Commission's NGA jurisdictions is retained. Another suggested that tax reimbursement data should be furnished only when the producer collects contract rates that are different from applicable NGPA rates.

These commenters also criticized the requirement in the "Note" for a statement, under oath, that such producer "will be reimbursed only for taxes actually paid, to the extent contractually aurthorized". One of the commenters said that the Commission does not seek tax reimbursement data for NGPA rates and two commenters stated that the oath requirement simply restates the statutory requirements of sections 110 and 504 of the NGPA and § 271.1102(a) of the Commission's regulations. One company suggested that the oath requirement could be replaced by an estimate of the taxes to be collected.

The Commission has revised Format No. 559 by, among other things, entirely eliminating the "Note" and its oath requirement, and by adding several instructions to clarify the requirements in the format.[8] With respect to the Note, the Commission has transferred the reporting of tax reimbursements to "Other adjustments" (the new Item (11)(c)). The instruction for Item (11)(c) has been clarified to specifically provide that "Other adjustments" includes tax reimbursements (if the change is to the base rate, other than to the maximum lawful price under the NGPA), dehydration, compression, etc. Although the Commission does not agree that the oath provision restates requirements in the NGPA and the regulations, the Commission does agree that the oath is not an essential requirement to the format and can be eliminated.

One of the commenters requested clarification of Item (8) of Format No. FERC 559, "Regulation Section (type of change)." The commenter also suggested that Items (12) and (13) (data respecting future NGPA escalations under § 154.94(h) affidavits, and reports of rate applications under sections 102(d) or 108 of the NGPA, respectively) should be grouped immediately after Item (8), for ease of reporting.

In response to this comment, the Commission has clarified Item (8) (new Item (6)) by eliminating the requirement to identify the section of the regulations that pertains to the filing, because it creates an added burden that is not essential to the Commission's regulation. Instructions have been added to Item (6), specifying the type of rate change to be reported. The Commission has also moved Items (12) and (13) (new Items (9) and (10), respectively), to follow the three related items, "Type of Change" (new Item (6)), "Contract Basis" (new Item (7)), and "Proposed Effective Date" (new Item (8)).

Two of the commenters stated that Item (9), "Rate Information" should not require that data be reported on both an MMBtu and Mcf basis. According to one of these commenters, the necessary conversion calculations to do this would be difficult. The Commission believes that the reporting of rate information in this format will be acceptable either in MMBtu's or Mcf's. The instructions to Item (9) (new Item 11) have been revised accordingly.

One company stated that Item (9)(b), "Btu adjustment" should be changed to require estimated data, because the Btu content of gas can change over a period of time. This company also recommended that Item (9) be placed immediately before Item (14), "Remarks" because explanations of (9)(d), "Other, explain" would be made in Item (14).

[8] The Commission also rearranged the items in the format so that they are presented in a more logical manner and made other minor revisions, such as requiring the Field or Plant and the County or Parish identification in the new Item (5), and also requiring in Item (15) the name and telephone number of a contact person, as necessary.

The Commission has determined that information about the sales volumes and the Btu content of gas is not really needed for establishing qualification to collect the maximum lawful price for such gas. When the Commission needs information about volumes and Btu content, it can collect it in specific data requests. As a result, the proposed Items (9)(b), (10) and (11) can be entirely eliminated from the new format. In addition, Item (9) (new Item (11)) has been placed immediately before Item (14) (new Item (12)), as suggested.

A commenter requested clarification of Item, the proposed Item (12), by asking whether future NGPA escalations are to be covered by blanket affidavits filed under § 154.94(h) of the Commission's regulations. The commenter argued that a "yes" response to the inquiry would appear to obviate further filings of Format No. FERC 559.

As suggested, the Commission has included a clarifying instruction for Item (12) (new Item (9)). This item pertains only to the first sales of gas for which qualification to collect the NGPA base rate under § 154.94(h) is being established by Format No. FERC 559. Section 154.94(h) permits producers who are contractually authorized to collect NGPA maximum lawful prices to state that such first sales will be covered by a previously-submitted blanket affidavit.

One commenter recommended a change to the proposed Item (13)(b), which requires the effective date of the final determination of a rate application under section 102(d) or 108 of the NGPA. Since the Commission does not publish the date of a final determination, the commenter suggested that Item 13(b) should require "the date of filing a determination with the Commission, as published in the Federal Register." The Commission agrees with this suggestion and has accordingly changed Item (13)(b) (new Item (10)(b)) to read, "Date jurisdictional agency's well determination is received by the FERC, as published in the Federal Register."

Finally, one commenter suggested that the address requirement in Item (15)(c) (new item (13)) should provide for the use of Post Office numbers as an alternative to a street address. The Commission agrees with this recommendation and has merely left the address line blank, so that any appropriate address can be inserted.

III. Effective Date

The changes in this final rule will be effective January 6, 1982.

Internal Revenue Service

26 CFR Part 301

[T.D. 7798]

Procedure and Administration; Periodic Report of Actuary; Correction

AGENCY: Internal Revenue Service, Treasury.

ACTION: Correction to final rule.

SUMMARY: This document contains a correction to the Federal Register publication beginning at 46 FR 57482 on November 24, 1981, of amendments to the regulations which were the subject of Treasury Decision 7798 relating to periodic actuarial reports filed for defined benefit pension plans.

EFFECTIVE DATE: In the case of a plan in existence on January 1, 1974, the regulations are effective for plan years beginning after December 31, 1975. In the case of a plan not in existence on January 1, 1974, the regulations are effective for plan years beginning after September 2, 1974. This correction is to be effective in the same manner.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: George B. Baker of the Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations Division, Office of the Chief Counsel, Internal Revenue Service, 1111 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20224, 202-566-3422 (not a toll-free number).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On July 8, 1980, the Federal Register published at 45 FR 45926 proposed amendments to the Procedure and Administration Regulations (26 CFR Part 301) under sections 6059 and 6692 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as added by section 1033 of ERISA. On November 24, 1981, the Federal Register published Treasury Decision 7798 (46 FR 57482) (FR Doc. 81-33721). The purpose of these final regulations was to provide guidance to plan administrators who are required to file the report and to actuaries who must prepare the report.

Need for a Correction

As published, the full text of the regulations, in § 301.6059-1(d)(6), appearing on page 57484 in the left-hand column, incorrectly prints the word "reflecting" in place of the phrase "furnished to comply with". Due to a misprint, § 301.6059-1(d), on page 57484 in the left-hand column in the first line, contains an erroneous cross reference, "paragraph (d)(1)(v) and", which should be deleted.

Drafting Information

The principal author of these corrections is George B. Baker of the Employee Plans and Exempt Organizations Division of the Office of Chief Counsel, Internal Revenue Service.

Correction of Publication

PART 301—PROCEDURE AND ADMINISTRATION

Accordingly, the publication of the amendments to the regulations which were the subject of FR Doc. 81-33721 (46 FR 57482) is corrected by revising the first sentence of paragraph (d) and by revising subparagraph (6) of paragraph (d) of § 301.6059-1 to read as follows:

§ 301.6059-1 Periodic report of actuary.

* * * * *

(d) Certification by enrolled actuary. The actuarial report filed on Schedule B must be signed by an enrolled actuary (within the meaning of section 7701(a)(35)) or there may be attached to the report a statement signed by the actuary that contains the statements described in paragraph (c) (4) and (5) of this section. * * *

The obligation to respond is required to obtain a benefit.

(c) Bureau helium distribution contracts shall require the Bureau helium distribution contractor to deliver only Bureau helium to supply (1) major helium requirements of any Federal agency, whether or not Bureau helium is specified by the agency, and (2) any helium requirement of any Federal agency if procurement documents in any manner specify or evidence intent to acquire Bureau helium. Information about which Federal agencies have major helium requirements is available from Bureau of Mines Division of Helium Operations, 1100 S. Fillmore St., Amarillo, Texas 79101, telephone 806 376–2638 or FTS 735–1638.

(d) Bureau helium distribution contracts shall also require the Bureau helium distribution contractor to deliver only Bureau helium to (1) any private helium purchaser, including Federal agency contractors, if procurement documents in any manner specify or evidence intent to acquire Bureau helium, or (2) another Bureau helium distribution contractor if certification as Bureau helium is required or furnished.

(e) Contracts shall include provisions for sources of supply of Bureau helium, quantity, quality, delivery requirements, Bureau helium book inventory, actual physical volume of helium in inventory, commingling, accounting and reporting procedures, records and facilities examinations, shipping points, payments, and contract termination.

3.4 Helium is a fungible commodity; therefore, the Contractor may commingle Bureau of Mines helium with helium from other sources. For purposes of Bureau helium accounting records, as much of the Contractor's helium inventory will be considered Bureau of Mines helium as is equal to the volume of: (1) helium purchased from the Bureau of Mines and delivered to the Contractor, plus (2) helium delivered to the Contractor by another Bureau helium distribution contractor and certified as Bureau of Mines helium in accordance with Sec. 3.11 of this contract, less (3) helium deliveries in accordance with Sec. 3.1 of this contract. The Contractor may, except as restricted by Sec. 3.6 of this contract, sell as Bureau of Mines helium volumes of helium from its inventory even though its inventory does not contain, at the time of sale, sufficient helium purchased from the Bureau of Mines or helium received from and certified as Bureau of Mines helium by another Bureau helium distribution contractor to meet the Bureau of Mines helium requirements of the purchaser; however, the Contractor shall report such sales as sales of Bureau of Mines helium and shall, within thirty (30) calendar days following the end of a reporting period or discovery of a negative inventory of Bureau of Mines helium, whichever is sooner, place a firm procurement order with the Bureau of Mines or another Bureau helium distribution contractor for sufficient Bureau of Mines helium to restore its Bureau of Mines helium inventory to a positive value. Failure to order sufficient helium within the thirty (30) day period shall be sufficient grounds to terminate this contract for cause, according to Sec. 3.7.

3.5 The Contractor's opening inventory of Bureau of Mines helium on its initial report to the Bureau shall be any Bureau of Mines helium received and not delivered in accordance with the provisions of this contract within the thirty (30) day period immediately preceding the effective date of this contract, except that, in the event that the Contractor was an Eligible Private Helium Distributor at the time of entering into this contract, opening inventories under this contract will be determined by the Bureau of Mines based on the Eligible Distributor's reports for the previous reporting periods and examination of Eligible Distributor's helium accounting records by a Bureau representative.

3.6 The inventory balance of Bureau helium at the end of an annual reporting period may be carried forward as the opening inventory for the subsequent period, provided, however, that at no time shall the inventory of Bureau helium exceed the total volume of helium in physical inventory.

3.7 At the end of each annual reporting period, the Contractor shall have a positive or zero balance of Bureau of Mines helium in its inventory. Negative closing balances of Bureau of Mines helium at the end of the annual reporting period, whether reported by the Contractor on its "Bureau of Mines Helium" (Addendum C), or revealed through Bureau of Mines examination of the Contractor's Bureau helium accounting records, if not changed to a positive value within thirty (30) days according to Sec. 3.4, shall be sufficient cause for termination of this contract.

3.8 The Contractor shall not add or delete shipping points designated in the original application (Addendum A) except through amendment of this contract. The Contracting Officer, upon receipt of a written request from the Contractor to amend the contract to add or delete shipping points, along with a full explanation of the reason therefor, may send a contract amendment to the Contractor for execution or notify the Contractor of rejection of the request.

3.9 The Contractor shall keep Bureau helium accounting records necessary to show compliance with this contract. Such records shall be kept in a central location and shall be retained for one (1) year following the last day of the applicable annual reporting period. Helium accounting records shall include but are not limited to the following: (1) records of sales of Bureau of Mines helium to each Federal agency and to each private helium purchaser, (2) all pertinent documents supporting sales of Bureau of Mines helium, (3) helium sales contracts between the Contractor and another Federal Agency Contractor who, in the opinion of the Contracting Officer, may reasonably be considered a Federal Agency Contractor, (4) all pertinent documents supporting any contention that a Federal Agency Contractor was not required to use Bureau of Mines helium to meet the requirements of a Federal Agency, or a Federal Agency Contractor whose order intended delivery of Bureau of Mines helium in the opinion of the Contracting Officer, (5) certificates of Resale of Bureau of Mines helium certifying the resale of helium as required by Sec. 3.11 of this contract.

3.10 The Contracting Officer or his duly authorized representative shall have access to and the right to examine, during the Contractor's normal business hours, any pertinent books, documents, records, and physical facilities involving transactions related in any way to this contract.

3.11 Sales of Bureau of Mines helium to another Bureau helium distribution contractor shall be certified on a "Certificate of Resale of Bureau of Mines Helium" as illustrated in Addendum B to this contract. The original of the Certificate shall be furnished to the buyer. The Contractor shall submit a fully executed copy of each Certificate issued during a reporting period with its annual report of "Bureau of Mines Helium." One copy of each Certificate issued shall be retained in the Central Bureau helium accounting records of the Contractor.

3.12 Receipts of Bureau of Mines helium from another Bureau helium distribution contractor shall be substantiated by the original "Certificate of Resale of Bureau of Mines Helium" executed and issued by the selling Bureau helium distribution contractor at the time of the sale and retained in the buying contractor's Bureau helium accounting records according to Sec. 3.9(5). The buying contractor shall submit a copy of each original Certificate received during a reporting period with its annual report of "Bureau of Mines Helium," (Addendum C). No claimed receipt of Bureau of Mines helium from another Bureau helium distribution contractor will be allowed on an annual report unless fully supported by copies of valid Certificates.

3.13 The Form No. 6–1575–A Rev., "Bureau of Mines Helium" attached as Addendum C to this contract, shall be used by the Contractor to report the stocks, receipts, and distribution of Bureau of Mines helium. The required reporting period is January 1 through December 31 of each calendar year. The reports are due at the Bureau of Mines office indicated below on or before the thirtieth (30th) day of January of each year following the applicable preceding reporting period. The completed forms shall be submitted to the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Division of Helium Operations, 1100 S. Fillmore St., Amarillo, Texas 79101. Copies of the blank form may be obtained from the above address.

Article IV.—Bureau of Mines

4.1 The Bureau of Mines will place the Contractor's name, address, and locations of designated shipping points on the Bureau of Mines list of Bureau Helium Distribution Contractors.

4.2 The Bureau of Mines will furnish its list of Bureau Helium Distribution Contractors to known users of Bureau of Mines Helium, and to other parties upon request, for their use in obtaining Bureau of Mines helium.

4.3 The Bureau of Mines authorizes the Contractor to sell and distribute Bureau of Mines helium in accordance with the provision of this contract and to compete in the open market for such sales of Bureau of Mines helium that are otherwise reserved to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior.

4.4 The Bureau of Mines will furnish, upon request by the contractor, information as to which Federal agencies have major helium requirements.

Article V.—Conditions

5.1 Repurchase Rights

The Bureau of Mines shall have the right to repurchase from the original purchaser helium that has been sold by the Bureau and that has not been resold, lost or dissipated, when needed for United States Government use, as provided in Sec. 6(e) of the Helium Act. However, small volumes of Bureau helium purchased by the Contractor from another Bureau helium distribution contractor shall not be subject to repurchase by the Bureau.

5.2 Liability

(a) The Bureau of Mines warrants the quality and quantity of helium delivered to the original purchaser only and assumes no further liability, financial or otherwise, in connection with any sale or delivery of helium hereunder, including but not limited to claims relating to: (1) losses on business transactions or commitments between original purchaser and third parties, such as the Contractor, (2) losses on original purchaser's helium containers filled by the Bureau, or (3) losses occasioned by transportation delays.

(b) Contractor shall be liable for any and all actual damages to the Government caused by Contractor, Contractor's representatives, or Contractor's owned or leased equipment.

(c) Contractor is hereby advised that helium requirements of the United States Government shall have priority over non-Government requirements and that such priority requirements of the Government or occasions of Force Majeure may cause delay or deferral of shipment of any helium ordered by Contractor from the Bureau of Mines or another Bureau helium distribution contractor under this contract.

Article VI.—General Provisions

6.1 This contract cannot be assigned or otherwise transferred without the express written approval of the Contracting Officer.

6.2 This contract may be terminated at any time by either party by serving not less than sixty (60) days' written notice of termination upon the other party, stating therein the date that such termination shall be effective. In the event of contract termination under the provisions of this Sec. 6.2, a report of receipts and distribution of Bureau of Mines helium, as required by Sec. 3.13 of this contract, shall be submitted for the period from January 1 to the effective date of the termination in the calendar year in which the termination occurs within 15 days after the effective date of the termination.

6.3 Disputes

(A) Except as otherwise provided in this contract, any dispute concerning a question of fact arising under this contract which is not disposed of by agreement shall be decided by the Contracting Officer, who shall reduce his decision to writing and mail or otherwise furnish a copy thereof to the Contractor. The decision of the Contracting Officer shall be final and conclusive unless, within 30 days from the date of receipt of such copy, the Contractor mails or otherwise furnishes to the Contracting Officer a written appeal addressed to the Secretary. The decision of the Secretary or his duly authorized representative for the determination of such appeals shall be final and conclusive unless determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to have been fraudulent, or capricious, or arbitrary, or so grossly erroneous as necessarily to imply bad faith, or not supported by substantial evidence. In connection with any appeal proceeding under this clause, the Contractor shall be afforded an opportunity to be heard and to offer evidence in support of its appeal. Pending final decision of a dispute hereunder, the Contractor shall proceed diligently with the performance of the contract and in accordance with the Contracting Officer's decision.

(b) This "Disputes" clause does not preclude consideration of law questions in connection with decisions provided for in Sec. 6.3.a above, provided, that nothing in this contract shall be construed as making final the decision of any administrative official, representative, or board on a question of law.

Standard Provisions

The remainder of the contract is comprised of nine standard provisions as follows:

6.4 Officials Not to Benefit
6.5 Covenant Against Contingent Fees
6.6 Utilization of Small Business Concerns
6.7 Utilization of Labor Surplus Area Concerns
6.8 Utilization of Minority Business Enterprises
6.9 Equal Opportunity
6.10 Affirmative Action for Handicapped Workers
6.11 Affirmative Action for Disabled Veterans and Veterans of the Vietnam Era
6.12 Clean Air and Water

In witness whereof, the parties hereto have caused this contract to be fully executed in duplicate by their proper officers the day and year first above written.

Drawbridge Operation Regulations; Milwaukee, Menomonee, and Kinnickinnic Rivers, and South Menomonee and Burnham Canals, Wisconsin

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: At the request of the City of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the Coast Guard is revising the regulations governing the operation of certain bridges across the Milwaukee, Menomonee and Kinnickinnic Rivers, and the South Menomonee and Burnham Canals. This action will relieve the bridge owner of the burden of having bridgetenders on duty at these bridges from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. This change will not affect hours of operation of the North Broadway, North Water, and Michigan Street bridges across the Milwaukee River, the Plankinton Avenue bridge across the Menomonee River, or the Kinnickinnic Avenue bridge across the Kinnickinnic River, nor will it affect the hours of operation of all but one of the railroad bridges.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This amendment becomes effective on January 11, 1982.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Robert W. Bloom, Jr., Chief, Bridge Branch, United States Coast Guard, 1240 East Ninth Street, Cleveland, Ohio 44199 (216–522–3993).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On August 4, 1980, the Coast Guard published a proposed rule (45 FR 41617) concerning this amendment. The Commander, Ninth Coast Guard District also published the proposal as a Public Notice dated August 15, 1980. Interested parties were given until September 4, 1980, and September 17, 1980, respectively to submit comments.

Drafting Information

The principal persons involved in drafting this Final Rule are: Robert W. Bloom, Jr., Chief, Bridge Branch, Ninth Coast Guard District, and Lt. M. E. Reeves, Project Attorney, Ninth Coast Guard District, Legal Office.

Discussion of Comments

One Comment was received which recommended that the Milwaukee River bridges be retained on the old published schedule which states that the draws need not open from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and two hours notice is required at all other times; and that public vessels of the United States, state or local government vessels used for public safety, vessels in distress and vessels having a license to carry 50 or more passengers when proceding to or from their regular landing places on their regular trips, shall be passed through the draws of the bridges even though regulated periods are in effect. This was an oversight in the original proposal and will be incorporated in these regulations. A new paragraph (d) and (h) will reflect this action. Paragraphs (d), (e), and (f) will also be changed to paragraphs (e), (f), and (g). and an additional paragraph (h) has been added.

Eight comments were received which were concerned with the free movement of vessels over navigable waters of the United States. These regulations, however, do not substantially restrict the free movement of vessels over the waterways in the City of Milwaukee They only require that a specified amount of advance notice be given, between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., in order for a vessel to pass through the draws of certain bridges operated by the City of Milwaukee.

One commentor was concerned with the removal of bridgetenders, during the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift, on the Broadway and Water Street bridges over the Milwaukee River and the North Plankinton Avenue bridge over the Menomonee River. The Proposed Rule did not include these bridges for removal of the 3rd shift bridgetenders.

One comment was received requesting the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. bridgetender service be maintained on the Kinnickinnic Avenue, North 6th Street, and South 6th Street bridges. After a review of the bridgetender logs and a discussion with the City of Milwaukee officials, it was determined that the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. bridgetender would remain on the Kinnickinnic Avenue bridge. However, bridgetender logs did not support the need for bridgetenders on the North and South 6th Street bridges during the 3rd shift. The Kinnickinnic Avenue bridge has been added to section (b) which states what bridges shall open on signal except for the two one hour periods during vehicle rush hours.

These regulations have been reviewed under the provisions of Executive Order 12291 and have been determined not to be a major rule. In addition, these regulations are considered to be nonsignificant in accordance with guidelines set out in the Policies and Procedures for Simplification, Analysis, and Review of Regulations (DOT Order 2100.5 of 5–22–80). An economic evaluation has not been conducted since its impact is expected to be minimal because these regulations only require a vessel to give advance notice to have a bridge open during hours when navigation through certain draws is minimal.

In accordance with section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (94 Stat. 1164), it is also certified that these rules will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

PART 117—DRAWBRIDGE OPERATION REGULATIONS

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 117 of Title 33 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by revising § 117.655 to read as follows:

§ 117.655 Milwaukee, Menomonee, and Kinnickinnic Rivers, and South Menomonee and Burnham Canals, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; bridges.

(a) The draws of the Chicago and North Western bridges across the Kinnickinnic River, mile 1.0, and Milwaukee River, mile 0.3, and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific bridge across the Menomonee River, mile 0.1, shall open on signal at all times.

(b) The draws of the North Broadway Street, North Water Street, and Michigan Street bridges across the Milwaukee River, mile 0.5, 0.6, and mile 1.13, respectively; the North Plankinton Avenue bridge across the Menomonee River, mile 0.1, and the Kinnickinnic Avenue bridge across the Kinnickinnic River, mile 1.45, shall open on signal, except that from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday, except holidays, the draws need not open.

(c) The draws of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific Railroad bridge and the Chicago & North Western Railway bridge across the Kinnickinnic River, mile 1.5 and mile 1.52 respectively; and the draw of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad bridge across the Burnham Canal, mile 0.8, shall open on signal if at least two hours notice is given.

(d) The draws of the bridges across the Milwaukee River need not open from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., and need not open at all other times unless at least 2 hours notice is given.

(e) All other drawbridges across the Kinnickinnic, and Menomonee Rivers, and the Menomonee and Burnham Canals shall open on signal. However, from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m., and 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday, except holidays, the draws need not open, and from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., the draws shall open on signal if at least two hours notice is given.

(f) Signals. (1) The opening signal for all drawbridges except those listed below is one long blast followed by one short blast.

(i) The opening signal for the Chicago and North Western drawbridges across the Kinnickinnic River, mile 1.0, and the Milwaukee River, mile 0.3, is two long blasts.

(ii) The opening signal for the Broadway Street drawbridge, mile 0.5, is three long blasts followed by one short blast.

(iii) The opening signal for the Water Street drawbridge, mile 0.6, is three long blasts followed by two short blasts.

(iv) The opening signal for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and Pacific Railroad drawbridge across the Menomonee River, mile 0.1, is two long blasts followed by two short blasts.

(2) The acknowledging signal when the draw will open is the same as the opening signal.

(3) The acknowledging signal when the draw will not open or is open and must be closed is four short blasts.

(g) The owners of or agencies controlling the bridges, other than those required to open on signal at all times, shall keep conspicuously posted on both the upstream and downstream sides of the bridge, where it may be read at any time, a copy of the regulations in this section as they pertain to each bridge, together with information stating exactly to whom advance notice shall be given when an opening is required.

(h) Public vessels of the United States, state or local government vessels used for public safety, vessels in distress and vessels having a license to carry 50 or more passengers when proceeding to or from their regular landing places on their regular trips, shall be passed through the draws of bridges in this section as quickly as possible even though regulated periods are in effect.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In the matter of RIM 122–81–01, Regulation Interpretation Memorandum on whether a generator accumulating hazardous waste in compliance with 40 CFR 262.34 may qualify for interim status after November 19, 1980.

Issue

EPA has received questions concerning the interpretation of 40 CFR 122.23(a) and 262.34. Section 122.23(a) of the regulations and Section 3005(e) of RCRA provide the criteria which the owner or operator of a hazardous waste management (HWM) facility must meet to qualify for interim status. Section 262.34 allows a generator to accumulate wastes on-site for a 90-day period without having to obtain a RCRA permit or comply with the applicable standards under Part 264. The question we will respond to today is whether a generator who has been accumulating hazardous waste in accordance with § 262.34 may qualify for interim status if wastes continue to be accumulated beyond the 90-day period. The question arises because generators who accumulate hazardous waste pursuant to § 262.34 are not required to qualify for interim status, but may want to qualify in the future.

Decision

A generator who has been accumulating hazardous waste in accordance with 40 CFR 262.34, and who begins to store the waste for more than 90 days may qualify for interim status as a storage facility if (1) the storage area was in existence on or before November 19, 1980 (i.e., the generator was accumulating hazardous waste at the facility on or before that date and the waste accumulated is the same before and after November 19, 1980;[1] (2) the owner or operator complied with Section 3010(a) of RCRA; and (3) the Part A permit application is submitted within 30 days of the date that the waste first becomes subject to Parts 265 or 266, or a longer period if the Administrator so allows under 40 CFR 122.22(a)(3)). This thirty day filing period of 40 CFR 122.22(a) is triggered when the storage period exceeds 90 days.

Discussion

On May 19, 1980, EPA published regulations interpreting the three statutory requirements of RCRA necessary to qualify for interim status.[2] On November 19, 1980, EPA amended the regulatory requirements to clarify the circumstances under which an owner or operator of a hazardous waste management (HWM) facility could qualify for interim status.[3] Pursuant to Section 3005(e) of RCRA and 40 CFR 122.23(a) as amended, a person who:

(1) Owns or operates a facility which is required to have a permit under Section 3005 of RCRA and which was in existence on November 19, 1980 [4] and

(2) Has complied with the requirements of Section 3010(a) of RCRA; and

(3) Has complied with the requirements of Section 3005 of RCRA governing submission of Part A permit applications shall have interim status and shall be treated as having been issued a RCRA permit.

This memorandum interprets the third requirement, that of filing a permit application, as it applies to generators accumulating hazardous waste in compliance with 40 CFR 262.34.

A. Requirement that the Owner or Operator Submit a Part A Permit Application

Prior to November 19, 1980, 40 CFR 122.22(a) required that all owners and operators of existing HWM facilities submit Part A of their permit application not later than six months after the first promulgation of regulations in 40 CFR Part 261 listing and identifying hazardous wastes.

On November 19, 1980, this section was amended to allow owners and operators of existing HWM facilities to submit their Part A permit applications either six months after the date regulations are first published which require them to comply with the Part 265 interim status standards (i.e., EPA brings them into the HWM system through a regulatory amendment), or thirty days after they first lose their regulatory exemption and become subject to already effective standards (i.e., the facility brings itself into the HWM system), whichever occurs first.[5]

The November 19, 1980, amendment clarifies the requirements for filing Part A permit applications and qualifying for interim status in three situations: (1) After an EPA amendment to the regulations; (2) after a revised filing deadline has been announced by EPA; or (3) after a change in the facility's own operations after November 19, 1980, brings it into the HWM system. Generators accumulating hazardous waste in compliance with 40 CFR 262.34, but who then exceed the allowed accumulation time, fall into this third category.

B. Qualification for Interim Status as a Result of a Facility's Changes in its Own Operations

The November 19, 1980, amendment addresses two situations in which a change in the facility's own operations would bring it into the HWM system. The first situation involves a small quantity generator who exceeds the small quantity exemption level (e.g., 1000 kg per month). The generator may then need to obtain interim status for an existing on-site treatment, storage or disposal facility.[6]

The second situation concerns a facility which properly determined on August 18, 1980, that the solid waste it was treating did not exhibit any of the characteristics of hazardous waste, but upon retesting after November 19, 1980 found that it did constitute a hazardous waste. These facilities may also qualify for interim status as in the first situation (i.e., they file a Part A permit application within 30 days of finding that they need interim status for a treatment, storage, or disposal operation because they are handling a hazardous waste).

A third situation, not addressed by the November 19, 1980, amendment, is clearly analogous to the first two. That situation is when a generator is accumulating hazardous waste in accordance with 40 CFR 262.34 on November 19, 1980, but later, the storage period exceeds 90 days.[7] Section 262.34 considers such a generator to be "an operator of a storage facility and * * * subject to the requirements of 40 CFR Parts 264 and 265 and the permit requirements of 40 CFR Part 122." As in the previous situations, this generator was not required to comply with the permit requirements of Section 3005 of RCRA until the storage period exceeds 90 days. Assuming he meets the notification and "in existence" criteria, he may qualify for interim status if he files his Part A permit application within 30 days of losing his regulatory exemption, as required by 40 CFR 122.22(a)(1).

It should be noted that these facilities will technically be operating without a permit until they submit their permit application. EPA stated in the November 19, 1980, amendment that it will not initiate any enforcement action against them if they contact their EPA Regional Office immediately and file an application within the thirty-day period.[8] These facilities are not immune from citizen suits, and possibly EPA enforcement if they do not contact the Regional Office immediately upon losing exempted status.

It should be further noted that an owner or operator who was not accumulating hazardous waste at all on or before November 19, 1980, but after that date begins to do so for more than 90 days cannot qualify for interim

[2] See 40 CFR 122.22(a) and 122.23(a), and the accompanying preamble discussion, which interprets Section 3005 of RCRA, 42 U.S.C. 6925; 45 FR 33321–33324, 33433–33434 (May 19, 1980).

[5] 40 CFR 122.22(a)(1), 45 FR 76635 (November 19, 1980).

[6] Based on the conclusion reached in this memorandum, these generators may continue to store hazardous waste for 90 days after they exceed the exemption level. They then have 30 days to file their Part A permit application to qualify for interim status.

[7] EPA intends to amend 40 CFR 262.34 in the near future to include, inter alia, a provision for a thirty day extension to the 90 day period, in certain circumstances. Therefore, a generator who accumulates hazardous waste for more than 90 days may not always be required to obtain a storage permit.

status. In this situation, a permit is required before the generator can operate a storage facility, (i.e., exceed the 90 day storage period), because his storage area was not in existence on or before November 19, 1980.

Under Executive Order 12291, EPA must judge whether a regulation is "Major" and therefore subject to the requirement of a Regulatory Impact Analysis. Since this notice is merely an interpretation of a regulation, and not a regulation, it does not require a Regulatory Impact Analysis.

This notice was submitted to the Office of Management and Budget for review as required by Executive Order 12291.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

44 CFR Part 64

[Docket No. FEMA 6209]

Communities Eligible for Sale of Insurance Under National Flood Insurance Program; California, et al.

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule lists communities participating in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) and eligible for second layer insurance coverage. These communities have applied to the program and have agreed to enact certain flood plain management measures. The communities' participation in the regular program authorizes the sale of flood insurance to owners of property located in the communities listed.

EFFECTIVE DATES: The date in the fifth column of the table.

ADDRESS: Flood insurance policies for property located in the communities listed can be obtained from any licensed property insurance agent or broker serving the eligible community, or from the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) at: P.O. Box 34294, Bethesda, Maryland 20034, Phone: (800) 638-6620.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Richard E. Sanderson, Acting Director, Natural Hazards Division, (202) 287-0270, 500 C Street Southwest, Donohoe Building, Room 505, Washington, DC 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), enables property owners to purchase flood insurance at rates made reasonable through a Federal subsidy. In return, communities agree to adopt and administer local flood plain management measures aimed at protecting lives and new construction from future flooding. Since the communities on the attached list have recently entered the NFIP, subsidized flood insurance is now available for property in the community.

In addition, the Director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency has identified the special flood hazard areas in some of these communities by publishing a Flood Hazard Boundary Map. The date of the flood map, if one has been published, is indicated in the sixth column of table. In the communities listed where a flood map has been published, section 102 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, as amended, requires the purchase of flood insurance as a condition of Federal or federally related financial assistance for acquisition or construction of buildings in the special flood hazard area shown on the map.

The Director finds that delayed effective dates would be contrary to the public interest. The Director also finds that notice and public procedure under 5 U.S.C. 553(b) are impracticable and unnecessary.

The Catalog of Domestic Assistance Number for this program is 83.100 "Flood Insurance." This program is subject to procedures set out in OMB Circular A-95.

Pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Associate Director, State and Local Programs and Support, to whom authority as been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that this rule, if promulgated will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. This rule provides routine legal notice stating the community's status in the NFIP and imposes no new requirements or regulations on participating communities.

Section 64.6 is amended by adding in alphabetical sequence new entries to the table.

In each entry, a complete chronology of effective dates appears for each listed community. The entry reads as follows:

44 CFR Part 64

[Docket No. FEMA 6208]

Suspension of Community Eligibility Under National Flood Insurance Program; Colorado, et al.

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This rule lists communities, where the sale of flood insurance has been authorized under the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), that are suspended effective the dates listed within this rule because of noncompliance with the flood plain management requirements of the program.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The third date ("Susp.") listed in the fifth column.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Richard E. Sanderson, Acting Director, Natural Hazards Division, (202) 287-0270, 500 C Street Southwest, Donohoe Building—Room 505, Washington, D.C. 20472.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), enables property owners to purchase flood insurance at rates made reasonable through a Federal subsidy. In return, communities agree to adopt and administer local flood plain management measures aimed at protecting lives and new construction from future flooding. Section 1315 of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended (42 U.S.C. 4022), prohibits flood insurance coverage as authorized under the National Flood Insurance Program (42 U.S.C. 4001-4128) unless an appropriate public body shall have adopted adequate flood plain management measures with effective enforcement measures. The communities listed in this notice no longer meet that statutory requirement for compliance with program regulations (44 CFR Part 59 et seq.). Accordingly, the communities are suspended on the effective date in the fifth column, so that as of that date flood insurance is no longer available in the community.

In addition, the Director of Federal Emergency Management Agency has identified the special flood hazard areas in these communities by publishing a Flood Hazard Boundary Map. The date of the flood map, if one has been published, is indicated in the sixth column of the table. Section 202(a) of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), as amended, provides that no direct Federal financial assistance (except assistance pursuant to the Disaster Relief Act of 1974 not in connection with a flood) may legally be provided for construction or acquisition of buildings in the identified special flood hazard area of communities not participating in the NFIP, with respect to which a year has elasped since identification of the community as having flood prone areas, as shown on the Federal Emergency Management Agency's initial flood insurance map of the community. This prohibition against certain types of Federal assistance becomes effective for the communities listed on the date shown in the last column.

The Director finds that delayed effective dates would be contrary to the public interest. The Director also finds that notice and public procedure under 5 U.S.C. 553(b) are impracticable and unnecessary.

The Catalog of Domestic Assistance Number for this program is 83.100 "Flood Insurance." This program is subject to procedures set out in OMB Circular A-95.

Pursuant to the provision of 5 U.S.C. 605(b), the Associate Director of State and Local Programs and Support, to whom authority has been delegated by the Director, Federal Emergency Management Agency, hereby certifies that this rule if promulgated will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. As stated in section 2 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, the establishment of local flood plain management together with the availability of flood insurance decreases the economic impact of future flood losses to both the particular community and the nation as a whole. This rule in and of itself does not have a significant economic impact. Any economic impact results from the community's decision not to (adopt) (enforce) adequate flood plain management, thus placing itself in non-compliance of the Federal standards required for community participation.

In each entry, a complete chronology of effective dates appears for each listed community.

Section 64.6 is amended by adding in alphabetical sequence new entries to the table.

44 CFR Part 65

Changes in Special Flood Hazard Areas Under National Flood Insurance Program; West Virginia, et al.

AGENCY: Federal Emergency Management Agency.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Associate Director, State and Local Programs and Support, after consultation with the Chief Executive Officer of each community listed, finds that modification of the proposed Special Flood Hazard Areas (SFHAs) for those communities is appropriate as a result of requests for changes in the interim and/or Proposed Rule.

DATES: These modified SFHAs are in effect as of the dates listed in the sixth column of the attached list and amend the Flood Insurance Rate Map(s) (FIRM) in effect for each listed community prior to this date.

ADDRESSES: The modified SFHA determinations for each community are available for inspection at the office of the Chief Executive Officer of the community, listed in the fifth column of the table.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Mr. Robert G. Chappell, P. E., Chief, Engineering Branch, Office of State and Local Programs and Support, Federal Emergency Management Agency, Washington, D.C. 20472, (202) 287–0220.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Associate Director, State and Local Programs and Support has published a notification of the SFHAs in prominent local newspapers for the communities listed below. Ninety (90) days have elapsed since that publication, and the Associate Director has received appeals from the communities requesting changes in the proposed SFHA determinations.

The numerous changes made in the SFHAs on the Flood Insurance Rate Map for each community make it administratively infeasible to publish in this notice all of the SFHA changes contained on the maps. However, this notice includes the address of the Chief Executive Officer where the modified SFHA determinations are available for inspection.

The modifications are pursuant to section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93–234) and are in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, (Pub. L. 90–448), 42 U.S.C. 4001–4128, and 44 CFR Part 65.

For rating purposes, the revised community number is listed and must be used for all new policies and renewals.

These SFHAs are basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).

These SFHAs together with the flood plain management measures required by § 60.3 of the program regulations are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State, or regional entities.

These modified SFHAs shall be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

The changes in the SFHAs listed below are in accordance with 44 CFR 65.4.

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Action taken herein assigns FM Channel 265A to Canton, Illinois, in response to a petition filed by Canton Communications. The assignment will provide Canton with a second local FM service.

DATE: Effective February 1, 1982.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Nancy V. Joyner, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

In the matter of amendment of § 73.202(b), Table of Assignments, FM Broadcast Stations. (Canton, Illinois), BC Docket No. 81-408, RM-3816.

Report and Order—Proceeding Terminated

Adopted: November 30, 1981.

Released: December 3, 1981.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration a Notice of Proposed Rule Making, 46 FR 34609, published July 2, 1981, in response to a petition filed by Canton Communications ("petitioner"), proposing the assignment of FM Channel 265A to Canton, Illinois, as that community's second FM assignment. Supporting comments were filed by petitioner,[1] in which it reaffirmed its intent to apply for the channel, if assigned. No oppositions to the proposal were received.

2. Canton (population 14,626),[2] the seat of Fulton County (population 43,687), is located approximately 248 kilometers (155 miles) southwest of Chicago, Illinois. It is currently served by Class A FM Station WBYS (Channel 252A), and daytime-only AM Station WBYS.

3. In support of its proposal, petitioner submitted information with respect to Canton which is persuasive as to its need for a second FM channel assignment.

4. In the Notice, we indicated that preclusion would occur as a result of the proposed assignment only on the co-channel in four Illinois communities, which contain a population in excess of 1,000 persons, as follows: Lewiston (population 2,758), Brooklyn (population 1,233), Cuba (population 1,648), and Manito (population 1,869). Petitioner was requested to provide, in supporting comments, a list of alternate channels available to those communities presently without any local FM service. This it neglected to do. However, since the proposed assignment does not exceed our population criteria, and no other party has expressed an interest in a channel in any of the precluded areas, the preclusion impact does not appear to be substantial enough to bar a grant of the instant proposal, on this basis. Additionally, there is merit in the proposal since it could provide Canton with an additional local FM service. This is especially significant since Canton's present broadcast facilities consist of commonly-owned Stations WBYS (AM-FM), and implementation of the proposed assignment could provide

[1] Although the supporting comments were late-filed, we have accepted them since they provide the requisite interest we need to assign the channel.

[2] Population figures herein are extracted from the 1980 U.S. Census unless otherwise indicated.

it with a diversification of expression to serve the interests, and needs of the community.

5. In view of the above, we believe that the public interest would be served by the assignment of Channel 265A to Canton, Illinois, as that community's second FM assignment. The assignment can be made consistent with the minimum distance separation requirements of § 73.207 of the Commission's rules.

6. In view of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority contained in Sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), 303 (g) and (r), and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281 of the Commission's rules, it is ordered, that effective February 1, 1982, the FM Table of Assignments, § 73.202(b) of the Commission's rules, is amended with regard to the following community:

City and Channel No.

Canton, Illinois, 252A, 265A.

7. It is further ordered, that this proceeding is terminated.

[BC Docket No. 81-488; RM-3903]

TV Broadcast Station in Fort Walton Beach, Florida; Changes Made in Table of Assignments

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This action substitutes UHF Channel 53 for Channel 52 at Fort Walton Beach, Florida, in response to a petition filed by Fort Walton Beach Broadcasting Corporation. The substitution will provide more flexibility in site selection.

DATE: Effective February 1, 1982.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Nancy V. Joyner, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

In the matter of amendment of § 73.606(b), Table of Assignments, Television Broadcast Stations (Fort Walton Beach, Florida), BC Docket No. 81-488, RM-3903.

Report and Order—Proceeding Terminated

Adopted: November 30, 1981.

Released: December 3, 1981.

1. The Commission has under consideration a Notice of Proposed Rule Making, 46 FR 40707, published August 11, 1981, proposing the substitution of UHF television Channel 53 for Channel 52 at Fort Walton Beach, Florida, in response to a petition filed by Fort Walton Beach Broadcasting Corporation ("petitioner"). Supporting comments were filed by petitioner in which it reaffirmed its intent to apply for the channel, if assigned. Comments were also filed by Gulf Property and Investment Company ("Gulf"), in which it expressed an interest in the assignment.

2. The Notice herein set forth the background of this proceeding and therefore, it need not be repeated in detail here. Briefly, the Notice stemmed from an earlier Report and Order released February 10, 1981, in BC Docket No. 80-519, RM-3642, wherein the Commission assigned Channel 52 to Fort Walton Beach in response to a petition for rulemaking filed by the petitioner herein.[1] Subsequently, petitioner advised that the Channel 52 assignment had proved to be unsatisfactory in terms of locating a suitable transmitter site to accommodate the proposal. Its engineering study revealed that the assignment, while not in contravention of the minimum distance separation requirements, would however cause siting restrictions due to aeronautical considerations and spacing requirements to an unused allocation on Channel 44 in Pensacola, Florida. Therefore, it requested that Channel 53 be substituted for Channel 52 in order to allow greater flexibility in site selection consistent with aeronautical safety requirements.

3. The Commission believes that the public interest would be served by the substitution of UHF television Channel 53 for Channel 52 in Fort Walton Beach, Florida. The substitution would permit greater site flexibility than currently exists, and would be consistent with the minimum distance separation requirements of § 73.610 of the Commission's rules.

4. Accordingly, pursuant to the authority contained in Sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), 303 (g) and (r) and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281 of the Commission's rules, it is ordered, that effective February 1, 1982, the Television Table of Assignments, § 73.606(b) of the Commission's rules, is amended as follows:

City and Channel No.

Fort Walton Beach, Florida, 35, 53.

5. It is further ordered, that this proceeding is terminated.

6. For further information concerning the above, contact Nancy V. Joyner, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7792.

BILLING CODE 6712-01-M

[1] Petitioner initially requested that Channel 50 be substituted for existing Channel 35 at Fort Walton Beach because of site limitations caused by close mileage separation tolerances and air hazard considerations due to the proximity of Eglin Air Force Base. After reviewing comments and an expression of interest by Hess Broadcasting Corporation in applying for Channel 35 for the operation of a satellite television station in Fort Walton Beach, the Commission retained the channel in that community. Since both Channels 35 and 50 could not be assigned to the community due to minimum distance separation requirements, Channel 52 was proposed to accommodate the petitioner's proposal.

TV Broadcast Station in Joplin, Montana; Changes Made in Table of Assignments

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Action taken herein assigns UHF television Channel 35, in lieu of Channel 38, to Joplin, Montana, in response to a petition filed by Garryowen Corporation. The petitioner proposes to provide Joplin and the surrounding areas with its first full CBS network coverage by rebroadcasting Station KTVQ, Billings, Montana, with a high-powered 1,000 watt translator.

DATE: Effective February 1, 1982.

ADDRESS: Federal Commmunications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Nancy V. Joyner, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

In the matter of amendment of § 73.606(b), Table of Assignments, Television Broadcast Stations. (Joplin, Montana), BC Docket No. 81-174, RM-3759.

Report and Order—Proceeding Terminated

Adopted: November 30, 1981.

Released: December 3, 1981.

1. Before the Commission is a Notice of Proposed Rule Making, 46 FR 19269, published March 30, 1981, which proposed the assignment of UHF television Channel 38 to Joplin, Montana, in response to a petition filed by Garryowen Corporation ("petitioner").[1] Supporting comments were filed by petitioner reaffirming its intent to apply for the channel, if assigned. Subsequently petitioner amended the proposal requesting that Channel 35 be substituted for Channel 38 in order to make use of a more desirable transmitter site.

2. Joplin (population 490),[2] in Liberty County (population 2,329), is located approximately 112 kilometers (70 miles) northwest of Great Falls, Montana. It presently has two assignments: Channel 48 (construction permit for translator Station K48AI, to be operated by petitioner), rebroadcasting Station KRTV, Great Falls, and Channel 54 (translator application pending) to rebroadcast Station KFBB-TV, Great Falls.

3. Petitioner indicates that with the proposed assignment of UHF television Channel 38 to Joplin it intends to provide the area's first full CBS network coverage by rebroadcasting Station KTVQ (CBS), Billings, Montana, with a high-powered 1,000 watt translator. Further, it states that the proposed operation from its intended transmitter site would enable it to provide service to approximately 50,000 persons in the sparsely populated counties of Blaine, Hill, Toole, Liberty, Glacier, and Pondera (comprising approximately 7.2 percent of Montana's population). It adds that parts of this area are currently served by low-power translators, but that the signal received is frequently of marginal quality.

4. Petitioner requests that Channel 35 be substituted for Channel 38 due to the Canadian Government's recent allocation of Channel 24 to Coutts/Milk River, Alberta, to which a spacing of 60 miles is required. It states that although the reference coordinates for Joplin meet this 60 miles spacing requirement, the site it has selected in the Sweet Grass Hills would be 21.8 miles short-spaced to the Channel 24 assignment. It adds that the proposed site was chosen since Joplin is in an area of flat prairie land, and the uniquely favorable terrain factors of the proposed site make it the only one suitable for wide area coverage. As it had stated in its petition, the proposed site would allow it to provide a Grade B signal to a substantial portion of the sparsely populated and underserved areas of north central Montana. Presumably, as a further effort to establish the preferability of the proposed site, petitioner advises that it is the same location from which its translator Station K48AI is proposed to operate on Channel 48, and that from which Channel 54 (translator application pending), would transmit. As a final note, petitioner adds that its engineering study reveals that Channel 35 could be utilized at the proposed transmitter site in full compliance with the minimum distance spacing requirements for domestic and Canadian assignments.

5. In view of the above, the Commission believes that the public interest would be served by assigning UHF television Channel 35, in lieu of Channel 38, to Joplin. An apparent need for the additional television signal, which could provide reception to underserved, sparsely-populated areas, has been shown. As indicated in the Notice, the channel could also be utilized to provide a first local commercial television service should the interest arise. The assignment can be made consistent with the minimum distance separation requirements of the Commission's rules, and Canadian concurrence in the assignment has been obtained.

6. Accordingly, pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), 303(g) and (r) and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281 of the Commission's rules, the Television Table of Assignments, § 73.606(b) of the Commission's rules, is amended, effective February 1, 1982, as follows:

City and Channel No.

Joplin, Montana, 35-, 48, 54-.

7. It is further ordered, That this proceeding is terminated.

FM Broadcast Station Petosky, Michigan; Changes made in Table of Assignments

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: Action taken herein substitutes a Class C FM channel for a Class A channel at Petosky, Michigan, and modifies the license of the Class A station, WMBN, to specify the Class C channel, at the request of the licensee, MacDonald Broadcasting Corporation.

DATE: Effective February 1, 1982.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Montrose H. Tyree, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

In the matter of amendment of § 73.202(b), Table of Assignments, FM Broadcast Stations. (Petosky, Michigan). BC Docket No. 81-504, RM-3749.

Report and Order—Proceeding Terminated

Adopted: November 30, 1981.

Released: December 3, 1981.

1. The Commission has under consideration a Notice of Proposed Rule Making, 46 FR 42475, published August 24, 1981, proposing the substitution of Class C FM Channel 242 for Channel 244A at Petosky, Michigan, in response to a petition filed by MacDonald Broadcasting Corp. ("petitioner").[1] The Notice also proposed modification of the license for Channel 244A to specify operation on Channel 242. Petitioner submitted comments, restating its interest in the Class C channel. No oppositions to the proposal were received.

2. Petosky (population 6,432),[2] seat of Emmet County (population 18,331), is located on the shores of Lake Michigan, approximately 368 kilometers (230 miles)

---

[1] Petitioner is also the licensee of the following Montana stations: KTVQ, Billings; KRTV, Great Falls; KXLF-TV, Butte; KPAX-TV, Missoula; and translator stations serving Lewiston (K13IX); Miles City (K10GF); Helena (K08GK); Hardin (K06KF); Castle Rock and Lame Deer (K70ER); and Heath (K55AJ); as well as the Wyoming community of Sheridan (K07HC).

[2] Population figures are extracted from the 1980 U.S. Census.

[1] MacDonald is the licensee of Stations WSAM(AM), WKCQ(FM), Saginaw, Michigan; WMBN (AM and FM), Petosky, Michigan; and WATT(AM) Cadillac, Michigan.

[2] Population figures are taken from the 1970 U.S. Census.

northwest of Detroit. It is served locally by daytime-only AM Station WMBN, FM Station WMBN (Channel 244A) and FM Station WJML (Channel 255).

3. Petitioner incorporated by reference the information contained in the Notice that demonstrated the need for a Class C assignment, and noted that the need for a Class C assignment is greater now than previously stated, due to the increased population, tourist trade and small business activity with burgeoning retail sales. As indicated in the Notice, the Class C assignment would provide a first service to 2,711 square kilometers (1,059 square miles) for 6,000 persons and a second service to 1,024 square kilometers (400 square miles) for 4,150 persons.

4. The assignment of Channel 242 to Petosky would cause preclusion on Channel 240A within 65 miles. Five communities without AM or FM service would be affected by the assignment (Harbor Springs, Elk Rapids, Mancelona, East Jordan and Onaway, Michigan). Petitioner did not submit a listing of alternate channels available to the communities precluded by the Class C assignment as requested in the Notice.

5. After careful consideration of the proposal, we believe that the public interest would be served by the substitution of channels, inasmuch as it would provide substantial first and second service to the surrounding area and population, and it would remove the intermixture that presently exists at Petosky. The transmitter site is restricted to 25 kilometers (16 miles) north of the city to avoid short-spacing to Station WHNN, Bay City, Michigan. We have also authorized in paragraph 8, a modification of petitioner's license, Station WBBN(FM), to specify operation on Channel 242, since there has been no other expression of interest in the Class C channel. See, Cheyenne, Wyoming, 62 F.C.C. 2d 63 (1976).

6. Canadian concurrence in the substitution of Channel 242 for Channel 244A at Petosky, Michigan, has been obtained.

7. In view of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4(i), 5(d)(1), 303 (g) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 0.281 of the Commission's rules, it is ordered, that effective February 1, 1982, the FM Table of Assignments, § 73.202(b) of the rules, is amended with regard to the city of Petosky, Michigan, as follows:

City and Channel No.
Petosky, Michigan, 242, 255.

8. It is further ordered, that pursuant to section 316(a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the outstanding license held by MacDonald Broadcasting Corp. for Station WMBN, Petosky, Michigan, is modified, effective February 1, 1982, to specify operation on Channel 242 instead of Channel 244A. Station WMBN may continue to operate on Channel 244A for one year from the effective date of this action or until it is ready to operate on Channel 242, whichever is earlier, unless the Commission sooner directs, subject to the following conditions:

(a) At least 30 days before commencing operation on Channel 242, the licensee of Station WMBN(FM) shall file with the Commission, a minor change application for a CP (Form 301).

(b) Within 10 days after commencing operation on Channel 242, the licensee of Station WMBN(FM) shall submit a license application (Form 302) for the new channel.

(c) Nothing contained herein shall be construed to authorize a major change in transmitter site or to avoid the necessity of filing an environmental impact statement where required.

9. It is further ordered, that this proceeding is terminated.

10. For further information concerning this proceeding, contact Montrose H. Tyree, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632-7792.

Stations on Land in the Maritime Services; Removal of Regulation Which Limits the Establishment of New Public Coast Stations Operating on Certain Frequencies

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This document removes a restriction in the Commission's rules thereby allowing entry of new stations into the public coast station market. This rule will allow for the further development of the maritime public correspondence service on frequencies below 27,500 kHz.

EFFECTIVE DATE: January 18, 1982.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Adopted: November 24, 1981.

Released: December 10, 1981.

In the matter of an amendment of the Commission's rules to delete § 81.303(c) which limits the establishment of new public coast stations operating on frequencies below 27,500 kHz; PR Docket No. 80-583; Report and Order (Proceeding Terminated).

Summary

1. In this Report and Order, we are deleting from the Commission's rules § 81.303(c) which limits the establishment of new public coast radiotelephone stations operating on frequencies below 27,500 kHz. This proceeding reflects the present Commission policy to deregulate various facets of the communications industry and to permit open entry into the market when practicable.

Background

2. This rule making proceeding was initiated by the Commission to further the present policy of deregulating the communications industry where regulation has become obsolete or detrimental to the further development of the industry. Section 81.303(c) of the Commission's rules states that only one public coast station operating on frequencies below 27,500 kHz may be authorized by the Commission to serve any one area. A Notice of Proposed Rule Making, FCC 80-583, proposing to delete § 81.303(c) was adopted on September 25, 1980, and was published in the Federal Register on October 3, 1980 (45 FR 65639).

Comments

3. Comments were received from American Telephone and Telegraph Company (AT&T) and Mobile Marine Radio, Inc. (MMR). Reply comments were also filed by MMR. In general the commenters did not oppose the proposal to delete § 81.303(c). However, the commenters unanimously recommended that new frequencies be provided before new entrants are considered. The commenters argued that if entry is permitted without the assignment of additional frequencies, the resulting sharing of frequencies will create interference, spectrum inefficiencies and unsatisfactory service. This proceeding is limited to eliminating the one-station-to-a-location restriction only. We did not propose to allow sharing of the existing frequencies among licensees as a result of this proposal. The Commission recognizes the shortages of frequencies in the high seas radiotelephony service. The assignment of additional frequencies is being considered and will be addressed in our proceeding in Docket 21349, which implements the provisions of the 1974 World Maritime Administrative Radio Conference.

4. The high seas public coast stations have a communications range of up to several thousand kilometers. High frequency propagation characteristics create a great potential for interference under most sharing plans. Since all the available frequencies in the high seas service have been assigned, entry of a new Class I–B public coast radiotelephone station is not possible unless an existing station closes or additional frequencies become available.

5. The Coastal Harbor (Class II–B) service provides a regional service of up to about 275 kilometers. At present, frequencies in this service are underutilized due to the Commission's implementation of the VHF (Class III–B) service. A number of years ago, the Commission amended its rules to encourage the use of marine VHF to relieve the congestion that was becoming prevalent in the Coastal Harbor service.[1] The successful establishment of the VHF service ultimately caused a significant drop in the use of the Coastal Harbor service. Therefore, there are sufficient frequencies available to accommodate new entrants to this service.

Conclusion

6. We conclude that the amendment proposed in the NPRM to allow entry of new stations into the public coast station market when frequencies are available without regard to locality limits would be in the public interest. This amendment will allow for further developments in the public coast station market by eliminating the present barriers to entry.

8. Accordingly, it is ordered, That under the authority contained in Sections 4(i) and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. 154(i) and 303(r) the Commission's rules ARE AMENDED as set forth in the attached Appendix, effective January 18, 1982.

9. It is further Ordered, That this proceeding is terminated.

Definition of "Hispanic" in Department of Transportation Minority Business Enterprise Regulation AGENCY: Department of Transportation.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Department of Transportation is publishing a final rule to make an interim amendment to its minority business enterprise regulation. This interim provision will remain in effect throughout the period that the Department is preparing a comprehensive revision of the entire minority business rule. The interim amendment modifies the definition of "Hispanic" and is necessary to alleviate hardships associated with the existing definition pending completion of the comprehensive revision.

EFFECTIVE DATE: This rule is effective December 10, 1981.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Robert C. Ashby, Office of the Assistant General Counsel for Regulation and Enforcement, Room 10421, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20590 (202) 426–4723.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

On March 31, 1980, the Department of Transportation (DOT) published a final rule establishing a Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) program in DOT's assistance programs (49 CFR Part 23; 45 FR 21172). Recipients of DOT financial assistance were required by the regulation to set goals and take other actions to enhance opportunities for MBE participation in DOT-assisted programs. Such recipients were required to undertake these efforts only with regard to businesses owned and controlled by members of minority groups or by women.

Hispanics constitute one of the minority groups eligible to participate in the DOT MBE program. A Hispanic was defined by § 23.5 of the regulation as "a person of Spanish or Portuguese culture with origins in Mexico, Central or South America or the Caribbean Islands, regardless of race." The definition was drafted explicitly to include people with origins in all Latin American countries while excluding anyone with European, including Spanish or Portuguese, origins. This definition was the result of efforts by an Interagency Committee, composed of representatives from DOT, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Economic Development Administration of the Department of Commerce, the then Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and the Department of the Interior, to achieve uniformity among Federal MBE programs. At that time, it was considered inequitable to include individuals with Spanish or Portuguese origins within the scope of the definition while excluding individuals with origins in other European nations.

In Executive Order 12291 as well as in other directives, President Regan has instructed Federal agencies to review their existing regulations to determine which can be modified or rescinded to reduce regulatory burdens. The MBE rule has been identified by the Department as a costly and controversial rule deserving priority review. After reviewing the rule and the controversy it has created, the Department has decided the rule should be changed. A notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM) comprehensively revising the rule is expected to be published soon.

Comments Received

Soon after the final rule was published by the Department, members of Hispanic organizations and other members of the public began to express their dissatisfaction with the rule's definition of Hispanic. Thus far, over ninety letters commenting on the definition have been received by the Department. Virtually all favored a change that would include individuals with origins in Spain or Portugal under the scope of the definition. The most important rationale for such a change was that discrimination against Hispanics occurs regardless of their place of origin. The few comments opposing change in the definition were not specific.

[1] Essentially, the rules were amended to require ship stations having the capacity to transmit on 2 MHz frequencies or the medium frequency band to also have the capacity to operate on VHF and, further, to prohibit the use of 2 MHz to vessels within VHF range of the stations with which they want to communicate.

Petition for Rulemaking

Among the comments received was a formal petition for rulemaking submitted by the Hispanic American Contractor's Association of McLean, Virginia. It was published by the Department on January 5, 1981 (46 FR 969). The petition requested that the existing definition of "Hispanic" be replaced by a definition of Hispanic as "a person of Mexico, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central or South American or other Spanish culture origin, regardless of race."

The petition asserts that numerous Federal and administrative court decisions, as well as congressional legislative actions, indicate that there is no basis for differentiating among Hispanics according to their place of origin. To the extent discrimination against Hispanics exists, the petition further argues, it occurs without regard to the precise national origin of a Hispanic person; in addition to their national origin, the petition notes that discrimination against Hispanics may be based upon their distinctive culture, language, speech accent or physical appearance.

When the text of the Hispanic American Contractors' Association's petition for rulemaking was published, the Department discussed three responses the Department could make to the petition. The petition for rulemaking could be denied, with the Department retaining the existing definition of Hispanic. A variation with the same substantive result would be a change of the racial/ethnic category name from "Hispanic" to "Latin American", which would express the meaning of the existing definition with greater semantic precision. Finally, the petition for rulemaking could be granted and an NPRM proposing the change could be published, thus affording further opportunity for public comment. As a procedural alternative to this approach, the petition for rulemaking could be granted and an interim final rule could be published, thus allowing the change to become effective quickly. At the time it published the petition for rulemaking, the Department noted, in response to similar comments expressed by Portuguese-American commenters, that any change to include persons of Spanish origins would also include persons of Portuguese origins.

Interim Amendment

After reviewing the Association's petition for rulemaking and comments by other members of the public, the Department has decided to grant the petition for rulemaking and issue an interim final rule. This interim final rule will modify the existing definition of Hispanic to include individuals with European Spanish origins. It will do so by adopting a standard Federal definition of Hispanic found in Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards Directive No. 15. This Directive defines Hispanics as persons of "Mexican, Puerto Rican, Cuban, Central or South American, or other Spanish culture or origin, regardless of race."

This definition creates one problem. As explained by Directive No. 15, the definition does not encompass persons with origins in Portugal or non-Spanish-speaking Latin American nations, such as Brazil. In order to continue the existing rule's inclusion of persons of Brazilian origins, and in order to include persons of Portuguese origin, the Department will have to add a new category, Portuguese, to the definition of "minority" in section 23.5 of the rule.

Further comments on these changes will be sought as part of the notice of proposed rulemaking proposing revisions to the entire MBE regulation, which the Department anticipates publishing in the near future.

Effective Date

The Department of Transportation is making this rule effective immediately, without additional opportunity for public comment. The Department has already provided several opportunities for public comment on the definition (including the January 5, 1981, notice concerning the Hispanic-American Contractors Association petition, which, while not so styled, was the functional equivalent of an NPRM) and has received many comments, which overwhelmingly favor the action the Department is taking. An additional comment period at this time would be unlikely to produce new or different types of comment that would be useful to the Department. An NPRM comprehensive revising the regulation will be published soon, and, at that time, a further comment period will be available. This rule involves matters relating to public grants and therefore is exempt from the notice and comment requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553(a)(2)).

Under the Department's Regulatory Policies and Procedures, the Department may make a rule effective upon publication if it publishes a statement of reasons for the action. In this case, specific Hispanic-owned and controlled businesses are continuing to be hurt by the existing definition and it seems to be clearly contrary to the public interest to postpone further the implementation of this amendment.

The policy official responsible for making the determination concerning the effective date of the rule is Rosalind A. Knapp, Acting General Counsel of the Department of Transportation.

Regulatory Impact Analysis

The Department has determined that this interim amendment is neither a major rule under E.O. 12291 nor a significant rule under its own Regulatory Policies and Procedures, and will not have significant economic effects on a substantial number of small entities. The number of Spanish or Portuguese-owned businesses affected is likely to be relatively small. The interim final rule essentially eliminates a distinction many businesses and members of the public believed to be unfair. Thus, any impact that the regulation has with respect to small businesses and other small entities is likely to be positive. There is likely to be little if any general economic impact from this change, except to the small number of firms directly affected. Therefore, the Department did not prepare a regulatory impact analysis or regulatory flexibility analysis for this rule. However, a brief regulatory evaluation has been prepared and placed in the docket.

Issued at Washington, D.C., December 3, 1981.

Drew Lewis,

Secretary of Transportation.

14 CFR Parts 1, 21, 43, 45, 47, 61, 63, 65, 91, 93, 99, 121, 123, 125, 127, 133, 135, 137, and 141

[Docket No. 18334; Notice No. 79-2B]

Revision and Realignment of General Operating and Flight Rules; Extension of Comment Period

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Extension of comment period.

SUMMARY: This notice extends the comment period for Notice 79–2A (46 FR 45256; September 10, 1981). That notice proposed to reorganize and realign the general operating and flight rules to make them more understandable and easier to use. Notice 79–2A proposed to reorganize the subparts, organize existing material into several new subparts, and utilize an improved numbering system to make future changes easier.

On November 24, 1981, the National Business Aircraft Association (NBAA) petitioned for a 120-day extension of the comment period on Notice 79–2A. In its petition, the NBAA cited the need for additional time in which to prepare what it believes will be substantive comments on the notice. The FAA has determined that, based on the NBAA desire to provide substantive input to the proposed regulation, it would be in the public interest to extend the comment period to allow the public more time to undertake a thorough review of this proposal.

DATE: Comments on Notice 79–2A must be received on or before April 9, 1982.

ADDRESS: Comments on Notice 79–2A may be mailed in duplicate to: Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Chief Counsel, ATTN: Rules Docket (AGC–204), Docket No. 18334, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591, or delivered in duplicate to: Room 916, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591. All comments must be marked: Docket No. 18334. Comments may be inspected at Room 916 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Everett W. Pittman, Safety Regulations Staff (AVS–20), Associate Administrator for Aviation Standards, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591; telephone (202) 755–8716.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Comments Invited

Interested persons are invited to participate in this proposed rulemaking by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and be submitted in duplicate to the address specified above. All communications received on or before the closing date for comments will be considered by the Administrator before taking action on the proposed Notice 79–2A. The proposals contained in Notice 79–2A may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for the comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. A report summarizing each substantive public contact with FAA personnel concerned with this rulemaking will be filed in the docket. Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments must submit with those comments a self-addressed, stamped post card on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Docket No. 18334." The post card will be date and time stamped and returned to the commenter.

Availability of NPRM

Any person may obtain a copy of this notice and Notice 79–2A by submitting a request to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of Public Affairs, Attention: Public Information Center, APA–430, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591, or by calling (202) 426–8058. Communications must identify the notice number of this NPRM. Persons interested in being placed on the mailing list for future NPRM's should also request a copy of Advisory Circular No. 11–2, "Notice of Proposed Rulemaking Distribution System," which describes the application procedures.

Background

On August 9, 1978, the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association (AOPA) petitioned the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) to revise Part 91 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 91) to make the regulations simpler and more comprehensible. In response to this petition, on January 11, 1979, the FAA issued an Advanced Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (ANPRM) No. 79–2 (44 FR 4572; January 22, 1979) consisting of a verbatim publication of AOPA's proposal.

On July 27, 1981, the FAA issued Notice 79–2A (46 FR 45256; September 10, 1981). Notice 79–2A proposed to reorganize the subparts, organize existing material into several new subparts, and utilize an improved numbering system to make future changes easier. Other improvements would be made by deleting redundancies and obsolete compliance dates, and by making other minor changes. The proposal was primarily the result of a petition filed by the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association on August 9, 1978, which was later withdrawn. Additionally, the proposal is part of the President's regulatory reform program to simplify regulations. The proposal does not contain any substantive regulatory changes.

Operators and organizations representing them have had to spend a great deal of time within the last few months keeping up to date with the changing operations of the Nation's air traffic system. The promulgation of the General Aviation Reservation system increased the flow of air traffic information betwen the FAA and the users of the system, and many potential commenters were unable to devote the concentrated effort required to prepare substantive comments on the proposal. Now that the intensity of air traffic problems has subsided somewhat, the industry will be able to focus better on the proposals suggested in Notice 79–2A. Accordingly, the industry has requested that the comment period for Notice 79–2A be extended for 120 days.

Extension of Comment Period

In consideration of the NBAA petition, the FAA concludes that extending the comment period for an additional 120 days would serve the public interest. Accordingly, the comment period for Notice 79–2A is extended. The comment period will close on April 9, 1982.

(Sections 307, 313(a), 402, 601, 602, 603, 902, 1110, and 1202 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1348, 1354(a), 1372, 1421, 1422, 1443, 1472, 1510, and 1522); Sec. 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Note—This document extends the comment period on a notice of proposed rulemaking. Therefore, I certify that this document is not a major rule under Executive Order 12291 or significant under Department of Transportation Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979) and that it will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on December 7, 1981.

J. Lynn Helms,

Administrator.

Comments Invited

Interested parties are invited to participate in this proposed rulemaking by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments submitted will be available for examination in the Rules Docket both before and after the closing date for comments. A report summarizing each substantive public contact with FAA personnel concerned with this rulemaking will be filed in the docket.

Availability of NPRMs

Any person may obtain a copy of this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) by submitting a request to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of Public Affairs, Attention: Public Information Center, APA–430, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20591, or by calling (202) 426–8058. Communications must identify the notice number of this NPRM. Persons interested in being placed on a mailing list for future NPRMs should also request a copy of Advisory Circular No. 11–2 which describes the application procedure.

The Proposal

The FAA is considering an amendment to § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to establish a transition area to provide controlled airspace in the vicinity of Point Hope, AK. A nondirectional radio beacon has been installed at Point Hope, AK, and two instrument approach procedures have been developed which use this aid. The transition area is needed to provide protected airspace to accommodate these instrument approach procedures. The transition area would extend upward from 700 feet above the surface within 4.5 miles east and 9.5 miles west of the Point Hope NDB (lat. 68°20′40″ N., long. 166°47′30″ W.) 020° T (004° M) bearing extending from the NDB to 18.5 miles north of the NDB and within 4.5 miles west and 9.5 miles east of the 205° T (189° M) and 025° T (009° M) bearings extending from 1 mile north of the NDB to 18. 5 miles south of the NDB. Section 71.181 of Part 71 was republished on January 2, 1981 (46 FR 540).

ICAO Considerations

As part of this proposal relates to the navigable airspace outside of the United States, this notice is submitted in consonance with the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO) International Standards and Recommended Practices.

Applicability of International Standards and Recommended Practices by the Air Traffic Service, FAA, in areas outside domestic airspace of the United States is governed by Article 12 of, the Annex 11 to, the convention on International Civil Aviation, which pertains to the establishment of air navigational facilities and services necessary to promoting the safe, orderly, and expeditious flow of civil air traffic. Their purpose is to ensure that civil flying on international air routes is carried out under uniform conditions designed to improve the safety and efficiency of air operations.

The International Standards and Recommended Practices in Annex 11 apply in those parts of the airspace under the jurisdiction of a contracting state, derived from ICAO, wherein air traffic services are provided and also whenever a contracting state accepts the responsibility of providing air traffic services over high seas or in airspace of undetermined sovereignty. A contracting state accepting such responsibility may apply the International Standards and Recommended Practices in a manner consistent with that adopted for airspace under its domestic jurisdiction.

In accordance with Article 3 of the Convention on International Civil Aviation, Chicago, 1944, state aircraft are exempt from the provisions of Annex 11 and its Standards and Recommended Practices. As a contracting state, the United States agreed by Article 3(d) that its state aircraft will be operated in international airspace with due regard for the safety of civil aircraft.

Since this action involves, in part, the designation of navigable airspace outside the United States, the Administrator is consulting with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order 10854.

The Proposed Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71), as republished (46 FR 540), as follows:

Point Hope, AK [New]

By adding Point Hope, AK, Transition Area to read as follows:

Point Hope, AK

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within 4.5 miles east and 9.5 miles west of the Point Hope, NDB (lat. 68°20'40" N., long. 166°47'30" W.) 020° T (004° M) bearing extending from the NDB to 18.5 miles north of the NDB and within 4.5 miles west and 9.5 miles east of the 205° T (189° M) and 025° T (009° M) bearings extending from 1 mile north of the NDB to 18.5 miles south of the NDB.

(Secs. 307(a), 313(a), and 1110, Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a), 1354(a), and 1510); E.O. 10854 (24 FR 9565); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); and 14 CFR 11.65)

Note.—The FAA has determined that this proposed regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore (1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procudures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule, when promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on December 2, 1981.

John W. Baier,

Acting Chief, Airspace and Air Traffic Rules Division.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

History

Federal Aviation Regulation Part 71, Subpart G, § 71.181 as republished in the Federal Register on January 2, 1981 (46 FR 540), contains the description of transition areas designated to provide controlled airspace for the benefit of aircraft conducting instrument flight rules (IFR) activity. Alteration of the transition area at Lafayette, LA, will necessitate an amendment to this subpart. This amendment will be required at Lafayette, LA, since there is a proposed change in IFR procedures to the Acadiana Regional Airport.

Comments Invited

Interested persons are invited to participate in this proposed rulemaking by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Comments that provide the factual basis supporting the views and suggestions presented are particularly helpful in developing reasoned regulatory decisions on the proposals. The Proposed Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me, the FAA proposes to amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) by adding the following:

Communications must identify the docket number of this NPRM. Persons interested in being placed on a mailing list for future NPRMs should also request a copy of Advisory Circular No. 11-2 which describes the application procedures.

The Proposal

The FAA is considering an amendment to § 71.123 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 71) to renumber V-8N, V-12S, V-16S, V-39E, and V-44E. There would be no change in the amount of designated controlled airspace as a result of this action. The alternate airway segments are renumbered to eliminate the use of alternate airway assignments. This action would be in accordance with ICAO agreement to phase out alternate airways from the National Airspace System. Section 71.123 of Part 71 was republished on January 2, 1981 (46 FR 409).

Note.—The FAA has determined that this proposed regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore (1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule, when promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Comments Invited

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rulemaking by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Comments that provide the factual basis supporting the views and suggestions presented are particularly helpful in developing reasoned regulatory decisions on the proposal. Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the proposal. Communications should identify the airspace docket and be submitted in triplicate to the address listed above. Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments on this notice must submit with those comments a self-addressed, stamped postcard on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Airspace Docket No. 81-AWP-24." The postcard will be date/time stamped and returned to the commenter. All communications received before the specified closing date for comments will be considered before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments submitted will be available for examination in the Rules Docket before and after the closing date for comments. A report summarizing each substantive public contact with FAA personnel concerned with this rulemaking will be filed in the docket.

Availability of NPRM

Any person may obtain a copy of this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM) by submitting a request to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of Public Affairs, Attention: Public Information Center, APA-430, 800 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C., 20591, or by calling (202) 426-8058. Communications must identify the docket number of this NPRM. Persons interested in being placed on a mailing list for future NPRMs should also request a copy of Advisory Circular No. 11-2 which describes the application procedures.

The Proposal

The FAA is considering an amendment to § 73.23 of Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 73) to extend the time of designation of Temporary Restricted Area R-2311, Army Proving Grounds, Yuma, AZ, by adding the period of April 1, 1982, through October 31, 1982, to the existing time of designation. Unavoidable production delays by commercial contractors will prevent completion of the flight test program within the presently scheduled period. Utilization of the area is minimal in that one military drone flight will be in the area less than 30 minutes per day. The Commander, Yuma Proving Grounds, will release the airspace for public use immediately upon completion of the drone flights. Nonavailability of restricted airspace for the flight test program combined with existing unavoidable production delays could cause high cost overruns which would be significantly reduced as a result of this action. Section 73.23 of Part 73 was republished on January 2, 1981 (46 FR 784).

Proposed Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend § 73.23 of Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 73) as republished (46 FR 784) as follows:

§ 73.23 [Amended]

R-2311 Army Proving Grounds, Yuma, AZ. Time of designation, is amended by deleting the words "October 1, 1980, through March 31, 1982." and substituting for them the words "October 1, 1980, through October 31, 1982."

(Secs. 307(a) and 313(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a) and 1354(a)); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); and 14 CFR 11.65)

Note.—The FAA has determined that this proposed regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep them operationally current. It, therefore—(1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. Since this is a routine matter that will only affect air traffic procedures and air navigation, it is certified that this rule, when promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act.

Extension of High Altitude Route J-133

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: This notice proposes to extend High Altitude Route J-133 from Johnstone Point, AK, VORTAC, to Galena, AK, VORTAC. The majority of aircraft departing or overflying Anchorage for Galena request direct routing. The proposed extension of J-133 would ease flight planning and reduce controller and pilot workload associated with rerouting of these aircraft by allowing flight plans to be filed along the new route.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before January 11, 1982.

ADDRESSES: Send comments on the proposal in triplicate to: Director, FAA Alaskan Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Docket No. 81-AAL-14, Federal Aviation Administration, 701 C Street, Box 14, Anchorage, AK 99513.

Communications must identify the notice number of this NPRM. Persons interested in being placed on a mailing list for future NPRMs should also request a copy of Advisory Circular No. 11-2 which describes the application procedures.

The Proposal

The FAA is considering an amendment to § 75.100 of Part 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 75) to extend J-133 from Johnstone Point, AK, to Galena, AK. This proposed change is responsive to the current traffic flow. Most aircraft departing or overflying Anchorage en route to Galena request direct routing. The proposed extension would ease flight planning and reduce controller and pilot workload associated with rerouting of these aircraft by allowing flight plans to be filed along the new route. Section 75.100 or Part 75 was republished on January 2, 1981 (46 FR 834).

The Proposed Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend § 75.100 of Part 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR Part 75) as republished (46 FR 834) as follows:

J-133 [Amended]

By deleting the words "to Johnstone Point, AK." and substituting for them the words "Johnstone Point, AK; Anchorage, AK; to Galena, AK."

(Secs. 307(a) and 313(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a) and 1354(a)); Sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)); and 14 CFR 11.65.)

Note.—The FAA has determined that this proposed regulation only involves an established body of technical regulations for which frequent and routine amendments are necessary to keep operationally current. It, therefore (1) is not a "major rule" under Executive Order 12291; (2) is not a "significant rule" under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034; February 26, 1979); and (3) does not warrant preparation of a regulatory evaluation as the anticipated impact is so minimal. [Docket No. RM 80-42]

Tax Normalization for Certain Items Reflecting Timing Differences In the Recognition of Expenses or Revenues for Ratemaking and Income Tax Purposes; Opportunity for Submitting Additional Comments

Issued: November 30, 1981.

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, DOE.

ACTION: Notice Providing Time for Additional Comments.

SUMMARY: On May 6, 1981, 46 FR 26613, published May 14, 1981, the Commission issued a final rule (Order No. 144) in Docket No. RM-42 to require public utilities making rate filings under the Federal Power Act or interstate pipelines making rate filings under the Natural Gas Act to use tax normalization for certain timing differences to compute the income tax component of their costs of service. Petitions to rehear that final rule were received by the Commission and on July 2, 1981, pending a final order on rehearing in response to those petitions, the Commission stayed the effective date of the final rule.[1] Subsequent to these actions, on August 13, 1981, the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 became law. A petition has been received by the Commission to reopen the rulemaking in light of this new tax law. Without deciding the merits of that petition, the Commission is providing a short time period for the receipt of additional comments to the rulemaking, those comments to be limited to the question of whether the new tax law requires amendment of the final rule.

IMPORTANT DATES: Comments should be received by December 21, 1981.

ADDRESS: All comments should cite to Docket No. RM80–42 and should be sent to: Office of the Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: John Conway, Acting Deputy Assistant General Counsel, Office of the General Counsel, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, Room 8106 (202) 357–8150.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

On May 6, 1981, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) issued a final rule in Docket No. RM80–42 which amended Part 2 of its regulations to require public utilities making rate filings under the Federal Power Act or interstate pipelines making rate filings under the Natural Gas Act to use tax normalization for miscellaneous timing differences to compute the income tax component of costs of service.[2] That rule was stayed on July 2, 1981, pending final Commission action on applications to rehear the rule.[3]

Subsequent to the issuance of both the final tax normalization rule and the Commission's order staying that rule, the Congress passed the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981.[4] On October 5, 1981, some participants in the rulemaking (the East Tennessee Group) requested that the Commission institute extensive proceedings for re-examination of all aspects of its final rule in light of the new law.[5] This request has been opposed by other participants in the rulemaking.[6] The Commission expresses no opinion at this time on the merits of the petition of the East Tennessee Group.

However, the request of the East Tennessee Group raises the issue of the impact of the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981 on the final rule issued May 6, 1981. Because of the importance of this question and the fact that an answer to it may result in amendments to the final rule, the Commission is providing an opportunity for submission of additional comments in this rulemaking proceeding. These comments are limited to the narrow question of whether the new tax law requires amendment of the final rule. Because of the importance in completing this proceeding expeditiously and the narrow scope of the question to be commented upon, the time for submitting the additional comments is short.

Those wishing to submit comments on this issue should file their comments with the Commission by December 21, 1981. An original and fourteen conformed copies should be submitted to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Office of the Secretary, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426 and should reference Docket No. RM80–42. All written submissions will be placed in the Commission's public files and will be available for public inspection in the Commission's Division of Public Information, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. during regular business hours.

In order that all interested participants in this proceeding may be promptly notified of this opportunity to submit additional comments, the Secretary shall immediately serve all persons named on the service list established for this proceeding with a copy of this notice.

By direction of the Commission.

Kenneth F. Plumb,

Secretary.

High-Cost Gas Produced From Tight Formations; Texas

Issued: December 7, 1981.

AGENCY: Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, DOE.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission is authorized by section 107(c)(5) of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978 to designate certain types of natural gas as high-cost gas where the Commission determines that the gas is produced under conditions which present extraordinary risks or costs. Under section 107(c)(5), the Commission issued a final regulation designating natural gas produced from tight formations as high-cost gas which may receive an incentive price (18 CFR 271.703). This rule established procedures for jurisdictional agencies to submit to the Commission recommendations of areas for designation as tight formations. This notice of proposed rulemaking by the Director of the Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation contains the recommendation of the Railroad Commission of Texas that the Olmos Formation be designated as a tight formation under § 271.703(d).

DATE: Comments on the proposed rule are due on January 6, 1982.

Public Hearing: No public hearing is scheduled in this docket as yet. Written requests for a public hearing are due on December 22, 1981.

ADDRESS: Comments and requests for hearing must be filed with the Office of the Secretary, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Leslie Lawner, (202) 357–8307, or Walter W. Lawson, (202) 357–8556.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

On November 2, 1981, the Railroad Commission of Texas (Texas) submitted to the Commission a recommendation, in accordance with § 271.703 of the Commission's regulations (45 FR 56034, August 22, 1980), that the Olmos Formation located in the northwest part of Webb County and the southern part of Dimmit County, Texas, be designated as a tight formation. Pursuant to § 271.703(c)(4) of the regulations, this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is hereby issued to determine whether Texas recommendation that the Olmos Formation in these two counties be designated a tight formation should be adopted. Texas' recommendation and supporting data are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

II. Description of Recommendation

Texas recommends that the Olmos Formation in specifically designated areas of Webb and Dimmit Counties, Texas, Railroad Commission Districts 4 and 1, respectively, be designated as a tight formation. The geographical area covered by Texas' recommendation is all of that portion of Dimmit County, extending approximately 14 miles north of the northern boundary of Webb County, and all of that portion of northwest Webb County west of a north-south line extending south from a point approximately 1.5 miles east of the southwest corner of La Salle County and north of an east-west line located approximately 22 miles south of the southwest corner of La Salle County.

The vertical interval requested for tight formation designation is correlation to that interval from 4146 feet to 5237 feet as measured in the log of the Trans Delta Corporation Petty well No. 6–7. This well is located in Section 7, Block 8, of the I. & G.N.R.R. Co. Survey in the S.W. Catarina Field, Webb County, Texas. The Olmos Formation consists of a series of alternating sands and shales of deltaic origin deposited along a late cretaceous shoreline.

III. Discussion of Recommenation

Texas claims in its submission that evidence gathered through information and testimony presented at a public hearing convened by Texas on this matter demonstrates that:

(1) The average in situ gas permeability throughout the pay section of the proposed area is not expected to exceed 0.1 millidarcy;

(2) The stabilized production rate, against atmospheric pressure, of wells completed for production from the recommended formation, without stimulation, is not expected to exceed the maximum allowable production rate set out in § 271.703(c)(2)(i)(B); and

(3) No well drilled into the recommended formation is expected to produce more than five (5) barrels of oil per day.

Texas further asserts that existing State and Federal regulations assure that development of this formation will not adversely affect any fresh water aquifers that are or are expected to be used as a domestic or agricultural water supply.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to the Director of the Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation by Commission Order No. 97, issued in Docket No. RM80–68 (45 FR 53456, August 12, 1980), notice is hereby given of the proposal submitted by Texas that the Olmos Formation in Webb and Dimmit Counties, as described and delineated in Texas' recommendation as filed with the Commission, be designated as a tight formation pursuant to § 271.703.

IV. Public Comment Procedures

Interested persons may comment on this proposed rulemaking by submitting written data, views or arguments to the Office of the Secretary, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, on or before January 6, 1982. Each person submitting a comment should indicate that the comment is being submitted in Docket No. RM79–76 (Texas—16), and should give reasons including supporting data for any recommendations. Comments should include the name, title, mailing address, and telephone number of one person to whom communications concerning the proposal may be addressed. An original and 14 conformed copies should be filed with the Secretary of the Commission. Written comments will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Office of Public Information, Room 1000, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C., during business hours.

Any person wishing to present testimony, views, data, or otherwise participate at a public hearing should notify the Commission in writing that they wish to make an oral presentation and therefore request a public hearing. Such request shall specify the amount of time requested at the hearing. Requests should be filed with the Secretary of the Commission no later than December 22, 1981.

(Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978, 15 U.S.C. 3301—3432)

Accordingly, the Commission proposes to amend the regulations in Part 271, Subchapter H, Chapter I, Title 18, Code of Federal Regulations, as set forth below, in the event Texas' recommendation is adopted.

Kenneth A. Williams,

Director Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation.

PART 271—CEILING PRICES

Section 271.703 is amended by adding new paragraph (d)(80) to read as follows:

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

On November 3, 1981, the Railroad Commission of Texas (Texas) submitted to the Commission a recommendation, in accordance with § 271.703 of the Commission's regulations (45 FR 56034, August 22, 1980), that the Massive "A" Sand Formation in the Chapa, East Field, Live Oak County, Texas, be designated as a tight formation. Pursuant to § 271.703(c)(4) of the regulations, this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking is hereby issued to determine whether Texas' recommendation that the Massive "A" Sand Formation in this field be designated a tight formation should be adopted. Texas' recommendation and supporting data are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

II. Description of Recommendation

Texas recommends that the Chapa, East Field where the Massive "A" Sand Formation is encountered be designated as a tight formation. The Chapa, East Field is located in Live Oak County, Texas, Railroad Commission District 2.

The recommended area is within a 2.5 mile radius of the Aminoil USA, Inc., El Paso Natural Gas No. 5 well, the only well producing from the formation in the recommended area. This well is located in Section 299, Hooper & Wade A–250 Survey, which is situated in the southwest part of the county approximately 4 miles east of the McMullen County line. The average depth to the top of the formation is aproximately 11,600 feet and thickness varies from 220 feet in the northwest part to 560 feet in the southeast part of the recommended area.

III. Discussion of Recommendation

Texas claims in its submission that evidence gathered through information and testimony presented at a public hearing convened by Texas on this matter demonstrates that:

(1) The average in situ gas permeability throughout the pay section of the proposed area is not expected to exceed 0.1 millidarcy;

(2) The stabilized production rate, against atmospheric pressure, of wells completed for production from the recommended formation, without stimulation, is not expected to exceed the maximum allowable production rate set out in § 271.703(c)(2)(i)(B); and

(3) No well drilled into the recommended formation is expected to produce more than five (5) barrels of oil per day.

Texas further asserts that existing State and Federal regulations assure that development of this formation will not adversely affect any fresh water aquifers that are or are expected to be used as a domestic or agricultural water supply.

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to the Director of the Office of Pipeline and Producer Regulation by Commission Order No. 97, issued in Docket No. RM80–68 (45 FR 53456, August 12, 1980), notice is hereby given of the proposal submitted by Texas that the Massive "A" Sand Formation in the Chapa, East Field as described and delineated in Texas' recommendation as filed with the Commission be designated as a tight formation pursuant to § 271.703.

[Regulations No. 16]

Supplemental Security Income for the Aged, Blind, and Disabled; Family Relationships, Income, and Resources

AGENCY: Social Security Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Proposed Rule.

SUMMARY: These regulations reflect the provisions of section 203 of Pub. L. 96-265 which amends section 1614(f)(2) of the Social Security Act and section 504 of Pub. L. 96-265 which adds sections 1614(f)(3) and 1621 to the Act. Section 203 eliminates deeming of parents' income and resources to students who are age 18 but under age 21. It provides for us to continue to deem parental income and resources to certain children until age 21 if deeming gives them a higher benefit. Section 504 requires that, with a few exceptions, the income and resources of the sponsor of an alien (and of the sponsor's spouse if sponsor and spouse live together) are to be deemed to be the income and resources of the alien. Both provisions were effective October 1, 1980.

DATE: Your comments will be considered if we receive them no later than February 8, 1982.

ADDRESSES: Send your written comments to Social Security Administration, Department of Health and Human Services, P.O. Box 1585, Baltimore, Maryland 21203.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: We plan to revise our rules on income and resources under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program. The revisions are necessary because of the provisions of sections 203 and 504 of Pub. L. 96-265. Section 203 amends section 1614(f)(2) and section 504 adds sections 1614(f)(3) and 1621 to the Social Security Act.

Since the SSI program began, section 1614(f) of the Act has required that spouses and parents who are not eligible for SSI be considered to share their income and resources with their spouses and children who live with them and are eligible for SSI benefits. This process is called deeming—we deem the income and resources of the spouse or parent to be those of the SSI beneficiary. The statute authorizes the Secretary to determine the amounts and types of income and resources that are excluded before any is deemed to the beneficiary. The deemed income and resources are added to those the applicant or beneficiary already has and the total is subject to the limits and exclusions the statute provides for individuals and couples. Under existing regulations the income and resources of parents not eligible for SSI are deemed to their eligible children in the household. Deeming stopped when the children reached age 18 or, if the children were students, when they reached age 21.

Beginning October 1, 1980, deeming of parental income and resources stops when children reach age 18. A savings clause will protect children who were already age 18 and under age 21 in September 1980, who received a Federal SSI benefit for that month, and who would receive a lesser benefit if deeming stopped.

Section 504 of Pub. L. 96-265 adds a new kind of deeming—the income and resources of sponsors of aliens are considered to be those of aliens they sponsor. A sponsor is an individual who has signed an affidavit agreeing to support an alien as a condition of the alien's admission for permanent residence in the United States. Under the new law, the Departments of Justice and State will inform sponsors that information they supply will be given to SSA and that they may be asked for additional information if the aliens apply for SSI benefits.

There are some exceptions. Under the terms of the statute we do not deem a sponsor's income and resources to aliens who have been admitted as refugees under certain provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act or to aliens who have been granted political asylum by the Attorney General of the United States. Nor do we deem to aliens of any age beginning with the time they meet the statutory definition of blindness or disability if this occurs after their admission to the United States. Deeming stops if it applied before the blindness or disability begins.

A sponsor's income and resources are deemed to aliens who first apply for SSI benefits after September 30, 1980, and are deemed to aliens for 3 years after their admission to the United States.

Three subparts of Regulations No. 16 require amendment because of section 203 of the new statute which ends deeming of parental income to children upon reaching age 18.

Subpart K, Income, was recodified at 45 FR 65541 (October 3, 1980). It explains how the receipt of income affects SSI eligibility. It describes the different types of income, including income deemed from a parent to a child beneficiary. Subpart L, Resources, provides similar information about resources. We must revise sections in Subpart K, Income, and Subpart L, Resources, to include the new rules on parent-to-child deeming and on sponsor-to-alien deeming of income and resources.

Section 416.1148 is revised to show that if a beneficiary has income deemed from a sponsor and also receives cash or in-kind support and maintenance (food, clothing, or shelter) from the sponsor, we count only the deemed income. This section and § 416.1149 are revised to reflect the change to stop deeming income to children at age 18 rather than at age 21, except for the savings clause.

Section 416.1160 explains what deeming is, gives the basic steps we follow in deeming income, and defines terms used in connection with deeming. We have added the rules which end deeming from parents to children at age 18 and the rules which require deeming a sponsor's income to an alien. We have defined "date of admission or entry", "dependent", and "sponsor". Other deeming rules specify amounts of income that can be allocated for spouses, children, and parents who are not eligible for SSI and who live in the same household with the beneficiary.

In deeming a sponsor's income to an alien we allocate amounts for dependents. The statute does not define "dependent". SSA is adopting the same criteria used by the Internal Revenue Service for personal income tax purposes. This provides for consistency among government agencies, is easy for the public to understand, and provides uniformity of administration for beneficiaries in all locations.

For the purposes of these rules we define a sponsor as an individual or individuals (but not an organization) who sign an affidavit of support or similar agreement as a condition of an alien's admission to the United States for permanent residence. We define an alien's "date of admission or entry" to be the date established by the Immigration and Naturalization Service as the date the alien was admitted for permanent residence.

This section explains that if a sponsor lives with and is also the spouse or parent of the alien, we apply the rules for spouse or parent deeming rather than sponsor deeming. The statute does not address this question and we believe we have discretion to assign priority. It is our position that the objective of the new kind of deeming is to take care of situations where no deeming previously existed, not to replace existing rules.

Further, this section explains how we figure benefits payable when a sponsor of an alien is also the ineligible spouse or ineligible parent of another beneficiary and income is deemable to both the alien and the eligible spouse or eligible child. The statute is very specific as to what income can be excluded to figure the amount of income to deem from a sponsor to an alien. It provides exclusions for all dependents of the sponsor. Other provisions of the Act give the Secretary discretion to determine what income it is equitable to exclude to figure the amount of income to deem from an ineligible spouse or ineligible parent to an eligible individual. SSA, therefore, will figure the amount of income to be deemed to the alien and to the spouse or child independently. The amount produced under the sponsor-to-alien deeming rule will be deemed to the alien. The amount produced for the spouse or child will be deemed to that individual after an allowance (allocation) for the alien. Current regulations for spouse-to-spouse or parent-to-child deeming make no allowance for the existence of the alien to whom income is also deemed. These rules, therefore, are being revised to provide an allocation for the alien in the spouse-to-spouse and parent-to-child deeming rules. The allocation is the same amount that has been provided for ineligible children in the household, one-half the full Federal benefit rate payable to an eligible individual. This method of deeming considers the existence of multiple applicants or beneficiaries.

Section 416.1161 tells what amounts and types of income are excluded before we deem any of an individual's income to an applicant or a beneficiary. We have added the rules that apply to the sponsor of an alien. We exclude three kinds of income before we deem the balance to be the income of the alien. (1) An allocation (in the amount of the Federal benefit rate of an individual eligible for SSI) for the sponsor (or for each sponsor if more than one individual signed the affidavit of support) plus allocations (in the amount of one-half the Federal benefit rate) for each dependent of the sponsor. There may also be allocations for dependents of the sponsor's spouse if the sponsor and spouse live in the same household. There is no additional dependent allocation for a co-sponsor who is also the sponsor's dependent and there is no dependent allocations for the alien, or the alien's spouse. (2) Income and benefits provided the sponsor under other Federal statutes which specify that their benefits are not income for programs under the Social Security Act. (3) Income of children in the household of the sponsor received by them or on their behalf.

A new § 416.1162 has been added to explain when we do not deem the income of a sponsor to an alien. We do not deem the income of a sponsor if the alien is admitted as a refugee under certain provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act, has been given political asylum by the Attorney General of the United States, or becomes disabled or blind at any age after admission to the United States. Income may have been deemed prior to an alien's becoming blind or disabled. Usually, an individual who applies for SSI has to establish disability or blindness as of the date of application for benefits because that is the first month payment is possible. Under the new rules, sponsor deeming does not apply beginning with the time the alien becomes disabled or blind after admission to the United States. It will, therefore, now be necessary to establish when an alien becomes disabled or blind (as defined in existing regulations, § 416.901).

Section 416.1165 is revised to show that parent-to-child deeming stops when children reach age 18 unless the savings clause applies. Under this savings clause, children who received Federal SSI benefits for September 1980, and were at least age 18 in that month, are protected against a reduction in benefits because of the new rules. These protected children may continue to have parental income and resources deemed to them until they reach age 21 if they are otherwise eligible and if deeming provides a higher benefit. Deeming may provide a higher benefit if the reduction in benefits is less under deeming rules than it would be if another rule applied. For example, if we deem parental income we do not also reduce a benefit because the child receives food, clothing, and shelter (in-kind support and maintenance) from the parents. If deeming stops, we begin to count the value of food, clothing, and shelter as income and this may reduce a benefit by as much as one-third.

Sections 416.1163, 416.1165, and 416.1166 explain the processes for figuring how much income to deem from an ineligible spouse or ineligible parent to an eligible spouse, child, or combination of the two. These sections are amended to provide an allocation for aliens to whom income is also deemed from the ineligible spouse or ineligible parent. We are adding examples to illustrate how the allocation affects deemed income. We are also adding an example to § 416.1165 to illustrate how deemed income is distributed to beneficiaries when one of them has his or her own income. This example is added to clarify existing regulations.

Section 416.1166a is new. It explains how we deem a sponsor's income to an alien. After appropriate exclusions, the balance of the sponsor's income is deemed to be the unearned income of the alien. This section also includes examples to show how deemed income applies in various situations.

Section 416.1167 explains the effects of a change in status that occurs after eligibility for SSI is established. Paragraphs (c) and (d) are revised to show that deeming of parental income to a child stops in the month following the month the child reaches age 18 unless the savings clause applies. If the savings clause applies, deeming stops in the month following the month in which the child reaches age 21. We are adding a new paragraph (e) to this section to explain that a sponsor's income is not deemed to an alien beginning with the month in which occurs the third anniversary of the alien's date of admission to the United States.

The appendix to Subpart K is being updated to show how the exclusions provided by other Federal statutes apply to income deemed from a sponsor to an alien. Each listing that differs for sponsor-to-alien deeming is annotated to show how it applies to a sponsor's income. Those that are not annotated apply to a sponsor's income the same as they apply to that of a beneficiary or for other deeming purposes. Item V(a), the Domestic Volunteers Act, is being revised because the law was amended in 1980. Under the amended statute, the exclusion does not apply if the director of the action agency determines that the payment equals the minimum wage.

Subpart L, Resources, defines resources and explains which resources we do or do not count to determine SSI eligibility. Resources may include those of a parent that are deemed to a child-beneficiary. Section 416.1202 is being revised to show that deeming of parental resources stops when the child reaches 18 unless the savings clause applies.

New § 416.1204 is being added to explain the effects of a sponsor's resources on the eligibility of an alien. With the exception of certain resources excluded under Federal Statutes other than the Social Security Act, a sponsor's resources are subject to the same exclusions that apply to an individual eligible for SSI (See § 416.1210). There is a further exclusion fo $1,500 for the sponsor or $2,250 for the sponsor and spouse if they live together. After appropriate exclusions, the balance of the sponsor's resources is deemed to the alien. Deeming continues for 3 years after the date of admission. However, deeming of resources does not occur if the alien is a refugee admitted under certain provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act, has been granted political asylum by the Attorney Gereral, or becomes blind or disabled (as defined in existing regulations (§ 416.901)) at any age after admission to the United States.

Subpart J, Family Relationships, was recently recodified at 45 FR 71797 (October 30, 1980) and was redesignated Subpart R on May 29, 1981 (46 FR 29190). It includes provisions which explain when proof is necesssary to establish family relationships. Section 416.1821 currently requires persons under age 21 and living with their parents to show us proof of marriage. This section is revised, because of the statutory change, to show that children subject to deeming rules (rather than children under age 21) will be asked for proof of marriage if we have reason to believe they are married. Section 416.1851 is revised to clarify which children are subject to deeming rules. Both §§ 416.1821 and 416.1851 have been cross-referred to the sections in other subparts that explain parent-to-child deeming of income and resources.

These regulations describe the process of deeming a sponsor's income and resources to an alien. Regulations will be prepared in the future to cover related provisions of the statute such as those dealing with the sponsor's responsibility to provide information, recovery of overpayments and access to the appeals process.

We certify that these regulations do not have a significant impact on small entities because these regulations affect only individuals. Consequently, we have determined that a regulatory flexibility analysis as provided in Pub. L. 96-354, the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980, is not necessary.

Instructions on the implementation of these rules in these regulations have been given to operating personnel because the provisions of the statute became effective October 1, 1980.

We have determined that these regulations do not meet the criteria specified in Executive Order 12291 for a major regulation.

PART 416—SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME FOR THE AGED, BLIND, AND DISABLED

Part 416 of Title 20 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

1. The authority citation for Subpart K of Part 416 is revised to read as follows:

Authority: Secs. 1102, 1601, 1602, 1611, 1612, 1613, 1614(f), 1621, and 1631(d), 49 Stat. 647, as amended, 86 Stat. 1465, 1466, 1468, 1470, 1473; 42 U.S.C. 1302, 1381, 1381a, 1382, 1382a, 1382b, 1382c(f) and 1383(d) unless otherwise noted. Secs. 203 and 504 of Pub. L. 96-265, 94 Stat. 449, and 94 Stat. 471 (42 U.S.C. 1382c and 42 U.S.C. 1382j).

2. Section 416.1148 paragraphs (a) and (b)(2), are revised to read as follows:

§ 416.1148 If you have both in-kind support and maintenance and income that is deemed to you.

(a) The one-third reduction and deeming of income. If you live in the household of your spouse or parent or essential person whose income can be deemed to you the one-third reduction does not apply to you. If you are an alien living in the household of your sponsor whose income can be deemed to you the one-third reduction does not apply to you. The rules on deeming income are in §§ 416.1160 through 416.1169. However, if you live in another person's household as described in § 416.1131, and someone whose income can be deemed to you lives in the same household, we must apply both the one-third reduction and the deeming rules to you.

(b) The presumed value rule and deeming of income. (1) * * *

(2) If you are a child (as defined in § 416.1101) who lives in the same household with an ineligible parent, and you are temporarily absent from the household to attend school (§ 416.1167(a)(2)), any food, clothing, or shelter you receive at school is income to you unless your parent purchases it. We value this income under the presumed value rule (§ 416.1140). We also apply the deeming rules to you (§ 416.1165) if appropriate.

3. Section 416.1149(c)(2)(ii) is revised to read as follows:

§ 416.1149 What is a temporary absence from your living arrangement.

* * * * *

(c) * * *

(2) * * *

(ii) However, if you are a child under age 18, and your permanent living arrangement is with an ineligible parent or essential person (§ 416.243), we follow the rules in § 416.1148(b)(2).

Note.—These rules may apply to you until you reach age 21 if you meet the exception in § 416.1165.

4. Section 416.1160 is revised to read as follows:

§ 416.1160 What is deeming of income.

(a) General. We use the term deeming to identify the process of considering another person's income to be your own. When the deeming rules apply, it does not matter whether the income of the other person is actually available to you, we must apply these rules anyway. There are four categories of individuals whose income may be deemed to you.

(1) Ineligible spouse. If you live in the same household with your ineligible spouse, we look at your spouse's income to decide whether we must deem some of it to you. We do this because we expect your spouse to use some of his or her income to take care of some of your needs.

(2) Ineligible parent. If you are a child to whom deeming rules apply (See § 416.1165), we look at your parent's income (and that of your parent's spouse) to decide whether we must deem some of it to be yours. We do this because we expect your parent to use some of his or her income to take care of your needs.

(3) Sponsor of an alien. If you are an alien who has a sponsor and you first apply for SSI benefits after September 30, 1980, we look at your sponsor's income to decide whether we must deem some of it to be yours. This rule applies for 3 years after you are admitted to the United States for permanent residence and regardless of whether you live in the same household as your sponsor. We deem your sponsor's income to you because your sponsor agreed to support you (signed an affidavit of support) as a condition of your admission to the United States. If two deeming rules could apply to you because your sponsor is also your ineligible spouse or parent who lives with you, we use the appropriate spouse-to-spouse or parent-to-child deeming rules instead of the sponsor-to-alien rules. If you have a sponsor and also have an ineligible spouse or parent who is not your sponsor and whose income can be deemed to you, both rules apply. If your sponsor is not your parent or spouse but is the ineligible spouse or parent of another SSI beneficiary, we use the sponsor-to-alien deeming rules for you and the appropriate spouse-to-spouse or parent-to-child deeming rules for the other SSI beneficiary.

(4) Essential person. If you live in the same household with your essential person (as defined in § 416.1160(c)), we must look at that person's income to decide whether we must deem some of it to you. We do this because we have increased your benefit to help meet the needs of your essential person.

(b) Steps in deeming. Although the way we deem incomes varies depending upon whether you are an eligible individual, an eligible child, an alien with a sponsor, or an individual with an essential person, we follow several general steps to determine how much income to deem.

(1) We determine how much earned and unearned income your ineligible spouse, ineligible parent, your sponsor (if you are an alien), or your essential person has and we apply the appropriate exclusions. (See § 416.1161(a) for exclusions that apply to an ineligible parent or spouse, § 416.1161(a–1) for those that apply to a sponsor of an alien, and § 416.1161(b) for those that apply to an essential person.)

(2) Before we deem income to you from either your ineligible spouse or ineligible parent, we allocate an amount for each ineligible child in the household. (Allocations for ineligible children are explained in § 416.1163(b).) We also allocate an amount for each eligible alien who has been sponsored by and who has income deemed from your ineligible spouse or parent. (Allocations for eligible aliens are explained in § 416.1163(b–1).)

(3) We then follow the deeming rules which apply to you.

(i) For deeming income from your ineligible spouse, see § 416.1163.

(ii) For deeming income from your ineligible parent, see § 416.1165.

(iii) For deeming income from your ineligible spouse when you also have an eligible child, see § 416.1166.

(iv) For deeming income from your sponsor if you are an alien, see § 416.1166a.

(v) For deeming income from your essential person, see § 416.1168.

(vi) For provisions on change in status, see §§ 416.1167 and 416.1169.

(c) Definitions for deeming purposes. For deeming purposes—

"Date of admission to or date of entry into the United States" means the date established by the Immigration and Naturalization Service as the date the alien is admitted for permanent residence.

"Dependent" means the same thing as it does for Federal income tax purposes—we mean someone you are entitled to take a deduction for on your personal income tax return. Exception: An alien and an alien's spouse are not considered to be dependents of the alien's sponsor for the purposes of these rules.

"Essential person" means someone who was identified as essential to your welfare under a State program that preceded the SSI program. (See §§ 416.241 through 416.249 for the rules on essential persons.)

"Ineligible child" means your natural child or adopted child or the child of your spouse or the natural or adopted child of your parent or of your parent's spouse (as the terms "child" and "spouse" are defined in § 416.1101), who is under age 21, lives in the same household with you, and is not eligible for SSI benefits.

"Ineligible parent" means a natural or adoptive parent, or the spouse (as defined in § 416.1101) of a natural or adoptive parent, who lives with you and is not eligible for SSI benefits. The income of ineligible parents affects your benefit only if you are a child.

"Ineligible spouse" means someone who lives with you as your husband or wife and is not eligible for SSI benefits.

"Sponsor" means an individual or individuals (but not an organization) who signs an affidavit of support agreeing to support you as a condition of your admission as an alien for permanent residence in the United States.

5. Section 416.1161 is amended by revising the material preceding paragraph (a), and by adding new paragraphs (a–1) and (d) to read as follows:

§ 416.1161 Income of an ineligible spouse, ineligible parent, sponsor of an alien, and essential person for deeming purposes.

The first step in deeming is determining how much income your ineligible spouse, ineligible parent (if you are a child), your sponsor (if you are an alien), or your essential person, has. We do not always include all of their income when we determine how much income to deem. In this section we explain the rules for determining how much of their income is subject to deeming. As part of the process of deeming income from your ineligible spouse or parent we must determine the amount of income of any ineligible children in the household.

* * * * *

(a–1) For a sponsor of an alien. We include all the income (as defined in § 416.1110 and § 416.1120) of the sponsor of an alien and of the spouse of the sponsor (if the sponsor and spouse live in the same household) except—

(1) An amount equal to the SSI Federal benefit rate for an individual eligible for SSI as an allocation for the sponsor (or for each sponsor) and an amount equal to one-half the individual Federal benefit rate for each dependent of the sponsor (a co-sponsor, the alien and the alien's spouse are not dependents for purposes of this provision);

(2) Income excluded for SSI purposes by certain Federal laws other than the Social Security Act (see the appendix to this subpart); and

(3) Income of a child in the household of the sponsor received by or on behalf of the child.

* * * * *

(d) For a sponsored alien. If you are an eligible spouse or child whose ineligible spouse or ineligible parent has income that is also deemed to an eligible alien, we do not deem any income to you from the eligible alien. We do, however, reduce the alien's allocation if he or she has income (§ 416.1163(b–1)(2)). For this purpose we do not include any of the alien's income listed in paragraph (a) of this section.

6. Section 416.1162 is added to read as follows:

§ 416.1162 When sponsor deeming rules do not apply to you if you are an alien.

If you are an alien, we do not apply the sponsor deeming rules to you if—

(a) You are a refugee. You are a refugee admitted to the United States as the result of application of one of three sections of the Immigration and Nationality Act: (1) Section 203(a)(7), effective before April 1, 1980; (2) Section

207(c)(1), effective after March 31, 1980; or (3) Section 212(d)(5);

(b) You have been granted asylum. You have been granted political asylum by the Attorney General of the United States; or

(c) You become blind or disabled. You become blind or disabled as defined in § 416.901 (at any age) after your admission to the United States. We stop deeming your sponsor's income to you when your disability or blindness begins.

7. Section 416.1163 is revised by adding new paragraph (b–1) and new example No. 4 to paragraph (d) to read as follows. The introductory text is set forth for the reader's convenience.

§ 416.1163 How we deem income to you from your ineligible spouse.

If you have an ineligible spouse who lives in the same household, we apply the deeming rules to your ineligible spouse's income in the following order.

* * * * *

(b–1) Allocations for aliens sponsored by your ineligible spouse. We also deduct an allocation for eligible aliens who have been sponsored by and who have income deemed from your ineligible spouse.

(1) The allocation for each alien who is sponsored by and who has income deemed from your ineligible spouse is one-half of the quarterly Federal benefit rate for an eligible individual. The amount of the allocation automatically increases whenever the Federal benefit rate increases. If the allocation applies to only one or two months of a calendar quarter, we reduce the allocation by two-thirds or one-third, as appropriate.

(2) Each alien's allocation is reduced by the amount of his or her own income.

(3) We first deduct the allocations from your ineligible spouse's unearned income. If your ineligible spouse does not have enough unearned income to cover the allocations, we deduct the balance from your ineligible spouse's earned income.

* * * * *

(d) Examples. These examples describe how we deem income in a calendar quarter to an eligible individual. Therefore, the income, the income exclusions, and the allocations are all quarterly amounts. The Federal benefit rates used are those effective July 1, 1980.

* * * * *

Example No. 4. Simon has a disabled spouse, Julia, and has sponsored an alien, Ollie. Julia has unearned income of $300 and Simon has earned income of $800. We allocate one-half the Federal benefit rate for an individual, $357, from Simon's earned income to Ollie who has no other income. This reduces the $600 to $243 in earned income to deem to Julia. We deduct $60, the general income exclusion, from the unearned income ($300), leaving $240. We deduct the earned income exclusion ($195 plus one-half the difference) from the $243 earned income, leaving $24. The combined countable income, $264, is less than one-half the benefit rate for an eligible individual ($357) so there is no income to deem. Therefore, we compute Julia's benefit on the basis of her own income. She has countable income of $240 ($300 less the general income exclusion of $60). This is subtracted from the Federal benefit rate for an individual ($714) and provides a quarterly benefit of $474 and a monthly benefit of $158. For the way we deem Simon's income to Ollie, see the rules in § 416.1166a.

8. Section 416.1165 is amended by revising the material preceding paragraph (a), by adding new paragraph (b–1), and by adding new examples No. 3 and No. 4 to paragraph (f) to read as follows. The introductory text of paragraph (f) is set forth for the readers convenience.

§ 416.1165 How we deem income from your ineligible parents.

If you are a child living with your parents, we apply the deeming rules to you through the month in which you reach age 18. (You reach an age the day before your birthday.) There is an exception to this rule. If you were at least age 18 but under age 21 in September 1980, and received a Federal SSI benefit for that month, we may deem your parent's income to you until you reach age 21. If you are a student and live with your parents, we deem your parents' income to you if this results in a higher benefit. We apply the rules for deeming income in the following order.

* * * * *

(b–1) Allocations for aliens who are sponsored by and have income deemed from your ineligible parent. We also deduct an allocation for eligible aliens who have been sponsored by and have income deemed from your ineligible parent as described in § 416.1163(b–1).

* * * * *

(f) Examples. These examples describe how we deem income in a calendar quarter to an eligible individual. Therefore, the income, the income exclusions, and the allocations are all quarterly amounts. The Federal benefit rates used are those effective July 1, 1980.

* * * * *

Example No. 3. Janet is the ineligible parent of two disabled children, Beth and Linda, and has sponsored an alien, Sean. Beth, Linda, and Sean have no income; Janet has unearned income of $2,000. We first reduce the mother's income by an allocation of $357 for Sean which leaves a balance of $1,643. Next, we allocate for the mother's own needs (the $60 general income exclusion plus $714, the amount of the Federal benefit rate payable to an individual), a total of $774. The balance of $869 ($1,643−$774=$869) is divided equally between Beth and Linda. Each now has unearned income of $434.50 from which we deduct the $60 general income exclusion ($434.50−$60=$374.50). Beth and Linda each have quarterly benefits of $339.50 ($714−$374.50=$339.50) and monthly benefits of $113.17. (For the way we deem the mother's income to Sean, see examples No. 3 and No. 4 in § 416.1166a.)

Example No. 4. Gertrude has two disabled children, Mildred and Edith, and earned income of $2,300 a quarter. We allocate for Gertrude's own needs, $255 plus twice the Federal benefit rate for an individual ($714×2=$1,428), a total of $1,683. After this allocation there is $617 that can be deemed to Mildred and Edith. Ordinarily, we would divide this equally between the children but Mildred has her own unearned income of $700 so we deem to her only enough to make her ineligible. Mildred's income of $700 less the $60 general income exclusion gives her $640 in countable income. $75 in addition makes her ineligible ($640+$74+$1=$715, or $1 more than the $714 Federal benefit rate for which Mildred could be eligible). We, therefore, deem $75 to Mildred and the balance of the $617, or $542, to Edith. The $60 general income exclusion reduces Edith's income to $482 so her quarterly benefit is $232 ($714−$482=$232) and her monthly benefit is $77.34. Although Mildred is now an ineligible child we do not allocate any of Gertrude's income to her because her own income exceeds the amount that could be allocated to her ($357, one-half the Federal benefit rate).

9. Section 416.1166a is added to read as follows:

§ 416.1166a How we deem income to you from your sponsor if you are an alien.

Before we deem your sponsor's income to you if you are an alien, we add all the sponsor's earned and unearned income as defined in section 1612(a) of the Act or §§ 416.1110 and 416.1120. We include the income of the sponsor's spouse if they live in the same household. We next exclude the kinds of income listed in § 416.1161(a–1); the balance of the income is deemed to you.

(a) If you are the only alien applying for or already eligible for SSI benefits who has income deemed to you from your sponsor. If you are the only alien who is applying for or already eligible for SSI benefits and who is sponsored by your sponsor, all the deemed income is your unearned income.

(b) If you are not the only alien who is applying for or already eligible for SSI benefits and who has income deemed to you from your sponsor. If you and other aliens applying for or already eligible for SSI benefits are sponsored by the same sponsor, we deem the income to you and the other aliens independently. The income is deemed to each of you and becomes your unearned income.

(c) Examples. These examples show how we deem a sponsor's income to an eligible individual who is an alien. The income, income exclusions, and the benefit rates are in quarterly amounts. The Federal benefit rates are those effective July 1, 1980.

Example 1. John, an alien who has no income, has been sponsored by Herbert who has earned income of $4,000 and unearned income of $200. Herbert's wife and three children have no income. We add Herbert's earned and unearned income ($4,200) and apply the allocations for the sponsor and his dependents. No other exceptions apply. Allocations total $2,142. These are made up of $714 (the Federal benefit rate for an eligible individual) for the sponsor, plus $1,428 (one-half the Federal benefit rate for an individual, $357 each) for Herbert's wife and three children. The $2,142 is subtracted from Herbert's income of $4,200 which leaves $2,058 to be deemed to John as his unearned income. John's only exclusion is the $60 general exclusion. Since the balance, $1,998, exceeds the Federal benefit rate of $714, John is ineligible.

Example 2. George and Sue are an alien couple who have no income and who have been sponsored by Harry. Harry has earned income of $2,000 and his wife, Jennie, has earned income of $500. Their two children have no income. We combine Harry's and Jennie's income ($2,000+$500=$2,500). We deduct the only applicable exclusions, $714 for Harry (the Federal benefit rate for an individual) and $1,071 for Jennie and the two children ($357 or one-half the Federal benefit rate for each), a total of $1,785. The exclusions ($1,785) are deducted from the income ($2,500) which leaves $715. This amount must be deemed independently to George and Sue. George and Sue would qualify for SSI benefits as a couple in the amount of $1,071 if no income had been deemed to them. The $1,430 ($715 each to George and Sue) deemed income is unearned income to George and Sue and is subject to the $60 general income exclusion, leaving $1,370. This exceeds the couple's rate of $1,071 so George and Sue are ineligible for SSI benefits.

Example 3. Bert and Dave are aliens sponsored by their sister Jean, who has earned income of $1,700. She also receives $600 as survivors' benefits for her two minor children. We exclude the $600 survivors' benefits because it is provided specifically for the children. We also exclude $714 for Jean (the Federal benefit rate for an individual) plus $714 ($357, one-half the Federal benefit rate, for each child), a total of $1,428. We subtract the $1,428 from Jean's income of $1,700, which leaves $272 to be deemed to Bert and Dave. The brothers live in a boarding house (a commercial establishment) so each lives in his own household and would be eligible to receive the full Federal benefit rate of $714. The deemed income, $272, is deemed to Bert and to Dave. As a result Bert and Dave each have countable income of $212 ($272 minus the $60 general income exclusion). This is subtracted from $714, the Federal benefit rate for an individual which provides a benefit of $502 or $167.34 per month for each.

Example 4. The same situation applies as in example No. 3 except that one of Jean's children is disabled and eligible for SSI benefits. The eligibility of the disabled child does not affect the amount of income deemed to Bert and Dave since the sponsor-to-alien and parent-to-child rules are applied independently. The child's benefit is computed under the rules in § 416.1165.

10. Sections 416.1167 (c) and (d) are revised and paragraph (e) is added to read as follows:

§ 416.1167 When a change in status affects the use of deeming rules.

* * * * *

(c) When you reach age 18. If you are a child living with your parent, we stop deeming with the month following the month you reach age 18. For example, if you reach age 18 in June, the deeming rules do not apply to you beginning in July. (You "reach" a certain age on the day before your birthday.)

(d) When you are at least age 18 but under 21 and become a student. If you meet the requirements for the exception to the rule for ending deeming at age 18 (§ 416.1165) and become a student when you are at least age 18 but under 21, we will apply the deeming rules, if this provides a higher benefit, in the month after you become a student. For example, if you become a student in September, the deeming rules apply beginning in October.

(e) When you are an alien and income is no longer deemed to you from your sponsor. If you are an alien and have had your sponsor's income deemed to you, we stop deeming the income with the month in which the third anniversary of your admission into the United States occurs. However, if you become blind or disabled (as defined in § 416.901) we stop deeming with the month in which you meet the qualifications for blindness or disability (as defined in § 416.901). For example, if you were admitted to the United States in April 1981, we will stop deeming beginning April 1984. If you are found to be disabled in August 1982, no income is deemed to you beginning with that month.

13. Section 416.1202(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 416.1202 Deeming of resources.

* * * * *

(b) Child.—(1) Child under age 18. In the case of a child (defined in § 416.1101) who is under age 18, the child's resources will be deemed to include resources of parents who live in the same household. The resources of parents are subject to the same exclusions that apply to an eligible individual or couple (see §§ 416.1205 through 416.1237) before any amount of resources is deemed to the child. For purposes of this section, a parent may be a natural or adoptive parent or the spouse of a parent.

(2) Child at least age 18 but under age 21. Children who were at least age 18 as of September 1980, and received a Federal SSI benefit for that month, will have their parents' resources deemed to them until they reach age 21 if—

(i) They live in the same household as the parents;

(ii) They are or become students; and

(iii) Deeming of parental resources provides a higher benefit to such children. It can provide a higher benefit if the child is receiving income that is not counted when deeming applies. Example: The value of in-kind support and maintenance provided by parents is not income to a child as long as the parent's income is deemed to the child.

14. Section 416.1204 is added to read as follows:

§ 416.1204 Deeming of resources of the sponsor of an alien.

The resources of an alien who first applies for SSI benefits after September 30, 1980, are deemed to include the resources of the alien's sponsor for 3 years after the alien's date of admission into the United States. The "date of admission" is the date established by the Immigration and Naturalization Service as the date of admission for permanent residence. The resources of the sponsor's spouse are included if the sponsor and spouse live in the same household. Deeming of these resources applies regardless of whether the alien and sponsor live in the same household and regardless of whether the resources are actually available to the alien. The following rules apply in the specific situations as listed.

(a) Deeming rules do not apply to an alien. The sponsor deeming rules do not apply to an alien if—

(1) The alien has been admitted as a refugee as the result of application of one of three sections of the Immigration and Nationality Act: (1) Section 203(a)(7) effective prior to April 1, 1980; (2) 207(c)(1) effective after March 31, 1980; or (3) Section 212(d)(5);

(2) The alien has been granted political asylum by the Attorney General of the United States; or

(3) The alien becomes blind or disabled (as defined in § 416.901) at any age after admission to the United States. The sponsor's resources are not deemed to the alien as of the time the disability or blindness begins.

(b) Exclusions from the sponsor's resources. Before we deem a sponsor's resources to an alien we exclude the same kinds of resources that are excluded from the resources of an individual eligible for SSI benefits. The applicable exclusions from resources are explained in §§ 416.1210 (paragraphs (a) through (i) and (k) through 416.1237.) We next exclude $1,500 for the sponsor or $2,250 for the sponsor and spouse (if living together). For resources excluded by Federal statutes other than the Social Security Act, as applicable to the resources of sponsors deemed to aliens, see the appendix to Subpart K, Income. The same exclusions apply when income is held so that it becomes a resource except there is no resource exclusion under section III(c) of the appendix.

(c) An alien sponsored by more than one sponsor. The resources of an alien who has been sponsored by more than one person are deemed to include the resources of each sponsor.

(d) More than one alien sponsored by one individual. If more than one alien is sponsored by one individual the deemed resources are deemed to each alien as if he or she were the only one sponsored by the individual.

(e) Alien has a sponsor and a relative with deemable resources. Resources may be deemed to an alien from both a sponsor and a spouse or parent (if the alien is a child) provided that the sponsor and the relative are not the same person and the conditions for each rule are met.

(f) Alien's sponsor is also the alien's ineligible spouse or parent. If the sponsor is also the alien's ineligible spouse or parent who lives in the same household, the spouse-to-spouse or parent-to-child deeming rules will apply instead of the sponsor-to-alien deeming rules. If the spouse or parent deeming rules cease to apply the sponsor deeming rules will begin to apply. The spouse or parent rules may cease to apply if an alien-child reaches age 18 or if either the sponsor who is the ineligible spouse or parent or the alien moves to a separate household.

(g) Alien's sponsor also is the ineligible spouse or parent of another SSI beneficiary. If the sponsor is not the alien's eligible spouse or parent but is the ineligible spouse or ineligible parent of an SSI beneficiary other than the alien, the sponsor's resources are deemed to the alien under the rules in paragraph (b) and to the eligible spouse or child under the rules in §§ 416.1202, 416.1205, 416.1234, 416.1236, and 416.1237.

15. The authority citation for Subpart R of Part 416 is revised to read as follows:

Authority: Sec. 1102, 1614(b), (c) (d), and 1631(d)(1) of the Social Security Act, 49 Stat. 647, as amended, 86 Stat. 1473 and 1476; (42 U.S.C. 1302, 1382c(b), (c), and (d) and 1383(d)(1)). Sec. 203 of Pub. L. 96–265, 94 Stat. 449, 42 U.S.C. 1382c.

16. Section 416.1821 (a) and (b) are revised to read as follows:

§ 416.1821 Showing that you are married when you apply for SSI.

(a) General Rule: Proof is unnecessary. If you tell us you are married we will consider you married unless we have information to the contrary. We will also consider you married, on the basis of your statement, if you say you are living with an unrelated person of the opposite sex and you both lead people to believe you are married. However, if we have information contrary to what you tell us, we will ask for evidence as described in paragraph (c).

(b) Exception: If you are a child to whom deeming rules apply. If you are a child to whom the deeming rules apply and we receive information from you or others that you are married, we will ask for evidence of your marriage. The rules on deeming parental income are in §§ 416.1165 and 416.1166. The rules on deeming of parental resources are in § 416.1202.

* * * * *

17. Section 416.1851(c) is revised to read as follows. The introductory text is set forth for the reader's convenience.

§ 416.1851 Effects of being considered a child.

If we consider you to be a child for SSI purposes, the rules in this section apply when we determine your eligibility for SSI and the amount of your SSI benefits.

* * * * *

(c) If you are under age 18 and live with your parent or stepparent who is not eligible for SSI, we consider (deem) part of his or her income and resources to be your own. Sections 416.1165 and 416.1166 explain the rules and the exception to the rules on deeming your parent's income to be yours and § 416.1202 explains the rules and the exception to the rules on deeming your parent's resources to be yours.

Coast Guard

33 CFR 117

[CGD 81-071]

Drawbridge Operation Regulations; Little Potato Slough, Calif.

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.
ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: At the request of two yacht clubs, two large marinas, and several mariners, the Coast Guard is considering changing the regulation governing the Highway 12 bridge over Little Potato Slough near Stockton, California, to require the bridge to open on signal 16 hours a day from May through October with four hours advance notice required at all other times. The bridge is presently operated for 9 hours a day during the months of July, August and September with four hours notice at all other times. This action is intended to meet the needs of increased waterway traffic, improve vessel safety and reduce marine fuel consumption.

DATE: Comments must be received on or before January 25, 1982.

ADDRESS: Comments should be submitted to and are available for examination from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, except holidays, at the office of the Commander (oan), Twelfth Coast Guard District, 630 Sansome Street, Room 936, San Francisco, California 94126.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Rose E. Guerra, Bridge Administrator, at (415) 556-8668, or at the above address.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Interested persons are invited to participate in this proposed rulemaking by submitting written views, comments, data or arguments. Persons submitting comments should include their name and address, identify the bridge, and give reasons for concurrence with or any recommended change in the proposal. Persons desiring acknowledgement that their comments have been received should enclose a stamped self-addressed postcard or envelope. The Commander, Twelfth Coast Guard District, will evaluate all communications received and determine a course of final action on this proposal. The proposed regulation may be changed in the light of comments received.

Drafting Information

The principal persons involved in drafting this proposal are: Rose E. Guerra, Bridge Administrator, and Lieutenant Commander W. A. CASSELS, Project Attorney, District Legal Office, Twelfth Coast Guard District.

Discussion of Proposed Rule

The Little Potato Slough Bridge is a low-level swing bridge built in 1935. It provides only 13 feet vertical clearance above Mean Low Water, and a large portion of the vessels using Little Potato Slough require the draw to open for safe passage.

Marine traffic consists primarily of recreational vessels with an occasional tug, barge, dredge, or other marine construction equipment. Waterway traffic is increasing at a rate of 4% each year. Several new marinas have been built along Little Potato Slough or tributary waters to accommodate the increased boating traffic. Even with the present limited schedule of attended service, the bridge opens more than 400 times each month. The Coast Guard has had a record of inquiries over the past seven years requesting increased service at the bridge. Due to an unusual set of circumstances, it was not possible to accurately evaluate marine traffic demand at the bridge until the 1980 navigation season.

Regulatory Evaluation

This proposed regulation has been reviewed under the provisions of Executive Order 12291 and has been determined not to be a major rule. In addition, the proposed regulation is considered to be nonsignificant in accordance with guidelines set out in the Policies and Procedures for Simplification, Analysis, and Review of Regulations (DOT Order 2100.5 of 5-22-80). An economic evaluation has not been conducted since, for the reasons discussed above, the impact of the proposed regulation is expected to be minimal. In accordance with section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (94 Stat. 1164), it is also certified that this rule, if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities.

PART 117—DRAWBRIDGE OPERATION REGULATIONS

In consideration of the foregoing it is proposed that Part 117 of Title 33 of the Code of Federal Regulations be amended by revising § 117.714(g) to read as follows:

§ 117.714 San Joaquin River and its tributaries, Calif.

North Carolina's Application for Interim Authorization; Phase II Hazardous Waste Management Program

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency, Region IV.
ACTION: Notice of public hearing and public comment period.

SUMMARY: Regulations to protect human health and the environment from the improper management of hazardous waste were published in the Federal Register on May 19, 1980 (45 FR 33063). The hazardous waste management program regulations include provisions for authorization of State programs to operate in lieu of the Federal program and for a transitional stage in which States can be granted interim program authorization. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In the May 19, 1980 Federal Register (45 FR 33063) the Environmental Protection Agency promulgated regulations, pursuant to the Solid Waste Disposal Act as amended by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act of 1976, as amended, to protect human health and the environment from the improper management of hazardous waste. These regulations included provisions under which EPA can authorize qualified State hazardous waste management programs to operate in lieu of the Federal program. The regulations provide for a transitional stage in which qualified State programs can be granted Interim Authorization. The Interim Authorization program is being implemented in two phases corresponding to the two stages in which the underlying Federal program will take effect.

The State of North Carolina received Interim Authorization for Phase I on December 18, 1980.

In the January 26, 1981 Federal Register (46 FR 7965), the Environmental Protection Agency announced the availability of portions or components of Phase II of Interim Authorization. Component A, published in the Federal Register January 12, 1981 (46 FR 2802) contains standards for permitting containers, tanks, surface impoundments, and waste piles. Component B published in the Federal Register January 23, 1981 (46 FR 7666) contains standards for permitting hazardous waste incinerators.

A full description of the requirements and procedures for State Interim Authorization is included in 40 CFR Part 123 Subpart F (45 FR 33479).

As noted in the May 19, 1980, Federal Register copies of complete State submittals for Phase II Interim Authorization are to be made available for public inspection and comment. In addition, a public hearing is to be held on the submittal.

[BC Docket No. 81-433; RM-3803]

FM Broadcast Station in College and Fairbanks, Alaska; Proposed Changes in Table of Assignments

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Proposed rule.

SUMMARY: This action proposes to assign FM Channel 280A to either College or Fairbanks, Alaska, in response to a petition filed by Associated Students of the University of Alaska (BC Docket No. 81–435). Further information is requested of the proponent.

DATES: Comments must be filed on or before January 18, 1982, and reply comments on or before February 2, 1982.

ADDRESS: Federal Communications Commission, Washington, D.C. 20554

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Montrose H. Tyree, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632–7792.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

In the matter of amendment of § 73.202(b), Table of Assignments, FM Broadcast Stations. (College and Fairbanks,[1] Alaska), BC Docket No. 81–433, RM–3803.

Adopted: November 30, 1981.

Released: December 3, 1981.

1. A Notice of Proposed Rule Making was issued, 46 FR 37919, published July 23, 1981, proposing the assignment of Channel 280A to College, Alaska, in response to a petition filed by Associated Students of the University of Alaska ("petitioner"). Supporting comments were filed by the petitioner, in which it restated its intent to apply for the channel, if assigned. Comments in opposition to the proposal were filed by Interior Broadcasting Corporation ("Interior"), licensee of Station KAYY, Fairbanks, Alaska. Before action can be taken on the proposal, additional information is needed with regard to the community status of College, Alaska.

2. Interior Broadcasting, in response to the Notice, argues that College does not qualify as a community for allocation purposes, since it is without political boundaries, and it is an amorphous area located both within and outside the city limits of Fairbanks. Its residents are required to use a Fairbanks address, according to Interior. Citing Coker, Alabama, 43 RR 2d 190 (1978). It also claims that the proposed assignment is in reality a fourth assignment to Fairbanks, which would exceed the Commission's population guidelines for FM assignments. Fairbanks presently has an abundance of service (local and nearby), and therefore, a need does not exist for an additional assignment to that community, in Interior's view. Additionally, it contends that the assignment of Channel 280A to Fairbanks would create an intermixture of Class A and Class C channels, and some questions remain as to whether the station will be used for a commercial or educational broadcast facility. Accordingly, Interior requests that the Commission deny the petitioner's proposal to assign Channel 280A to College.

3. The petitioner did not respond to the opposition's comments, however, we feel that the comments have merit, requiring the petitioner to submit additional information before action can be taken on the proposal. We have no independent knowledge of College's status as a community at this point. The 1970 Census listed College as a "place," a term not really defined. See North Naples, Florida, 41 RR 2d 1549 (1978). Even though the Census' recognition of particular places often coincides with a Commission determination that such a place is a community, it is by no means conclusive for our purposes. The criteria used by the Commission require, as noted previously, the coalescence of common interests. No such requirement is reflected in the Census listings as a

[1] This community has been added to the caption.

"place." [2] Rather the decision to include a place in the listings is based on information submitted by the county. As a result, that it choses to have population listings in a particular fashion has no necessary connection with community status. The information submitted by the petitioner is not sufficient in itself to determine the community status of College.

4. In an earlier proceeding, the Commission reassigned Channel 284 from College to Fairbanks, Alaska, without a formal rule making proceeding. See College, Alaska, Mimeo No. 39553, adopted February 23, 1976. College at that time had been described to be an incorporated community, located adjacent to Fairbanks. The University's Board of Regents adopted a resolution changing the identity of the University's location to Fairbanks, primarily to correct the conflicting identification of the location of the University, as well as the problem of mailing and directory listings. However, since an educational station was involved, the Commission made no finding on the status of College as a community. Rather, the reassignment took place to conform the station's license to the location of the University of Alaska at Fairbanks, licensee of the station.

5. Therefore, based on the above findings, the petitioner is requested to submit additional information including official boundaries indicating that College is identifiable, separate and distinct from Fairbanks. Such information generally consists of the existence of such factors as social organizations, businesses, post office, community services, etc., that in some way are identified as serving College in particular. Finally, we are proposing, as an alternative, the assignment of Channel 280A to Fairbanks in case the showing cannot be made. The need for an additional channel assignment to Fairbanks may be addressed in comments.

6. Canadian concurrence in the assignment of Channel 280A to College, Alaska, has been obtained and will be requested for Fairbanks.

7. Comments are invited on the proposal to amend the FM Table of Assignments, § 73.202(b) of the rules, with respect to the communities listed below:

ALTERNATIVE I

City	Channel No
	Present	Proposed
College, Alaska	[illegible]	[illegible]

ALTERNATIVE II

City	Channel No.
	Present	Proposed
Fairbanks, Alaska	262, 266, 284	262, 266, 280A, 284

8. Interested parties may file comments on or before January 18, 1982, and reply comments on or before February 2, 1982.

9. The Commission's authority to institute rule making proceedings, showings required, cut-off procedures, and filing requirements are contained in the Appendix below and are incorporated by reference herein.

Note.—A showing of continuing interest is required by paragraph 2 of the Appendix below before a channel will be assigned.

10. The Commission has determined that the relevant provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 do not apply to rule making proceedings to amend the FM Table of Assignments, § 73.202(b) of the Commission's rules. See, Certification that Sections 603 and 604 of the Regulatory Flexibility Act Do Not Apply to Rule Making to Amend §§ 73.202(b), 73.504 and 73.606(b) of the Commission's rules, 46 FR 11549, published February 9, 1981.

11. For further information concerning this proceeding, contact Montrose H. Tyree, Broadcast Bureau, (202) 632–7792. However, members of the public should note that from the time a Notice of Proposed Rule Making is issued until the matter is no longer subject to Commission consideration or court review, all ex parte contacts are prohibited in Commission proceedings, such as this one, which involve channel assignments. An ex parte contact is a message (spoken or written) concerning the merits of a pending rule making other than comments officially filed at the Commission or oral presentation required by the Commission.
